NEWS BRIEFS

SEVEN-ALARM FIRE IN REVERE LIKELY ACCIDENTAL

Revere Fire Chief Christopher Bright and State Fire Marshal Peter J. Ostroskey said that the cause of last week's seven-alarm fire on Hyde Street was likely accidental.

"We are extremely fortunate that no residents were injured in this fast-moving fire," Chief Bright said. "The day's severe heat conditions and heavy smoke created a challenging situation and resulted in five firefighters being transported to area hospitals for dehydration and other heat related injuries, but things could have been much worse if the fire developed while people were sleeping."

"A fire of this magnitude in a thickly-settled area poses a grave danger to residents, firefighters, and the surrounding community," said State Fire Marshal Ostroskey. "Fortunately, the building's occupants heard smoke alarms, smelled smoke, and reported the fire quickly. This allowed a rapid response by Revere firefighters that was bolstered by mutual aid, bringing personnel from

Revere Beach scores perfect water quality in Save the Harbor/Save the Bay's Report Card

On Sunday, July 4, 2020 Save the Harbor/Save the Bay released its annual Water Quality Report Card for the Metropolitan Beaches from Nahant to Nantasket, using monitoring data from the 2020 beach season.

Weekly water quality testing at Boston's regional beaches began in late May of 2020. Additional daily testing of Constitution Beach, King's Beach, Malibu Beach, Tenean Beach, and Wollaston Beach began in early June and concluded on Labor Day weekend, September 6, 2020.

These beach safety scores are calculated as the percent of water samples that comply with the Massachusetts Department of Public Health single sample limit for bacteria, a straightforward way to evaluate seasonal beach water quality and potential impacts on public health.

Rainfall can have a significant impact on beach water quality and can vary greatly from year to year. Changes in the summer storm intensity and frequency can often explain the variations we see; 2020 was a relatively dry year, with only a few large summer storms and relatively fewer wet weather impacts. It is also important to note that some beaches are tested daily, while others are tested weekly, so in some instances a single failed test can change the rating for that beach.

These seasonal variations are why Save the Harbor/Save the Bay is reluctant to draw conclusions from results for individual years, preferring to rely on multi-year averages.

In 2020, the overall water quality safety rating for Boston Harbor's regional beaches managed by the Department of Conservation and Recreation was 93% which was an improvement over the prior year, which had a score of 89%.

Five beaches had perfect scores of 100% in 2020, including Carson Beach, City Point and Pleasure Bay in South Boston, and Revere Beach and Winthrop Beach as well. Eight other area beaches earned ratings ranging from 85% to 98%. Water quality continues

Officials plan celebration for Revere Beach 125th birthday

Staff report

The City of Revere, in collaboration with the Revere Beach Partnership and DCR, announced plans for a fireworks celebration on Revere Beach to commemorate 125 years of the first public beach in America. On Monday, July 12, the city will celebrate with fireworks, a live band, and games on the sand from 7:00-10:00 PM.

"As America's first public beach, Revere Beach continues to be the heart of our city," said Mayor Brian Arrigo. "Over the past year, the Beach has served as an economic, civic, and public health hub for our com-

Beach remains a local treasure

By Cary Shuman

The City of Revere officials led by Mayor Brian Arrigo will commemorate the 125th birthday of Revere Beach on Monday.

Yes, it was on July 12, 1896 – more than 100 years after the Declaration of Independence was issued and the United States of America became a nation – that Revere Beach became the first public beach in the country.

The Beach landscape has undergone many transformations since that time, none greater than today as spectacular residences have risen on the Boulevard and Ocean Avenue and new residents move into a city that has prospered greatly under the leadership of Arrigo.

Everyone has his/her favorite memory of Revere Beach. Some residents will remember the Frolic Night Club where some of the country's most famous singers and comedians performed. Others will recall the great amusements and rides that were situated on the Boulevard such as The Cyclone, The Lightning Roller Coaster, The Virginia Reel, The Wild Mouse, The Ferris Wheel, the Roundup, and the Dodgems (bumper cars).

Candlepin bowlers will remember the Nautical Lanes, with a downstairs miniature golf course featuring the steep 18th hole honoring the Statue of Liberty. Pinball enthusiasts will tell you about the great variety of games inside Sandy's Arcade, including Skeeball and PAC-MAN.

You wanted a great sandwich, slice of pizza, or hot dog? How about the incredible pizza at Bill Ash, Anna's, or Bianchi's, the sizzling pepper steak sandwich at Rudolph's, or the succulent hot roast beef sandwich at Kelly's (where it all began 70 years ago), or the fantastic foot-long hot dog at Danny's.

On the momentous occasion of the 125th anniversary, Revere City Councillors Steven Morarbitto and Patrick Keefe were among the many

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

Manuel Carrero launches Revere City Council race for Ward 2

Manuel Carrero has announced his intention to run for City Councillor of Ward 2. The following is his announcement:

Manuel Carrero, engineer and 13-year Revere resident, announced today that his campaign would seek to represent Ward 2 on the City Council. Calling the Shirley Ave neighborhood home since moving to the city at a young age, Carrero looks forward to meeting neighbors, sharing his vision of a brighter future for all Revere residents, and hearing directly from them on the challenges and future of the Ward.

"Just as Ward 2's streets have seen me grow into a young professional in the community, I have bore witness and felt the impacts of tremendous change over the past few years. Our neighborhood has made significant strides, and I aim to ensure that all residents share in the prosperity brought on by this growth. The Shirley Ave neighborhood has a strong tradition of neighborly action and community leadership, and the time is now for that tradition to hold a seat on the Revere City Council."

Carrero is an operations engineer at Raytheon and a graduate of Revere High School and Merrimack College. A first-generation Latino-American whose mother is a union hospitality worker and father a mechanic, Carrero's upbringing reflects the hard-working, high-achieving character of Ward 2.

Carrero feels indebted to the community that offered him the opportunity to excel, and is fueled to return that compassionate leadership to all Revere residents. His platform will focus on expanding housing affordability, supporting municipal, community-, and youth-based anti-poverty efforts, and stewarding the responsible growth of Ward 2.

For more information and opportunities to get involved, visit votecarrero.com and follow the campaign on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter. For all inquiries, contact votecarrero@gmail.com or (781) 951-4442.

residents recalling their childhood visits to Revere Beach.

"My mom [Josephine Morabito] used to take us down the beach since I can remember, when I was 4-5 years old," recalled Morabito. "We grew up on Florence Avenue and she used to walk all four of us - my brother, my two sisters, and me - down Centennial Avenue and to the Beach, and we'd spend the whole day there and eat lunch - those are great memories. We used to sit right by the old Anna's Pizza. There were no amusement rides there when I was growing up, but they had the little steering ship at the playground. It was just a great place to enjoy the whole day with family."

Keefe, who grew up in Everett before making Revere his home where he now lives with his wife, Jennifer, and their children, Arianna and Patrick III, said the Beach was synonymous with hot summer days and nights and fun times during his pre-teen and teenage years.

"Driving up Beach Street as you started to see the beach skyline always gave me great memories, said Keefe. "My family, like most, would head to the Beach on summer nights to cool off, grab an ice cream, enjoy a slice of pizza at Bianchi's or a roast beef sandwich at Kelly's and maybe feed some seagulls a French fry.

"As I entered my teenage years, heading to the Beach to show off your vehicle's sound system was a rite of passage," continued Keefe. "And now as an adult, the Beach is a great recreational space to bring your family. It's truly one of the North Shore's greatest gems. We have an amazing waterfront right at our doorstep and I am so grateful to call our Beach City home."

surrounding communities to provide assistance that made a difference in Tuesday's sweltering heat."

Working smoke alarms save lives. Smoke alarms have a lifespan of about ten years, according to the major manufacturers, and should be replaced after that period. Every smoke alarm produced in the last ten years has a manufacture date stamped on the back that says how old it is: if an alarm has no date, then it is already more than ten years old and needs to be replaced. Residents should remember to change their smoke alarm batteries twice a year at the beginning and end of Daylight Saving Time.

The Hyde Street fire is being jointly investigated by the Revere Fire Department and State troopers assigned to the Office of the State Fire Marshal. Investigators have found no indication of foul play. The fire is currently considered accidental with a possible electrical cause, and the investigation remains ongoing.

ARRIGO EXTENDS FIRE RELIEF FUND TO SUPPORT FAMILIES OF FIRE ON HYDE ST

The Office of Mayor Brian Arrigo has extended the donation deadline for the Mayor's Fire Relief Fund to support the families of yesterday's fire on Hyde St. The city is working collaboratively with Red Cross to secure housing, resources, and aid for the impacted households.

"I am extending the Fire Relief Fund to allow our community the opportunity to securely offer a hand to the families affected by the fire on Hyde St," said Mayor Brian Arrigo. "I am deeply grateful for the Revere Fire Department and our first responders for ensuring the safety of our residents. Yesterday's sweltering conditions made yesterday's emergency response that much more difficult, but as always our firefighters stepped up and sacrificed for the greater good. As our local non-profits and community organizations continue to support these families, this fund allows all in our community to offer help as they head toward better times."

Impacted families have received monetary support from Red Cross Massachusetts and will continue to receive support from the City's community partners.

Donations may be made online via PayPal by visiting https://www.revere.org/mayors-office/relief. Donations may also be received via a check made out to "City of Revere, Mayor's Office Fire Relief Fund" and mailed to the Mayor's Office or deposited at People's United Bank on Broadway.

CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS CONTINUE AT LOGAN

As passenger levels continue to increase at Boston Logan International Airport, the Massachusetts Port Authority (Massport) would like to remind the public there are a number of construction projects underway. Those using the airport should allow themselves extra traveling time and follow the signs and detours on the roadways.

Ongoing projects include a new roadway system and a post-security connector between Terminals B and C, the airport's busiest terminals, a new rooftop canopy and curbside entrance to Terminal C, and four new gates at Terminal E.

These projects began prior to the pandemic and are aimed at improving the customer experience while reducing congestion and air emissions.

More information about the ongoing projects can be found at www.LoganForward.com.

munity and will continue to serve our residents and families across the Commonwealth."

Charles Eliot was the original architect of the beach area back in 1896, he focused on giving the public access to natural spaces. Eliot was determined to create public spaces of beauty in close proximity to metropolitan areas. Revere Beach became the first public beach in the United States in 1896 and is over three miles long. To this day it remains easily accessible by the MBTA Blue Line from Boston. The beach is known to accommodate as many as one million visitors a weekend during its annual sand sculpture competition.

Also at the celebration will be the Revere Board of Health in collaboration with the MGH Kraft Community Care Van, distributing vaccines in an effort to boost Revere's vaccination numbers.

"We've found attending events throughout the city is a great way to make getting the vaccine convenient for our residents," said Lauren Buck, Director of Public Health. "We hope to inform residents of the safety of the vaccine and commemorate Revere Beach."

As of July 2, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health reported 59% of Revere residents fully vaccinated and 67% with their first dose.

individuals and be able to highlight their work across all departments in our city."

As we present the 2022 budget it is a reminder of how important the role of our finance team is in Revere. Revere's first Public Service Honor of the Month is Richard Viscay, Chief Financial Officer. We know that when the city's finances work our city works better for our people. We are proud to honor Chief Viscay with our first public service recognition. Interview with Chief Viscay below:

Q: What do you do in the City?

A: I am the Chief Financial Officer of the City, acting as the City Auditor and Budget Director and reporting directly to the Mayor and oversee auditing, budget, assessing, purchasing, treasurer, collector and parking departments. As the lead fiscal agent for the city I serve as a member of the Mayor's executive management team, involved in many daily policy and program decisions that help inform the Mayor's decisions around how to use your tax dollars and other city revenues. Additionally, I am chairman of the Revere Retirement Board and a Board Commissioner of the Revere Housing Authority supporting their ongoing mission and goals.

Q: What are the goals for your department?

A: As CFO, my goals are to ensure that all of the financial operations of the City are operating as efficiently and effectively as possible by embracing technology and innovation whenever possible. Our most important role is to ensure that your tax dollars and other city revenues are used wisely and fulfill the vision of your elected leaders. Just like your own budgets at home, we must balance our budgets to ensure a great credit rating as a city that will allow us to continue to borrow and refinance in a smart and effective way to keep our city competitive. In my role as City Auditor, I oversee a team of people who consistently review departmental spending and budgets to provide the trust in our government that there are no fraudulent, illegal or excessive expenses.

Q: How did you get involved in public service?

A: Municipal finance is an art that can only be truly learned through experience and I've been able to gain a lot of perspective from many leaders throughout our commonwealth - government, when done well, can help a lot of people - and if your budget works your city works better for its residents. I began my public service career as an accountant in the Massachusetts State Department of Revenue acting as a representative to 25 cities and towns on the North Shore, reviewing audits, setting tax rates, and certifying free cash for all of those towns as part of my duties. My first role in a municipality came in 2013 as the Director of Finance for the Town of Wenham. Since that time, I've served as the Finance Director under Salem Mayor Kim Driscoll, CFO under Everett Mayor Carlo DeMaria and now our city CFO under Mayor Brian Arrigo.

Q: What is your favorite part about working in the city?

A: Knowing I can have a small part to play in positioning the city to achieve its maximum potential. As a resident of the City, it brings me great joy to see how our work can support the improvements both internally as we conduct City business and externally as we develop key areas of the city including the Beach, Suffolk Downs, and Wonderland. This balance allows us to grow in a smart intentional way that gives opportunities for all in our community.

Q: What are you excited about for the future of Revere?

A: As a parent of two Revere High graduates and an active member of the School Building Committee, I am excited about the new Revere High School project and what it means for the next generation of leaders in Revere. I am excited about the development of Suffolk Downs and the Life Science building that was recently announced by HYM, these developments will put Revere on the map both showcasing our amazing educational achievements and helping provide a pipeline of new jobs, opportunities and revenues for the City - we are putting Revere on the map as a major player in our state and region's economic growth.

NO ESCAPING CLIMATE CHANGE

Heat domes. Polar vortexes. Superstorms. Megadroughts. Wildfire tornados. Rising sea levels.

These terms were unheard of at the start of this century -- other than in academic journals -- but are now part of our everyday conversation.

Climate change and its catastrophic effects no longer exist in the realm of science fiction describing a distant and dystopian future -- they are part of the here-and-now in every corner of the globe.

Although it is true that our planet has been experiencing its hottest years in recorded history over the past decade, the term "global warming" does not really capture what is going on. Indeed, the phrase global warming almost has a warm and fuzzy connotation. After all, who likes to be cold?

But 14 years ago, the award-winning New York Times columnist and author Thomas Friedman used a different term to describe the effects of climate change. He called it "global weirding," first coined by the environmentalist L. Hunter Lovins, which Friedman described this way:

"Avoid the term 'global warming.' I prefer the term 'global weirding,' because that is what actually happens as global temperatures rise and the climate changes. The weather gets weird. The hots are expected to get hotter, the wets wetter, the dries drier, and the most violent storms more numerous."

Tom Friedman's reference to the term global weirding came amidst a torrent of climate change denial by Republican politicians and fossil fuel industry executives, but has proven to be prescient in view of the climate calamities of the past few years.

Just about everything we do, individually and collectively, impacts our climate negatively.

As Congress takes up President Biden's various infrastructure proposals, including many that address climate change, some may question the enormous expense of retrofitting our economy to lessen our impact on the planet.

However, putting the issue that way has it backwards. It's not whether we can afford to address climate change, but rather, can we afford NOT to do so.

GUEST OP-ED

Don't give up your personal freedom

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

You may create instability and insecurity for your personal life if you put others in charge of your decisions.

The idea of a child or acquaintance "shouldering" your life's concerns and finances might feel comforting. Having someone else pay your bills and oversee your welfare might feel like a relief. For many it ends up being the end of freedom and security.

You love your children, or that special niece or grandchild. You are so bonded to them. You may feel that adding their name to your checking or other financial accounts will increase your bond and the ongoing warm fuzzy relationship. Be very aware.

An acquaintance wanted her daughter to have the family home so bad that she went ahead and did all the legal work to assign the house to her daughter. Her daughter's name was added to all her savings and checking accounts. For the rest of her life this poor woman never had a life. From that point forward, her daughter made every decision about what "was" her mother's money. She would even tear up any kind of credit or retail purchasing card that her mother tried to get with commentary such as, "You don't need these." The mother spent her remaining years hearing almost weekly from her daughter that she was going to "put her in a nursing home."

Another acquaintance with a healthy savings account and beautiful house signed everything over to a nephew and gave him her power of attorney. He soon made the decision to put her in a nursing home telling her she would be better off. He now drives her car and spends out of her checking account. He has told her she will have to sell her house to cover the costs of her nursing home care.

Just recently, an elderly acquaintance said, "I have no cash. My son takes care of paying all my bills, groceries and more but I don't have access to any money."

There is always the possibility that any of us could become physically or mentally disabled. Make your legal arrangements for when and if that happens. Be wary about putting children or loved ones on your accounts now. Get with your attorney and draw up a document that says, "When, such disability happens or death happens then Mr. or Mrs. John Doe are to have "this" or "that."

Of course, do what you want to do. Sometimes it works out. However, do you really need someone saying to you, "Now mom, now dad, do you really need to buy those shoes?" Or, "Do you really need to take that trip?" "Now mom, now dad do you really need to be shopping at the mall?" Hey friend, it's your money. You and your spouse work it out and if you live alone you and God can work it out. It can be wise to seek financial counsel from a professional. However, you can do this without giving up your personal freedom.

GUEST OP-ED

Welcoming phase of re-enty and renewal

By Cathy Judd-Stein

It is often said that the opportunity to find a deeper power within emerges when life becomes most challenging. Like many, I continue to reflect on the magnitude of fear and uncertainty we collectively experienced during the pandemic's darkest days while marveling at the resilience and ingenuity demonstrated by countless individuals and industries, including our MGC team, gaming licensees, and large stakeholder community.

We continue to honor the feelings of grief, loss and anxiety that have left an indelible mark on our hearts and minds. But as vaccination rates go up and face masks come down, I am heartened as we transition into a welcomed phase of reentry and renewal, embracing the many lessons learned and harnessing the power of our proven adaptive capabilities.

I would like to recognize my fellow Commissioners Gayle Cameron, Eileen O'Brien and Enrique Zuniga for their steady, dedicated guidance and support during these difficult months. Each Commissioner brings their individual perspectives, expertise, and compelling insights, bolstering our collective strength as we led a public body during these challenging times. We deeply appreciate Executive Director Karen Wells for directing the team's execution and implementation of the Commission's decisions and advice.

I also wish to express my most sincere gratitude for the entire MGC staff for the immeasurable ways in which team members addressed multiple adaptive challenges and arrived at creative solutions, despite the emotional toll of unprecedented circumstances.

A confluence of challenges required us to nimbly adjust our practices yet remain firmly guided by our principles. In close coordination with our licensees, a strong collaborative spirit and an innovative culture propelled our team's ability to accomplish our regulatory objectives, ensure the effective implementation of state mandates and prioritize health and well-being above all else. Indeed, the Commission has held nearly 120 virtual public meetings since Governor Baker's March 2020 executive order allowing the use of remote collaboration technology under the Open Meeting Law. The MGC seamlessly transitioned to remote operations while safeguarding our fundamental principles of transparency and accountability – a credit to the preparedness of numerous MGC departments.

Profound lessons continue to emerge from a transformative year defined by the twin pandemics of COVID-19 and deeply rooted racial injustice. The urgency of systemic inequality catalyzed the establishment of MGC's Equity and Inclusion Working Group. The Gaming Commission has since unanimously adopted the Working Group's five-point action plan, with anti-racism as a primary guiding principle. The Equity and Inclusion Working Group remains focused on ensuring that the MGC's internal and external-facing systems yield equitable outcomes, protect individuals and communities of color from disproportionate negative effects and dismantle barriers obstructing racial equity.

In March 2020, we pledged to navigate the unknown and face the uncertainty together. Today, the circumstances have changed, but the sentiment remains the same: our team will rise to meet the evolving environment TOGETHER, united by a shared purpose and driven by our deeply held values of integrity, service, and inclusion.

Keefe has praise for retiring Councillor Guinasso

By Cary Shuman

Ward 4 Councillor Patrick Keefe succeeded Arthur Guinasso as city council president in 2020 before passing on the gavel to current President Anthony Zambuto in January.

That transition of leadership resulted in Keefe returning to the seat in the Council Chambers right next to Guinasso because the tradition has been that seats are assigned alphabetically.

As the City of Revere learned last week in a surprising announcement at the City Council meeting, Guinasso will not be seeking re-election, which means that come the end of this year, Keefe (if he is re-elected to a fourth term in office) will have a new neighbor.

"My right-hand man is calling it a wrap," said Keefe. "Since being on the Council I have had the pleasure of sitting next to Councillor Guinasso. His feedback and advice are and will continue to be invaluable."

Keefe said he admires his councillor's professional, gentlemanly approach to his responsibilities. "Arthur is the most even keeled, consistent and fair councillor I know," said the Ward 4 councillor. "He also likes to brag about his attire and style which we all know is nothing but first class."

Keefe added that "the amount of time and effort that Councillor Guinasso has given to our great city is truly a blessing."

"His selflessness shall always be remembered as he laments himself as truly one of the greatest," said Keefe. "I'm so happy for him and his family as they look at the next chapter of life beyond politics."

Keefe's final message to his retiring neighbor in the Chambers: "Congratulations, Councillor Guinasso, and thank you."

SWEET SOUNDS!

Dan Luberto's voice and videos attracting many fans

By Cary Shuman

Dan Luberto has owned and operated Luberto's Bakery on Broadway for 35 years. With its wide and varied selection of delicious pastries and treats, Luberto's has reigned as one of the city's most popular and patronized food businesses.

And for events large and small, Luberto's often gets the catering call.

Lately Dan Luberto has been attracting a large following for other talents: his vocals and music videos.

With more than 10,000 followers, his own YouTube channel, an upcoming sold-out show, and featured appearances at two night-club openings, Luberto is making people stand up and take notice.

As it turns out, Luberto has had an appreciation for music since his days as a youth growing up in Argentina.

"I've been a singer all my life," said Luberto. "I performed in Argentina since I was a little kid. I'm also a drummer, but I prefer the singing."

Since posting his first music video, Luberto has been inundated with requests for other performances.

"I'm doing all kinds of videos by people's requests," said Luberto, whose videos can be viewed on Facebook, Instagram, or Youtube (Lubertod).

His most recent video, "God Bless The USA", was released as a tribute to America's 245th birthday on July 4. One of his most popular videos was "Hallalujah," which was done to highlight the observance of Easter by many of his fans. His performance of Elton John's "Don't Let The Sun Go Down On Me," has also been an audience favorite.

Luberto emigrated from Argentina and arrived in the United States in 1971. He opened Luberto's in 1986 and has been a generous contributor to numerous organizations in Revere.

Luberto said he is humbled by the tremendous response to the music videos.

"I'm really excited by the reception I've gotten and by the 10,000 followers," said Luberto. "I'm going to keep going with it because it makes me happy and makes everybody happy."

Luberto said he doesn't limit his music to any specific style. "I can do rock, romantic ballads, Spanish, Italian songs."

Dan Luberto will be on stage this weekend at a sold-out cruise on Boston Harbor. He will be performing locally at the July 18 Colombian Festival in East Boston.

And you can still find him at Luberto's Bakery every day on Broadway making people happy there as well.

State officials' legislation improves safety and awareness for swimmers

Staff Report

In an effort to increase public safety and awareness at state parks and beaches, Gov. Charles Baker filed legislation to increase fines for swimming outside designated waterfronts across the Commonwealth. The legislation, "An Act Relative to Enhanced Enforcement of Swimming Limitations," would increase the maximum fine to $500 for entering or swimming in any waters on Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR) property that are not designated for swimming. The legislation would provide an appropriate penalty for swimming in unsafe areas and deter park visitors from considering these dangerous activities.

"Swimming at undesignated waterfronts is dangerous and too often leads to tragic consequences, and this legislation is part of a comprehensive plan to discourage risky behavior and ensure the safety of visitors to our state parks and beaches," said Gov. Baker. "While we encourage all to visit our beautiful coastal and inland beaches, we urge the public to exercise caution and not swim at any body of water that has not been designated for swimming by state or local authorities."

Under current law, penalties for violating DCR's rules and regulations vary depending on whether a property was once part of the Metropolitan District Commission, with fines ranging from $20 to $200. The filed legislation establishes a uniform maximum fine of $500 for entering or swimming in waters other than those

Happy Valley adult use cannabis shop opens on McClellan Highway

By John Lynds

June 24.

After years of red tape, permitting, city and state approvals and construction, East Boston's second adult-use cannabis dispensary will open at 220 McClellan Highway--the former site of Enterprise Rental Car facility. Newton-based Happy Valley Ventures LLC, which was originally approved to be a medical-use cannabis dispensary before voters approved recreational use in the state, will officially open its doors on Thursday,

Inside Happy Valley's Eastie location customers will be buzzed into the foyer and then into the main showroom for what Happy Valley's VP of Technology and Marketing Gregg Weiss said is an experience like no other for a cannabis dispensary. The sleek showroom has several display cases featuring Happy Valley's flower, edible and concentrated cannabis products complete with descriptions. Customers can peruse the display cases or use one of the interactive touchscreen displays to find the product they are in search for.

"Some of the smaller dispensaries do not have the space available for a large showroom and a lot of the product is featured and explained online," explained Weiss. "Customers simply arrive at other dispensaries, wait in line, pick up their product and go home. We wanted this dispensary to be more of an experience. What's different between this location and our location in Gloucester is that it's about two or three times the size. We have the display cases, artwork, touchscreen displays where customers can answer a few questions and are then paired with a product so it is a very different experience."

Weiss and Happy Valley General Manager Gilly Motta said they really want the Eastie dispensary to become a showcase for Happy Valley products. "What's different about Happy Valley, compared to some other dispensaries, is that we are a vertically integrated dispensary with our own Happy Valley cannabis products," said Weiss. "We cultivate and manufacture in Gloucester. So all our flowers, edibles, tinctures, oil solvents are done in Gloucester and shipped to East Boston. We also sell wholesale to other dispensaries across the state. So this store is really a showcase for our own product, our own brand. We are really building a premium brand here on the East Coast."

Happy Valley can be compared more to an Apple Store than a run of the mill dispensary. With its cool vibe of artwork, screen displays and high tech software, Motta said Happy Valley really stands out in the dispensary industry.

"Our cannabis hosts are super knowledgeable about all of the products," said Motta. "So as Gregg said, you can use the touchscreen displays but we'll also have our hosts in the showroom to help guide customers into making a decision on what products best suit them. That's another benefit of being vertically integrated and not being dependent upon a wholesaler. We grow our own products and make our own edibles and things. This is our product line and that's what you see--the brand that we're building. Would you rather go to Best Buy and buy an iPhone or the Apple Store. Sure the sales rep at Best Buy knows a lot about the iPhone but has to know about all the other phones he's selling whereas the Apple Store sales rep has way more knowledge about the iPhone because that is the only product he needs to sell. So Happy Valley is sort of that concept where our staff is really knowledgeable on the products because they are our products. Other dispensaries have a revolving inventory of products from different wholesalers. If you're just a retailer and you're not vertically integrated you're just trying to fill up your shelves and move new products and you're kind of constricted by the wholesale market. Here, all the education is around our own product and we get way more granular with our product line versus somebody dropping off an order of product from five different wholesalers. We have a two week training course that everybody goes through on our products because it's way more thorough. It's impossible for a typical retailer in this industry to be super knowledgeable about all his products when he has 50 different wholesalers on his shelf."

While most cannabis shoppers pick dispensaries for both price and convenience Weiss and Motta hope Happy Valley provides more of an experience. "We want them to leave saying, "Wow, that was an experience I've never had at a dispensary", said Weiss. "And we want that experience to bring them back and hopefully they bring their friends because it was the best experience they had."

REVERE THROUGH THE YEARS

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Two Revere police officers were recently honored for saving the life of a man trapped in a burning car at Brown Circle last April. Officers Angel Lopez and Louis LaRosa put their lives on the line entering the burning vehicle and extricating the man, for which they received Certificates of Merit from the City Council.

A 65-year-old Thurlow Avenue woman who works as a school crossing guard is hanging on to life at the Mass. General in Boston after nearly drowning off the Pines Beach on Monday morning. Firefighters at Engine 5 got a call around 10:15 a.m. from a person who reported the woman was not responding and had been in the water and not moving for around 30 minutes. Firefighters rushed to the scene and located the woman just off of 629 Boulevard. Using their inflatable boat, fire crews made it out to her and pulled her from the water. CPR was initiated on the unresponsive woman. Crews began to use the defibrillator on her, but the machine advised them not to shock her. Shortly after, they were able to detect a weak pulse and she was transported to the Whidden Hospital in critical condition. She was transported to the MGH in Boston Monday night.

This year's tax delinquent list issued by the Office of the Collector of Taxes is larger than last year's. City officials said this comes as no surprise because of the high unemployment rate and the increase in foreclosures in the wake of the Great Recession.

Unemployment for youth is at its highest point this summer since World War II, according to estimates from the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). Nationwide, youth unemployment was at 25 percent for May, the month when the hiring of young people tends to pick up and that number drops. A closer look at the BLS numbers shows that with all teens factored-in nationwide, only 25 percent will score summer work. That's down from roughly about 50 percent in 2001. BLS officials indicated that teen unemployment - especially in the summer months - is at an all-time high since records started being kept in the 1940's.

OBITUARIES

Thomas Byczkoski

He never gave up on himself or on love itself

He never gave up on himself or on love itself

Thomas Henry Byczkoski, 77, of Revere, formerly of Chelsea, passed away in his sleep on June 29 at the Wakefield Center following an illness.

Mr. Byczkoski was a 1963 Chelsea High School graduate. Following graduation, he enlisted in the United States Army against the advice of his doctor. One of his proudest achievements was receiving his U.S. Army Completion of Training certificate. However, due to a medical condition, he was honorably discharged from the U.S. Army on September 12, 1968.

Throughout his life "Mr. Thomas" held various positions working as a bartender, security officer, working in retail, working in the furniture business in which he employed his nephew, Edmund Kopaczynski for a while and then, in his final role prior to his illness, he worked as a private investigator.

Thomas' presence was as big and noticeably as he was. Standing well over six and a half feet tall, Thomas had a booming voice that could be heard from rooms away. That voice would lend to many karaoke stages throughout his life. A regular at the Kowloon in Saugus, Thomas would make cassette recordings for his Godson Thomas Kopaczynski, belting out the tune he told people was written for him, "My Way" by the great Frank Sinatra.

With a deep and commanding voice while towering over most people he encountered, he was quite intimidating and downright scary to interact with if you did not know him well.

Thomas took it upon himself to ensure that his late parents, Ed and Lucy, were well taken care of when they moved into an assisted living facility. Often Thomas was brash and loud as he made inquiries on the level of care his parents were receiving, earning him a few nicknames from staff at the facility.

Upon the death of his mother, Thomas was gracious and thankful and expressed that to the staff that oversaw her care. Following her funeral, Thomas told one of his nephews, "Make sure you hug your mother extra each time you see her, I wish I had."

Whenever one of Thomas' siblings needed a helping hand, he was the first to stop what he was doing and dash over with bags full of food, extra money, one of the tightest bearhugs you ever received and, of course, he would have queued up some jokes.

That rough and tough man of steel exterior broke in 2005 when he was asked to be a pallbearer for his beloved "second brother," his brother-in-law, Paul. He declined by stating "I just can't do it, not even for Paul," and he was moved to tears.

Thomas struggled through his life to be a good man. He was not perfect, then again who is? He loved his family and close circle of friends, he never gave up on himself, or on love itself.

Thomas was born September 8, 1943, the loving son of the late Edmund S. and Lucy A. (Byczkoski) Wisniewski. He was the lovable and funny brother to Lucille A. Kopaczynski and her late husband, Paul of Stoneham and Edmund S. Byczkoski Jr. of Wakefield. He was the father of Robin Levin of Chelmsford. Thomas also leaves behind his nieces and nephews: Ann Catalano of Newport, RI, Mary Burns of Billerica, Lynn Casa of Epping, NH, Elaine Navarro of Stoneham, Beth Agneta of Plaistow, NH, Edmund Kopaczynski of Litchfield, NH, Joseph Kopaczynski of Springfield, Pa., Edmund S. Byczkoski III of Fort Bragg, NC and Thomas Kopaczynski of Boston; great-nephews and nieces: Adam, Nicholas, Amanda, Daniel, Caitlyn A, Kyle, Caitlyn B, Evangelyn, Jonathan, Edmund IV, Robert Jr., Katrina, E'Angelyliz, Paul J., Ella F. and Evand..

Funeral arrangements were entrusted to the Smith Funeral Home, Chelsea.

All are invited to a Memorial Mass to celebrate Tommy's Life on Saturday September 11 at 11 a.m. at Our Lady of Czestochowa, 655 Dorchester Ave., South Boston, MA 02127

Barbra Streisand tribute show sells out at the Senior Center

By Cary Shuman

Deb Peczka DiGiulio, director of the Rossetti-Cowan Senior Center, will host the first show there since the Center reopened in May and it will be a sellout.

Barbara Streisand tribute artist Lori Zeidens will perform the renowned vocalist's hit songs at the show scheduled for Thursday. The guests will also enjoy a luncheon catered by Kelly's Roast Beef.

Streisand is one of the all-time legends in the entertainment industry, having won Grammy, Oscar, Emmy, and Tony Awards.

Volunteer Coordinator Ed Deveau suggested the Streisand tribute show to Peczka DiGiulio after viewing Zeidens' amazing performance at a local event.

"Lori Zeidens has appeared at our Beachmont

Improvement Committee's multi-cultural festivals over the last two-three years, so I knew the outstanding quality of the work that she does," said Deveau. "When we were thinking of entertainment shows for our seniors, I thought Lori would be perfect for this group."

Peczka DiGiulio said she has had to turn away ticket requests because of the huge response.

"It will be a sold-out performance by Barbra," confirmed Peczka DiGiulio.

"As the word goes: sold out," added Deveau.

Legislation filed promoting state gun safety

Staff Report

Congresswoman Ayanna Pressley (MA-07) and Massachusetts lawmakers Sen. Edward J. Markey (D-Mass.) and Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.) re-introduced the Making America Safe and Secure (MASS) Act, legislation to incentivize states to adopt gun-licensing standards similar to those proven effective in Massachusetts. Massachusetts has comprehensive gun licensing laws and the lowest gun death rate in the nation.

Since 1994, the Commonwealth has reduced gun deaths by 40 percent. Among the most effective of Massachusetts laws are the provisions governing licensed gun dealers. Any person who sells ammunition or sells, rents, or leases a certain number of firearms in a calendar year must obtain a state dealer license. The state is required to establish standards for "prohibited individuals," those ineligible to obtain a firearms license or firearms dealer license. Gun dealers and private sellers must record all firearms sales, leases, and rentals, and share this information with law enforcement. These dealers and sellers must also verify the validity of a firearms license before a transaction and notify law enforcement when presented with an invalid or expired license.

"Families and communities in the Massachusetts 7th and nationwide continue to face the intergenerational trauma of gun violence, and it's long past time we address this public health crisis head-on," said Congresswoman Pressley. "The MASS Act would create stricter guardrails around firearm purchasing to curb gun violence and save lives. I am proud to join my colleagues in advancing necessary and long overdue common-sense solutions."

"Massachusetts has some of the most comprehensive and effective gun violence prevention laws on the books, and not coincidentally, the lowest gun death rate in the country," said Sen. Markey. "We can make our Commonwealth's laws the model for the rest of the nation and take the steps necessary to end the gun violence epidemic in every state across the country. We must finally put a stop to the NRA's vise-like grip over commonsense federal gun policy, and it is my hope that the MASS Act will help loosen this control and incentivize other states to adopt Massachusetts's life-saving gun safety laws as their own."

"It is long past time for Congress to stand up to the gun lobby and confront this deadly crisis head-on," said Sen.

Warren. "Massachusetts has the lowest rate of gun deaths in the country and can serve as a model for the federal government to develop policies that will keep our students and communities safe."

"As physicians, we understand the critical importance of identifying, addressing, and reversing a public health menace with urgency. Let's be abundantly clear - our country's deadly and all-too-frequent occurrences of firearm violence are public health crises. We support the MASS Act and appreciate Sen. Markey's leadership in introducing legislation that will offer added protection for all of our patients, as it is becoming clearer by the hour that no person is completely immune to injury and death caused by firearm violence," said Carole E. Allen, MD, MBA, FAAP, President of the Massachusetts Medical Society.

designated for swimming by DCR.

At its many designated waterfronts throughout the state, DCR offers services like clearly marked swimming areas with ropes and buoys, lifeguards on-duty, and water quality testing. Undesignated waterfronts do not receive such services, and may also have hazardous features like murky water, steep slopes, and aquatic plant species, creating a potentially dangerous situation for swimmers.

"The legislation filed today reflects the Baker-Polito Administration's commitment to the health and safety of Massachusetts residents and visitors," said Secretary of Energy and Environmental Affairs Kathleen Theoharides. "Increasing fines is a critical part of our comprehensive strategy to prevent potential tragedies and ensure all visitors to the Commonwealth's state parks have a safe and enjoyable experience."

DCR has been coordinating with the Executive Office of Energy and Environmental Affairs (EEA), the Massachusetts State Police (MSP) and the Massachusetts Environmental Police (MEP) to implement new measures to enhance public safety and discourage swimming at undesignated waterfronts. DCR has produced and posted dozens of new swimming safety signs at DCR parks and beaches. These signs will be in multiple languages at select areas such as Houghton's Pond within the Blue Hills State Reservation in Canton. DCR has also increased outreach for the agency's Learn to Swim program, which offers free swimming lessons at 12 locations statewide for people of all ages.

Last week, DCR announced that it has increased lifeguard pay from $17/hour, or $18/hour for head guards, to $20/hour and $21/hour. Lifeguards who remain committed for the entire season with DCR will also receive a $500 bonus at the end of the season. DCR continues to actively recruit individuals to become a lifeguard at its inland and coastal waterfronts, and deep water swimming pools in the Boston Region (including Cambridge and the surrounding towns), the North Region (specifically Saugus, Nahant, and East Boston), the South Region (specifically Sandwich and Westport), and the Central Region (Metro West to Worcester County). Interested individuals can apply online and are strongly encouraged to call Jim Esposito at (857) 214-0400 or visit the DCR's lifeguarding webpage, where application information and lifeguard requirements can be found.

State administration announces new body-worn camera grant

Staff Report

The Baker-Polito Administration announced a competitive grant program to equip municipal police departments across the Commonwealth with body-worn cameras.

The Office of Grants and Research (OGR) within the Executive Office of Public Safety and Security will manage the five-year $20 million program, which is expected to fund 9,000 cameras as well as on-premises servers for secure video storage for municipal police departments. The Baker-Polito Administration included funding for this program as part of the FY22 Capital Budget Plan.

ital Budget Plan.

“Body-worn cameras create opportunities to strengthen relationships between local law enforcement and the communities they serve, said Gov. Charlie Baker. “We look forward to partnering with cities and towns to provide these important resources that will improve transparency and accountability.”

Municipal departments can apply for funds to begin a new body-worn camera program or expand an existing program. While only 10 percent of Massachusetts municipal departments operate a program, a recent poll by the Massachusetts Chief of Police Association indicates that more than three of four department in both major cities and smaller communities are interested in starting a program.

As part of their grant application, each department will be required to submit a comprehensive deployment plan that must describe a deliberate and phased plan to deploy the technology, as well as specific ways the proposed program will enhance the agency’s mission.

“Body cameras are a useful tool that keep both police officers and members of the public safe,” said Co-Chair of the Joint Committee on Public Safety and Homeland Security, Rep. Carlos Gonzales. “Research has found that police-worn body cameras reduce department costs, promote best practices, and improve police-community relations. Grants such as these that expand their use serve to improve policing across the Commonwealth and carry out the mission of the police reform law we passed.”

The applications became available to municipal departments on June 30 and will remain open until Monday, Aug. 30, 2021. For more information, please visit: <https://www.mass.gov/service-details/justice-and-prevention-grants>.

Free admission to MFA on July 17 and 18

Staff Report

To celebrate the opening of “Paper Stories, Layered Dreams: The Art of Ekuia Holmes,” the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (MFA), is offering free general admission on Saturday, July 17 and Sunday, July 18, thanks to Citizens, the lead exhibition sponsor and a longstanding partner. Tickets will be available to reserve at 10 am on July 13.

A lifelong resident of Boston’s Roxbury neighborhood, Ekuia Holmes (born 1955) is an artist and community activist whose body of work explores themes of childhood, family bonds, memory, and resilience. ‘Paper Stories, Layered Dreams: The Art of Ekuia Holmes’ focuses on her award-winning children’s book illustrations—vibrant collages revealing stories of self-determination, love, and community that reflect the artist’s distinctive vision and commitment to Black imagery and representation.

The more than 40 works on view include original illustrations from Holmes’s published book projects: “Voice of Freedom: Fannie Lou Hamer, Spirit of the Civil Rights Movement” (2015) by Carole Boston Weatherford, “Out of Wonder: Poems Celebrating Poets” (2017) by Kwame Alexander, and “Black Is a Rainbow Color” (2020) by Angela Joy. The exhibition also features a selection of Holmes’s luminous illustrations for the recently released book “Saving American Beach” (2021) by Heidi Tyline King—on view for the first time—as well as a selection of her independent work, including portrait installation pieces. Interpretive materials include a video interview with the artist and a group of wall texts written by teen participants in the MFA’s Curatorial Study Hall program.

Fishing pier opens at Deer Island

Staff report

Energy and Environmental Affairs (EEA) Secretary Kathleen Theoharides joined state and local officials, fishing advocates, and youth anglers in Winthrop for a ribbon cutting of the Commonwealth’s new Deer Island Recreational Fishing Pier last week. The pier will provide anglers from Winthrop, East Boston, Chelsea, Revere, Everett, and many other surrounding communities an easily accessible opportunity to fish from Massachusetts’ shoreline.

“The Baker-Polito Administration is committed to making outdoor recreational opportunities like fishing easily accessible to all Massachusetts residents, especially those in urban and environmental justice communities,” said Energy and Environmental Affairs Secretary Kathleen Theoharides. “This new recreational fishing pier will provide anglers of all means and abilities in the Greater Boston area access to high-quality coastal fishing for generations to come.”

The facility was constructed by the Department of Fish and Game’s Division of Marine Fisheries (DMF), in cooperation with DFG’s Office of Fishing and Boating Access, the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, and the City of Boston. The $2.4 million project was paid for mostly with funds from the sale of Massachusetts recreational saltwater fishing permit, with assistance from the MWRA.

“This is a signature project for the Department of Fish and Game and our Division of Marine Fisheries,” said Department of Fish and Game (DFG) Commissioner Ron Amidon. “I wish to thank DMF and the Marine Recreational Fisheries Development Panel, the citizens advisory group that long ago had the foresight to propose building recreational fishing piers in urban communities, to serve people who may not otherwise have opportunities to go fishing.”

“The fishing pier is a great addition to the recreational opportunities available at Deer Island and MWRA is proud of the partnership that made this possible,” said Massachusetts Water Resources (MWRA) Executive Director Fred Laskey. “With five miles of public trails for walking, jogging, sightseeing, picnicking, bicycling and fishing, the Deer Island Public Access Area offers something for everyone.”

“The Deer Island pier project gives back to the fishing public in the ‘user pays, user benefits’ model,” said Division of Marine Fisheries (DMF) Director Dan McKiernan. “This pier project and other similar structures around the state have strong angler support because it’s tangible, permanent, and meets critical need for angler access.”

Construction of the Deer Island Recreational Fishing Pier was supported by the Marine Recreational Fisheries Development Fund, which is financed through the sale of recreational saltwater fishing permits, donations, and grants. One third of the fund is dedicated to providing anglers with public access to saltwater fishing opportunities. The Marine Recreational Fisheries Development Panel is a five member citizens advisory group that helps DMF in crafting annual spending plans from the Fund.

Some of the activities supported by the Fund are:

- Providing anglers with public access to saltwater fishing opportunities
- Monitoring, stocking, and improving the passage of diadromous fish
- Developing the Saltwater Angler Education Program, offering fishing clinics, seminars, and distribution of informational materials
- Recreational catch and effort data through the Marine Recreational Information Program
- Planning, siting, and monitoring of artificial reefs

The Deer Island Recreational Fishing Pier was designed by Foth Engineering and constructed by ACK Marine & General Contracting, overseen by the Division of Marine Fisheries, the Office of Fishing and Boating Access, and the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

Northeast Metro Tech thanks community leaders for support of School Building Project Funding

Staff report

Superintendent David DiBarri wishes to thank community leaders who are requesting the state use federal American Rescue Plan Act funding to help pay for a new Northeast Metro Tech school building.

Revere Mayor Brian Arrigo, Malden Mayor Gary Christenson, and Chelsea City Manager Thomas Ambrosino are requesting support for the funding for a new state-of-the-art building.

Gateway City Mayors Shaunna O’Connell of Taunton and Paul Coogan of Fall River are seeking similar spending for the new Bristol Plymouth Regional Technical School in Taunton and for Greater Fall River Vocational Technical High School in Fall River.

These five Gateway City leaders are asking state leaders to commit $300 million of the Commonwealth’s expected $5.3 billion from the American Rescue Act funds.

Northeast Metro Tech is planning a new state-of-the-art facility, which will allow the District to expand from 1,270 students to about 1,600, drastically reducing the District’s student wait list.

The building project is estimated to cost $317.5 million. The grant award from the Massachusetts School Building Authority is estimated to be only $140 million, resulting in a cost to Northeast’s member communities of $177 million. The MSBA is reviewing the proposal and will vote on the final disbursement in August.

Northeast’s 12 sending communities will be responsible for the balance of the costs. Tax impact information for all 12 communities will be available this summer.

DiBarri and fellow superintendents are asking the MSBA to increase its anticipated grant awards to reflect actual costs of these worthy construction projects.

“Urban students should have the same access to receive relevant and rigorous instruction in Career Technical Education, in safe and state-of-the-art facilities, as students in suburban districts,” Superintendent DiBarri said.

State and local officials and fishing advocates cut the ribbon on the new Deer Island Recreational Fishing Pier.

to lag at Tenean Beach in Dorchester, which scored 79% and at King's Beach in Lynn and Swampscott, which scored just 70% in 2020.

"While we are delighted with the progress that we have made on most of the region's public beaches, we are disappointed to report that Tenean Beach in Dorchester and King's Beach in Lynn and Swampscott were still unsafe for swimming more than one out of every five days in 2020," said Save the Harbor/Save the Bay's Executive Director Chris Mancini. "We are particularly concerned about the situation at King's Beach, where filthy, bacteria laden discharges from both Lynn and Swampscott at Stacey Brook continue to threaten public health."

"Our kids and families deserve better. Today we are calling on the Lynn Water and Sewer Commission and the Swampscott Water and Sewer Department to work together with Save the Harbor/Save the Bay, state and federal regulators, and the community to Save King's Beach, which is a critical recreational asset to Lynn's kids and families. This is an environmental justice issue in a diverse, dense city where healthy green and blue spaces are at a premium," Mancini said.

Save the Harbor/Save the Bay is also concerned about the accuracy of the beach flagging and posting protocols, where bacteria testing triggers swimming advisories.

According to Save the Harbor's Director of Strategy & Communications Bruce Berman, one problem is that postings are always a day late because beach managers must wait up to 36 hours to obtain test results. Beach water quality may have already changed significantly during this period, so the prior day's tests often do not reflect current conditions.

Moreover, in 2019, The Department of Public Health made additional changes to the beach posting and flagging protocols, which has resulted in additional days where beaches are unnecessarily posted with swimming advisories when they are in fact safe for swimming.

"While Save the Harbor recognizes the importance of protecting public health, the current system is often inaccurate and sometimes overly restrictive," said Berman. "Over the coming months we plan to work with consultant Kelly Coughlin of Stony Brook Partners, and with the Department of Conservation and Recreation, the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, MADEP, USEPA, and MADPH to develop new rainfall thresholds and protocols to improve flagging and posting accuracy."

In the meantime, Save the Harbor/Save the Bay urges beach goers to rely on common sense when swimming after summer storms and to use the multi-year average safety ratings to help decide when and where it is safe to swim.

RESIDENT GRADUATES FROM CURRY COLLEGE

Curry College is pleased to announce that Gianna Giuliano of Revere received a Bachelor of Arts degree at Commencement exercises on May 23, 2021.

On a summer-like day, Curry College honored 687 graduates from the Class of 2021 in its 141st Commencement celebration. The ceremony, including Gianna Giuliano of Revere, who received a Bachelor of Arts degree, was live-streamed from the Walter M. Katz field to approximately 2,300 family members, friends, alumni, faculty and staff, among other Curry community members.

The in-person ceremony was especially memorable after a year of gathering restrictions and social distance, and the program celebrated graduates with a number of awards and honors.

Presiding over the second Commencement exercise this weekend, Kenneth K. Quigley, Jr. recognized the graduates for their success in trying times. "This is a celebration of all that we have overcome, it is a celebration of all that we have achieved despite the challenges and tragedies of this time. Once again, Curry students have persisted, persevered, and succeeded."

In his address, Class Orator Melvin Wells '21 of Hamden, Conn., asked the audience to reflect on their time at the College as preparation for their future success. "Although the future is unknown and not promised, there is one thing that is guaranteed. The lessons, the experiences, the ups, and the downs that you had here at Curry College were worth it and provided us with the tools and knowledge to be successful at anything we apply our hearts and minds to."

Marking the momentous milestone in-person and on-campus was treasured by the graduates and their families, says Grace

O'Neil '21. "Today is so special to me because I get to have my parents with me as I cross the stage. I know that I couldn't have done this without them."

Brandon Clay '21 agrees with the sentiment. "This ceremony symbolizes the embarking of a new journey, and the start of our careers," he says. "It feels so amazing to be able to gather with all of my close friends and family during such a hectic year. Being able to commemorate all of the achievements that we all accomplished at Curry College feels amazing. I can truly say that not only have I made lifelong friends here, but I have been a part of one of the greatest campus communities ever."

Officials confirm West Nile Virus-Positive mosquito sample

Staff Report

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) announced that West Nile virus (WNV) has been detected in mosquitoes in Massachusetts for the first time this year. The presence of WNV was confirmed today by the Massachusetts State

Public Health Laboratory in a mosquito sample collected on June 29 in the town of Medford in Middlesex County. No human or animal cases of WNV or Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE) have been detected so far this year. There is no elevated risk level or risk-level change associated with this finding. "The first WNV infected mosquito of the season is always a signal that it is time to start taking steps to avoid mosquito bites," said DPH Acting Commissioner Margret Cooke. "WNV is part of summer in Massachusetts and as we head into this long holiday weekend, it is important to remember that while WNV can cause serious illness, there are simple things that you can do to protect yourself and your loved ones." WNV is usually transmitted to humans through the bite of an infected mosquito. There were eight human cases of WNV in 2020. In 2018, there were 49 human cases of WNV infection acquired in Massachusetts - the greatest number of cases the Commonwealth has ever had in a single year. While WNV can infect people of all ages, people over the age of 50 are at higher risk for severe disease. Most people infected with WNV will have no symptoms.

When present, WNV symptoms tend to include fever and flu-like illness. In rare cases, more severe illness can occur. More information, including all WNV and EEE positive results, can be found on the Arbovirus Surveillance Information

•To Avoid Mosquito Bites Apply Insect Repellent When Outdoors. Use a repellent with an

EPA-registered ingredient (DEET (N, N-diethyl-m-toluamide), permethrin, picaridin (KBR 3023), oil of lemon eucalyptus [p-methane 3, 8-diol (PMD)] or IR3535) according to the product label instructions. DEET products should not be used on infants under two months of age and should be used in concentrations of 30 percent or less on older children. Oil of lemon eucalyptus should not be used on children under three years of age.

Be Aware of Peak Mosquito Hours. The hours from dusk to dawn are peak biting times for many mosquitoes. Consider rescheduling outdoor activities that occur during evening or early morning in areas of high risk.

Wear Appropriate Clothing to Help Reduce Mosquito Bites. Wearing long sleeves, long pants and socks when outdoors will help keep mosquitoes away from your skin.

•Mosquito-Proof Your Home

Drain Standing Water. Mosquitoes lay eggs in standing water. Limit the number of places around your home for mosquitoes to breed by either draining or discarding items that hold water. Check rain gutters and drains. Empty unused flowerpots and wading pools and change the water in birdbaths frequently.

Install or Repair Screens. Keep mosquitoes outside by having tightly fitting screens on all windows and doors.

•Protect Your Animals

Animal owners should reduce potential mosquito breeding sites on their property by eliminating standing water from containers such as buckets, tires, and wading pools – especially after heavy rains. Water troughs provide excellent mosquito breeding habitats and should be flushed out at least once a week during the summer months to reduce mosquitoes near paddock areas. Horse owners should keep horses in indoor stalls at night to reduce their risk of exposure to mosquitoes. Owners should also speak with their veterinarian about mosquito repellents approved for use in animals and vaccinations to prevent WNV and Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE). If an animal is suspected of having WNV or EEE, owners are required to report this to the Department of Agricultural Resources, Division of Animal Health by calling 617-626-1795, and to the Department of Public Health by calling 617-983-6800.

each candidate, votes in a closed session, and makes the final decision on membership. NHS academic averages, service requirements which include voluntary contribution made by the student to the school or community along with demonstrations of leadership through resourcefulness, problem-solving and idea-generation are reviewed quarterly.

Students who meet NHS scholarship requirements will also have the opportunity to submit information regarding accomplishments in and commitment to service, leadership and character for scholarship consideration.

According to Malden Catholic Principal, Rose

Maria Redman, "This has been an extraordinary year for MC and our students have performed well despite the challenges that were presented. We are delighted to have a outstanding group of students at our school who throughout the year have been dedicated to leadership, academic excellence and giving back to our community."

Dept. of Homeland Security releases interagency strategy for promoting Naturalization

Staff Report

The Department of Homeland Security's U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services released the Interagency Strategy for Promoting Naturalization, a whole-of-government approach to breaking down barriers to U.S. citizenship and promoting naturalization to all who are eligible, as outlined in President Biden's Executive Order 14012.

"Becoming a United States citizen is a tremendous privilege," said Secretary Alejandro N. Mayorkas. "New citizens, strengthened with the power and responsibilities that American citizenship brings, make our Nation better. This strategy will ensure that aspiring citizens are able to pursue naturalization through a clear and coordinated process."

This report reflects the collaboration of USCIS, the Department of Education, Department of Health and Human Services, Department of State, Department of Labor, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Department of Defense, Department of Justice, Department of Veterans Affairs, Department of Agriculture, and the Social Security Administration, who are part of the interagency Naturalization Working Group. This working group was established pursuant to the President's executive order to prioritize citizenship education and awareness through capacity building and expanded partnerships, which is at the heart of the interagency strategy.

"USCIS remains committed to empowering immigrants to pursue citizenship along with the rights and opportunities that come with it. It is fitting that this report is being released days before our nation's 245th birthday. There is no greater testament to the strength of America than our willingness to encourage others to join us as U.S. citizens as we work together to build a more perfect union," said USCIS Acting Director Tracy Renaud.

"We look forward to the work ahead in welcoming and supporting aspiring Americans and equipping them with the tools they need to be successful in their journey to citizenship, and beyond."

Since the beginning of the Biden-Harris administration, USCIS has taken a number of steps to reduce barriers to naturalization and restore confidence in our nation's legal immigration system.

Program aims to significantly increase women and minority-owned electrical contractor firms

Staff Report

Aiming to tackle historical inequities in the construction industry, IBEW Local 103 and NECA Greater Boston contractors have launched a new Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) Empower DEI Program initiative to proactively increase the number of minority and women-owned union contractor businesses in Greater Boston.

The Empower DEI Program combines an advanced training program with mentoring, resources and support for experienced, licensed minority-owned and women-owned NECA contractors and IBEW Local 103 electricians seeking to open their own businesses. Participants will have access to experienced industry leaders and business support designed to ensure their success.

The Program will serve current and aspiring Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) and Women-Owned Business Enterprise (WBE) electrical contractors in the union construction industry. Eligible candidates will include those who hope to start their own companies and are committed to maintaining area employment standards, as well as existing MBE/WBE companies looking to grow and expand their business.

As the focus on equity in the construction industry increases, the demand for more minority-owned and women-owned businesses continues to grow. The Program hopes to spark innovation and entrepreneurial success among groups of workers who historically have been locked out of opportunities.

"This is an exciting, necessary initiative to empower communities who have been underrepresented in business ownership. A labor-management partnership is the right approach to increase the number of woman and minority-owned contractors in Boston," said City of Boston Mayor Kim Janey. "Women and people of color have made this great City what it is. The IBEW 103 and NECA Empower DEI Program creates a pathway to uplift this work and strengthen our communities."

In December, the National Electrical Contractors Association joined a growing number of organizations in naming a DEI task force to drive a long-term cultural shift in the electrical industry by fostering a more inclusive environment through education, awareness, and open dialogue. The Program will include DEI-focused trainings, digital resources, webinars, surveys, online classes, and other measures. The Empower DEI Program is a core component of the effort to dismantle structural racism and sexism within the construction industry and beyond.

The inaugural class of the Empower DEI Program will include KB-MAC, Inc., a newly formed company founded by current IBEW 103 Business Agent Kenell Broomstein, in partnership with industry leader and NECA member Sullivan & McLaughlin Companies, Inc.

The project is led by a diverse board of experts that will provide access, mentorship, connections, training, and business growth opportunities to qualified participants, including:

- Paul Gray, President and Owner of MBE/DBE Outkast Electrical Contractors, Inc.
- Darlene Lombos, Greater Boston Labor Council Executive Secretary-Treasurer
- Alan Scharfe, Executive Vice President of John A. Penny Co. & NECA Greater Boston President
- John Green, IBEW Local 103 Examining Board Officer
- Kenell Broomstein,

President of KB-MAC, Inc.

- Renee Dozier, IBEW Local 103 Business Agent
- Lou Antonellis, IBEW Local 103 Business Manager/Financial Secretary
- Kristen Gowin, NECA Greater Boston Executive Manager
- Kathy Guinee, President and Owner of WBE Aetna Fire Alarm Service Co., Inc.
- Brian Proctor, Training Instructor, Joint Apprenticeship Training Center
- Robert Adams, Principal of Sargent Adams Consulting, LLC
- Bill Moran, President of Bill Moran & Associates Community Mentoring Team

The Empower DEI Program offers:

- Staffing by a full-time DEI Manager guided by NECA Greater Boston and IBEW Local 103 leadership;
- An advanced and accelerated training program for experienced, licensed existing MBE and/or WBE NECA contractors and IBEW Local 103 electricians seeking to open their own MBE and/or WBE contracting business;
- Mentorship, training and resources from industry experts and leaders to foster participant success;
- Operational and marketing support, including recommendations on trusted insurance, accounting, marketing, and other vendors;
- Assistance with choosing cost-effective business solutions for compliance, pre-qualification, and certification;
- Opportunities to be featured regularly in IBEW 103 and NECA marketing materials, social media, and advertising platforms.

IBEW 103 and NECA Greater Boston commit to furthering DEI goals in Massachusetts through this Program. To learn more about the Empower DEI Program, visit: EmpowerDEI.org.

An example of one of the raised garden beds offered through the Revere on the Move program.

ROTM's Raised Bed Program provides residents with a way to garden in the City

Special to the Journal

There are city people and there are country people. Those who thrive from the fast-paced metropolitan lifestyle surrounded by crowds of people pouring into the busy streets. Then there are those who opt for a more serene life, away from the densely populated areas, and instead, bask in all that nature has to offer. For those who can't decide between the two extremes, urban farming is a happy medium.

The City of Revere offers the best of both worlds; with close proximity to Boston, residents can participate in the lively city, and through Revere on the Move's (ROTM) Raised Bed Program, they are able to grow fresh produce right from their yard. In partnership with Revere CARES and the Police Activity League, 20 residents are given raised beds and soil to grow their own crops. Angela Walsh is one of the first residents to participate in this new program and encourages others to join as well.

Growing up in North Carolina and Virginia, Angela lived on a farm and began gardening when she was around eight years old. Ever since then she has continued to grow her own crops as it brings her peace. Years later after moving to Massachusetts, starting a family, and becoming an accountant, Angela still has a passion for farming but felt that she "didn't have a really big yard," to do this in. Luckily for her, a year after moving to Revere, she saw that Revere on the Move launched a raised bed pilot program and jumped at the opportunity.

Angela enjoys growing her own crops as it is an activity she and her daughter are able to do together, but also because she is able to "cut down on carbon footprint and know what is going into my food."

"It's given me encouragement that I am not just in a city because when you think about a city you don't think about grass, green, and people who think about the environment. It just solidified why I moved to Revere."

When asked what advice she would give to others who are interested, Angela said to "go for it," and reach out to Vivianna Cataño, the program and communications manager for Revere CARES. "It might seem overwhelming but it's not, they make it easy."

Though Angela moved away from the south and life on a farm, she did not have to compromise between gardening and her love for nature with her newfound love with city life, and neither should you.
