EMERGING STAR

Llanos rushes for 200 yards in third RHS victory

By Cary Shuman

Two hundred can be a magic number in sports. Two hundred hits in baseball is an exceptional season. Two hundred in ten-pin bowling is considered an outstanding score.

Two hundred rushing yards in a football game means you’ve had a very impressive performance.

Revere High running back Joe Llanos continued his torrid start to the 2019 season by rushing for 200 yards on the nose (on 22 carries) to help the Patriots turn back Lynn Classical, 43-26, Friday night at Della Russo Stadium.

Llanos showed his speed and elusiveness on touchdown runs of 54 and 35 yards. He was the star among stars on a night when five different players scored touchdowns and Ryan Riazi booted a 44-yard field goal that easily cleared the up-rights.

From Marc Silvestri to Jose Escobar to Victor Rivera to Emilio Digitale to Trey Weathers to Tommy Portrait to Oscar Lopez, Revere has had some elite running backs over the past 25 years. Llanos is well on his way to joining that elite group.

City receives $1.7M for traffic signals

Special to the Journal

Mayor Brian M. Arrigo announced that the City is the recipient of a $1.7 million in state funding that will fund the upgrade of all signalized intersections along Broadway. The Mayor praised Speaker of the House Robert DeLeo for leading the legislative effort that will result in dramatic and long-overdue advances in traffic control along the City’s central roadway.

“The current traffic signalization along Broadway is pretty much the same as it was when the lights were installed nearly 40 years ago. The signal equipment itself is close to 20 years old,” said Mayor Arrigo. “Traffic control improvements have lagged way behind surface roadway improvements over the years. Now, thanks to the Speaker’s concern and leadership, we will finally be able to install a fully-synchronized, state-of-the-art Adaptive Signal Control system that can be monitored and controlled from City Hall or police headquarters.”

Speaker DeLeo cited the important public benefit of funding such projects. In announcing the Revere funding and a separate similar fund earmarked for his hometown of Winthrop, Speaker DeLeo said: “Investments like these make our communities safer and more accessible while improving the delivery of municipal services to our residents. I applaud hard-working municipal

Giorgio family makes freshness a top priority

By Sue Ellen Woodcock

It’s all about the flour – it’s organic. And the ricotta cheese for ravioli is organic. To top it off, everything is fresh.

Best of all, it’s all fresh at Durum artisan fresh pasta, 427 Eastern Ave., in Lynn, owned by the Giorgio family of Revere, who have also owned La Famiglia Giorgio at 112 Salem St. in the North End for more than 30 years. That’s also over 30 years of making fresh pasta and bread.

Outgrowing their cooking area in the restaurant for baking and pasta making, the Giorgio family purchased in the facility in Lynn.

“If it’s not organic, it’s not authentic, and if it’s not authentic, then it’s not Durum artisan fresh pasta,” goes the company saying.

“We are not trying to reinvent the process, we are just making pasta the way it was meant to be made; with natural ingredients so we can offer a naturally good product. We only use 100 percent American-made, certified organic semolina and durum flours in our pasta, which is sourced from North Dakota. All our pastas have a combination of the following three ingredients: organic flour, organic eggs sourced from New Hampshire, and filtered water (filtered four times),” said Al Giorgio Sr., adding that his wife Maryann is the brainchild behind the operation, which opened last week. She holds a regular full-time job as business manager at St. Anthony’s Church in Revere during the week and spends her weekend time teaching others how to make the pasta. Some of the pasta offerings include: 100 percent Organic Semolina Extruded Pasta such cavatelli, rigatoni, gemelli, spaghetti, ziti rigate and more. There are specialty doughs from tomato, spinach, mushroom, beet, Calabrian chile, squid ink, lemon pepper, basil and more. Don’t go home without organic stuffed and specialty pastas such as jumbo organic cheese ravioli, potato gnocchi and lasagna sheets. There is also 100 percent egg pasta such as angel hair, linguini, fettucine, Gran Fusilli, as well as one hundred percent organic whole wheat pastas and gluten free pastas.

Durum also offers fresh bread – organic ciabatta, organic Kalanata olive ciabatta and organic focaccia. “There are a whole bunch of great pasta places in the North End and Boston area, but there aren’t many up this way,” said Al Goirgio Sr. “We don’t have the 100 percent organic, fresh pasta places like our grandparents had 75 years ago. This brings it back to the way it used to be.” Durum also offers prepared foods made daily such as chicken parmesan, eggplant parmesan, lasagna, sausage/onions/peppers, sauces and more. “When you all believe in something together that’s the best. We all believe in the product,” said Al Giorgio Jr. Son Al Goirgio Jr. works side by side with his father.

EBNHC honors Sorrento at Revere PACE facility

By John Lynds

The East Boston Neighborhood Health Center (EBNHC) last week honored its longtime Board Chair Rita Sorrento by dedicating its new Neighborhood PACE facility in Revere in her name.

Sorrento, who has served as as the EBNHC’s board president for 23 years, is a retired educator and former principal of the Dante Alighieri School in East Boston. Sorrento also serves on the board of the National Association of Community Health Centers (NACHC) board, the Massachusetts League of Community Health Centers and is a member of a number of other service organizations here in Eastie and Revere. Aside from serving as the EBNHC’s board chair, Sorrento also sits on many other Health Center committees including marketing and finance.

“Last Wednesday we had the honor of dedicating our Neighborhood PACE Revere facility to our longtime board chair Rita Sorrento, who has devoted decades of her life to our community through education and health care,” said EBNHC President and CEO Manny Lopes. “There is only one Rita, and we can’t imagine our organization or community without the positive impact she has made. Rita, you are deeply loved and appreciated by all of us. We are pleased that the gorgeous Neighborhood PACE facility will bear your name as a testament to your legacy.” Sorrento first got involved with the EBNHC while principal at the Alighieri. There she formed a partnership between the school and the EBNHC to bring programming into the Alighieri for students and families. She was later elected EBNHC’s board chair and has become a fixture in the community.

“It was a great honor to be recognized by EBNHC,” said Sorrento. “Thanks to so many who attended such a wonderful event.” Sorrento’s son, Jimi, said last Thursday was a wonderful day for his mom.

“Congratulations mom for your commitment to community service to the East Boston Neighborhood Health centers for almost 30 years,” said Jimi Sorrento. “Our family and friends are so proud and I am personally inspired to attempt to follow in both her and my late father’s footsteps to serve the public in some fashion, to give back and help others with my own talents and experiences. Bless you mom and thank you for being such a great role model for us all.”

At the event Revere Mayor Brian Arrigo made a proclamation that Sept. 25, was Rita Sorrento day.

REVERE FIRE DEPARTMENT HOSTS FREE OPEN HOUSE
TO TEACH FIRE SAFETY PREVENTION SKILLS

Free Pizza and Education Materials

Revere, Ma – Saturday, October 12th, 2019 – The Revere Fire Department welcomes local families to a free Open House on this date from 10 A.M. – 2 P.M. The open house is aimed at teaching families fire safety and prevention practices. The Revere Fire Department Open House will be held at 400 Broadway, Revere, MA.

This open house commemorates October, which is National Fire Safety Month. The theme this year is, “Not Every Hero Wears a Cape. Plan and Practice Your Escape”, which recognizes the everyday people who motivate their households to develop and practice a home fire escape plan; these seemingly basic behaviors can have life-saving impact.

In addition, this year, members of the community can meet the Chief of the Department, Christopher Bright, and the Fire Prevention staff, including Deputy Chief Paul Cheever, Lieutenant Erin Leary and Firefighter Lawrence Floyd. Children will be able to view and tour the fire apparatus and an ambulance provided by Cataldo Ambulance Service.

Our children are crying out for help; why don't we hear them?

By Anthony D'Ambrosio

While it should be common sense that good mental health is critical to a child's success in school and life, we, as a community, need to do better for our children. Let me be clear and speak plainly, America's youth, and Revere's youth, are in the midst of a mental health crisis. The explosion of snapchat, twitter, and Facebook have dramatically changed the way our children are growing up today. They can no longer come home after school and shut out the negative influences of the day. Their smart phones and laptops ensure that they are wired in 24/7.

The resulting data is startling. According to research done by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, major depression among teenagers has surged 69 percent over the past 10 years; one out of every five girls experiences major depression. The suicide rate among 18-year olds has increased by a whopping 56 percent since 2008. The situation is even worse for younger children. Pediatric hospitals have determined that admissions of children ages 5 to 17 for suicidal ideation have more than doubled over the past decade. Here in Revere the statistics are similar. And anecdotally, we all know friends and family who suffer from depression and other related illnesses.

While I understand that childhood depression and related mental health issues are complex, I don't understand why we aren't all discussing this awful crisis more during this political season? Yes, tax rates, congestion, and development are all important issues, but isn't the health and well-being of our children just as important? Isn't the health of a community inextricably linked to the health and treatment of its children? As a united City, Revere needs to do better.

While it is difficult to determine the exact causes behind such spiking numbers, social media bullying, spotty mental health screening, and inadequate medical access are surely contributing factors. Regardless, more can be done to help our youth. Our schools provide a unique opportunity to identify and treat mental health conditions by serving students where they already are and at an age when the biggest difference can be made. Well trained school personnel play an essential role in identifying the early warning signs of emerging mental health conditions and in linking students and families with effective services and supports. Our caring and committed teachers are at the forefront of this crisis. We must support them in their efforts to combat mental health issues.

After understanding the crucial position that Revere Public Schools have in this crisis, we need to re-examine and redouble our efforts at assisting children. I believe in the creation of a system-wide, true "ombudsman's program" to support children struggling with mental health issues. The new program will:

1. re-prioritize our resources and begin by increasing awareness of this difficult issue. Many of our students are afraid to seek help because they fear ridicule from their peers. We need to change the culture surrounding this issue in our schools. We must shatter the societal stigma that is too often attached to depression and other mental health issues. We are all God's children with different strengths and abilities. Revere Public schools must take the lead in raising awareness on this issue;

2. increase training of school faculty and staff on the early warning signs of mental health issues and how to connect our students to mental health professionals; and,

3. increase our internal services and supports so that our community schools provide an effective level of school-based mental health services. Such services, offered on the

GUEST Op-Ed

Fiscal stability

By Mayor Brian Arrigo

The fundamental changes that we put in place at the outset of my Administration have guided our budgetary practices to a point where today, this City occupies probably the strongest financial position in its history.

Don't just take my word for it. Last year Revere earned its highest bond rating in the City's history when Standard and Poors assigned the city an AA rating, indicating the strong investment quality of bonds issued by Revere.

The bond rating is analogous to your personal credit score. It probably is the most indicative measurement of the City's financial health since it is established by a totally objective observer whose only concern is the quality of Revere's ability to meet its obligations.

Or, as Standard and Poors said when issuing the rating: "We believe Revere's budgetary flexibility will likely remain very strong with management's continuous efforts to reduce overspending and tighten expenditure control."

How did we get to this point? A first step took place in 2016 when a comprehensive review of the city's finances eventually cleaned up the city's balance sheets—and discovered 2.2 million in unused and inactive accounts. From there, we established financial policies and procedures to uniformly record and track all financial transactions that involve public money.

What else impressed Standard and Poors? We stopped wasting money. We discontinued accounts that were paying for phone and data lines that no one was using. We stopped paying for software packages that were unused and unnecessary.

At the same time, we generated money by moving the City's trust accounts into interest-bearing accounts that have more than doubled our return on investment.

As with any budget, it's important to set aside money for emergencies and unexpected expenses. In terms of municipal finance, we call those "stabilization accounts," which are used when the municipality confronts extraordinary or unforeseen events that might otherwise have adverse effect on taxpayers. Revere's "rainy day" fund today is nearly $8.5 million, having increased by almost $3 million in the past four years. This helps the City fend off the consequences of, for example, reduced state assistance or other emergency.

Meanwhile, three years ago I established a separate stabilization account specifically for capital improvements. Today that account balance is over $1 million, which funds capital projects in concert with our capital improvement plans, as well as financial security if we face major unexpected expenses.

It is particularly telling that the Department of Revenue has certified record amounts of "free cash" for Revere the past two fiscal years. This indicates our conservative revenue estimates, solid collection systems, and sound budget practices. Thanks to these measures, Revere has been awarded a Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting by the Government Finance Officers Association.

The demands on a municipality are broad and imperative to a strong community. Public safety in a modernized world compels that our fire and police departments are fully staffed and equipped. Public education is a priority, and that means well-staffed schools with up-to-date teaching tools. Well-rounded education means costs for athletic teams and a multitude of extra-curricular activities. The City also removes trash with curbside collections throughout the city. And don't overlook the costs incurred when a municipality plows snow, repairs sewer and drain lines, holds elections, conducts health and safety inspections, maintains the records of births, deaths, and marriages...

High quality government requires adequate staffing and functioning equipment so that our employees can do the jobs that are expected of them.

And the list doesn't stop there. The city's quest to elevate the quality of life for every resident means providing a services and conveniences that raise the standards of health, comfort, and convenience to make a city more livable. These include expanding recreational programs through our Parks Department and our Library, building and improving playgrounds across the City, providing consumer protection assistance, operating the Senior Shuttle and providing programs for elder residents, monitoring the community's health needs, providing assistance to veterans, holding community events like the Fall Festival, movie nights during the summer, Mobile

City Hall, and installing the systems that make it easier for people to interact with City Hall through the convenience of internet transactions—just to name a few. These all involve the cost of the service, as well as the staff necessary to implement the service. All are worthwhile expenses that make our City a wonderful place to call "home."

Thanks to Revere's financial stability, the city is keeping pace with the region's strong economy. Property values are at an all-time high. Meanwhile, after decades of talk and broken promises, well-planned development has changed empty, unproductive swaths of land into attractive mixed-use development projects that expand the City's tax base and further strengthen our financial situation.

Because of this, our current residential tax rate of $12.11 per $1000 of property value is lower than the current residential tax rate in neighboring communities such as Chelsea, Everett, Lynn, Malden, Salem, Saugus, Wakefield and Winthrop. Simple translation: the tax bill you receive for your residential real estate in Revere is lower than the bill for an equally-assessed property in any of our neighboring communities.

As commercial development expands in the city, and the first phases of the development at Suffolk Downs trigger a new era of commercial, residential, and open space prospects in our city, we will continue along the road of fiscal strength that will promote Revere's emergence as one of the leading municipalities in the Commonwealth.

Brian Arrigo is the Mayor of the City of Revere.

LETTER to the Editor

FLIP-FLOPPING ON DEVELOPMENT

Dear Editor:

As we discuss the future of our community, there's no doubt that any development that happens on our vacant properties – residential, commercial, or otherwise – comes with trade-offs. Traffic and congestion are absolutely issues that need to be discussed, and are the downsides of any economic growth.

But as I read Councillor Dan Rizzo's op-ed in the September 18 Revere Journal, I can't help but wonder if we're living in an alternate reality in which the years 2011-2015 didn't exist.

Councillor Rizzo rails against redevelopment of Suffolk Downs because it would create traffic and congestion, after he spent the entirety of his term in office and staked Revere's economic future on constructing a massive, destispot and over time, are the most effective method of helping our children and giving them a real opportunity at better mental health.

I am often told that Revere politics amounts to nothing more than a popularity contest during election season; that it's only about shaking hands and doing favors. I refuse to believe that it's simply that shallow. With more young people suffering from depression and other issues, we can no longer ignore the mental health crisis in our backyard. While this may not be popular to say, in good conscientious, I surely will

nation resort casino on that very same property - a casino that would have generated significant 24/7 traffic, the vast majority of which would have come from out of town.

The councillor expresses concern over the $13 million in additional cost to city services, while not mentioning that the development is likely to generate $40+ million in annual revenue that can be used to strengthen our schools, improve the city's infrastructure, and support police, fire, and DPW. A casino would have also faced similar trade-offs.

THANK YOU

Dear Editor,

Our family would like to express our appreciation for the outpour of cards, prayers and donations.

Your personal commitment was incredible, helpful and allowed us to defray medical expenses, which made it possible for Mike to be med flighted back home to a local hospital, after Mike became extremely ill in Aruba.

The Councillor's pitch to voters ultimately depends on them forgetting his actual track record in office.

All development will have trade-offs. Let's have an honest conversation about the pros and cons.

To all those that made this fundraiser possible I am so very thankful. I would especially like to give a shout out to Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representative Robert DeLeo, City of Revere's Mayor Brian Arrigo, Ward Counselors Joanne McKenna, and Patrick Keefe, Revere School Committee member Carol Tye, and Councillor-at-Large Daniel Rizzo for showing their support. I would also to thank all my friends both old and new for their continuous support. Last, but certainly not

Councillor Ira Novoselsky appointed to Soldiers Home Board of Trutees

By Cary Shuman

Ira Novoselsky, Ward 2 City Councillor for the past 18 years, has been appointed to the Chelsea Soldiers' Home Board of Trustees.

Novoselsky took his oath Sept. 17 during a luncheon and ceremony for two retiring trustees, Tom Daley and Ray O'Brien, board chair.

The past national commander of the Jewish War Veterans, Novoselsky, 72, visits the Home often to assist war veterans and various events such as holiday dinners, monthly bingos, and services at the Jewish chapel.

Ira Novoselsky receives his oath of office as a new trustee at the Soldiers Home from Robert Jones, deputy regional director of Mass. Health and Human Services.

Novoselsky served in the U.S. Army Reserves from 1968 to 1974 and in the National Guard from 1986 to 2007, retiring after 27 years of military service. He was the past state commander of the Jewish War Veterans of Massachusetts and served for three years as the commander of American Legion Post 61.

Currently he is the co-chair of the Revere Veterans Committee that was instrumental in the placement of new flagpoles at the Beachmont Veterans Memorial School.

He is the quartermaster and past commander of the Jewish War Veterans Post 161, Revere.

Francisco Urena, State Secretary of the Department of Veterans Services, attended Novoselsky's oath-taking ceremony. Cheryl Poppe, superintendent at the Soldiers' Home, and Tom Lyons, board chair, congratulated Novoselsky at the ceremony. Several members of the Soldiers' Home staff, other board members, and residents were also in attendance.

Also being installed as a new trustee was Kurt Power, a current Boston Police officer.

“I'm very honored to be appointed by Gov. Baker to this esteemed position,” said Novoselsky. “There are a lot of historical projects going on with the construction of the new community living center on the site of the Soldiers' Home. One of my goals is to go through this construction process and also retain the Jewish chapel in the new facility.”

U.S. ARMY, PFC ALBERT CIAMPOLI SQUARE DEDICATION

Last Sunday morning, under bright and sunny skies, family and friends gathered at the corner of Derby Road and Malden Street to honor, Revere resident and war hero Albert Ciampoli.

PFC Albert Ciampoli enlisted in the US Army during WWII, and was sent to Germany. He fought at the “Battle of the Buldge”, received a Purple Heart and was a member of the 398 Military Police. After the war he returned home, to Revere, raised his family of three sons and a daughter, Paul, David, Benjamin and Karen, and at the age of 93, Albert passed away in 2017.

On Sunday morning Mayor Brian Arrigo, local officials joined the Ciampoli family to dedicate a memorial plaque in his memory.

David, Paul and Benjamin Ciampoli unveil the plaque at the corner of Derby Road and Malden Street in honor of their dad, Albert Ciampoli.

Paul Ciampoli, son of Albert, retired Revere Police Officer and longtime hockey coach at RHS addressed his family and the residents of Revere that attended the dedication ceremony for his dad.

Revere Veteran's Agent Marc Silvestri was Master of Ceremonies.

Prior to the dedication, Mayor Arrigo talks with friends and family of Albert Ciampoli.

Mayor Arrigo and Revere Veterans Agent Marc Silvestri with the Ciampoli's, Benjamin, Paul, David, Karen and Gianna Mejia.

WE ARE PROUD OF REVERE.

All of us want and need to feel pride in our family, our school, our teams, our country.

What about our city?

Ask yourself honestly, how do you feel lately when someone drags our city through the mud for political gain?

Haven't you become tired of having to listen to bad jokes about the "same old Revere"?

Can't we, and shouldn't we, be able to have pride in our city -- blessed with ideal location and generations of hardworking, honest and able families?

We've already got what it takes to make Revere a place we can be proud of: a Mayor with integrity, dedication and commitment to moving Revere forward with innovative leadership, transparent government and responsible financial management.

Don't believe the naysayers.
REVERE'S FUTURE IS BRIGHT UNDER MAYOR ARRIGO'S LEADERSHIP.
Now is not the time to go backwards.
Vote to re-elect Mayor Arrigo on November 5th.

inar titled “On the Road Again.” This seminar will focus on Revere’s unique, low-cost senior shuttle transportation service and the program’s benefits. This service enables seniors to remain independent while staying active, utilizing the many programs, activities, services, and events that the Rossetti-Cowan Senior Center offers and meeting outside appointment dates for medical and other everyday errands.

This 40th annual conference is attended by directors of over 300 Councils on Aging/ Elder Affairs, and senior center directors and attracts over 700 attendees that including federal, state, and local “senior-industry” professionals. The Massachusetts Executive Office of Elder Affairs and many state-wide organizations participate in this very comprehensive three-day conference.

MASS DEP RELEASES DRAFT SOLID WASTE MASTER PLAN

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (MassDEP) has issued the Draft 2020-2030 Solid Waste Master Plan. The proposal seeks to increase diversion of food material, textiles and bulky waste items, provide financial and technical assistance for municipal waste and recycling programs, and enhance compliance and enforcement of waste disposal bans. A public comment period on the draft runs through Friday, Dec. 6, 2019, and includes five public hearings across the Commonwealth.

“The Draft Solid Waste Master Plan proposes aggressive goals for reducing our waste in the next decade and beyond,” said MassDEP Commissioner Martin Suuberg. “The draft plan outlines a mix of regulatory, financial and technical assistance to move towards these goals, improve the Commonwealth’s waste management system, and provide important environmental and economic benefits for Massachusetts.”

The Solid Waste Master Plan establishes the Commonwealth’s policy framework for reducing and managing solid waste that is generated, reused, recycled or disposed of by Massachusetts residents and businesses. The Draft 2020-2030 Plan proposes a broad vision for and strategies on how the Commonwealth will seek to manage its waste over the next decade and beyond.

From 2008 to 2018, Massachusetts’ per capita disposal dropped by 18 percent. The new plan proposes to build on this progress and further reduce the current annual total of 5.7 million tons of solid waste disposal by 1.7 million tons or 30 percent by 2030. The plan also proposes an aggressive longer-term goal to reduce trash disposal by 90 percent by 2050.

Initiatives included in the draft plan will:

- Increase requirements on the diversion of commercial food material from disposal;

CORREGGIO SUPPORTS KENNEDY FOR U.S. SENATE

Recently Congressman Joe Kennedy III announced that he will challenge current State Senator Ed Markey for his seat in 2020. This announcement came at an event held in East Boston at the East Boston Social Center. Former Revere City Councilor and candidate in the 2019 November election, John Correggio was in attendance in East Boston to support the popular congressman in his announcement to run against fellow democrat Markey.

- Improve the performance of recycling facilities handling construction and demolition materials;
- Provide financial and technical assistance to enhance municipal solid waste and recycling programs;
- Target the reuse and recycling of textiles, mattresses and other bulky waste items;
- Enhance compliance and enforcement of existing waste disposal bans and pursue additional bans on target materials; and
- Advance adoption of extended producer-responsibility systems for select materials.

The draft plan takes a balanced approach to meeting Massachusetts’ capacity needs for waste materials. This approach includes fostering opportunities to reduce waste up-front through source reduction and reuse, growing in-state capacity and markets to manage recyclables and food materials, and maintaining the moratorium on additional municipal waste combustion capacity.

MassDEP has scheduled the following public hearings:

- Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 5 p.m. at the MassDEP Central Regional Office, 8 New Bond St., Worcester;
- Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 5 p.m. at the MassDEP Northeast Regional Office, 205B Lowell St., Wilmington;
- Thursday, Nov. 7, at 10 a.m. at the MassDEP Headquarters Office, 1 Winter St., Boston;
- Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 5 p.m. at the Springfield City Library, Sixteen Acres Branch, 1187 Parker St., Springfield; and
- Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 5 p.m. at the MassDEP Southeast Regional Office, 20 Riverside Drive, Lakeville.

MassDEP will accept comments on the draft plan through 5 p.m. on Friday, December 6, 2019. Comments on the draft plan can be submitted via e-mail to dep.swmp@mass.gov or via the mail to: John Fischer, Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection, 1 Winter Street, Boston, MA 02108.

MassDEP is responsible for ensuring clean air and water, safe management and recycling of solid and hazardous wastes, timely cleanup of hazardous waste sites and spills and the preservation of wetlands and coastal resources.

CHA TO HOST DAY OF FREE HEALTH SCREENINGS FOR WOMEN

Cambridge Health Alliance (CHA), an academic community health system serving Cambridge, Somerville, and Boston’s metro-north region, will once again host See Test & Treat, a day of free health screenings for uninsured and underinsured women on Saturday, October 26. The event will be held at CHA Cambridge Hospital (1493 Cambridge Street, Cambridge) from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. and is intended for women, transmen and non-binary people, ages 21-65, who lack health insurance and access to quality care.

See, Test & Treat is a national program sponsored by the College of American Pathologists Foundation to offer uninsured and under-insured people the opportunity to get important health screenings and information. In a single day, participants receive a pelvic and clinical breast exam, a Pap test with same-day results, a screening mammogram with prompt results, a connection to follow-up care, interpretive services, translated educational materials, health and wellness information, and a healthy snack. Child activities are provided to further reduce barriers to getting these important tests.

“See, Test and Treat embodies CHA’s mission of caring for everyone, regardless of their ability to pay, immigration status or gender identity,” said Rebecca Osgood, MD, chief of pathology, who is spearheading the event at CHA. “The most important piece of all of the free care that we provide is that it could possibly save lives. We are excited to build on the success of last year’s event where we were able to serve 60+ women. Most of them had no insurance and others had such limited insurance it created a barrier for them to receive care.”

More than 100 CHA staff, including pathologists, OBGYN providers, cytologists and radiologists, are volunteering their time to make See, Test and Treat possible.

In addition to the screenings, the day will be filled with other fun activities including a range of health education programs focused on nutrition, breast self-exams, and HIV screening and counseling. See, Test and Treat at CHA will also have a health fair component filled with mental health resources, smoking cessation information, colon cancer screenings, oral health information and much more.

To learn more about the event on Oct. 26, visit www.challiance.org/community/see-test-treat or send an email to sprimeau@challiance.org.

Keefe announces re-election bid for Ward 4 Councillor

Hi, I am Patrick Keefe and I've have had the honor of being your Ward 4 City Councilor for the last 4 years. I'm a proud homeowner, live on Kilburn Street with my wife Jennifer and two school-aged children, Adrianna and Patrick. I'm also very proud of the many years I've spent coaching youth sports in the City, working with the children of our community and teaching them about team work and how to achieve the goals they set forth. Professionally, I am an operations director with a Boston-based restaurant company and oversee over 800 employees and 12 properties across New England.

Four years ago, I asked for your support and promised more engaged leadership while working collaboratively with the residents of Ward 4. Since being elected, I've held quarterly community meetings to provide updates to Ward 4 Residents and listen to the concerns they have—feedback that I take directly to the City Council.

Some of the initiatives I've brought to the table include improved roadwork and pothole repair; more directed patrols at Harry Della Russo Stadium; safer streets in our neighborhoods; first of Revere's many speed readers on our streets, and most recently, being a driving voice of the new, comprehensive city-wide parking program.

My family is very proud of being actively involved in our cities many youth organizations as I believe we can positively impact the young men and women of Revere as they are truly the future of our city.

I have also been very active in fighting the cities opioid epidemic as a SUDI task force member, and delivering the message to our at risk youth. Most recently I have lead the charge to eliminate the sales of Recreational Marijuana in Revere, we simply don't need it in our city.

I work as the Chair of the Legislative Affairs Subcommittee and am proud to be involved in creating policy that positively impacts the residents of our city and will position our city for long term success.

I am also proud of my track record for voting on positive projects in our community that will help ensure Revere thrives for generations to come.

Specifically, approval of four new hotels and the future development of the NECCO location, which will be 100% commercial use and the future of innovations in life sciences. This growth in our local economy will provide good living wages for Revere residents while allowing us to improve our local infrastructure at sometimes no cost. These types of projects can happen with the right leadership.

Lastly I am proud of how I represent each and every resident of Revere with a positive attitude and do not feed into the constant spread of bad information and or create a poor image of our great city. Revere's future will be what we make of it, not how we stand out individually but how we stand together.

I am humbly asking for your continued support as your Ward 4 City Councilor.

Thanks you.
Patrick Keefe
City Council Vice President

Novoselsky will seek re-election as Ward 2 Councillor

My name is Ira Novoselsky and I am a candidate for re-election as the Ward Two City Councilor.

During the last 17 years, I have continued to work to make our area a better place to live. I had Stop signs installed on Shirley Ave. next to Costa Park for the protection of our children and residents.

Many streets and sidewalks in Ward Two are now on the reconstruction list after many years of neglect. Over 27 Streets have been repaved. Through my efforts with MDOT and Safe Routes, we have upgraded sidewalks and handicap ramps on streets and sidewalks leading through our neighborhood and around the Garfield School.

Your streets are continuously swept, old trees are being trimmed and removed and new trees have been planted on many of our streets. Future goals include additional trees on many more streets. In other areas of the Ward, plans are in process to upgrade Curtis Park next spring, repair and replace the public stairs off Campbell Ave. and Hillside Avenue and the upgrading of storefronts and signs on Shirley Ave. Sidewalk and street work is scheduled for the late spring of 2020. I am proud to have sponsored National Night Out at Curtis Park for the past 16 years and to have decorated Shirley Ave. and Costa Park for the Christmas holiday. Other plans for the neighborhoods will include grant funds from Massworks for a new park and passage way to Wonderland Plaza at the dead end of Walnut Ave. along Kimball Ave. and the renovation of Flaherty Park, Sandler Square and Fitzhenry Square Park.

My work with local civic organizations over the years has been rewarding and very fulfilling and I am proud to continue my affiliations with these hard working groups. I have been honored by the Revere Elks, The Neighborhood Developers, WEE, The Revere Chamber of Commerce, and the Jewish War Veterans as the Man of the Year. This year I was proud to work with a private developer to bring 30 housing units for Veterans only to Shirley Ave.

I was born in Ward 2, I grew up in Ward 2, and I have raised my family in Ward 2. As you can see, my heart and soul belongs to Ward 2 and the City of Revere. As a City Councilor, my number one priority is the welfare of Revere and its' residents.

I retired from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts after 33 years and from the Massachusetts National Guard and Army Reserves after 27 years of military service. I am married to Rochelle (Gaber). We have one son, Seth, who is married to Jeannemarie (Mancuso), and two grandchildren, Olivia Rose who graduated from Revere High and Charleigh Jaye, who attends Revere Public Schools.

I thank you for your time, and ask for your vote on Election Day, Tuesday, November 5, 2019. If I can be of any assistance or answer any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me at 781-289-7031 or at ira_novoselsky@yahoo.com.

Together we will continue to make Ward 2 a better place to live.

Verrengia installed as Grand Knight

By Cary Shuman

John Verrengia was installed as Grand Knight of the Saint Michael the Archangel Council 16550 Knights of Columbus during the installation of officers dinner Sept. 26 at the organization's headquarters on Central Avenue.

District Deputy Michael DiBenedetto led the impressive ceremony in which Verrengia and the other newly elected officers took their oath.

"I offer my congratulations on your well work well done," DiBenedetto told the officers. "My gratitude to each of you for your devotion of which you exemplify of fraternal principles of charity, fraternity and patriotism. I express my confidence that you will add luster to your Council's good works, making them more meaningful to the church."

Addressing Verrengia, DiBenedetto said, "You have been chosen by your brothers to guide the destiny of your Council. As chief administrative officer, you are directly responsible for every aspect of your Council's operation and success. Your brothers have demonstrated their confidence in your capable and outstanding leadership."

Verrengia has served as Grand Knight since the organization's chartering in 2016, continuing the tradition of the former Knights of Columbus. He was joined at the ceremony by his wife, Alberta, his sister-in-law, Linda, and his son, Joshua, who was installed as warden.

Verrengia delivered an inspirational speech in which he recalled a Council that was on the brink of going out of existence.

"We knew we were three years ago," said Verrengia. "Rather than close the Council and shut it down, we did exactly the opposite. We hit reset and became Saint Michael the Archangel Council 16550. We have carried on the great tradition that was started by Council 179, the old Revere Council, in 1896."

Verrengia said the new Council is celebrating its third anniversary.

"When I look at what we have right now, every day has been a building block for us," said Verrengia. "Every year has been a little bit better. My goal for this year is to build on our accomplishments."

Verrengia pointed out the new kitchen in the function room and the beautifully landscaped area with flowers in front of the headquarters as positive additions.

He noted the Knights of Columbus annual clothing drive that allowed the organization to distribute clothing items to many residents in need. The organization will also continue its food drive. Every Tuesday morning from May through December, the Knights host a free breakfast for residents at its building on Central Avenue.

Verrengia thanked members, specifically Richie Pasquariello, for their kind visitations to members who are confronting medical situations in their lives.

Verrengia said upcoming K of C events include a trip to Foxwoods and the annual $5,000 raffle.

"We're doing the things that we need to do and I want to build on that," said Verrengia. "I want to continue to build our membership. I'm proud to be a Knight. I'm very honored to be here. I want to thank everybody who has helped out in so many ways this year. I'm looking forward to a great year."

One of the highlights of the installation was the welcoming of Revere historian Lenny Piazza as a new member of the organization.

"You will be a tremendous addition to our club and we're extremely honored to have you," Verrengia told the well-known 92-year-old resident.

"It's an honor and a privilege to participate in your organization," said Piazza.

The Knights of Columbus presented a 65th birthday cake to Bob Northrup, who is accompanied by Dawn Northrup.

Mystic Valley Elder Services delivers fresh produce to older adults as part of annual program

Mystic Valley Elder Services (MVES) recently delivered nearly 160 bags filled with fresh fruits and vegetables to homebound older adults as part of their annual Senior Farmers Market Nutrition Program.

Carl Hills from Kimball Farm in Pepperell, who provided the fresh produce, joins Mystic Valley Elder Services Nutrition staff Nancy Mullaly, Nutrition Care Manager, Carla Castillo, Linda Crowe, and Wendy Sturgeon, Nutrition Program Managers, as they bag fresh fruits and vegetables to be delivered by care managers to homebound older adults as part of Mystic Valley’s annual Senior Farmers Market Nutrition Program

The Senior Farmers Market Nutrition Program is funded by the Mass. Department of Agricultural Resources. MVES was granted funds to purchase produce from a local farmer, Carl Hills, from Kimball Fruit Farm in Pepperell, Mass. The program is designed to benefit local farmers and eligible low-income seniors who may not have such nutrition and fresh produce in their daily diet.

The bags of fresh produce are delivered by MVES Care Managers to identified seniors they care for in the communities of Chelsea, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Revere,

RHS football team smashes Classical; heads to Saugus

The Revere High football team put it all together for the third successive week of the young season on offense, defense, and special teams to cruise to its third victory with a 43-26 gashing of Lynn Classical in another successful episode of Friday Night Lights at Harry Della Russo Stadium this past Friday evening.

The Patriots asserted control of the contest from the outset, racking up 20 points in the first quarter.

Revere took the opening kickoff and marched the length of the field in nine plays, the capper coming on a 10-yard jet sweep by captain Jonathan Murphy.

After the Patriot defense forced the Ram offense into a three-and-out, the offense went back to work under the capable direction of junior quarterback Calvin Boudreau, who engineered another scoring drive that culminated with a 10-yard bolt into the end zone by captain Zack Furlong.

When the Revere defense forced a fumble on Classical's next possession, Boudreau and Co. wasted little time in taking advantage of the turnover, with Calvin hitting captain Lucas Barbosa for a 22-yard TD pass.

With RHS place-kicker extraordinaire Ryan Riazi hitting on 2-of-3 PAT kicks (Ryan's first miss of the season hit the cross-bar), the Pats and their fans were in a festive mood with a 20-0 lead against a Classical team that at one point this season had been ranked in the top 20 after knocking off Brockton.

Classical finally got on the board in the second period to cut the margin to 20-7 at the half and then threatened to make things interesting when the Rams scored another TD on their opening drive after the intermission.

However, the Patriots -- specifically, their star running back Joe Llanos -- soon put to rest any thoughts of a Classical comeback. On Revere's ensuing possession, Llanos broke off a 54 yard jaunt to pay dirt to increase the Patriot advantage to 26-14.

The Revere defense then forced its second fumble of the contest, setting the stage for Riazi to boot a 44 yard field goal that boosted the Pats into a comfortable 29-14 advantage.

"Ryan's field goal was huge," said RHS head coach Lou Cicatelli. "It gave us a 15-point cushion late in the game and put a lot of pressure on them."

Classical refused to quit however, and responded with a touchdown to slice the lead 29-20. But once again Llanos (200 yards on 23 carries), who to this point in the season has been putting up All-Scholastic and Conference MVP numbers, proved once again to be the main man for Revere.

Joe burst through the Classical defense for a 35-yard TD run that, with Riazi's PAT, boosted the Pats into a healthy 36-20 lead.

Classical struck back with a few minutes left in the game to draw within 36-26, but then one of the most bizarre plays a fan could witness on a gridiron took place when Classical attempted an onside kick.

PATRIOTS FOOTBALL

THE RHS PATRIOTS STAY UNDEFEATED AT 3-0 BEATING LYNN CLASSICAL RAMS 43-26 AT DELLA RUSSO STADIUM

Patriot Assistant Coach Scott Wlausk and members of the undefeated Patriots stand at attention for the “National Anthem.”

Joe Llanos (#25) takes the opening kick-off.

Joe Llanos gets some great blocking from Capt. Jaryd Benson (#50) and Ryan Schaefer (#61).

Escobar, an RHS assistant coach and one of the greatest offensive players in school history, has been impressed by Llanos’ talents.

“Joe is very patient and side-steps like we haven’t seen before in a long time and he’s very coachable,” said Escobar, a multi-year GBL All-Star.

Llanos was unaware of his 200-yard night until reporters informed him of the feat.

“Two hundred yards, that’s sounds great,” responded the 5-foot-10-inch, 180-pound back. “I think our offense and our defense was great tonight. I’m not the only threat. Having five different people scoring touchdowns makes a big difference.”

Llanos praised his offensive line for opening the holes in the Classical defense.

“The line is well-educated, tough, strong and I love them all,” said Llanos.

Llanos also credited the coaching staff for devising an excellent game plan.

“Coach [Lou] Cicatelli is a great coach and he cares about all of us,” said Llanos. “We’re going to do big things this year.”

Like many of his teammates, Llanos began his career in the Revere Pop Warner youth football organization. Three games in to his senior season, the 17-year-old standout is excited about the Patriots’ 3-0 record and his team being the talk of the town.

“It feels great [to be 3-0], but we have a lot more work to do,” said Llanos. “I’m so excited about our start. But we have to improve on our craft every day.”

Llanos had a sizable contingent of family members on hand at the game, including his father, Waldy, and his mother, Jackie.

The Llanos family and the rest of Revere High’s supporters will be at Stackpole Field in Saugus on Saturday for an 11 a.m. game against the Sachems.

Defensive Tackle, Dominic Reed (#72) celebrates his fumble recovery deep in Rams territory. Following this recovery the Patriots scored their third TD of the first half.

Riazi was johnny-on-the-spot to make the recovery, but then decided to take off downfield, outrunning the entire Ram team for a 50-yard touchdown scamper.

"Rayan is a very smart player both on and off the field," said Cicatelli of Riazi, who is on the high honor roll. "He has a high sports-IQ and when he saw the opportunity, he made the most of it."

Riazi's run to glory, and his subsequent PAT, put the icing on the Patriot victory cake for the 43-26 final score.

"Everybody who took the field for us contributed to the victory," said Cicatelli. "The offensive line did a great job protecting Calvin (8-for-15 passing for over 100 yards) and the defense once again was solid against a very fast and dangerous Classical team that put up 48 points against Brockton."

Defensive ends captain Mazer Ali (who recovered a fumble) and Augusto Goncalves once again anchored the D-line on either side, with interior lineman captain Jaryd Benson (who had a key sack that ended a Classical drive) and junior Dom Reed (who pounced on a fumble) holding down the fort in the middle.

Cicatelli also lauded his assistant coaches for the work they put into the winning game plan.

"Any head coach is only as good as his assistants and I have a great staff," said Cicatelli of offensive coordinators Paul Norton and Jose Escobar (both of whom played under Cicatelli), defensive coordinator Scott Wvlasic (former Peabody head coach), offensive line coach Vin Gregorio (who played with Cicatelli at RHS in the early 1980s), and defensive line coach Rob Sasso (another of Cicatelli's former players).

The lone negative for Revere was the loss of Furlong to a concussion that will sideline Zach for two weeks.

The Patriots' next opponent is Saugus this Saturday afternoon with the opening kick-off set for 2:30 p.m. (because of SATs) at Stackpole Field. The Sachems are 0-3 and are coming off a 47-0 loss to Marblehead this past week.

RHS GIRLS SOCCER TOPS THREE GBL FOES RECORD NOW AT 7-0-1

The Revere High girls soccer team completed a perfect week against three of its rivals from the Greater Boston League this past week, defeating Medford, Malden, and Everett.

Carolina Bettero continued her offensive onslaught against Lady Patriot rivals, scoring all four Revere goals in a 4-2 triumph over Medford.

Capt. Luana Barbosa (2), Wissam Benzerdjeb, and Sofia Choqri all earned assists on Bettero's goals.

Last Wednesday, the Lady Patriots defeated Malden, 3-1. Freshman Gisselle Sepulveda reached the back of the Malden net twice for the first two goals of her career. Bettero assisted on both markers. Madeline Yanes scored the third Revere goal.

RHS head coach Megan O'Donnell was effusive in her praise of her team's overall performance vs. Malden.

"We had great play in the goal by our keeper, Camila Perez, and superb defense from Allison Calderon, Valeska Flores, Alisson Guevara, Wissam Benzerdjeb and Sofia Gouriny," said O'Donnell. "Our offense was paced by our midfielders, who were led by junior Jackie Zapata, who has been a force for us this season."

The contest with Everett last Friday was a scoreless duel for the first 74 minutes until Bettero found a wide-open Sofia Choqri for the winning goal with a beautiful crossing pass that caught the Everett defense flat-footed.

"It was a hard-fought game where the whole team played great," said O'Donnell.

RHS PATRIOT FOOTBALL TEAM HOSTS A CAR WASH, FOLLOWING DEFEAT OF LYNN CLASSICAL RAMS, GOING 3-0

What better way to greet your family, friends and fans than to wash their car, after you go 3-0 to start the 2019 football season. That's exactly what the Revere High Patriots did this week end, crushing the Classical Rams 43-26, then donning sponges and hoses washing a variety of cars. You might not recognize these guys with out numbers on their backs, but they are the hottest team in the league right now, packing the home stands on Friday night with screaming classmates and friends, getting hi-fives all week long, and making it awful difficult for an opponent to get any momentum against a tough defense and a high scoring offense. This is the RHS Varsity Patriot Football Team.

O'Donnell and her crew took on Lynn English this past Monday and emerged with a 4-2 triumph in which Bettero scored the hat trick.

"We have had great play by the whole team all season," added O'Donnell, whose team is off to a 7-0-1 record through the first third of the season. "We have had so many different players step up this season, whether it be at scoring or making one or two defensive stops for our team."

"This team is very special," O'Donnell continued. "We have great leadership with senior captains Luana Barbosa and Elsy Romero, who are every coach's dream players. They both work hard in the classroom and on the field. They have shown the underclassman that hard work will pay off."

The Lady Patriots will travel to Boston International on Friday. They will entertain East Boston next Tuesday.

VOLLEYBALL TEAM DEFEATS THREE GBL RIVALS, NOW AT 5-0

The Revere High volleyball team ran its record to 5-0 with a trio of victories over Greater Boston League rivals this past week.

Last Monday the Patriots defeated Medford in straight sets, 3-0. Among those who led the way for Revere were David Del Rio, who earned 11 assists and served three aces, and Isabella Martinez, who dominated the middle hitter position with 10 kills.

Two nights later, Revere battled back from a 2-0 deficit to claim a 3-2 triumph. Del Rio set a whopping 29 assists for his teammates, while Martinez continued to be a dominant presence in the middle hitter position with 17 kills and taking part in three blocks.

Other Patriots who made immense contributions in the come-from-behind win were Lynzie Anderson, who had 11 kills; Olivia Winsor, who smacked 16 kills and made four blocks; and Tracy Gutierrez, who added two kills, assisted in three blocks, and served four aces.

On Friday the Patriots got to play their first home game of the season on the newly resurfaced RHS gym floor and defeated Everett in a contest in which many Revere players contributed to the winning effort.

"One player who is starting to stand out is Gianna Mahoney," said RHS head coach Lianne Mimmo. "This is her first year playing volleyball. In this time she has served 20 aces and is developing as a defensive specialist, having 37 playable digs and 31 passes in serve-receive."

Mimmo and her crew were scheduled to take on Saugus yesterday (Tuesday) and will travel to Christo Rey this Monday. They will host Lynn Classical next Tuesday and trek to Somerville next Wednesday.

GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY CRUISES PAST SOMERVILLE

The Revere High girls cross country team ran to its second straight victory of the young season, defeating Somerville last Wednesday.

"Somerville has a shorter course, which led to some faster running," said RHS head coach Katie Sinnott. "Four of our girls ran their personal best paces and nearly every girl ran a faster pace than last week."

Running personal-best paces were senior Salome Gezehagn, junior Camila Sposito, freshman Butayna Amine, and freshman Maria Ferreira.

"Butayna was also our overall most improved runner from last week," noted Sinnott. "She is showing great promise as a young runner."

Overall results:
Revere - 15, Somerville - 50

Individual results:
Soleil Yuong - 2nd, 18:49

Carly Bennett - 3rd, 19:27

Yulissa Santana Baez - 4th, 22:24

Salome Gezehagn - 5th, 22:31

Butayna Amine - 6th, 22:44

Maajda Louaddi - 7th, 25:08

Camila Sposito - 8th, 25:21

Keneisha Germain - 9th, 26:01

Maria Ferreira - 10th, 26:26

Guadalupe Alvarado - 11th, 34:34

Sinnott and her crew have a bye week and will face Medford next Wednesday.

"Medford looks to be quite a challenge," Sinnott said. "Medford is a team that has depth and some real speedy runners. Our girls are looking forward to working hard, training hard, and giving that race all they have."

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY TEAM RACES TO WIN

The Revere High boys cross country team improved to 2-0 with a 22-34 victory at Somerville last week.

Christian Madrid was the top finisher for the Patriots, crossing the line in second place in a time of 14:09 over the 2.49 mile course. He was followed by teammates Fabio Tran in third place in 14:11; Victor Pelatere in fourth in 14:18; Will Martinez in sixth in 14:29; and James Carpinelli in seventh in 14:43.

"James ran a really strong race," said RHS head coach Mike Flynn of Carpinelli's performance. "He beat the Somerville runner (who finished in eighth place) by two seconds in the GBL pre-season meet, but this time beat him by 14 seconds."

Carlos Quintanilla added to the Revere victory margin with a 10th place finish in 15:09 to displace a Somerville runner.

Antony Arias (13th in 15:27), Michael Adolphus (15th in 16:57), Vincent Nichols (17:35), and Brayden Shanley (20:23) completed the team's effort.

"I've been very happy with the way that the team has been running," said Flynn. "Depth has been the key to our success. We've had three different boys finish in first place for us in three races. We're also running as a pack, which is a necessary strategy for winning races." After a bye this week, Flynn and his crew will host Medford next Wednesday.

OBITUARIES

Nicholas Stavropoulos

Longstanding member of Pipefitters' Union-Local 537 and Masons

Funeral Services were held Monday, Sept. 30 in the Vertuccio & Smith, Home for Funerals for Nicholas Stavropoulos who passed away peacefully on Sept. 26 at the age of 92 following a brief illness. Interment with military honors was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

Mr. Stavropoulos was born and raised in Chelsea, attended Chelsea schools and was a graduate of Chelsea High School, Class of 1945. Two weeks following graduation, on June 22, 1945, he joined the U.S. Army. He was discharged on Feb. 3, 1947 as a Private Rifleman. He served from December of 1945 through January of 1947 overseas and returned to his Chelsea Home.

After returning home, he worked various jobs for about ten years before marrying Florence (D'Amico) from Revere on Dec. 9, 1957. The couple moved to Tufts Avenue in Everett and remained there for 25 years.

In 1967, Nick began to work as a pipefitter for the Boston Army Base for many years and later continued his pipefitting career at the Charlestown Navy Yard, retiring in 1992.

Florence and Nick resided in Revere for 34 years and recently celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary. Although, they were childless, they were overwhelmed with their nieces and nephew's affection and subsequently were overjoyed with the attention and affection their grandnieces and grandnephews showered upon them. In the early sixties, Nick joined the Main Lodge of the Aleppo Temple - Shrine and remained an active member until December of 1985.

Anthony R. Petino

Of Medford

Anthony R. Petino of Medford, passed away at the Massachusetts General Hospital on September 27. He was 66 years old. Born in Orsogna, Italy, he was the cherished son of the late Mario and Ida (DeInnocentis) Petino.

Anthony was the beloved father of Justine M. Petino and Anthony A. Petino both of Medford. Dear brother of Joseph Petino of Medford, Madeline Baliestiero and her husband Richard of Stoneham and Gabriel Petino and his wife Nancy Keighley Petino of Beverly. Dear uncle of Tiffany Marecaux, Michael Baliestiero and Leo Petino. Lovingly survived by his former wife and mother of his children Karen T. Dal-

For over 30 years, Nick has been an active member of Masonic Lodge of Cambridge, Charity Lodge. He is also a long-standing member of the Pipefitters' Union-Local 537.

He was the beloved husband of 62 years of Florence (D'Amico) Stavropoulos, dear brother of the late Dr. John J. Stavros and George Stavros, devoted uncle to John M., James N. and George J. Stavros and Mary S. Hickey, all of Essex, Jane C. Ouellette of Ipswich, Kristie Stavros of Florida and Julie Stavros of California. THIRD ANNUAL BEACHMONT MULTICULTURAL FESTIVAL

Story by Kathleen Heiser

Music played, dancers danced, puppets paraded, painters painted, kids played, folks ate, and everyone had fun.

The Beachmont Improvement Committee hosted its third annual Multicultural Festival on Saturday, Sept 28. The weather was perfect and the crowd was upbeat.

Bistro tables and chairs circled around the staging area at the beautiful Jim Kimmerle Park. The Omar Sosa Trio opened the festival with guitars and drum. Veronica Robles Cultural Center presented both children and adult dancers from Mexico and other Latin and South American countries all dressed in authentic native dress. Laurie Gardin Zieden performed Sounds of Barbara Streisand, her beautiful voice filling the air; and for many, hearts filled with nostalgia. The bright and colorful puppets, showcased by over 35 children and adults, paraded down the sidewalk on Bennington Street and weaved through Kimmerle Park to the delight of everyone. Applause! Applause! Passerby motorists tooted their horns in appreciation.

Chef Tom Feeley fired up the grill to roast his famous sausage, peppers, and onions, and hot dogs.

The RPS girls field hockey team hosted a bake sale, Casa Blanca donated cookies and pastries, and La Esquina del Sabor shared delicious Colombian food. Luigi's Pizza donated pizzas, Philly's Prezel provided pretzels to those who love them, and Selene's Kitchen offered up tastes highlighting her catering company.

Phylis Poor displayed her fabric art, Mike and Tom from Jangles Jewelry had a table of shimmering beauty, and Sonal Verma offered folks an opportunity to create a sand art keepsake. The Mobile City Hall passed out 311 information. You could easily register to vote with the Election Commission.

Neighborways publicized the upcoming community paint project to be held next Saturday on Unity Avenue. The Little Free Libraries of Revere displayed some of the 300 books donated by the Row, Row, Row team, along with a listing of where the 18 Revere libraries are located. There was a representative from DCF for families wishing to foster a child.

At the end of our line-up we had Dave LaChappel showcasing and selling his oil paintings. His exuberant personality was the best expression of what we are all about.

Many youth volunteers from the High School, games from the Recreation Department, with a very supportive presence from the Revere Police Department, and all the members of the BIC made this festival a very memorable day in Beachmont.

What a Guy! Beachmont’s Len Piazza

By Carol Tye

Len Piazza is a real home town boy. Born on July 28, 1927 in the Revere Hospital, he went to three Revere schools: the Shurtleff, the McKinley, and Revere High School, from which he graduated in 1945. In the ‘45 yearbook, he is described as “wearing sharp socks, tall and willowy, a good worker, always on the go, one of the comics in the class, and a great man with the ladies!” Len hasn’t changed all that much in his 92 years.

Like so many others of his “greatest generation,” Len entered the service (the U.S. Navy) immediately after graduation. After basic training as a firefighter, he assisted in the commissioning of the USS Leyte, which was then our largest aircraft carrier, with a crew of 5,000. Although he loved traveling to Cuba, and passing through the Panama Canal to Peru and Chile – especially because everyone loved Americans then, he was happy to be honorably discharged in

Len returned to his parents’ house at 148 Warren St., where he received his bonus of $20 a week for one year. (He gave his mother $10 and kept $10 for himself). His first job lasted only one day. When he came home from the East Boston shipyard with holes burned in his clothes, his mother (on the advice of a neighbor) sent him to Dewey Square to the Acme Steel Company.

To his interview he wore a white wool jacket and bright blue pants, and he was hired as a shipping clerk at $39 per week. Throughout his 16 years of employment there, the company recognized his talent and work ethic, moving him up the ranks and sending him traveling all over New England to train employees at other sites.

We all know that Lennie is very social. On a night in 1949, when he accompanied his cousin Josephine to a party, he was particularly attracted to a red-headed girl. So he joined with three guys from Broadway, to take four girls, all telephone operators from Beachmont, home in a cab. And he was thrilled to get the telephone number of that redhead, Shirley Young.

They were married in 1950; their reception was at the old General Edwards Inn, and they moved into the first floor apartment at 177 Bellingham Ave., where they raised their daughter Deborah Ann, and their son Robert Leonard.

When Acme Steel moved to Philadelphia, Len applied to the Container Corporation of America, then located in Medford. This time he wore a blue suit to the interview. Once again his talent and work ethic resulted in his being continually promoted through all the departments. At the time that the company was bought out by Mobil Oil, he was managing $3 million in accounts.

The business from which Len would retire in 1992 was Bicknell and Fuller Corrugated Container Company. There he received continual recognition for his success in design, sales, and customer service. His contribution to the success of the company resulted in his being named vice president of sales.

Sadly, Len’s beloved wife Shirley passed in 1996. Len remained the caretaker for Shirley’s aunt for many years. He still lives at 177 Bellingham Ave., the house where Shirley, Deborah, and Robert were raised.

In his retirement years, Len is a civic activist. The list of his contributions to our community include the Children’s Charity of the Beachmont VFW, the Beachmont Summer’s End Barbecue to benefit MDA, the Revere Historic Society, which (as president for three years) he shepherded through extremely hard times), the Rumney Marsh Burying Ground (rebuild and Bocce Tournament), the Beachmont Improvement Committee, and the Knights of Columbus.

He is also an usher at the Immaculate Conception Church.

In all these endeavors, Leonard is an active participant. He is still motivated by a strong work ethic to use his talents to serve his/our community.

With us today to celebrate Lennie’s life are his daughter Deborah Sullivan, who came down from Maine; his son Robert, from Lynn; and granddaughter, Caitlin, is home taking care of her two little boys.

NEWS FROM AROUND THE REGION

LAND TO BE USED FOR AFFORDABLE HOUSING

CHELSEA - Land the City takes for nonpayment of property taxes could soon be used to bolster Chelsea’s affordable housing stock.

The City Council narrowly passed an order calling for a home rule petition that would give the Council the option to hand those properties over to the City’s Affordable Housing Trust Fund Board.

The measure now needs to be approved in the state legislature.

Currently, the City is required to offer up any properties taken for the nonpayment of taxes at auction to the highest bidder. The Council would maintain that option, even if the home rule petition passes.

“The city very rarely takes property for the non-payment of taxes,” said City Manager Tom Ambrosino. He said the City will usually bend over backwards with a property owner to settle the tax issues.

But, Ambrosino said, there are instances when the owner walks away from a property, or the City has to step in.

“On the rare occasions when we do have to take ownership by tax title ... the only way to get the property back on the tax rolls is through a public auction,” said the City Manager. “Affordable housing (developers) are almost always outbid by for-profit developers.”

This move would give the City Council discretion to auction property to the highest bidder, or give it to the Affordable Housing Trust Fund Board, which could dispense of the property for affordable housing development.

Several councillors opposed the order, stating that the move would either limit income to the City, or further erode the Council’s powers.

“The City Manager states that it is rare that this happens, but it does happen,” said District 1 Councillor Robert Bishop, adding that there were several properties that went to auction a few years ago and brought in top dollar.

“I don’t think there is anything wrong with going to the highest bidder,” said Bishop.

District 3 Councillor Joe Perlatonda said his concerns stemmed from more power away from the City Council, noting that recent city charter changes took away parking, traffic, and licensing duties from the Council.

“This is a tough situation, but I have to vote ‘no,’” said Perlatonda.

But Councillor-At-Large Leo Robinson said the order does not diminish Council power.

“All this does is give us another tool we can use and an opportunity to control the property,” said Robinson.

Ambrosino agreed with Robinson’s assessment.

“This will create more power through the special legislation than you currently have,” he said. “Right now, the City Council has zero say and there is a public auction to the highest bidder.”

Councillors Enio Lopez and Giovanni Recupero joined Bishop and Perlatonda in voting against the order.

COMMISSION ON DISABILITY ESTABLISHED

CHELSEA - A new commission approved by the City Council aims to improve access in the city for people with disabilities.

The Council vote adopts a Massachusetts General Law allowing for the creation of a Commission on Disability.

“As far as I can tell, the City has never had a Commission on Disability,” stated City Manager Thomas

Ambrosino in a letter to the Council. “Such commissions are beneficial to a municipality.”

The commission assists cities and towns in ensuring compliance with state and federal laws that affect people with disabilities and often makes recommendations about new policies that help meet the needs of disabled residents, Ambrosino stated. In addition, the existence of a disability commission is often necessary when applying for state and federal grants that fund infrastructure improvements to establish Americans with Disabilities Act compliant buildings.

“I think this is badly needed in this city,” said District 1 Councillor Robert Bishop, adding that he had recently visited a new McDonald’s in the city and was surprised to find there were handicap accessibility issues.

•In other business, the Council approved the appropriation of $1.3 million in Chapter 70 state funding for the school budget.

During the public speaking portion of the Council meeting, Supt. Mary Bourque and School Committeewoman Yessenia Alfaro-Alvarez were those who urged the Council okay the funding.

“The money is needed in our schools to put back cuts that were made,” said Bourque.

•Ambrosino recommended an increased sewer and water discount for senior residents, from 10 to 20 percent. District 6 Councillor Giovanni Recupero asked the City Manager to explore the possibility of giving seniors a 30 percent discount on their water bills.

“I do believe that our current 10 percent senior discount on water and sewer bills, applicable only to the unit in which the owner-occupant lives, is insufficient,” Ambrosino stated. “I agree a more robust discount is warranted. However, I also believe that 30 percent is too high.”

Ambrosino recommended the discounted rate go into effect with the Fiscal Year 2021 billing cycle.

The City Manager estimated the cost of the discount program will jump from $35,000 to $120,000 annually, with the increase absorbed by other ratepayers in the city.

•Council President Damali Vidot introduced an order requesting the Licensing Commission consider granting any function hall with a capacity of over 100 people the ability to apply for up to two one-day liquor licenses per month, provided the business is in good standing with the city.

•Councillor-At-Large Roy Avellaneda requested a conference with the city assessor to discuss the current appraised values of commercial and large residential properties and the City’s upcoming rate-setting order.

“There is a disturbing trend where I feel that a proper evaluation is not being done on some of our larger properties,” said Avellaneda.

•District 4 Councillor Enio Lopez requested that Ambrosino instruct the public works department add gravel and fix all empty tree pits that have an uneven surface level on Broadway.

•Councillor-At-Large Leo Robinson requested the Traffic and Parking Commission look at putting in a crosswalk across Williams Street between the police parking lot and Winnisimmet Lounge.

Robinson also tabled an ordinance introduced by Recupero that would have allowed residents to own four hens per parcel without Board of Health approval.

T-MOBILE SEEKS PERMISSION TO INSTALL ANTENNAS

EVERETT -At the City Council meeting on Sept. 23, Rosana Ferrante from ExteNet Systems responded to questions about the company’s petition to install small-cell antennas on 10 utility poles along five city streets with the goal of expanding T-Mobile network connectivity.

The exact locations of the proposed sites are 431, 573 and 642 Broadway; 141 Chelsea St.; 45, 180, 275 and 493 Ferry St.; 301 Main St. and 132 Union St.. The initial 10 sites are part of a larger vision that would include 41 sites throughout the city. The installations would only benefit customers of the T-Mobile cellular network.

Headquartered in Illinois, ExteNet provides communications infrastructure to major cell providers in order to help them meet the increasing wireless connectivity needs of their customers. Small cells consist of radio equipment and antennas that are attached to utility poles and streetlights and are used to transmit data to and from wireless devices. Unlike the cell towers found on rooftops and along highways, small cells are installed every few blocks.

“Instead of going bigger, it’s getting smaller and closer to the customer,” said Ferrante.

According to the Cellular Telecommunications Industry Association, small cell technology is expected to explode in coming years, from 13,000 units in 2017 to 800,000 by 2026. This year alone saw a 550 percent increase in small cell installations, which are regulated by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

With a copy of the petition in hand, Councilors expressed concern on a number of fronts, including appearance, potential health risks, precedent, and benefit to Everett residents.

Councilors Fred Capone and Wayne Matewsky requested to see one of the cells in person before voting.

“There are things the size of refrigerators on top of poles on Elm Street and Abbott Avenue,” said Councilor Matewsky. “I wouldn’t want this in front of my house.”

He also mentioned he was concerned about potential radiation coming from the small cells.

“I want to know what the health hazards are,” he said. “I don’t need [radiation] affecting my health.”

Ferrante explained that ExteNet complies with the emissions regulations set by the FCC.

“It’s important that the public know that this is a low radiation threat,” she said.

But Councilor Rosa DiFlorio was still wary.

“How much radiation is really coming out?” she asked. “Because I think that a little bit here and there adds up to a lot.”

The councilwoman also worried that saying yes to T-Mobile would set a precedent for other wireless behemoths like AT&T, Sprint and Verizon to descend on the city asking for installations.

“They’re all going to be coming in,” she said.

The city of Palo Alto, California, is all too familiar with this scenario. It was recently forced to overhaul its cell antenna rules after being flooded with applications from wireless companies seeking to install cell antennas throughout the city.

Councilor DiFlorio argued that this was not a decision to be taken lightly and that she wanted Council to have the chance to research how other cities have approached the issue before taking action.

“We don’t want slow phones,” she said. “But we have to do a study and see what other cities are doing.”

Councilor Peter Napolitano requested that ExteNet provide data on the number of T-Mobile customers in Everett.

“It’s important to know how many of our residents would actually benefit from this,” he said.

ExteNet originally applied for approval for the small cell installations in Everett on August 29. FCC guidelines stipulate that the project must be approved within 60 days from application. Ferrante said the company is willing to cooperate with the City in order to reach the deadline.

Council ultimately decided that the petition warranted closer examination before bringing the matter to a vote. The petition was moved to the next meeting of the Committee of the Whole where the Council will thoroughly review all 41 proposed sites. Representatives from ExteNet as well as the City’s Legal Department will also be invited to that meeting.

SEEKS TO CHANGE CITYWIDE VOTING FOR DISTRICTS

EVERETT - A group of Civil Rights lawyers are encouraging the City and the Council, on behalf of local Everett groups, to eliminate citywide voting for district Council and School Committee seats.

Lawyers for Civil Rights Boston (LCR) sent a letter to the City on Sept. 24 encouraging it to take action on a recent proposal by the Council to get rid of the practice, which was instituted a few years back under the new City Charter. At the Sept. 16 Council meeting, several councilors signed on to the proposed change, and LCR said they hope the City acts voluntarily because they said it is a well-documented Voting Rights violation in that it dilutes the vote of communities of color.

“Obviously, it behooves the Cities to move voluntarily before they are involved in a federal Voting Rights lawsuit,” said Oren Sellstrom, litigation director for LCR. “It is something where we always encourage public entities to act voluntarily...However, if this is something the City will delay or not want to change, that’s what federal courts exist for.”

Any changes would not have any impact on the upcoming City Election on Nov. 5, but would be in place after a lengthy City Charter change process.

LCR has just recently concluded a long and protracted case with the City of Lowell about their voting system, which was much the same as Everett’s in that it was a city-wide vote. After many years of costly legal fighting, Lowell was compelled by the courts to change their system in May 2019.

That case, Sellstrom said, drew the attention of activists in Everett – who noted that the same thing was in

POLICE NEWS

OK, IT’S NOT ME

One Revere man was fine assuming a false identity, until he learned the person whom he was pretending to be had arrest warrants.

Officers observed the man fail to stop at a stop sign on Sept. 23 at 10:40 p.m. and proceeded to stop his vehicle.

Officer secured his license and ran it as a routine check, finding that there were two warrant.

When told of the warrants, the man decided to come clean and said he’s actually not the person on the license – that it was someone else with the warrants.

Police arrested him anyway, and ran his fingerprints at the station.

It turned out he was not the person on the license, even though the picture was of him. Officer Matthews, who stopped the man, had received special training in identity theft and recognized that the Social Security Number used by the driver matched those that tend to be stolen from Puerto Rican citizens.

It was the case it appeared.

Nelson Avendano, 45, of 343 Beach St., was charged with failing to stop, unlicensed operation, false application for a driver’s license, disguising identity to obstruct justice and identity fraud.

ROAD RAGE

A man reported to police on Sept. 24 that another driver had threatened to kill him while stuck in Broadway traffic around 8 a.m.

Police took a log entry, but the victim had little information to relay other than it was a black Kia. Police found no vehicles like that in the area, and the matter was logged.

place here. After looking at it, LCR decided to make their intentions known this week – compelling the City to act voluntarily before any Voting Rights lawsuit is considered.

The basis of such cases revolves around the notion that a citywide vote dilutes the vote of communities of color – not allowing residents of a district more heavily populated by people of color to be elected. This, they said, can lead to issues in communities of color to be ignored or misunderstood. LCR said they believe there is strong evidence this is happening in Everett.

“There is strong evidence this is what is occurring in Everett,” read the letter. “The City is extremely diverse – and becoming more so with each successive year. Recent Census figures show that communities of color account for over 40 percent of the population...By contrast, the City’s elected bodies do not remotely reflect this diversity. Of the hundreds of officials elected to the City Council and School Committee, only a miniscule number have been persons of color.”

The letter stated that Census figures show 23 percent of the population is Latino, and 19 percent is black. In the Everett Public Schools, approximately 75 percent are of color – with 54 percent Latino. The letter stated that of 650 elected officials in the City’s history, only four have been people of color.

LCR alleged that voting patterns in Everett show that were candidates of color or allowed to run in wards or districts as opposed to citywide, such candidates would win election in Everett.

“This in turn would enhance diversity on Everett’s elected bodies and help ensure an accountability and responsiveness to Everett’s communities of color that is currently lacking,” the letter stated.

Sellstrom said that citywide voting allows candidates in a district to win the vote of their neighbors, but lose due to a larger voting block outside the neighborhood.

“It has the potential to dilute communities of color,” he said. “If there is a majority voting block outside the district that can overwhelm the vote of those in the district, they can win 100 percent of the seats in 100 percent of the elections.”

LCR said the letter was to encourage the City to move forward with the recent proposal to dismantle the citywide voting, but they are prepared to act if need be.

“A true, ward-based system would eliminate the vote dilution problem inherent in Everett’s current electoral system,” read the letter. “Over time, a more fair and equitable system would be expected to increase the diversity of Everett’s elected bodies and the responsiveness of these bodies to the City’s communities of color, thereby strengthening the City as a whole.”

COUNCIL CONCERNED ABOUT ER CLOSURE

LYNN - The emergency room at Union Hospital on Lynnfield Street will close on Nov. 3. The City Council met with officials from police, fire and the ambulance company to discuss the impact of something they had been told was eight months away.

The change is all part of a $207 million expansion project for North Shore Medical Center in Salem and the creation of a smaller medical village on the Union Hospital campus.

Initially, Lynn officials had been told the ER was closing in May of 2020, but in July they were told by the owner, Partners Healthcare, the ER would close on Nov. 3. There will be an urgent care facility opening in its place Nov. 4, and all ambulance runs will be either going to North Shore Medical Center in Salem also a Partners facility, or into one of the Boston hospitals. If there is a conflict, an option is to go to Peabody Medical Center, which does have a small ER or Melrose-Wakefield Hospital.

“This is horrible. I’m hearing from people waiting five to six hours at Salem Hospital,” said Ward 1 Councilor Wayne Lozzi, who represents the area surrounding Union Hospital. “For them to pull the rug from under us like this is poor planning on Partners part. It leaves a bad taste in everyone’s mouth in the community.”

He noted the closed fire station on Lynnfield Street that also doesn’t help. As for reopening the station, he said he is always looking for ways to better allocate services.

No one from North Shore Medical Center or Partners spoke at the meeting, but there was a handout in English and Spanish explaining the change. The urgent care will be open seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. It is for the care of non-life-threatening medical conditions. There will also be access to radiology services, blood and lab tests, outpatient behavioral health, cardiac/pulmonary rehabilitation and the Heart and Wellness Clinic.

In May 2020 a “medical village” will open on the Union Hospital campus with North Shore Physicians group practice, and behavioral health services. The new Emergency Room at Salem Hospital also opens on Nov. 3.

Lynn Fire Capt. Joseph Zukas said as of now the ambulance cannot take people to an urgent care facility, only an emergency room. He noted that there is a basic life support (BLS) ambulance available 24 hours a day.

Robert White, director of operations for Atlantic/Cat- aldo Ambulance Company, said they have 10 paramedic vehicles and 23 basic life support ambulance rotating around their coverage areas at all times.

“If you dial 911 we have to take you to an emergency room,” Zukas said.

Fire Chief Stephen Archer said already about 80 percent of the ambulance calls are taken to Salem Hospital because Union’s operating rooms and maternity ward have already been closed. He also has budget concerns.

“This has been ongoing for the last year,” said Lynn Fire Chief Stephen Archer. “It’s not a good thing for us or for the city.”

Ward 2 Councilor Rick Starbard said there are concerns about the traffic on Highland Avenue (Route 107), the route the ambulance has to take to Salem Hospital. The council voted to send a letter to the city of Salem and MassDOT asking for help with traffic mitigation for Highland Avenue.

“It doesn’t sound like they have a plan,” said Councilor-at-Large Brian LaPierre. “We have to be proactive and let everyone know the impact.”

MAVERICK ADULT USE MARIJUANA FACILITY

APPROVED BY ZBA

EAST BOSTON - After several deferments, the Boston Zoning Board of Appeals’ (ZBA) finally voted to grant a variance and conditional use permit to an adult use marijuana facility proposed for Maverick Square at last Tuesday’s hearing.

Owners of East Boston Bloom LLC, which include Luis Vasco, Steven Vasco Nick Spagnola, and Julis Soko plan to open an adult use marijuana facility on the ground floor of a building owned by the Vasco Family in Maverick Square.

However, because the ZBA approved an adult use facility on Meridian Street last year, East Boston Bloom needed a variance from the zoning board. While there is no state regulations of how close adult use facilities can be one another the City of Boston adopted zoning that created a half mile buffer and prohibits two facilities from being within that half mile.

Many, including City Councilor Lydia Edwards, went to bat for East Boston Bloom and supported the proposal because it met criteria for adult use facilities in the neighborhood as well as being fully owned and operated by Eastie residents, one of whom is an Iraq War veteran.

THIRD ANNUAL REVERE-CHELSEA BOCCE BOWL SENIOR CLASSIC

The third annual Revere-Chelsea Bocce Bowl Senior Classic took place on Saturday, Sept. 28, at Voke Park in Chelsea with the Revere Senior Center team taking on the Chelsea Senior team. Both teams are well versed in the sport and practice regularly in their own separate leagues.

Saturday was the one day when the two powerhouses collide for the Bocce title. This year, Chelsea won narrowly – and narrowly meaning by about three inches. With the match deadlocked, Revere had the last bowl of the afternoon, and fell short by three inches. That made Chelsea the winner again this year, but by the narrowest of margins.
