Arrigo, Rizzo clash over FY20 budget

By Cary Shuman

Councillor-at-Large Dan Rizzo criticized a 5.6 percent increase in the Revere operating budget for the coming fiscal year during remarks following the Council meeting and in a town hall broadcast on Facebook Monday night.

Mayor Brian Arrigo was quick to dispute Rizzo's remarks about the budget and his other declarations in what political observers are calling the first round in the fight for the corner office in the 2019 election.

Rizzo, who is a candidate for mayor, voted against approving the budget of $203.1 million at the Council meeting. He noted the total of all expenditures ($207,053,143) was $10 million greater than last year's figure.

"This budget represents a $10 million increase," said Rizzo. "That totals $50 million over the last four years.

Lifeguards back on the beach

By Sue Ellen Woodcock

Summer is here and the Department of Conservation and Recreation lifeguards are back on Revere Beach working out of the Shirley Street bathhouse.

"The Massachusetts Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR) employs hundreds of lifeguards across the Commonwealth in an effort to make designated swimming locations safer experiences for visitors to enjoy," said spokesman Troy Wall. "DCR lifeguards are professional rescuers who are trained to both prevent injuries from occurring, and to respond in an emergency to help save a life. As part of a team, lifeguards must work together calmly and efficiently to manage crisis situations."

'The main duty and responsibility of a lifeguard is to provide surveillance of swimmers from the lifeguard chair or on the edge of the water, and react should a swimmer become distressed or is in a dangerous situation," Wall said.

The DCR has stationed lifeguards, who are mostly high school or college-aged students, at the following beaches seven days a week from 10:15 a.m. to 5:45 p.m. until Labor Day Weekend.

cil meeting Monday night. Rizzo, chair of the Council's Ways and Means Committee was the only councillor to vote against approving the new budget. Rizzo, who is a candidate for mayor, made his objections to the budget increase clear in an interview following the meeting and in a live town hall broadcast on Facebook later Monday evening (see related story).

Powers, who voted in favor of the new budget, said, "I supported the new budget because it included many of the services that needed to be offered to the public, such as street and sidewalk repairs, drainage improvements, public safety (police, fire), recreation services, and additional school funding for teachers

Ward 5 Councillor John because of the increased enrollment in our schools."

> Council President Arthur Guinasso thanked Rizzo and the subcommittee for their work during the budget process that included presentations by department heads and public hearings to discuss the budget.

Dozens of volunteers spruce up Costa Park

Revitalization adds murals, fills planter boxes, and repairs park and playground equipment

Costa Park in the Shirley Avenue neighborhood is shining a little brighter after a revitalization project that added murals, fixed up the playground and planted new greenery around the muchloved community space. The project, co-sponsored by Republic Services, the City of Revere and The Neighborhood Developers, drew dozens of volunteers who live and work in Revere to the park on Saturday, June 8.

Republic Services General Manager Kurt Lavery was joined by company employees and family members who helped in the days leading up to the project day as well as on the day itself. "This is a special day for Republic Services, for The Neighborhood Developers and for all of our community partners," Lavery said. "We are proud to join you in this rebuilding day project to achieve a safe, clean and welcoming Costa Park."

The park is one of the busiest in Revere with hundreds of children and adults using the playground each week. Due to its heavy use, the city park needed some TLC to keep it in tip top condition. The playground's rubber surfacing was worn away in many places, some playground and park equipment was broken, and the park's murals and art installations no longer shined.

Revere Schools take first step in designing new high school

By John Lynds

Revere High School Principal Dr. John Perella said the schools of the future will look nothing like the schools of today and that's the approach the RHS Design Team will take when designing the new high school.

The RHS Design Team, which consists of Perella, students, parents and architects from the Massachusetts School Building Authority (MSBA) recently held a design event to start envisioning what a new Revere High School might look like.

For the past three years Revere has been trying to get a plan off the ground to consolidate some old school buildings and build a new high school that will serve the city's students and families for generations to come.

Then, this school year Revere Public Schools cleared a major hurdle during a MSBA board meeting. At that meeting the MSBA board voted to invite Revere and ten other school districts that filed Statements of Interest (SOI) this year to take part in the eligibility process that could ultimately lead to for grant money to build new high school here.

The design event was one step in a long process of attaining that grant money.

'We weren't there to design a building but an educational experience for the students and community," said Perella of the experience. "We learned that we have to rethink what education looks like.'

Most 'typical' school buildings were built in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. These giant brick boxes with rows of tables and chairs were preparing students for a career in a giant brick box office building with more rows of tables and chairs.

"School's of the future will look nothing like this because offices and the workplace don't look anything like they used to," said Perella. "The design is something that will be comfortable and inviting to get our minds stimulated for learning."

Over the course of the design event the RHS Design Team's ideas and vision were put down on paper by MSBA architects to begin formulating a design.

Perella said the architects took what the team was saying and thinking and came up with a building that includes community-based space for all of Revere to enjoy like a community health center, a fitness or wellness center, a cafe or restaurant that could be attached to a culinary arts program at the school and open to the public as well as a fine arts area for events, plays and evening events. There would also be an athletic facility attached to the school and fields.

"Then the second and third levels would be where more secure educational programming would be taking place," said Perella.

These would be the classrooms or, as the design team dubbed, "Learning Studios" because the goal is trying to rethink education and learning.

"As a participant in terms of watching what you put together 9for the design event) you did an amazing job," Mayor Brian Arrigo told the RHS Design Team. "It was really incredible to see the thoughts and ideas coming from the team, especially from the students, it really shows how much passion there is for this. I couldn;t think of better people representing the city and what a new high school will look like.'

Assistant Superintendent Josh Vadala said the process was one of the most unique and transformative processes that he's ever had in his professional career.

"It was different than anything I've ever experienced," he said. "This is so different than anything we have ever done. What was so great about it was that the MSBA brought in some of the best architects from all over the country who did this work pro bono to give us this experience so when we enter the next phase (of this process) we will know what to expect. It got us thinking about the type of school we want to have and the types of programs we want to have because the programs are going to lead the design. We are really thinking about how this new building will be more than just a school but something for the whole community.

Budget //continued from page 1

That to me is unacceptable. Our budget is tied to our taxes. The budget determines what your property taxes are and that's why I am so adamant about trying to keep spending [from getting] out of control."

Rizzo said Revere residents have been hit with 20 percent tax increases on average, "all of this while out-of-town developers continue to get benefits by way of variances and special permits. It's not right and it has to stop.'

Rizzo also said that the number of Revere city employees increased by 50 during the past year. He also inferred that the hiring of additional teachers could be attributed to the large number of developments in the city, resulting in many more children attending Revere schools and creating an overcrowded situation in some classrooms. Rizzo also stated that the city has increased vehicular traffic on its roadways.

Rizzo compared Revere's operating budget to that of the neighboring city of Malden, stating that Revere's budget is considerably larger despite the fact that Malden has a larger population than Revere by approximately 10,000 residents.

Mayor Arrigo defended the budget, stating that the city has provided excellent services to its residents.

"Monday night we heard, in my opinion, a lot of what we've worked hard to do, which is provide great services and make sure that the taxpayers get every bit of their dollars' worth out of the city and the employees of the city," said Arrigo.

Arrigo said residents commented favorably during previous meetings about the budget, noting "how professional the services are, how efficient things have been, how lean the budget is.'

The mayor conceded that the budget has increased for the coming year. He said there are "fixed costs" within the budget that the city must pay insurance and the schools (an amount of funding that is mandated by state law). He said the city increased its school budget by approximately $5 million and this year's budget included "all of the collective bargaining agreement pay raises" for the various unions. He addressed the increase in the number of city employ-

"The vast majority of employees that have been added to the city are teachers, police officers, firefighters, and DPW employees," said Arrigo. "These are people that educating our children, making sure that our streets are safe, and making sure that our streets are clean.

"Shame on the people who want to play politics with the budget, especially when the people we're talking about are improving the quality of life of our residents and making sure our kids are getting educated and making sure our streets are safe," said Arrigo.

The mayor seemed particularly perturbed by Rizzo's budget comparisons to the city of Malden, saying that Rizzo has been "a wealth of misinformation and he has failed to do his homework, much like his four years in the mayor's office.

"He threw out a number $179 million – if you look at our [Revere's] general fund expenses for Fiscal Year 2020, it's $173 million," said Arrigo. "Our numbers are actually lower than Malden – he didn't include a $30 million water and sewer enterprise fund, when you factor that in, Malden's number goes up to $209 million - and it's actually higher than that because there are other enterprise fund-related expenses that they have."

Arrigo said Revere has been recognized nationally as "a standout school district."

"We get some of the best results in the state at the least cost," said Arrigo. "We're held up as a standard bearer as school district. The money that gets spent in education is being well spent. We have seen a certain amount of demand by people who want to live in a city that a great school district - and there's no doubt that the population of the schools has increased - while the average city and town has seen a decline in their enrollments. We're an attractive destination partially because of our school district.

"The insinuation that the [increased student enrollment] is correlated to either buildings that have not been built yet or proposals for buildings that have not been built yet, or for, including pensions, health about Malden's budget at even some of the building that have not generated any additional children in the school district - is blatantly false," said Arrigo.

With no Council meeting scheduled until July 29, Rizzo and Arrigo will likely be taking their messages about the budget door to door. Both candidates and their respective campaign teams have begun conducting door-to-door visits with residents and after this week's exchanges about the budget – it's clear that the race for mayor is heating up and summer doesn't officially begun until Friday.

BHCC AWARDED $140,000 GRANT TO SUPPORT EARLY COLLEGE PROGRAMS

Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC) was among eight public colleges and 13 high schools that were awarded new early college designations giving high school students the opportunity to study college-level courses and obtain credits before graduating high school. On June 13, BHCC and Madison Park Technical Vocational High School's Roxbury Massachusetts Advanced Post-Secondary Pathways Program (RoxMAPP) partnership was awarded a $140,000 grant to expand their early college

Gov. Charlie Baker and Education Secretary James Peyser made the announcement at BHCC during an event recognizing the high schools and colleges that launched early college programs this school year. With the new designations, 35 high schools and 18 colleges will offer opportunities for students that are low-income, minority or potentially first-generation college students to take traditional high school classes with college courses at a local college/university. The goal of this program is to create a continuous path for these students to move from high school to college and careers.

"We believe early college has such an impact on student success," Governor Baker said. "Our administration proposed making it part of a school district's state aid calculations so that more districts can provide students these opportunities.'

The RoxMAPP Early College High School partnership with BHCC has been engaged in curriculum alignment in math and English to develop greater connections between high school and college instructors and to assist greater numbers of students to be college ready in these key subject areas. A "Bridge to Success" curriculum was developed by the partners to provide college exploration and readiness that complements the robust vocational curriculum already offered to Madison Park students. Most early college students take up to two courses per semester at BHCC and select courses in business and marketing, health science, technology, general education and more.

"I'm so proud to see the students, teachers, staff and administrators of Madison Park being recognized for years of hard work and dedication," said Nuri Chandler-Smith, Dean of Academic Support and College Pathway Programs at BHCC. "A hallmark of the RoxMAPP Early College High School partnership with BHCC is that it enables students to earn both an industry recognized credential and significant number of college credits by the time they graduate high school. Madison Park students have demonstrated that they are capable of excellence and deserve the best of our resources."

"Early college leverages academics, advising and career literacy," said BHCC President Pam Eddinger. "In this initiative all students, not just the top 1-percent, can excel when given the right support and the right environment. I believe this is the practice of equity in our college work, when we stop seeing our students as 'at-risk', but at-promise."

In 2018, the Richard and Susan Smith Family Foundation awarded $2.4 million to BHCC to establish early college at BHCC. The funding covers a three-year project horizon and will allow BHCC to consolidate its early college efforts into a core model that anticipates growth in scale and performance. Through partnerships with area high schools and community-based organizations, nearly 500 students participate in BHCC's early college program annually. For more information on BHCC's early college programs visit bhcc.edu/hspartnerships/earlycollege.

Quincy. "The Society is proud to support young people who will be the future of the CPA profession," said Amy Pitter, president and CEO of the MSCPA. "Becoming a CPA opens up different opportunities in a variety of fields, and we couldn't be happier to support students along their journey."

The mission of the MSC-PA's Educational Foundation is to inspire and support the next generation of CPAs in Massachusetts. MSCPA scholarships are available for both undergraduate and graduate accounting students who are attending a college or university in Massachusetts or attending a college or university out-of-state with a permanent residence in Massachusetts. # ANOTHER SAD SIGN OF THE TIMES

The news that North American right whales -- considered to be the second-most endangered marine mammal in the world -- have been migrating further north into Canada in just the past two years because of a shift in their traditional feeding grounds that has been brought about by warming waters in the eastern part of the Gulf of Maine is yet another indication of the direct and indirect consequences of climate change and global warm-

The situation is this: Water temperatures in the eastern Gulf of Maine have warmed more than just about any body of water on the planet thanks to a shift in ocean current patterns that have been caused by the loss of sea ice in the Arctic.

As a result of the warmer water temperatures in the eastern Gulf, the population of the copepod Calanus finmarchicus, a tiny flealike creature that hibernates in deep water over the winter and comes to the surface in the summer, where it then becomes food for the right whales (who scoop them up by the millions with their sieve-like baleen), has declined by 90 percent.

This has forced the right whales to move further north into the St. Lawrence Seaway in pursuit of the copepods.

However, unlike in the Gulf of Maine, where regulations have been in effect for decades to protect the right whales from ship-strikes and the effects of lobster and fishing gear, no similar regulations existed in the St. Lawrence Seaway until just this past year -- but only after more right whales were killed in 2017 than in any previous year by ships and netting.

The Canadian government finally imposed regulations designed to protect the whales and now is monitoring the right whales by air in order to provide virtually around-the-clock surveillance of these wonderful creatures. As a result, there were few reported deaths in 2018.

However, taking such steps is doing nothing more than applying the proverbial band-aid to just one of the many adverse effects caused by the overall problem of climate change.

The change in the right whales' migration patterns is just another nail in the coffin of these animals, whose total population numbers around just 400. It is thought that unless something miraculous occurs, the No. American right whale will become extinct within 20 years -- and even that might be optimistic givrapid increase in climate change that is accelerating at a rate far faster than even the most-dire warnings had predicted.

The No. American right whales are the proverbial canary in the coal mine for every living creature on the planet. Their migration in the pursuit of food mirrors what is happening across the earth, not only in the animal world, but for humans as well. This is why the U.S. military views climate change not only as a direct threat to our naval bases because of rising ocean levels, but also as the gravest threat to world peace in the coming decades because of instability in regions of the world from where hundreds of millions of people will be forced to migrate in order to survive.

Scientists tells us that the window of opportunity to stop global warming and climate change is closing with every passing day because of the refusal of governments to take the steps necessary to save the planet as we know it.

It already may be too late to save the North American right whale from extinction. We can only hope that we still have a chance to save us from ourselves.

Horses and Heroes Foundation to name a horse in honor of RFD Chief Chris Bright

The Horses and Heroes the U.S. Park Police Mounted Foundation will name a horse in honor of Revere Fire Chief Chris Bright in recognition of his distinguished career in public safety.

Bright becomes the first individual from the firefighting profession to be so honored, according to Revere resident Skyllar Mullvaney, founder and executive director of the foundation.

The thoroughbred, which will be named "Chief Bright" will become a new member of Unit in Washington, D.C.

The honor has been accorded to several police officers, most recently to five members of the Lynn Police Department who were the recipients of the Trooper Hanna Award for bravery.

Bright is a graduate of Revere High School, Suffolk University and the New England School of Law. Following in the footsteps of his father, Paul Bright Sr., Chris began his career in the firefighting profession in 1986. He was appointed chief of the Revere Fire Department in 2016. Throughout his career, Bright has been known for going above and beyond the call of duty and being a mentor to other firefighters.

"I'm honored to receive this designation from the Foundation," said Bright humbly.

Bright will be recognized at the official awards ceremony that will be held in Revere in October.

Four years has made an incredible difference on Lower Broadway, Everett, as the sidewalk and entryway gardens have opened up to the public at Encore Boston Harbor this week in preparation for the June 23 opening. This photo was taken at the entrance to Everett in February 2015 just prior to construction when the corridor looked like it had for generations – chain link fence, semitrucks, dangerous bike lanes and worn-out pavement.

Now, the same spot has been turned into a garden forest that the company said will help the public and guests transcend their regular lives and into something magical. No expense has been spared, and many of trees are greater than 30 feet tall already.

Transcending Forest: Lush entrance to Encore creates a complete change to Everett's Lower Broadway

By Seth Daniel

When one passes by the lush new landscape at the entrance to Encore Boston Harbor on Lower Broadway, think Buffalo.

Buffalo?

Yes, in fact it is Buffalo, New York that has provided most all of the mature spruce and pine trees that weave and wander along Broadway and up to the resort entrance, according to Patrick Chadwick, director of horticulture and floral for Encore.

Chadwick has been with Wynn in Las Vegas for nearly seven years, but moved out to Boston more than a year ago to begin executing a plan for the entrance that was on the drawing board since 2013.

And a majority of the time spent in the early days of executing that plan was in Buffalo

"We sourced most of those trees from Buffalo, so Buffalo has been very good to us," said Chadwick. "I hand-picked most of them."

Each of the trees is placed in just the exact location, Chadwick said, and that was the result of years of study and planning.

"We wanted to create a diverse entrance with a lot of Evergreens because this is New England and that's northern country," he said. "There is a lot of thought to it. Everything out there is contemplated and on purpose. We spent a lot of time thinking about where everything would go and at what angle it would be facing. We want it to look like we've been here a long time...You don't just see a green wall set in front of you. It's a wandering landscape. It's a place to experience. We have provided a cover to the building because it invites one to explore the landscape. You need to experience the tree by going around it."

The front entrance is ensconced with trees that are already 25 to 40 feet high, and they include Norway Spruce, White Spruce and the Encore Signature Scottish Pines that run up and down the drive. It has gone from a dirty, dead landscape to a virtual forest that transforms one from an urban area to a contemplated forest.

"We want it to feel like it's a special place," he said. "We thought through every part of how the landscape would interact with the guests and the public when we were planning it...It's meant to transcend the place you're in."

The Norway Spruce trees come from retired Christmas tree farms in the Buffalo area. Chadwick personally drove around for hours searching and tagging trees that Encore wished to uproot and bring back to the site.

The Scotch Pines come from another reusable source

The trees were promoted by federal government conservation efforts after World War II in the New England area. There are vast fields of those trees now throughout New England in very dense forests. As it would happen, some of those trees migrated outside of the forests and ended up isolated into fields adjacent to the forests.

Chadwick and his team were able to scour the fields in those areas and find wayward, lonely Scotch Pines to bring back to the Encore forest on Lower Broadway.

"They have a lot of character and they've been wonderfully sculpted by nature being isolated," he said.

However, what seems to be Chadwick's favorite area is the Broadway entry garden, known internally right now as Oak Plaza.

That plaza is a roundabout just steps from the sidewalk that has a Red Oak tree that is 45-feet-tall as the focal point – with weeping cherry trees, Scotch Pines and other plantings framing it. With benches around the tree and a clear sight-line to the tree's area, it is a space that Chadwick gave care to planning.

"That tree is a 45-foot tall Red Oak," he said. "It came from New Jersey and weighed 19,000 pounds when we planted it. I traveled all over New Revere Police Detective Lieutenant Robert Impemba received an award for Investigative Excellence at the 2019 Law Enforcement Public Service Awards Ceremony.

Detective Lt. Robert Impemba, who is assigned to the FBI North Shore Gang Task Force, was recognized for his involvement which led to the largest single federal prosecution of MS-13 in history. Following the coordinated takedown in January 2016, the U.S. Attorney's Office charged dozens of MS-13 leaders, members, and associates that were responsible for six murders, approximately 20 attempted murders, numerous robberies, and multiple acts of drug trafficking, firearm possession and other offenses. forty-one defendants pleaded guilty prior to trial and all nine defendants who went to trial were found guilty. The impact of "Operation Mean Streets" was significant, with a notable decrease in violent crime associated with MS-13 in Boston, Chelsea, Revere, and surrounding areas.

Brisk function business already a surprise niche for Encore

The bookings for hotel rooms at Encore Boston Harbor is strong at the moment, but the company said this week they are quite surprised by the interest in group bookings for conventions.

The 671 hotel rooms at Encore have a rock bottom rate of $645 per night, but the Tower also has suites that run at $12,000 per night.

"Bookings are strong," said Michael Weaver, chief communications officer for Wynn Resorts.

room on opening night, June 23, is running at $777 now, which is more than $100 above the bottom rate for a room of that type. However, the demand is much lower in price as the days go on, but picks up again on June 29.

One surprising piece of business right now for Encore is the group bookings, Weaver said.

"What we're really pleased about is group bookings," he said. "We had a lot of interest for meetings and conven-

Encore Boston Harbor to open at 10 a.m. June 23

By Seth Daniel

Don't expect a long program ahead of the Encore Boston Harbor ribbon cutting on Sunday morning, June 23, but expect the City of Everett and the company to get things moving and get the doors open.

Encore will open officially to the public at 10 a.m. Sunday, June 23, and that will be preceded by a short program at 9:30 a.m. to celebrate the moment. However, after seven years of speeches and discussion about Encore, the time will be punctuated with the goal of getting inside the building.

Elected officials from the City and state are expected to be there, along with company executives from all over the world. A large contingent of tives said that if there needs present for the opening morning as well.

There are to be a few small surprises, but the goal, once again, is to get people in the

A full plan for transportation will be put in place early that day, with officers from the State Police, Everett Police, Boston Police, Medford Police and Chelsea Police on forced overtime to monitor the streets into and out of the Encore casino area.

Transportation executives for Encore, the MBTA and law enforcement agencies have been meeting for several months to coordinate the opening period plan. That plan is flexible, and execu-

For those coming from long distances, the Encore buses are the preferred option, with depots north, south and west of Greater Boston.

Parking on site at Encore is $22 for six hours, $42 for 24 hours, and $49 for 24-hour valet parking. As part of the special grand opening offer, Red Card holders can use one COMPDOLLAR to pay for onsite parking.

Three Encore water shuttles expected to run regular route on opening day

Dockmaster will allow touch-and-go operations for private boats – no mega-yachts will be able to dock at Encore

By Seth Daniel

There's never needed to be a dockmaster for any of Everett's waterfront for the past 100 years, but Encore's Jay be exciting to see it come to-Larcome is going to be a very gether. We've got great folks valuable asset to the docks and waterways around Everett in the coming months.

Larcome is Encore's first Dockmaster, and is responsible primarily for managing the dock staff and making sure the four Encore water shuttles are on time and in working condition.

"My primary job is to make sure the water shuttle is running on time and welcoming people on and off the water shuttle – getting them on the dock and pointed in the right direction," he said.

He said right now they believe they will have three of the four water shuttles operating on opening day, June 23. He said that while Bay State Cruise Lines would captain and operate the water shuttles, he has a crew of four full-time staffers on the dock and one extra helper. There are also two seasonal workers during the summer boating season that will be on his staff as well.

'I think it's very exciting see the water transportation side of Encore," he said. "It's something like I haven't ever seen in Boston. It will working the docks and we're really excited about the water transportation side of the development."

Larcome has a long history of working in security and the boating world.

He worked for 25 years as a police officer for Newburyport Police Department, retiring in 1998. For several years, already having his Master's Captain License, he transported yachts from Florida to the Bahamas to New England. After that, he began working for Chuck and Ann Lagasse at a 500-slip marina in Newburyport. Eventually he transferred to the Lagasse's Charlestown Marina operation just down the river from Encore. For the last three years, he has been launching the Lagasse's new Provincetown marina operation.

At Encore, he said that the larger 250-foot mega yachts would not be able to come into Encore, and they would probably have their passengers transfer to smaller boats at the Inner Harbor. Those boats would then drop off people at the Encore docks.

He said they are approved for touch-and-go dock operations, so no one can come in and "park" their boat. They can stay for five or 10 minutes to pick up and drop off passengers. Likewise, there will be no anchoring in the Encore inlet or the Mystic River. That, he said, would be patrolled by Everett Police in their new Harbormaster boat.

His staff, however, will be on the docks 24/7 to welcome passengers to the touch-andgo in private boats

He said he is very excited for the opening day, and the coming months after as the full water program digs in.

"It's a touch and go situation for the time being because this is a small piece of the bigger puzzle. As the days go on, the puzzle will fill out and we'll offer more amenities. We're going to keep it simple at the beginning and just get our feet wet and not try to go overboard," he concluded with a laugh.

recently in for an editing session to start adding cuts and graphics to two new episodes. Wayne Davidson recorded a martial arts and rap performance to edit together later for his Davidson's Dojo program. The production crew of Youth to Christ was here on their usual Monday time slot to record a new episode. Rachid Moukhabir is out recording more content for his soccer program.

We would like to thank Cesar Agudelo for volunteering his time to help record the Paul Revere School Field Day a few weeks ago. This was hosted by Paul Revere School teacher, Jodi Collins. Agudelo contributed to recording over 150 clips of footage which our staff edited down to viewable coverage. You will be able to watch the RTV coverage of the event on our channel and also on YouTube.

Rahma Mokdad joined RevereTV as a community member and took a basic studio class. This class is taught by our Director of Community Media, Andrew Love, and covers all aspects of the studio which include our basic equipment and control room functions. John DiGregorio was in for a composition class, and Kim Luiso and student editor, Angie, took a basic camera class. Taking these classes allows our community members to learn more about what RevereTV has to offer, but also enables them to make use of our equipment at a more advanced and independent level. For example, we recommend that community members at least take a basic camera class before borrowing any equipment outside of the studio.

On our government channel, a recent notable meeting would be the Ways and Means Committee Meeting which took place over a few days last week and covered the 2020 city budget. All of Revere's government meetings are recorded by RevereTV, streamed live on Youtube and our channels, and are replayed and kept posted to our social media sites.

Know the warning signs of Alzheimer's Disease

Alzheimer's disease is a progressive, degenerative disease of the brain resulting in memory loss, impaired thinking, and personality changes. Brain damages influence the way people act and react. As comprehension falters, emotional and behavioral problems may soar. Not everyone with the disease exhibits behavioral problems, but these problems are a common indication of the disease.

The Alzheimer's Association lists ten warning signs of the disease:

- 1. Recent memory loss affecting job skills
- 2. Difficulty accomplishing familiar tasks
- the right word 4. Disorientation to place

3. Struggling with finding

- and time 5. Poor judgment
- 6. Problems with abstract
- thinking 7. Misplacing items
  - 8. Altered mood or behavior 9. Changes in personality

10. Loss of initiative

Don't jump to the conclusion unusual behavior indicates a person has Alzheimer's disease. If several family members have been afflicted with the disease perhaps it is indicative of a genetic factor—although it could be a result of a dozen other conditions.

It is extremely important for anyone experiencing changes/ impairments in memory, cognitive, or behavioral patterns to get a thorough physical and neurological evaluation. There is no individual test for Alzheimer's. The best approach is to undergo a series of tests to exclude other conditions. There are many benefits to the evaluation. No one should suffer needlessly. With the onset of dementia every attempt should be made to determine the originating factor.

Dementia could result from depression, drug interaction, thyroid problems or hormone disorders, nutritional deficiencies, and systemic illnesses. Symptoms can be reversed or halted with early diagnosis and treatment.

Regardless of the final diagnosis, emphasis should focus on making the most of the individual's remaining capabilities. With a little planning, it may be possible to maximize the quality of a person's life.

The majority of people with Alzheimer's are 65 and older. Those with Alzheimer's disease typically live anywhere from five to 20 years after the diagnosis. Diseases of this type lead to a slow deterioration and disintegration of the human body. It is understandable why people often refer to this process as the "long good bye." Although the person may physically look the same as the disease progresses from early to middle stages, the very essence of the person slowly starts to disconnect available in the community and make a pact with each family member to accept outside help when the responsibility becomes too much to manage. Far too many families have ended up in a crisis situation because they insisted on providing care in isolation. Introduce services slowly, adding to the care plan when the need increases.

Jared Coppola, St. Mary's Spartans seek Division 2 state baseball title

By Cary Shuman

Jared Coppola will be playing the final game of his outstanding high school athletic career Thursday night at Alumni Field in Lowell.

Coppola, a 2019 graduate of St. Mary's High School who grew up in Revere, will be hoping to lead the Spartans' baseball team to a victory in the Division 2 state championship game against South sectional champion Hopkinton High School.

The Spartans won the North title with 5-0 victory over Woburn Saturday. Coppola stayed red hot at the plate with an RBI single and an RBI double in his first two at-bats.

The 6-foot-2-inch, righthanded hitter has been the Spartans' leading batter, registering a sizzling .442 average in the No. 3 spot in the lineup.

St. Mary's Coach Derek Dana said Coppola's contributions to the team's success extend beyond his clutch hitting and high average.

"Jared has not only been our top hitter but he'll play anywhere we need him," said Dana. "He's been a long relief pitcher and also a closer with four saves."

Coppola said he had a good feeling about the Spartans' chances of being a state title contender during the preseason practices.

"We came in to the season

Jared Coppola.

"We knew we could accomplish something special. We just had to practice every day, keep working on our skills, improve as a team every day, bring it to the games, and be better than all our opponents."

Coppola played youth baseball and youth hockey in Revere. "That's where I got all of my early instruction in sports," he said.

At St. Mary's, Coppola said Derek Dana has advanced his skills during his three years as a starting player.

"Mr. Dana is a great coach," said Coppola. "He's taught me a lot over the years. He's built my confidence and he's built who I am today in baseball. New Hampshire University.

ready to go," said Coppola. Clearly I've been getting better each year and I can't thank him enough. Hopefully, we can go get this done for him in the state title game."

> Thursday's finale will be Coppola's second appearance in a state championship game. During his sophomore season, Coppola and Revere resident Nick Napolitano helped St. Mary's win a Division 1 ice hockey title at the TD Garden.

> Coppola, son of former Revere High hockey captain Steve Coppola and Jacqueline Coppola, will be continuing his baseball career at Southern

HAMDAN RETURNS FOLLOWING RESEARCH PROJECT

Hadi Hamdan of Revere, a member of the class of 2020 majoring in civil engineering at Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI), was a member of a student team that recently completed an intense, handson research through the WPI project center in Thessaloniki,

The project was titled The Current Mediterranean Diet: Assessing Food Culture of Perrotis College Students. In their project summary, the students wrote, "We utilized a mixed method approach, including interviews, food diaries, free listing activities, and catalog studies, to collect data regarding students' food choices, perceptions, and social eating practices. We analyzed this data in order to develop promotional strategies that encouraged Perrotis College students' adherence to the Mediterranean diet."

At WPI, all undergraduates are required to complete a research-driven, professional-level project that applies science and technology to addresses an important societal need or issue. About twothirds of students complete a project at one of the universi-Kelly Arango, Business ty's 50-plus off-campus project centers, which are located around the world. A signature element of the innovative undergraduate experience at WPI, the project-based curriculum offers students the opportunity to apply their scientific and technical knowledge to develop thoughtful solutions to real problems that affect the quality of people's lives-and make a difference before they graduate.

"The WPI project-based curriculum's focus on global studies brings students out comfort zones and into the global community to apply their knowledge and to solve problems," said Professor Kent Rissmiller, interim dean of the WPI Interdisciplinary and Global Studies Division. "Students are immersed in all aspects of a different culture, from the way people live and work to the values they hold to the foods they eat - all valuable perspectives for surviving and thriving in today's global marketplace. They also learn the meaning and magic of teamwork; make a real and meaningful difference in their host community; and gain a competitive edge for any resume, or graduate or professional school application."

WPI, a global leader in project-based learning, is a distinctive, top-tier technological university founded in 1865 on the principle that students learn most effectively by applying the theory learned in the classroom to the practice of solving real-world problems. Recognized by the National Academy of Engineering with the 2016 Bernard M. Gordon Prize for Innovation in Engineering and Technology Education, WPI's pioneering project-based curriculum engages undergraduates in solving important scientific, technological, and societal problems throughout their education and at more than 50 project centers around the world. WPI offers more than 50 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs across 14 academic departments in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts. Its faculty and students pursue groundbreaking research to meet ongoing challenges in health and biotechnology; robotics and the internet of things; advanced materials and manufacturing; cyber, data, and security systems; learning science; and more. www.wpi.edu

Cambridge Health Alliance raises $545K at its annual Art of Healing Award Dinner

(CHA), an academic community health system serving Cambridge, Somerville and Boston's metro-north region, honored Mary Otto, an independent journalist, with its annual Art of Healing Award on June 13 at the Charles Hotel in Cambridge. Ms. Otto was recognized for her role in promoting awareness of oral health struggles and fiercely advocating for vulnerable populations. Mary Cassesso, President, CHA Foundation and Chief Community Officer, emceed the program, and comedian and Cambridge native Jimmy Tingle served as the auctioneer.

The award was presented during CHA's signature fundraising event, which raised more than $545,000 to benefit CHA's community health priorities. The Art of Healing Award celebrates visionary men and women who transcend boundaries, embrace humanity and inspire the heal-

Cambridge Health Alliance ing of body and spirit. Past honorees include John Rosenthal, founder of Stop Handgun Violence, former Mass. Governor Michael and Mrs. Kitty Dukakis and Donald Berwick, MD, former Administrator of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

Good oral health is an important indicator of the wellness of a person's overall body but unfortunately, there is a major gap across the country in routine dental insurance. Small issues that begin in the mouth can lead to more complex health issues down the road. According to a 2016 study led by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, cavities are one of the most prevalent chronic diseases of youth in America. Furthermore, youth who have oral health challenges miss more school and have lower grades than children who do

In 2007, Ms. Otto wrote about Deamonte Driver, a Maryland child covered by Medicaid who died after bacteria from a dental infection spread to his brain. His story spurred change and increased attention to oral health access for Medicaid children nationwide. It also inspired her to write the book, Teeth: The Story of Beauty, Inequality and the Struggle for Oral Health in America in which she focuses on the oral health crisis and its wide-reaching effects.

"We were thrilled to celebrate Mary Otto and CHA at our Art of Healing Dinner," said Mary Cassesso, President of the CHA Foundation and Chief Community Officer. "There is a direct connection to underperformance in school and health issues for children. Mary brings attention to the unmet needs in dental services impacting some of our most at-risk populations. A special thanks to our donors who helped us raise funds to support vital programs at

Beach it's hard to imagine Revere Society for Cultural and Historic Preservation (RHSCHP) and the City of Revere with the support of the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Conservation, people will be able to view decorative banners that showcase the history of Revere Beach

> They are hung from the light poles, and these banners will illustrate a series of images of the period of 1896-1960s a "Stroll Through Time" at Revere Beach.

Additional non-profit organizations were also consulted throughout the creative process including The Revere Beach Partnership, The Beachmont Improvement Committee, The Revere Beautification Committee and the Medford Vocational Technical High School, Graphic Art Department under the leadership of Lou Spagnola.

Also helping to sponsor this project is the Ash family, the Festa family, Gate Residential, Lixi Group, the DiCesare Family, Vanguard -Elliot on the Ocean, Atlantic Management, Belfonti Companies and Gansett Ventures.

The majority of photographs and historical details used on the banners were provided by Bob Upton's reverebeach.com. The project consists of 38 streetlight banners along the western side of Revere Beach Boulevard between Eliot Circle and Revere Street. Each of these banners will display a different historical scene from the corresponding to its actual location on the Boulevard.

These banners will be supplemented by ground-level kiosk locations on which will display materials on the background of the project as well as its various sponsorships. The kiosks will be located at Eliot Circle, at Revere Street (at the 300 Ocean Ave area of Revere Beach Boulevard) and the Markey pedestrian bridge.
