SUICIDE PREVENTION AWARENESS MONTH

September is Suicide Prevention Awareness Month and for many the subject of suicide is off limits. They believe the mere mention of suicide around friends and family can cause suicidal thoughts for them. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Approximately 47,500 Americans died by their own hand in 2019, making suicide the 10th leading cause of death in this nation. Suicide rates in the US have climbed 33% in

Demolition completed on old Point of Pines Fire Station

By Cary Shuman

Ward 5 Councillor John Powers looked on Monday as workers began the demolition of the former Point of Pines Fire Station, clearing the way for a brand-new fire station to be built on the site.

“I’m elated to see this new station coming along,” said Powers. “I know the chief and the deputy chief are handling the design of it right now. Before you know it, we’ll be down there breaking ground for a brand-new station.”

Powers thanked his colleagues on the Revere City Council for supporting his motion to build a new fire station.

Seacoast High School proves alternative education is not what it was 20 years ago

By John Lynds

There was a time when students that were shipped off to an alternative high school for behavioral issues, poor grades or other underperforming issues bore a scarlet letter for their inability to thrive in a traditional high school setting.

Revere’s only alternative high school, Seacoast, was no different and there was a saying to students in the city that if they didn’t get their acts together they’d end up a Seacoast as if the school was more of a prison than an educational institution.

That’s not the case anymore and Seacoast Principal Dr. Stacey Mulligan, who began at the school last year, is disproving the myths surrounding alternative education and rebranding her school’s reputation to one of punishment to one of academic success.

“I want to dispel the

Sen. Boncore expected to announce resignation today

State Sen. Joseph Boncore was expected to announce today that he will be resigning from his seat to accept a major leadership position with the Massachusetts Biotechnology Council.

Boncore had been in talks for the past few months with the Council after emerging as the leading candidate for the post. Boncore has served as senator in the First Suffolk and Middlesex District since 2016 when he won a special election. The senatorial district includes all of Revere and Winthrop, and portions of Boston and Cambridge.

PUBLIC SERVANT OF THE MONTH — SEPTEMBER Risa Ferrara

In July, Mayor Arrigo launched the Public Service Honor of the Month Campaign to highlight Revere’s outstanding public service workers for their dedication to making the city a better place. For the month of September, Mayor Arrigo has highlighted school nurse Risa Ferrara.

Garfield Elementary School nurse Risa Ferara.

Q: What do you do in the City?

A: I work at the Garfield Elementary School as a school nurse.

Q: What did you do throughout the pandemic?

A: I have been working since March 2020 with a great group of people which is why I continue to do this work daily. At the beginning of the pandemic all the nurses asked what we could do to help. It was a new learning experience for all of us, but we were ready and willing to do what needed to be done.

Zoning Board of Appeals addresses four items at its Aug. 25 meeting

By Cary Shuman

The Revere Zoning Board of Appeals, under the leadership of Chair Michael Tucker, voted on four items on the agenda at its Aug. 25 meeting.

The Board voted unanimously to continue to its Sept. 22 meeting a request by Cavallo Corporation of Somerville for variances that would enable the appellant to construct a single-family dwelling on lots 5 and 6 at Agneous Avenue. Attorney Michael Simeone represented Cavallo Corporation on the matter.

The Board voted unanimously to grant Theresa Adams, Trustee, 351 Vane Street, a variance that will enable the appellant to construct a 24-foot by 36-foot single-story addition at 351 Vane St., Revere. Attorney Steven Reardon represented Ms. Adams on the matter.

Councillor-at-Large George Rotondo spoke in favor of the appellant. "I'm in full support of this effort, and anything we can do that help these people, I would hope that the Zoning Board of Appeals would do so," said Rotondo. Chairperson Tucker said that Ward 4 Councillor Patrick Keefe also expressed his support of granting the variance.

The Board voted unanimously to grant 333 Lee Burbank, LLC, a variance for the purpose of converting an existing office building to a 12-unit apartment building at 333 Lee Burbank Highway.

Attorney Larry Simeone represented 333 Lee Burbank LLC in the matter.

"I'm in favor of the ZBA voting to put this forward," said Councillor-at-Large Rotondo so we can put it before the Council and we can help mediate the problems at this site. I believe we'll be able to meet the parking requirements that are going to be required, and I'm fully supportive of it."

Chairperson Tucker submitted for the record that City Council President Anthony Zambuto and Ward 1 Councillor Joanne McKenna were in misconceptions of what Seacoast is really about," said Dr. Mulligan. "Last year was my first year here as principal and I spent the year just kind of observing what the school was all about. Coming in I had no knowledge at all of what the school was like."

Mulligan, who has been in education for over 20 years said alternative education over the years has had a lot of different definitions.

"Alternative Ed was definitely not what it is today," she said. "Back then it was basically a place where school districts just housed everybody that just wasn't cutting it but it's transformed into something, way, way better than I could have ever imagined."

Mulligan said within Revere two Seacoasts exist. One is the community perception of Seacoast as a school for trouble makers, flunkies and those who aren't 'cutting it' at Revere High.

"Then there's the Seacoast of what really goes on in these four walls every day," said Mulligan. "I think what I want and my goal is to basically tell people what really goes on here. It's a difficult decision for somebody to have to send their child to an alternative school and if you are just kind of listening to what's on the streets it makes that decision even harder. You're first sad because usually if you're being sent to an alternative school you've had years and years of disappointment within the school systems, and you can almost feel like it's a punishment, being sent here, and that is not at all the reality."

Since starting last year Mulligan said she's had so many meetings with parents crying because they almost feel like they're sending their kids to jail.

"I feel terrible for them because after having so many years of no success in schools and then the end result you feel like they're sending them away," she said. "However, once their child gets here and thrives here they are always pleasantly surprised by what we have to offer. I think for me, it's not necessarily about this rebranding of Seacoast it's just being able to share with families in the City of Revere that your child is safe here and they're going to receive a great education, and there's going to be no harm that comes to them, and that you can relax and be reassured that this is truly another avenue for them to have success in graduating high school."

As the world has evolved so has education and things like depression, anxiety, problems at home all play a part in a student's performance. These issues are being addressed more commonly and rapidly than they had been in the past, which leads to more success for students that would have otherwise fallen through the cracks.

"I just want parents to feel safe, because I feel like the longer parents delay these kids, because they are usually students that are under-credited, the more behind in their education they will get."

While Seacoast gained the reputation as the place students with discipline problems went, Mulligan said 95 percent of the kids are normal teens in many ways but with extraordinary burdens most Straight A students usually don't have to contend with.

"A lot of our kids are earners in their house and some people just don't understand that not everybody has this traditional two parent home," said Mulligan. "There's a lot of single parent families and the kids work to help pay rent and they need to contribute to their house so they work 40 hours. It's difficult to work 40 hours and attend school full time as well. So Seacoast is an option for them. We can be more flexible with their schedules if they do need to do that. We have a lot of students with social emotional stuff going on and a lot of anxiety. Revere High School is huge with 2,200 students and when you have a lot of anxiety issues you need a smaller setting. Attendance is the biggest thing more than anything else when it comes to academic success. Kids have a difficult time getting to school, whether it's a job or whether they're just totally disengaged from school, and those are really the top issues that we have here."

Students have thrived at Seacoast for years and Principal Dr. Stacey Mulligan thinks it's about time the rest of the city sees the alternative school's successes.

Mulligan said last year Seacoast had its best promotion rate in 10 years.

"So 74% of our kids were promoted last year which is huge," she said. "And that was during a pandemic year so that's even more astonishing. It was also the first time we've ever had a Seacoast graduate speak at the Revere High Graduation, which was amazing."

Mulligan added that the school is also focusing on building lasting relationships in the city.

"Here at Seacoast, we kind of focus more on relationships more than anything," she said. "As I said before, the students here have had years and years of just terrible phone calls home with no success at school. So it takes a lot for us to build their confidence again. It's not that these students are not smart, because honestly most of our kids are brilliant, but their confidence has been ruined. It takes a long time to build those kids back up after having been crushed for years and years. So our teachers spend a lot of time doing work to really build those relationships here. The district has definitely moved towards restorative practices with the students. Seacoast was kind of a leader in the district with that. So, more than half of our staff has already been trained in restorative techniques, the other half will get trained this year and our students are going to start getting trained as well. We've had one of the first community gardens in the whole city and our neighbors regularly reap the benefits of our crops out there. We have reestablished our partnership with the Beachmont Improvement Committee to start doing more community service in the city which will be great. Finally, we have a partnership with Cambridge Health Alliance to start doing workshops with our kids to just work with teams on problems that they face whether it's drug abuse, domestic violence healthy relationships, healthy sexual relationships, so our kids can be on track to becoming healthy young adults."

So with a lot of great things going on at Seacoast Mulligan said nothing makes her happier than when students say to her, "You know, I wish I hadn't taken so long to make the switch".

"That's the most important thing to me," said Mulligan. "That the students here are happy and they're thriving."

A: My favorite part of working in the city is the new relationships I have made over the years. It's like one big family.

Winthrop's Ralph Tufo authors children's book set at Revere Beach

Story by Marianne Salza

Winthrop author, Ralph Tufo, held a book signing and reading of his newly published fictional children's book, "Seemore the Seagull," on August 15, at the EB Newton School and Cultural Center. Illustrated by Amanda Grafe, with photographs by Steve Levin, the book tells the story of Seemore, a seagull that lives on Revere Beach, and loves to fly.

Seemore is an observant opportunist with an appetite for seafood and half-eaten meals from Kelly's Roast Beef. He encourages children to share, and teaches them cooperation while building a sand castle.

"Seemore is sad that people can't get along," explained Tufo, who hopes that the book will teach children to respect people's differences. "There is a bit of ignorance that gets fostered and passed on to the next generation. Prejudice festers when kids get wrong information from the beginning, and it gets reinforced."

Tufo was inspired to write "Seemore the Seagull" during a walk along Revere Beach, when he stopped at Kelly's Roast Beef, and locked eyes with a seagull that was standing on the cement wall.

"I am watching him like I am a bird watcher; but he is watching me like he is a people watcher," Tufo chuckled. "What does he think about me and human behavior?"

"Seemore the Seagull," for children ages three-ten, was written and illustrated three months later. One of Tufo's favorite images is of Seemore standing in a plate of French fries, with a tomato from a hamburger hanging out of his beak. A coloring page was made from Grafe's drawing for families to enjoy at the book signing event. Children also wrote their own stories and illustrations while using Levin's photographs as inspiration. Tufo -- who wore a captain's hat and spoke like a pirate -- performed an original sea shanty about Seemore.

"One grandmother bought the book for her grandson, and now he says, 'I want to go to Kelly's and see the seagulls,'" said Tufo about positive comments that he has received from readers. "Somebody told me that she read the story to her kids while camping."

Tufo is a retired Winthrop Public Schools teacher and professor at North Shore Community College. He has written several short plays, three full-length musicals, and over 50 songs. Tufo is a member of Zydeco band, the Squeezebox Stompers, and plays the accordion, piano, and Angelo concertina.

"Everybody has memories of encountering seagulls, and them staring at you," said Tufo, who grew up in Lynn, and remembers riding the Cyclone and bumper cars at Revere Beach. "They're funny."

Visit www.SqueezeboxStompers.com to listen to Tufo's sea chanty. "Seemore the Seagull" is available for purchase online at www.Amazon.com, www.BarnesAndNoble.com, and www.LearningRockPress.com. The book is also for sale at Simon's Winthrop Book Store, Robin's Nest, and The Book Depot. Contact Ralph Tufo to request book signings and readings at RalphTufo@gmail.com.

favor of granting the variance.

Simeone called upon his client, Andrew Sica, to talk about the reasons for the conversion of the building. "They really, really tried to make the office building a go," said Simeone.

Sica said his family has been in the city for many years and that it operates a business adjacent to the proposed project.

"We did put up the office building with very good intentions that the space would work very well and be successful to our family," said Sica. "In light of current situations and trends of how everything us going, unfortunately it hasn't been as successful as we hoped. We would like to revive this building in the hope that maybe this conversion would be the way to go. I appreciate any and all help that you can offer us."

Tucker said he was grateful that the applicant was seeking to add two additional parking spaces for the site.

The Board voted unanimously to grant Aguimar DeSouza, 165 Middlesex Avenue, Somerville, a variance enabling the appellant to construct an 11-foot, 1-inch by 30 feet, 10-inch addition to the footprint of the existing carport at 51 Carlson Ave., Revere.

Promises Made, Promises Kept.

• A new Point of Pines Fire Station that will provide a quicker response time to the Pines, Oak Island, lower Revere Street and the Boulevard.

• A major cleaning of the Eastern County Ditch, replacing and relining several thousands feet of sewer drainage lines and rebuilding of the drainage pumps on Rice Avenue and Dunn Road.

• Thousands of feet of decaying waterlines have been replaced, this will provide residents with cleaner household water and stronger water pressure to fire hydrants in the event of a fire.

• Worked to ensure the demolition of the dangerous buildings on the Wonderland property. After a meeting with the Department of Environmental Protection, the asbestos abatement began, and the buildings were demolished within six months.

• A new sewerage pump station on the Lynnway, that has replaced the old station which malfunctioned for years.

• We have continued to improve our recreational facilities in Ward 5 for our younger and senior residents, with new playgrounds at Gibson Park, DeStoop Park in Oak Island and the Paul Revere School, also the renovation of Ambrose Park about to get underway. We are also working with DCR on a senior-oriented renovation of Sullivan Park on Revere Beach Boulevard, which will be linked to the Bay Road neighborhood via the new pedestrian bridge at Sears Street.

ENJOY A SAFE LABOR DAY WEEKEND

There’s a temptation for people to splurge at the end of things. We all are familiar with the idea, “If this is the last, let’s make it a blast!”

We don’t have anything against that sentiment, but all too often that sort of mindset leads to risky behavior and tragic outcomes.

If there is nothing else we have learned after being in the newspaper business for more than 50 years, it is this: A person can do everything right and live by the book for their entire life, but all it takes is one mistake of judgment that can change everything, both for themselves and others.

Persons who otherwise might not have a drinking problem can indulge just a bit too much at an event such as an end-of-summer celebration and -- presto, in the snap of a finger -- they have killed or maimed themselves or others in a driving, boating, or other accident.

And then there are the problem drinkers among us who look for any excuse to “celebrate,” which means getting hammered at a Labor Day weekend gathering, instantly making them a threat to the safety of themselves and others.

However, the usual excessive partying is not the only danger we face this Labor Day weekend. The Delta variant of COVID-19 is lurking everywhere and no one -- not even the vaccinated -- are safe from infection.

As we are writing this, the forecast calls for a sunny Labor Day weekend with pleasant temperatures in the 70s (a welcome respite after our washouts of the Memorial Day and July 4 holiday weekends), which means that we will be able to engage in our Labor Day activities outdoors where we can socialize safely -- though from a distance.

But if our festivities are not outside, all of us need to be wary of gathering indoors unless everybody is masked.

We wish all of our readers a happy -- and safe -- Labor Day weekend.

THE 13 SERVICE MEMBERS WERE TRUE HEROES

Every American was saddened last week upon hearing the news of the suicide bombing by a terrorist in Afghanistan that claimed the lives of 13 U.S. service men and women, 11 of whom were Marines and one each from the Army and Navy.

If any of our readers have not had a chance to read the personal stories of these brave and dedicated young men and women, we encourage you to do so. Their life-stories are inspirational and demonstrate the high-quality of the dedicated individuals who serve in our armed forces today. They were amazing young men and women who came from disparate backgrounds and from all across the country, but who stood united in their desire to show the world the best that America can be.

These 13 service members knew of the danger they were facing outside of the Abbey Gate at Kabul’s Hamid Karzai Airport, yet they continued to process the hundreds of Afghan nationals who were seeking to come to the United States to flee persecution from the Taliban.

They did their duty in the face of danger for which they made the ultimate sacrifice.

Contrary to what the pundits and usual-suspect politicians are saying, the incredible effort by these 13 soldiers and their comrades that resulted in the airlifting of more than 125,000 of our Afghanistan allies stands as a testament to the ability of our military to complete its mission.

No other nation on earth could have accomplished what we did in Afghanistan over the past two weeks -- and no other nation even remotely will be able to come close in the future.

Our military could have packed its bags and said, “Good luck,” when the Afghan government fled, but instead we made a herculean effort to get our people and allies out of the country.

The Supreme Sacrifice made by those 13 servicemen and women forever will stand as a reminder to the world of America’s resolve and strength, which once again has proven that we are the greatest and strongest nation on earth by any measure.

A VOTE FOR JOHN POWERS IS A VOTE FOR A PROVEN TRACK RECORD

Dear Editor,

I want to say a few words on behalf of John F. Powers, candidate for re-election to Ward 5, Revere City Councilor.

My family has known John for over 60 years and my Dad, Anthony Repucci of Revere always referred to him as his friend and as a trusted man of his word. I have known John for over twenty years both in my prior capacity as Executive Director of CAPIC and as a former Ward 5 resident.

Now retired, I still recall my many interactions with Councilor Powers, who always supported our anti-poverty efforts and did his best to help us secure resources for Revere residents. His dedication and leadership is unquestioned. He is a family man of good character who cherishes Revere. John has the proven skills and experience to represent Ward 5 residents in this most important period of time in Revere’s history. As we well know, development of Revere Beach is essential to Revere’s future economic stability and it is evident that John has supported development opportunities, with a balance that allows all segments of the community to benefit. As a Ward 5 resident, I remember Councilor Powers always in the neighborhood spending time to speak with us on issues that affected quality of life. Councilor Powers was an active participant during the many natural disasters that effected Revere. I still recall the Blizzard of 1978 seeing John in emergency vehicles with then Mayor Colella, bringing residents to safety and distributing food and blankets.

I am endorsing Councilor John Powers for all these reasons and because I recognize the need to have a proven leader with a solid understanding of the neighborhood and the City. John has that proven track record!

GUEST OP-ED

Fiore opposes 291-unit Riverside building

By Al Fiore

Recently, I joined several of my friends and neighbors in opposing yet another massive residential building project here in Revere. This time, we attended a Conservation Commission meeting to voice our opposition to a 291-unit building being proposed.

Our community is being inundated by construction projects just like this one. With each passing special permit approval, we are seeing our streets further clogged with traffic and our quality of life diminished. Lifelong Revere residents are finding it harder and harder to stay here because of the skyrocketing rental rates due to these buildings.

I have to ask, “What are we doing here and why are we allowing this?”

We have always been a close-knit community and our elected officials and their appointees are allowing out-of-town developers to dictate the terms of their entry into this city. We are getting little to no community benefits from these projects and are suffering more and more with each passing day. Even worse is the impact they are having on pushing people out of our city.

I am running for the Ward 5 City Council seat because I have had enough. I know many of the residents of our great city have as well. We need to put an end to these special permits and developers who don’t care about our community. We must develop a comprehensive plan for our community that puts Revere residents first.

I humbly ask for your support on Sept. 14th!

Al Fiore is a former Revere City Councilor and candidate for Ward 5 City Council in Revere.

GUEST OP-ED

Afghanistan will never go away

Sixty-six thousand Afghan national military and police have been killed. Over 47,000 Afghan civilians killed. Aid workers killed. Journalists killed. The Afghanistan and Iraq war has cost Americans $2 trillion. Financially it will never be over for most living Americans.

There are reports that the United States has committed to pay $2 trillion more in health care, disability, burial and other costs for roughly 4 million Afghanistan and Iraq Veterans. America has a tough job caring for our own Veterans. For years we did a very poor job of providing good care for Veterans with physical and mental needs.

The estimated interest costs of these wars by 2050 is $6.5 trillion.

There will never be an end to our 20-year nightmare war in Afghanistan. Families will suffer every day from the grief of the loss of loved ones who sacrificed their lives. Every year we all will pay on the trillions of dollars in debt created by the war. For the rest of most American’s lives, we will pay on the trillions of dollars of money that we have committed to care for Afghanistan and Iraq Veterans. As we pay these huge obligations, Americans will struggle to pay for health care. Senior adults will be given minimal cost of living increases. American young people will be buried by college debt.

Further, reports indicate that we have handed over to the Taliban approximately 22,000 Humvees, 8000 large trucks, 42,000 pick-up trucks, 358,000 assault rifles, 64,000 machine guns and 126,000 pistols, plus 155 mine-proof vehicles. We have equipped them with billions of dollars of high-priced items that we will pay on forever. They will use American equipment to dominate a defenseless nation of people that will now be left behind to try to survive a revitalized Taliban.

We may be finally leaving Afghanistan, but Afghanistan, for our generation, will never go away.

VOTE TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 14TH

HAVE YOU HAD ENOUGH? BECAUSE AL FiORE HAS!

Recently, I joined several of my friends and neighbors in opposing yet another massive residential building project here in Revere. This time, we attended a Conservation Commission meeting to voice our opposition to a 291-unit building being proposed in the Riverside area.

Our community is being inundated by construction projects just like this one. With each passing special permit approval, we are seeing our streets further clogged with traffic and our quality of life diminished. Lifelong Revere residents are finding it harder and harder to stay here because of the skyrocketing rental rates due to these buildings.

I have to ask, "What are we doing here and why are we allowing this?"

We have always been a close-knit community and our elected officials and their appointees are allowing out-of-town developers to dictate the terms of their entry into this city. USPS honors Board of Health, ROTM with Forever Stamps

By Cary Shuman

The United States Postal Service dedicated its Forever Stamps in honor of the Revere Board of Health and Revere On The Move during an impressive ceremony Friday on the American Legion Hall Front Lawn.

Director of Public Health Lauren Buck and Revere On The Move Communications Director and Revere CARES Coalition Program Manager Viviana Catano accepted the “Forever Stamp” awards from Charlotte Venditti-Ritson, manager of the Revere Post Offices. The words “Thank You” appear in gold foil between an elegant floral design on the stamps.

Venditti-Ritson said the stamps, designed by Dana Tanamachi, “perfectly state what everybody should think of when Revere on the Move and the Board of Health are mentioned: “Thank You.”

“We would like to take this time to acknowledge the extra effort that the City of Revere Board of Health and Revere on the Move gave when it was needed [during the COVID-19 pandemic],” said Venditti-Ritson. “You were there for the residents of Revere when you were needed most.”

She praised Buck and the Board of Health, stating, “Once the vaccine was available, the Board of Health again stepped up and opened safe and well-managed sites. Access to testing and vaccinations for the City of Revere was outstanding.”

Lauding Revere on the Move, Venditti-Ritson said, “The need for food security was at an all-time high. Revere On The Move was instrumental in getting the word out to residents that food was available. Also Revere On The Move assisted with unemployment and SNAP benefits.”

Mayor Brian Arrigo called the presentation of the Forever Stamps “a momentous day for the City of Revere.”

“I just want to thank the United States Postal Service for their recognition of the work that we’ve done, and more specifically the work that the Board of Health and Revere On The Move have done, in particular through COVID-19,” said Arrigo. “This recognition is really special.

“Our Director of Public Health, Lauren Buck, has done a tremendous job guiding our city through a very challenging time,” credited Arrigo. “And Viviana Catano, from a partner, Mass General – that if we did not have partnerships like those, we would be in a much tougher and more difficult position. I also want to recognize Revere On The Move and our tremendous ambassadors who are here today. The ambassadors have been on the front line over the last year-and-a-half.”

Buck humbly accepted

Viviana Catano of Revere On The Move, Revere Director of Public Health Lauren Buck, and Britney So of Revere On The Move display the award plaques for the Forever Stamps that were dedicated by the United States Postal Service in their honor.

the high honor from the US Postal Service. “It’s really exciting. It’s a huge deal,” she said. “The stamps are awesome, beautiful. It’s a really nice memento, a nice reminder of these last couple of months.”

As for officially being an unsung hero, Buck offered, “I think we’re all just trying to do our jobs. It’s been a hard year for everyone, but we’re just trying to do what we can do to help everyone.”

Catano was proud of the honor bestowed upon her organization. “This is pretty fantastic. Revere On The Move has been working since 2007 to make healthy eating and active living easier for all Revere residents,” said Catano. “I’m glad to see Revere On The Move being recognized for the work that they have done, especially for all the work that was done by Dimple Rana and her team, including Britney So, to make sure that the food boxes were distributed. I’m honored on behalf of everybody who does this work, because Revere On The Move is a collaborative and community-based effort. It’s about residents and leaders – not one person alone could do what it takes.”

Mayor Brian Arrigo, City Council President Anthony Zambuto, State Reps. Jeffrey Turco and Jessica Giannino, and Ward 1 Councillor Joanne McKenna join Revere Post Offices Manager Charlotte Venditti-Ritson and Area Manager Rob Carrillo at the Forever Stamps dedication ceremony in honor of the Revere Board of Health and Revere On The Move last Friday at the American Legion Hall Front Lawn.

million to make that happen,” said Powers.

The councillor said the new fire station will provide 24/7 coverage “right in the neighborhood and that’s a positive thing.”

A new community meeting room for neighborhood meetings will also be housed inside the station.

Fire Chief Christopher Bright called it “a monumental day” for the Fire Department. “It’s kind of bittersweet. We’re a little sad to see the old station go, but we’re very excited about the new project that’s going to be replacing it,” said Bright.

“I know a lot of people have been anxious for this to happen, and it is finally happening. In about a year from now, we should have a brand-new station standing here, operating to serve the city, so we’re excited about that.”

Deputy Fire Chief Paul Cheever said there is still “some design and exterior work to finalize,” but plans are proceeding to begin the construction phase soon. Cheever also noted the Firefighting Memorial monument at the old station will be relocated to the north end of the site.

HAPPY ROSH HASHANAH

Rosh Hashanah, literally meaning "head of the year," is the Jewish New Year. It is the first of the Jewish High Holy Days that occur in the early autumn of the Northern Hemisphere.

Rosh Hashanah is a two-day celebration that begins on the first day of Tishrei, which is the seventh month of the ecclesiastical year. It marks the beginning of the civil year, according to the teachings of Judaism, and is the traditional anniversary of the creation of Adam and Eve, the first man and woman according to the Tanakh, and the inauguration of humanity's role in God's world.

the last decade. One of the ways to reduce that number is by talking about suicide and suicidal ideation, which can spur meaningful conversations about mental health and potentially save lives.

Even more concerning is that suicide and suicide attempts among our nation's youth (ages 10-24) are on the rise. According to information released last year by the CDC, 19% of youth had seriously considered attempting suicide, 16% had made a suicide plan, 9% had made a suicide attempt, and 2.5% had made a suicide attempt that was significant enough to require medical treatment.

Join the conversation, and reach out to those who have been personally affected by suicide, raise awareness, and connect those struggling with suicidal ideation to professional counselors and treatment services that can help them.

If your child or someone you love is struggling with depression or thinking about suicide, get help now. The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline, 1-800-273-TALK (8255), is a free resource, available 24 hours a day for anyone in suicidal crisis or emotional distress. The Crisis Text Line is a free 24/7 text line where trained crisis counselors support individuals in crisis. Text "Jason" to 741741 to speak with a compassionate, trained Crisis Counselor. Confidential support 24/7, for free.

The Jason Foundation (JFI) is another available resource. Although September is set aside as Suicide Prevention Awareness Month, JFI works toward suicide prevention all year long. JFI is dedicated to the awareness and prevention of youth suicide through educational programs that equip youth, parents, educators, and the community with the tools and resources to identify and assist at-risk youth. Many times, young people exhibit clear warnings signs prior to an attempt. By knowing the warning signs and knowing how to help, you could save a life. Visit The Jason Foundation's website to learn more about youth suicide, the warning signs, and how you can help make a difference. JFI has never charged a school, community, or individual for the use of their programs or resources. <http://www.jasonfoundation.com>.

METRO TECH AWARDED STATE GRANT TOWARD HEALTH ASSISTING PROGRAMS

Superintendent David DiBarri is pleased to announce that Northeast Metro Tech has received a $61,000 Skills Capital Grant from the Baker-Polito Administration.

The grant was announced during a ceremony held at Peabody Veterans Memorial High School on Monday, Aug. 16, during which Gov. Charlie Baker handed out Skills Capital Grants to 47 educational organizations.

The School will use the grant to expand career and technical education opportunities in its Health Assisting and Dental Assisting programs, which serve more than 100 students. The District will purchase new medical equipment necessary to enable Northeast students to successfully compete for high-paying jobs in high-demand fields.

"Thank you to Gov. Baker and his administration for this support," Superintendent DiBarri said. "There will be a large demand for workers in the health-care industry in the next decade. This grant will allow our students to learn on state-of-the-art equipment, making their education relevant and their job prospects bright."

Through its Skills Capital Grants, the Baker-Polito Administration has worked to increase the number of students enrolled in programs where they can learn and train for occupations in high-demand careers.

"The Skills Capital Grants have helped give thousands of young people opportunities in high-demand jobs, and the grants have had a tremendous impact on students, schools and local businesses," Gov. Baker said. "These significant investments made over the past six years in this program with our partners in the Legislature will help train students to adapt to the changing needs of our economy."

Skills Capital Grants are awarded to educational institutions that are able to showcase their partnerships with local businesses and whose curriculum and credentials seek to meet the demand of growing industries in the Commonwealth. More than 300 educational programs have received financial support from the Skills Capital Grant initiative, Gov. Baker announced that the Workforce Skills Cabinet funding has now exceeded $100 million.

"Massachusetts is ranked as one of the top economies for innovation. When you think about innovation, you think about the problems that exist in the world, and the people who have the skills and knowhow to fix them," Lt. Gov. Polito said. "To continue to be competitive, we need to invest in skills development, and in educational opportunities."

STATE OBSERVES OVERDOSE AWARENESS DAY

Massachusetts recognized August 31 as Overdose Awareness Day – a day held to remember the lives lost to overdoses, to dispel stigma surrounding addictions and to offer hope and recognize individuals' recovery from substance use disorder.

In observance of the day, and in memory of individuals lost due to substance use disorder, all four state-operated bridges – the Zakim, Longfellow, and Fore River bridges in Greater Boston and the Burns Bridge in Worcester – and Boston's South Station and Government Center transit hubs were lit up in purple, the color associated with the awareness campaign. A number of landmark locations across the Commonwealth were also illuminated purple, including municipal buildings like Boston City Hall.

Between 1999 and 2019, the opioid overdose crisis claimed nearly 500,000 lives in the United States and each day an average of 136 Americans die from an overdose on prescription pain medication, heroin, or fentanyl.

To recognize the day, Go. Baker issued a proclamation declaring August 31 Overdose Awareness Day in Massachusetts, writing in part:

"As a national public health crisis, the opioid overdose epidemic continues to devastate our communities not only through the tremendous loss of life and associated trauma to families and loved ones, but also through a profound economic strain on individuals and families in health care costs, lost productivity, addiction treatment, and criminal justice involvement ...[and]...we should be encouraged to continue in our efforts to provide our loved ones, friends, coworkers, and neighbors with the support they need to overcome addiction."

The Fiscal Year 2022 budget signed by Governor Baker last month includes a provision codifying the practice of issuing a proclamation each year for Overdose Awareness Day.

The proclamation reinforces the Baker-Polito Administration's commitment to combating substance use in Massachusetts, including the most recent announcement of over $30 million in state funding for regional/statewide services to provide pathways to stability and recovery for individuals facing homelessness and substance use disorders. These include $19 million for Housing First-model low-threshold permanent housing and support services in Brockton, Holyoke, Lawrence, Lowell, Quincy, Springfield, and Worcester, $3.2 million for street outreach to people experiencing homelessness and substance use disorder, and a $10 million capital fund that will increase the amount of permanent supportive housing in the Commonwealth.

To learn about addiction treatment and recovery services, visit the Massachusetts Department of Public Health website at www.mass.gov/orgs/bureau-of-substance-addiction-services.

If you or a friend or family member is struggling with substance use, please call the Massachusetts Substance Use Helpline at 800-327-5050, or visit <https://helplinema.org/>.

When I come to the end of the road and the sun has set for me, I want no rites in a gloom-filled room.

Why cry for a soul set free? Miss me a little, but not too long, and not with your head bowed low. Remember the Love that we once shared.

Miss me but let me go. For this is a journey we all must take, and each must go alone. It's all part of the Master plan, a step on the road to home. When you are lonely and sick of heart, go to the friends we know and bury your sorrows in doing good deeds.

Virginia LeClair

Affectionately known as "Auntie" to many young and old

A Funeral Mass was celebrated on Monday, August 30 in St. Anthony of Padua Church for Virginia M. (Fay) LeClair, 78, affectionately known as "Auntie" to many children and adults. "Auntie" passed following a valiant struggle with leukemia and kidney disease at Boston Medical Center on Wednesday, August 25.

Born in Boston and a proud lifelong Revere resident for all of her 78 years, she attended Revere Schools and was a graduate of Revere High School, Class of 1961. While a student at Revere High School, she worked part-time in her mom and dad's restaurant, "The Prospect Grill" in Revere. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fay (Edward C. and Mabel E. (Bunnell) Fay operated the restaurant for nearly 20 years. Virginia was a "Dynamic Personality, waiting on tables, cleaning and yes, sometimes asked to hone her cooking skills. The restaurant was a landmark within Revere.

Virginia moved on and sought waitress positions locally at the "Barn Deli" Restaurant. Then after falling in love with Carl E. LeClair, Sr. and the advent of a large family of six, she became a stay at home "Mom" until the youngest was of age. Then she returned to the work force, part-time and multi skilled.

Both, Virginia and Carl had a proud and stalwart association with their church, St. Anthony of Padua Church of Revere for many, many years. She was a devotee of the game of "Bingo" and suddenly found herself "in charge" and also a "Senior caller" for over 200 anxious senior players. Only Virginia could handle such a feat. Liturgically, she was appointed lector and was dedicated to that position at St. Anthony's.

Virginia also worked for over 20 years at the Vertuccio & Smith, Home for Funerals, helping with maintaining the interior of the funeral home, in which she took great pride.

Besides her beloved husband of 59 years, Carl E. LeClair, Sr., she was the devoted mother of Carl E. LeClair, Jr. and his fiancé, Denise A. Killoren of Stoneham, Rosanne E. Frongillo and her husband, Vincent of Saugus, Marie V. Fronduto of Lynn and Michael A. Fronduto of New Hampshire, April J. DeLuca and her partner, Christine MacInnally of Lynn, Derek A. LeClair of Revere and the late Cheryl A. Ferragamo. Thirteen proud and faithful grandchildren also survive Virginia as well as five great grandchildren and one on the way. She was the dear sister of Diane Crowley and her late husband, Michael of Marshfield, Donald Chapman and his wife, Myrna of Summerside, P. E. I., Canada and the late Grace E. Cutillo and her late husband, Frank R., the late Edward C. "Eddie" Fay, Jr. and his surviving wife, Dolores Fay of Allenstown, NH and the late Joseph E. Fay and his late wife, Lillian. Virginia is also lovingly survived by her closest friends: Dottie "Missy" Bernstein and her husband, Stephen of Saugus and Lorraine Todisco and Joann Giannino, both of Revere. Many caring nieces, nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews also survive Virginia as well as an uncountable number of extended family and friends.

Remembrances may be made to the Rose Ferron Foundation of Rhode Island, 339 Arnold St., Woonsocket, RI 02895. The Rose Ferron Foundation of R.I., is very special to the LeClair Family, as they have spent many years of fundraising and prayer times for this most worthy cause.

She is also lovingly survived by five grandchildren: ToniMarie, Michael, Nicholas, Michele and Janelle as well as nine great grandchildren: Dominic, MilaMarie, Luca, Nico, Haylee, Kelsey, Jacob, Matthew and Austin and several nieces and nephews.

EBNHC provides update on CEO transition process

Health Center's COO Greg Wilmot to serve as interim CEO

By John Lynds

Since East Boston Neighborhood Health Center President and CEO Manny Lopes made the shocking announcement earlier this month that he would be leaving his post to serve as Executive Vice President at Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts, Lopes and the Health Center's Board of Directors provided an update on the transition process.

Lopes and the board's chair, Rita Sorrento, reported after a series of discussions and interviews, the Board has voted unanimously to appoint EBNHC Senior Vice President, Chief Operating Officer, and Executive Director of Neighborhood PACE Greg Wilmot as Interim President and CEO effective November 1, 2021.

"Since joining the health center in 2017,

Greg has made a considerable positive impact on staff, patients, and the EBNHC organization, as a whole," said Lopes and Sorrento in a joint statement this week. "Greg's leadership has contributed to a more than 48 percent growth in the Neighborhood PACE program, which now boasts a 95 percent satisfaction score — among the highest in the nation."

Lopes and Sorrento said after his promotion to COO last September, Wilmot played a key role in helping to design and execute EBNHC's COVID-19 vaccination strategy, which resulted in over 100,000 doses administered in communities hit hardest by the pandemic.

"Additionally, in the wake of last year's national reckoning on racial injustice, Greg led EBNHC's Racial Equity Project, bringing an intentional and strategic focus to the health center's efforts to address Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion as a health-care institution, business leader, and community partner," they said. "We feel strongly that given his experience, background, and history at the health center, Greg is a strong, dedicated, capable leader and is well-prepared to support this transition."

Prior to November, Lopes and Sorrento said the Board will work closely with Wilmot to ensure he is familiar with key initiatives and to make introductions where necessary.

"Concurrently, EBNHC's Board of Directors will continue to develop and define next steps to establish a permanent replacement," they said. "We estimate that this process will take several months."

Prior to joining EBNHC in 2017, Wilmot worked at AllWays Health Partners, a member of Mass General Brigham, where he led the organization's Mass-Health Accountable Care Organization strategy and operations. Additionally, Wilmot previously served as Boston Medical Center's director of business development, where he partnered with clinical and administrative leaders at the hospital and across key partners to create new opportunities for growth and expand clinical services and quality goals. Wilmot also worked for former Massachusetts Governor Deval Patrick's Executive Office of Health and Human Services as senior advisor and director of strategy and performance management and held various operational and management roles at Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts.

FRESH & LOCAL

Dips for Dinner

By Penny & Ed Cherubino

In a recent New York Times Food video, host Vaughn Vreeland cooked a week of meals for himself as a solo diner. He made dips for dinner for one of the meals and inspired us to explore this menu option.

You can collect a few dips with a visit to a grocery store or as takeout from restaurants with dip-pable or spreadable items on the menu. (Most dips can be used as spreads, so we are including both ways of enjoying them.) The healthiest and perhaps tastiest options can come from your kitchen with an assist from a food processor, blender, or mortar and pestle.

Healthy Dip Options

Penny went straight to her favorite bean cook-books as a starting place for planning this menu. Many cultures rely on beans or legumes as a base for a dip or spread. Our favorite source for dried beans is Rancho Gordo. Their cookbook, “Heirloom Beans: Great Recipes for Dips and Spreads, Soups and Stews, Salads and Salsas, and Much More from Rancho Gordo” is a great place to start. One of this book’s recipes combines black beans with cauliflower. That can be spread on toast or scooped up with a tortilla or flatbread. By combining the beans with a grain you create a complete protein. If you add a chopped vegetable like the cauliflower, you have added both flavor and nutrition.

Dips for dinner could also be a mezze (also called meze or mezza) spread. Penny enjoyed a Master-Class on this topic hosted by Yotam Ottolenghi. In his class notes he wrote, “If you’re going to serve a mezze spread, there are a few things to keep in mind. First, there’s the matter of making things in advance—cooking and serving so many different dishes in one meal is a lot of work. Fortunately, many components can be made well ahead of time, and plenty of dishes taste better the next day.” His choice of mezze included Muhammara (a roasted pepper dip), a pea spread, and a garlic hummus recipe.

You can also mix up dips from different cultures to make an international selection. Two Italian favorites are Tuscan bean dip and Sicilian caponata. You could even top the bean spread with the caponata the way you might top a red lentil dal dip from India with chutney.

Leftovers Can Be Dippable Flavor

As you read through dip and spread recipes you’ll see that there is a lot of freedom for the cook to exchange one ingredient for another. This means that these dishes are the perfect place to use up bits of flavor sitting in your refrigerator as a leftover. If you have an extra ear of corn, cut it off the cob and add it to salsa or bean-

Nantucket Lightship to host Labor Fireworks party and fundraiser

By John Lynds

On Thursday, for a $25 donation to the Nantucket Lightship’s U.S. Lightship Museum (USLM) in East Boston, residents can have a front seat to the Labor Day Fireworks in Boston Harbor aboard Nantucket/LV-112.

Since 2009, Eastie has played host to this national treasure and now the giant red lightship and the ship recently returned back to the Boston Harbor Shipyard and Marina after months of restoration work at a drydock in Chelsea.

According to USLM leader Robert Mannino, Jr. the program for the fireworks will begin at 6 p.m. “Anyone who wants to reserve a spot and join us on Nantucket/LV-112’s weather deck, with friends and family, to watch a spectacular fireworks display in Boston’s inner harbor,” said Mannino. “Nantucket/LV-112’s berth has one of the best views of Boston’s vibrant city skyline from the East Boston waterfront.”

Mannino said guests can bring a picnic supper, their favorite beverages, and a beach or lawn chairs to sit on the decks of Nantucket/LV-112, which will remain at the dock.

“We’ll supply the ship, panoramic views and live music,” said Mannino.

“The ship’s powerful rotating light beacon will be activated just before the fireworks begin.”

While the USLM will provide the views Mannino said the evening will also give the museum a chance to show off its restoration progress.

“Plus, this is a fundraising event for LV-112, for which we still have much work to do,” he said. “The ship’s restoration solely depends on the generous contributions of corporations, private foundations, federal, state and municipal grants, maritime enthusiasts and individuals such as you.”

Mannino said tickets are $25 per person and can be purchased at <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/celebrate-boston-harbor-fireworks-from-nantucket-lightshiplv-112-tickets-167354930101>.

In 1989, the lightship was declared a National Historic Landmark (NHL). Since then there has been a push locally to restore the historic Nantucket Lightship, also known as Lightship No.

112 or simply LV-112.

Mannino, Jr. said the latest phase to historically restore the Nantucket Lightship was jointly funded by grants from the City of Boston’s Community Preservation Act and a National Park Service “Save America’s Treasures” grant.

Mannino said the remainder of restoration will be accomplished at the Nantucket’s berth.

“Upon completion of this phase, LV-112’s rehabilitation will be approximately 70 percent completed,” said Mannino. “The most critical and comprehensive portion of LV-112’s structural restoration is virtually done. However, there is still a lot of interior restoration needed, which involves mostly cleaning, prep and painting. Also a moderate amount of structural and mechanical restoration work needs to be done.”

It is estimated that approximately $2.3 million will be needed to complete LV-112’s restoration and preservation.

OVERDOSE AWARENESS DAY IN REVERE

Staff Photos

In recognition of International Overdose Awareness Day, the City of Revere's Substance Use Disorder Initiatives (SUDI) Office hosted a tree dedication at Leach

Park in Beachmont. The tree was planted by the office last spring to memorialize Revere residents who have lost their lives to drugs and alcohol and to create a space for families and friends to remember their loved ones. The event took place on Tuesday, August 31. Speakers included Mayor Brian Arrigo who said, "we commemorate those that live in our hearts and whose lives were cut short."

Metro Tech building project receives funding

Special to the Journal

Superintendent David DiBarri and the Northeast Metro Tech Building Committee are pleased to share that the Massachusetts School Building Authority (MSBA) has awarded the district a grant of up to $140.8 million grant for a new building.

Northeast Metro is operating out of a more than 50-year-old building that requires educational, capital and maintenance improvements. The new school will address the current facility's outdated building systems, including much-needed ADA accessibility and code compliance upgrades, in addition to overcrowding.

The new facility will allow Northeast to grow enrollment from 1,270 students to 1,600, a 26 percent increase. This is expected to dramatically shorten the district's annual waitlist, which averages 400 students.

"We are grateful to the MSBA for supporting a new Northeast Metro Tech, giving our next generation of students new and expanded opportunities," Superintendent DiBarri said. "MSBA has been a great partner throughout this process, guiding us toward a state-of-the-art career technical education center while keeping costs in check. Most importantly, this grant significantly reduces the financial impact on residents and businesses in our 12 District communities."

"This would not have been possible without the commitment and support of the District's delegation at the State House, which advocated strongly on our behalf," Superintendent DiBarri said.

The new school will feature 21st-century learning environments, improved Individualized Education Program (IEP) accommodations, state-of-the-art shop space, expanded program offerings, a new primary access roadway from Farm Street to reduce traffic congestion, a full-size gym, a 750-seat auditorium, outdoor space for learning and a new cafeteria.

With a focus on sustainability, the project is targeting LEED Silver+ certification with energy-efficient mechanical systems, provisions for solar panels, and vegetated roofs. The compact, four-story design will feature an upper-level courtyard, roof decks, and a double-height library rotunda.

The project is estimated to cost $317.4 million. The District will now have up to 120 days to receive support from its 12 sending communities. The District must receive all approvals before Dec. 23, 2021; doing so will result in sending communities saving about $24 million in additional funds.

With the vote of the MSBA Board, tax impact information for all 12 communities will be available and communities will have the opportunity to vote on the project this fall.

Updates regarding the project and details about future community forums will be posted to the building project website here and Facebook page here, as they become available.

Transfer student disparities grow across racial and ethnic lines in 20-21 academic year

Staff Report

In the 2020-21 academic year, higher education lost about 191,500 transfer students, or 8.4% compared to the previous year, according to research released today by the National Student Clearinghouse Research Center. The COVID-19: Transfer, Mobility, and Progress Academic Year 2020-21 Report, the fifth in the series, reflects the pandemic’s full-blown impact on postsecondary students.

This is the first comprehensive report to assess effects of the pandemic on student transfer during the entire academic year, in which 2.1 million undergraduate students transferred to a college other than their last enrolled institution between July 2020 and June 2021.

“The bright spot for students is the increase in upward transfer into highly selective four-year colleges and universities,” said Doug Shapiro, Executive Director, National Student Clearinghouse Research Center. “As transfers overall decline and equity gaps grow, however, this small segment alone cannot erase the larger concerns of diminished opportunity for students.”

How enrollment and transfer patterns continue to persist or diverge going into the upcoming academic year remains to be seen, but the Research Center expects as the pandemic continues, there will likely be further divergences among students and institutions, deepening the longstanding concerns over disparities in student mobility and progress.

2020-2021 Year in Review Highlights include:

While every pathway of transfer suffered declines, the rate of decline was not the same. Upward transfers, moving from two-year to four-year colleges, held up relatively well, with only a 1.3% decline or about 11,900 student losses. Pandemic-driven losses were more notable in the fall. In fact, upward transfers increased in spring. Disparities in upward transfer mobility increased during the pandemic year. Asian and Latinx upward transfers grew (+5.9% and +1.4%, respectively), but Black and Native American upward transfers fell further than pre-pandemic decline (-6.1% and -4.1%, respectively) while White students saw a drop consistent with the pre-pandemic rate of decline (-4.4%). Only highly selective institutions expanded their total transfer enrollment for the year, thanks to an unusually large one-year growth in upward transfer (10.3%). This growth included all student groups, irrespective of gender, race, and ethnicity, or transferring within states or into different states (see the figure on the following page). Patterns of upward transfer mobility along institutional selectivity, gender, and race and ethnicity shifted over the course of the academic year, most notably changing from highly selective colleges leading the growth of upward transfers in fall 2020, to marked increases in Latinx upward transfers in spring 2021 that were more concentrated at less competitive institutions. As upward transfer inflows grow at highly selective colleges and a few leading primarily online institutions, their persistence post-transfer appears to be suffering. In contrast, no significant persistence rate drops attributable to the pandemic are found nationally (all transfer pathways combined). Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs) had substantial transfer student losses this year (-70,400 students, -11.8%), while Historically Black Colleges and Universities remained largely unaffected. Both saw post-transfer persistence rates falling due to the pandemic, except that HSIs made a small gain in the latter part of the year. Following national patterns, declines in mobility at these institutions were largely driven by men. By The Numbers (July 2020 – June 2021):

There were approximately 2.1 million transfer students and 11.8 million non-transfer students. Fall transfer students accounted for 64% of the total transfer enrollment for the academic year.

- Transfer enrollment fell by 191,500 students or -8.4%; non-transfer enrollment fell by 456,100 students or -3.7%. The previous year, transfer enrollment had dropped 69,300 students or -2.9%.
- All transfer pathways were affected but in different ways:

- Lateral transfers fell 114,400 or -11.9% (-38,700 or -3.9% the previous year)
- Between 2-year colleges, -83,600 or -15.2% (-27,600 or -4.8% the previous year)
- Between 4-year colleges, -30,800 or -7.5% (-11,100 or -2.6% the previous year)

- Reverse transfers fell 65,200 or -16.2% (-19,200 or -4.5% the previous year)
- Upward transfers fell 11,900 or -1.3% (-11,400 or -1.2% the previous year)

- Fall – fell by 15,500 or -2.3% (-5,800 or -0.8% the previous year)
- Spring – increased by 2,400 or +0.9% (-8,700 or -3.2% the previous year)

- Lateral transfers account for 60% of the total decline (44% in two-year colleges and 16% in four-year colleges); reverse transfers account for 34%; and upward transfers account for 6%.

- Transfer enrollment fell more for males:

- Males fell by 112,900 or -12.1% (-37,100 or -3.8% the previous year)
- Females fell by 76,200 or -5.8% (-32,200 or -2.4% the previous year)

- Black transfer students fell at the sharpest rate of all groups:

- Whites declined by 86,700 or -9.1% (-59,900 or -5.9% the previous year)

- Blacks declined by 39,500 or -12.9% (-15,400 or -4.8% the previous year)

- Latinx declined by 31,900 or -8.4% (+3,300 or +0.9% the previous year)

- Asians declined by 4,500 or -4.2% (-2,100 or -1.9% the previous year)

- Native Americans declined by 1,900 or -9.9% (-1,000 or -4.9% the previous year)

The COVID-19 Transfer, Mobility, and Progress Report series, with support from Ascendium Education Group and ECMC Foundation, identifies changes in student transfer pathways that are attributable to the pandemic by using historical data as the pre-pandemic baseline and the Clearinghouse’s current enrollment data. By providing the most up-to-date information about student transfer available online for free, the Research Center enables schools, institutions, organizations, and policymakers to better adapt and serve students, particularly those from the most vulnerable populations, during the pandemic and beyond.

The National Student Clearinghouse Research Center is the research arm of the National Student Clearinghouse. The Research Center collaborates with higher education institutions, states, school districts, high schools, and educational organizations as part of a national effort to better inform education leaders and policymakers. Through accurate longitudinal data outcomes reporting, the Research Center enables better educational policy decisions leading to improved student outcomes.

The Research Center analyzes the data from 3,600 postsecondary institutions, which represent 97% of the nation’s postsecondary enrollments in Title IV degree-granting institutions in the U.S., as of 2018. Clearinghouse data track enrollments nationally and are not limited by institutional and state boundaries, while maintaining the confidentiality and privacy of student records. MVES nurses work as part of interdisciplinary team in caring for individuals

Staff report

They say home is where the heart is. Mystic Valley Elder Services (MVES) nurses know this holds true for so many older adults so in turn they work tirelessly to help keep consumers living safely in their own homes in the 11 communities served by the agency. Nurses are a key component of the MVES interdisciplinary care team and work day-to-day in coordination with the other professional caregivers employed by MVES as well as healthcare providers in short-term rehabilitation facilities, hospitals, adult day health centers, and other organizations throughout the region.

“Our nurses strive every day to provide the very best care for consumers and they offer vital support, resources and education to family caregivers,” says Roza Budilovsky, nurse manager for MVES. “No two situations are the same so our nurses work hard to ensure that each individual care plan is customized to the unique needs of each consumer we serve.”

Not only does MVES play an important role in supporting older adults living at home, they serve as a critical bridge in helping consumers to return home safely after a hospital or short-term rehabilitation stay. “Our nurses are able to support even very complex cases where consumers are dealing with myriad health concerns or housing challenges,” stresses Budilovsky. She points out that her team adapted quickly to the added challenges of providing in-home care during the height of the COVID-19 pandemic by leveraging additional technology and increased communication.

As part of the interdisciplinary team, MVES nurses act as a care advisors and work in partnership with MVES care managers and each individual to complete a comprehensive needs assessment and a person-centered care plan that addresses the older adult’s specific needs, personal goals, and necessary services. The care team will continue to work with the individual on an ongoing basis for as long as services are needed.

Diane Manganaro, a family caregiver from Melrose, shares that her mother Sarah Pollack has been with MVES for over 15 years and remains living independently in the single family home Diane grew up in, also in Melrose. “It’s a huge testament to the nurses and other team members at MVES that at 100 years old, my mother has been able to remain living in her beloved home,” Manganaro says. “The nurses and other professional caregivers have helped make my mother’s home safe and put in round-the-clock supports to enable her to stay at home – home health aides, adaptive equipment, Meals on Wheels and much more. There have been so many things MVES nurses have been helpful with and their comprehensive approach has brought me tremendous peace of mind as my mother’s primary caregiver.”

The longevity of MVES nurses’ tenure and their passion for working with older adults adds tremendous value to the agency, Budilovsky shares. “Our nurses are deeply committed to helping people age in place safely and with dignity. I am constantly impressed with their dedication, knowledge and responsiveness,” she states.

“I am so grateful to have reached out to MVES for help with my mother,” Manganaro adds. “Without them, I am not sure where we would be right now. I strongly suggest contacting MVES if you need help with an aging parent or loved one. They are truly lifesavers.”

To learn more about Mystic Valley Elder Services programs, please call (781) 324-7705 or visit www.mves.org.

Diane Manganaro of Melrose is a family caregiver for her mother Sarah Pollack, also of Melrose, who is 100 years old and has been with MVES for over 15 years.

Suffolk District Attorney Rachael Rollins releases mid-term report

Special to the Journal

Suffolk County District Attorney Rachael Rollins today released a mid-term report highlighting the work of her office in the first 33 months of her administration.

The 43-page document is built around the five core values of the office: Help Heal. Be Brave. Serve Humbly. Respect Everyone. Work Smart. A first year, annual report was in preparation for release in the spring of 2020, but the global pandemic forced a recalibration of the office and its work, so a final document was not produced.

“I am fiercely proud of what SCDAO has accomplished in my first two and a half years in office and this report reflects those accomplishments,” said District Attorney Rachael Rollins. “It also provides an analysis of crime trend data and empirical evidence to assess the public safety impacts of the policies we implemented.”

Under the heading Help Heal, the mid-term report outlines several achievements including:

- implementing a Rollins campaign promise to presumptively decline to prosecute a list of 15 non-violent, non-public safety focused, low level misdemeanors, and to instead seek potential non-carceral alternatives. The presumption is rebuttable. This policy has not resulted in the increase in crime some predicted. In fact, data show that the opposite appears to be true;

- reviewing more than 1,100 cases of some 818 people in custody during COVID where SCDAO staff either did not oppose or actively worked to achieve the release of 236 people. The report suggests that the work may explain reduced infection rates in the state’s county jails compared to state DOC facilities;
- creating one of the first in the nation programs that developed guidelines for, and to have started delivering fully tele forensic interviews and partially remote forensic interviews for child victims of sexual assault;
- working to open the Grand Jury -- one of the first in the nation to safely reopen -- and seeing two separate, socially distanced Grand Juries return more than 164 indictments in 58 days. Additional grand juries have returned more than 1,600 indictments since August, 2020 all involving some of our Commonwealth’s most violent, serious cases.

The report states that “being brave is central to the work of the criminal prosecutor” and in the Be Brave chapter, the report notes that our ADAs, victim witness advocates, investigators and administrative staff interact with people who are going through some of the worst, most traumatic experiences in their lives. Prosecutors must review evidence and draw conclusions.

“Being Brave means it is the job of this Office to hold itself and others accountable, especially when it becomes clear that our system has no consistent, overarching audit function,” the report states.

Some of the highlights in Be Brave include:

- being the first jurisdiction in the nation to bring, and win, an injunction against ICE, effectively halting civil arrests in and around the public areas of Massachusetts courthouses. The Biden Administration has implemented policies consistent with our legal position;
- filing, and winning, emergency petitions with the Supreme Judicial Court to uphold prosecutorial discretion, particularly when the discretion is used to decarcerate rather than incarcerate;

- welcoming researchers to full access and unfettered review of Suffolk County data and committing to change course if the data indicate a need to do so;
- In addition to the recent National Bureau of Economic Research paper which looked at 17 years of Suffolk County data and showed that non-prosecution of non-violent misdemeanors reduces recidivism, a Harvard data scientist and PhD candidate has analyzed cases impacted by SCDAO’s non-prosecution policies and the preliminary findings indicate:
- The share of the non-violent, non-serious misdemeanor cases declined, dismissed or diverted increased following the release of the Rollins Memo from 54 percent (in the four years prior to Rollins being elected) to 77 percent in the one year after her election;
- At the same time, the recidivism rate for those cases and the violent recidivism rate both decreased.
- being the first DA’s Office in the nation to advocate to our state’s highest court in favor of individualized sentencing for every 18-20 year old in first degree murder cases.

The Serve Humbly section, noting the on-going trauma still felt in and around Mission Hill some thirty years after the police invasion following the murders of Carol DiMaiti Stuart and her son, Christopher, states the need to acknowledge failures, correct past mistakes and prevent ones from reoccurring in the future.

Highlights include:

- creating our country’s first Discharge Integrity Team to review allegations of excessive police force was vitally important “because partners who work closely together in the criminal legal system – like the DA’s office and police departments – to prepare cases and secure convictions are inherently biased in favor of each other”. The DIT consists of a community member, a retired judge, a criminal defense attorney and an active member of law enforcement, all of whom assist DA Rollins with her investigation;
- establishing the Integrity Review Bureau, which has, in some 16 months, vacated or overturned decisions in 10 cases including those involving Robert Foxworth, Pedro Valentin, Arnold King, and Sean Ellis. Collectively these 10 individuals had served some 321 years in prison for convictions that were unjust, unconstitutional or infected with corruption. And there are more to come.

Respecting Everyone, the report states, “is a commitment to valuing the humanity and dignity of each and every person our office serves” and that after “centuries of structural and individual racism, equal treatment alone will never deliver equity to the most impacted people and communities. Accordingly, we must bring a racial equity lense to everything we do.”

The section highlights how the office is more transparent and diverse than ever before and has made significant strides in broad outreach, including:

- thirty percent of the new hires speak more than one language;
- the language capacity in the all-important victim witness advocate program has doubled;
- the enhanced Community Engagement Bureau has held quarterly town halls and virtual forums; sponsored, created, or attended more than 600 speaking engagements; and held more than 70 staff visits to prisons and jails;
- on-boarding for new ADAs includes a mandatory visit to the Nashua Street Jail and meeting with criminal defense attorneys, members of law

LABOR DAY TRAVEL ADVISORY

MassDOT advises to expect high volume of traffic Thursday and Friday afternoons

RMV centers closed Monday; scheduled construction to halt Sept. 3 - 7

Staff Report

The Massachusetts Department of Transportation (MassDOT) is advising the public to plan ahead for Labor Day Weekend travel, drive in off peak hours if possible, utilize available technology tools for trips including www.mass511.com, consider public transportation if possible to reach destinations and bring a face-covering as some municipalities have a mask mandate for indoor venues.

“We expect traffic levels to be high this Labor Day Weekend especially during the afternoon hours on Thursday and Friday,” said Highway Administrator Jonathan Gulliver. “Anyone driving should plan ahead, anticipate that trips will take longer than expected, and if possible use public transportation to reach destinations.”

Due to the anticipated higher than normal daily traffic volumes for several days leading up to and including Monday, Labor Day, MassDOT is taking several steps to ease congestion:

- Shutting down scheduled non-emergency construction effective at 5 a.m., Friday, September 3. Scheduled road work will then resume at the start of normal business hours on Tuesday, September 7.
- Deploying the High Occupancy Vehicle (HOV) lane on I-93 between Boston and Quincy earlier than usual in the afternoon by opening at 2:00 p.m., on Thursday, September 2 and at 1:00 p.m., on Friday, September 3. The HOV lane will be closed on Monday, September 6. The HOV will have normal hours Thursday and Friday mornings, from 5 a.m. through 10 a.m. Normal deployment resumes on Tuesday, September 7.

- The additional “swing lane” on Route 1A southbound at the Sumner Tunnel will be closed on Monday, September 6. Normal deployment resumes on Tuesday, September 7, from 5:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m.

At Boston Logan International Airport, Worcester Regional Airport, Hanscom Field and Flynn Cruiseport Boston, passenger and employee safety is Massport’s top priority. A federal mask mandate remains in place at all transportation facilities, which requires all passengers and staff to wear face covering while at the airport and cruise terminals, as well as while riding public and private transportation systems.

Due to ongoing construction at Logan Airport, passengers are urged to plan their trip to and from the airport ahead of time. Construction updates are available at FlyLogan.com.

Massport encourages passengers to take the Logan Express bus service from Braintree, Framingham, or Woburn. Logan Express e-ticket information can be found at: LoganExpress.com. For other transportation options to and from Logan Airport, visit FlyLogan.com.

The public is reminded that Monday, September 6, is a state holiday and among offices closed are those of the Registry of Motor Vehicles. Customer service centers which have been open during the pandemic will reopen by appointment only on Tuesday, September 7. Meanwhile, AAA members may visit any AAA Northeast location by appointment for some Registry transactions and more than 40 Registry transactions can be done online: www.mass.gov/RMV.

MassDOT’s Highway Assistance Program, sponsored by MAPFRE, will be increasing patrols on all major roadways to support roadside assistance needs. Requests for assistance can be initiated by calling 911.

Due to the holiday weekend, the MBTA has released the following information regarding travel on Monday, September 6:

- All subway and commuter rail lines, buses, trackless trolleys, and commuter rails will operate on a Sunday schedule.

- There will be no ferry service on the F1 (Hingham - Boston).
- All other ferry lines will operate on a weekend schedule.
- The RIDE will operate on a Sunday schedule.
- Please note that there is no Sunday service for the Stoughton and Needham lines.
- For more information, visit: www.mbta.com/holidays
- MBTA customers are reminded that, due to COVID-19, masks are mandatory on MBTA vehicles, at MBTA stations and at bus stops.

Drivers are reminded to avoid littering on roadways. Violators are subject to a fine of up to $5,500 for the first offense.

The Massachusetts Department of Transportation wishes all members of the public a safe and enjoyable holiday.

enforcement, the judiciary, returning citizens, victims and survivors of violent crimes, and community partners.

• A new oath of office administered to every single employee, intern or fellow at SCDAO that affirms our core values.

Working Smart is what public service requires and it is a necessity, as the report states, because “of the 18 primary agencies comprising the Suffolk County criminal legal system, SCDAO has the lowest budget per case and the lowest average salary per employee of all agencies with publicly available data.”

The Rollins Memo charted a path to safely shift the priorities in the office to focus on the most violent and serious crimes. Some highlights in the Work Smart section include:

• increasing the number of completed homicide trials in 2019 by 21 percent;

• launching the Project for Unsolved Suffolk Homicides (PUSH) in 2019 to focus specific attention and resources on the over 1300 unsolved homicides in Suffolk County dating back to the 1960s. We have indicted several decades old cases as a result of this initiative. And there are more to come;

• applying for and receiving more than $1 million in grants to better serve the people of Suffolk County;

• during COVID providing more than 7000 hours of training for SCDAO staff and community partners to better serve the people of Suffolk County; utilized work from home during COVID to upgrade the office IT systems and to better streamline our grand jury process.

“Though there is a lot of good news to report here, much work remains,” DA Rollins said. “In 2018, Massachusetts had the equivalent of the 9th highest incarceration rate in the world. Some police areas, such as B-3 in Boston’s Mattapan neighborhood, saw an 11% increase in overall crime in 2019, despite overall crime declines and a record low number of homicides that year.

“Wealth based and racial disparities exist, and poor and BIPOC communities continue to shoulder the brunt of the county’s violence and trauma. Though homicides declined 31% in Boston in 2019 -- representing the lowest number in decades -- they increased 77% countywide in 2020 (compared to that record low number). This year in Boston, due to excellent police and community work, we continue to see a decline in violent serious crimes, including homicides. But Chelsea has had two murders in 2021 and Winthrop remains shaken from the double homicide fueled by hate and the brave Winthrop police officer that confronted and neutralized a murderer, bringing the death toll to three.

Research in trauma-related disciplines shows that shootings, whether fatal or non-fatal, stabbings and violence harm entire families, social networks, and neighborhoods. We cannot falter or rest on our achievements. One homicide is too many. So, we continue to proactively try to disrupt violence and harm.

“I am proud to say that in our first two and a half years in office we have taken major strides toward a public health-focused approach to public safety. We are committed and excited to continue this urgent work in 2021 and beyond.”

Suffolk County District Attorney Rachael Rollins’ office serves the communities of Boston, Chelsea, Revere, and Winthrop, Mass. The office handles some 20,000 cases a year. More than 160 attorneys in the office practice in nine district and municipal courts, Suffolk Superior Court, the Massachusetts Appeals Court, the Supreme Judicial Court, and the Boston Juvenile Courts. The office employs some 300 people and offers a wide range of services and programs to serve anyone who comes in contact with the criminal justice system. This office is committed to educating the public about the services we provide, our commitment to crime prevention, and our dedication to keeping the residents of Suffolk County safe.

The City of Revere honored two distinguished war veterans, U.S. Army Staff Sgt. Joseph (Red) Terenzio and U.S. Navy Seabee Albert D'Errico Sr., at memorial pole dedication ceremonies Aug. 27 on Taft Street.

Revere Veterans Services Director Marc Silvestri lauded both men for their outstanding service to their country.

"We have the special honor of memorializing Joseph (Red) Terenzio and Albert D'Errico," said Silvestri. "It's not too often that you get to see two true heroes that served in World War II, end up not only living next to each other, but also having their children (Jim D'Errico, Brenda (Terenzio) D'Errico) marry each other and make for one huge, military family."

Granddaughter Dian-

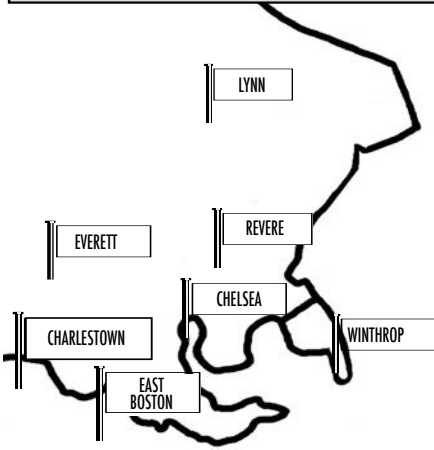

dra D'Errico said, "My grandfather, Red, was the best guy, best grandfather. I spent a lot of time with him in the many years he was here. He would be so happy to see his name on this pole. I wish he was here to see it himself. It's an honor to have this in front of my house, and my grandfather, Al, as well. I miss them both very much. And thank you to everybody for coming today."

Doreen DiRienzo is one of the most heralded Karate instructors in the history of her sport. In her 48-year career that started at the age of 16, DiRienzo has compiled an incredible record of achievements.

She is a Tenth Degree Black Belt, which makes her a Grandmaster of Kenpo Karate.

But this year, she is officially a legend, having been inducted into the American Martial Arts Alliance Foundation's Legends Section of the Changing Lives Series.

It's a much-deserved designation for DiRienzo, who has been changing lives one at a time through the martial arts inside her well-known studio, Revere Karate Academy, on Broadway.

"I like to believe that changing lives has been the body of my work for the past 41 years here at Revere Karate Academy," said DiRienzo, who retired as a Revere schoolteacher in 2020. "I remember when I graduated from Northeastern University and went out looking for a job, and the first job I applied for was working with troubled youth. The lady said to me, 'You're very nice, but you have no experience'. 'I looked at her and said, 'But this is the work that I'm meant to do'. 'I knew in my soul that I was supposed to work with kids and help them find themselves and help them find the best of themselves.'"

AT THE TOP OF HER SPORT DiRienzo receives national awards from AMAA Foundation

Shown below, Doreen DiRienzo holds the official American Martial Arts Alliance Foundation record book chronicling her legendary career in Karate.

DiRienzo estimates that 35,000 students have walked through the doors at the Revere Karate Academy. There are multiple generations of students whom she has promoted to Black Belt and are now helping others to ascend through the ranks.

One of those outstanding students who studied at Revere Karate Academy is current Revere School Committee member Susan Gravellese. Several Revere police officers and firefighters were also RKA students.

Celebrating 40 years

Last year, Revere Karate Academy was set to celebrate its 40th anniversary with a big reunion-type gathering at Casa Lucia.

"I'm in my fifth decade now, which is pretty incredible," said DiRienzo. "What's amazing is a lot of people ask me, 'Don't you get tired of it?' 'I tell them, every time I teach someone knew, it feels new to me.'"

DiRienzo was asked where she ranks her most recent award which affirms her status as an all-time legend. Does she feel she has reached the pinnacle?

"The honors and accolades are somebody else thinking I did a good job, but the pinnacle for me is looking at our family tree (a list of all the past RKA students and their honors), and knowing that we did a good job here, because our students have made accomplishments and went on to better their lives for having been here."

Grand Master Doreen DiRienzo is in one of the Karate stances inside the Revere Karate Academy that celebrated its 40th anniversary in 2020.

Sons carry on a tradition of excellence

Doreen DiRienzo believes in her heart that Karate is the right pathway for children to develop confidence, to be active in physical fitness, and, be able to defend oneself when the situation calls for it and other measures have been exhausted.

"I started my son, Anthony Cogliandro, when he was two years old - he walked on the floor, like he belonged there," recalled DiRienzo. Today, Anthony is a Sixth Degree Black Belt, Professor of Kenpo Karate, and a six-time international champion. Anthony is overseeing operations at RKA. Her son, Joseph, who studies Muay Thai, is an accomplished tile mason.

DiRienzo said Karate is meant to be enjoyed and appreciated by all ages. "My oldest students have started in their 50s," said DiRienzo. "There are some kids who walk in the studio and are ready to start at age 3 or 4."

And judging by the enthusiasm Doreen DiRienzo demonstrates each day at Revere Karate Academy and the passion she still holds for the sport, the Grand Master, make that officially the "legendary" Grand Master, will be helping Revere kids better their lives for many years to come.
