NOVOSELSKY ASKS FEDERAL DELEGATION TO INVESTIGATE U.S. CENSUS PROCESS IN CITY

Ward 2 Councillor Ira Novoselsky said he is finalizing a letter requesting that U.S. Senators Elizabeth Warren and Edward J. Markey and Congresswoman Katherine Clark launch an investigation into the U.S. Census population-counting effort in Revere.

Novoselsky noted that there were several inaccuracies in the Census.

"There were many people listed as living at a place of business, a square, a traffic island on Franklin Avenue, and at a church," said Novoselsky. "I'm asking our federal legislative delegation to look into the matter."

Novoselsky said that to-date Ward 6 Councillor Richard Serino is the only other public official to indicate his intention to co-sign the letter.

RPS seeks to increase minority student enrollment in AP courses

By John Lynds

During a presentation by Revere Public Schools (RPS) Executive Director of Data and Accountability Jamie Flint to the Revere School Committee it was not surprising to see that 59 percent of Reverew High School's population in Latino while only 30 percent is White.

However, what may be surprising to some is the Latino enrollment in high school Advanced Placement (AP) courses does not reflect the demographics of the student population and RPS is hoping to change that.

According to Flint's presentation at the November 16 meeting, Latino enrollment in Science and Technology AP courses is relatively equal with enrollment of White students with 39 percent being Latino and 38.1 percent being White.

However, the numbers seem to become more lopsided with only 37.9 percent being enrolled in English Language Arts AP courses, 36 percent enrolled in Math AP courses, and only 35.5 percent being enrolled in AP Social Science courses at the High School. The one area where Latino students far outnumber White students in AP course enrollment is

A VICTORY TO TREASURE

Revere bests Winthrop, 16-13, in thriller at Della Russo

By Cary Shuman

The Revere High School football team showed all season that it deserved a spot in the MIAA playoffs.

But it was the team's eighth and final victory that will be long remembered as the exclamation point to one of the greatest seasons in the program's history.

Revere held off Winthrop in the final minutes as Addison Merida's interception sealed the Patriots' 16-13 triumph over the Vikings in the annual Thanksgiving game at Harry Della Russo Stadium.

"It was a big win," said head coach Lou Cicatelli, whose program has now defeated Winthrop five consecutive times in the series. "Winthrop was really good, and we knew it was going to be tough. It was just a great, great football game."

CONGRATULATIONS, COACH CICATELLI AND THE RHS FOOTBALL TEAM

We'd just like to take a moment to offer our congratulations to Revere High head football coach Lou Cicatelli and the Revere High football team for their exciting 16-13 victory over Winthrop on Thanksgiving Day.

The big victory, which came on a picture-perfect Turkey Day morning on the glistening turf at a gleaming Harry Della Russo Stadium, not only gave the Patriots a sterling 8-2 record for the 2021 season, but also marked the FIFTH (yes, we intentionally used all caps) consecutive win for Revere over their ancient foes, who initiated their rivalry in 1913.

Until this decade, the longest winning streak that Revere had achieved in the series was three games, which the Patriots accomplished twice in the periods from 1940-42 and 1972-74.

In the game that was played 100 years ago in 1921, a Revere victory, the Winthrop Sun described the encounter this way:

"The Thanksgiving Day game was a most unpleasant one for the estimated 1500 Winthrop rooters who made the trip to the field on the Broadway Boulevard marsh only to see Revere win its first game in many years by a score of 13 to 0. The contest was played in a howling blizzard with the temperature not reaching more than 32 degrees."

For coach Cicatelli and his crew, Thursday's triumph marked the culmination of.a long journey of hard work, determination, and dedication that began in mid-August.

Just as was the case with that Revere High victory from 100 years ago, their outstanding 8-2 record -- among the best in RHS history -- and their triumph this past Thursday will live on in the annals of Revere High gridiron glory.

Whenever we speak of the accomplishments of our RHS athletes, we think of the words of General Douglas MacArthur when he was the Superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point:

"Upon the fields of friendly strife are sown the seeds that on other days, on other fields, will bear the fruits of victory."

We know we join with all of our fellow Revere residents in offering our thanks to Coach Cicatelli and his crew for having made our holiday a bit brighter -- and for having made our Thanksgiving dinner taste that much better!

HAPPY HANUKKAH

The eight-day observance of Hanukkah, also known as the Festival of Lights, started this past Sunday evening and will culminate this coming Monday, December 6.

Hanukkah is observed for eight nights and days by lighting the candles of the Menorah, one on each day of the eight-day celebration. (The Menorah itself consists of nine candles, one of which typically stands above the rest and is used to light the other eight.)

In summary, Hanukkah commemorates the victory of the Maccabees -- a group of fierce warriors who used guerilla tactics against an occupying army -- in 166 BCE when the Maccabees liberated the Jewish people from the Greek-based rulers who essentially had outlawed the Jewish religion.

When the triumphant Maccabees captured the city of Jerusalem, they quickly entered the Holy Temple, tossing out the images of the Greek gods that had been installed there by the occupying rulers.

When the Maccabees went to light the Menorah candles in the Temple, they thought they only had one day's worth of oil. However, the lights remained lit for eight days -- hence the miracle of the Festival of Lights.

Hanukkah is a joyous occasion for Jews world-wide, marked by gatherings of friends and families and the playing of traditional games such as the dreidel and eating traditional foods such as latkes.

Although Hanukkah celebrations this year will be much more subdued than is typical because of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, we want to take the opportunity to wish our friends and readers of the Jewish community a happy, healthy, and meaningful Hanukkah season.

PEARL HARBOR WAS 80 YEARS AGO

It was 80 years ago this coming week that the nation of Japan launched its attack on the United States at Pearl Harbor in Hawaii on December 7, 1941.

The very next day, President Franklin D. Roosevelt convened a joint session of Congress in which he famously declared the attack as, "A day that will live in infamy," and asked Congress for a Declaration of War against Japan.

Germany and Italy, allies of the Japanese who collectively were known as the Axis, then declared war on the U.S., setting the stage for what would become the largest conflagration in world history.

Hundreds of thousands of Americans would die in battlefronts stretching from the European continent to the jungle islands of the Pacific over the next three and one-half years before the German and Japanese war machines finally were subdued.

For more than two years prior to the attack, America had stayed out of the war that already had engulfed most of the rest of the world in the aftermath of the German invasion of Poland on September 1, 1939.

By the time of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Hitler's Nazis had conquered all of continental Europe and much of Africa, while the Japanese had invaded almost all of Asia, save for the U.S. outposts in the Philippines and other small islands in the Pacific.

Americans clung to the belief that our isolation, separated from the rest of the world by two oceans, would keep us out of the war. Americans had no appetite for re-engaging in another conflict just 23 years removed from the memories of World War I that still were fresh in our nation's psyche.

But after Pearl Harbor, we no longer could keep our heads buried in the sand. Although America had re-instituted the draft some months prior to Pearl Harbor and had ramped up our military production capabilities, the suddenness of the Japanese attack still came as a shock to every American.

Americans realized that thanks to the capabilities of modern armaments such as Japanese aircraft carriers and German U-boats, even the continental United States was not insulated from attack by a foreign enemy. Citizens on the West Coast braced for a Japanese invasion in the aftermath of Pearl Harbor and curfews were instituted on the Eastern Seaboard.

Thanks to the countless number of documentaries and movies over the past 20 years that tell the stories of the brave Americans who fought in WWII, we are fortunate to have a living history of the sacrifices made by The Greatest Generation.

The lessons of Pearl Harbor are many, but chief among them is that freedom isn't free -- and that we always must be vigilant to recognize the forces of evil that seek to destroy our way of life.

Speaking Truth to Power

By Anthony D'Ambrosio

As this campaign draws toward Election Day, on December 14th, I recall the instructive words of the illustrious Tip O'Neal- "all politics is local." My efforts over the past several months have been designed to convince you, the local voter, not the insiders of state government, that I am the best person to represent the 1st Suffolk and Middlesex District in the Massachusetts State Senate.

At the outset, let me plainly state again, I am unbeholden to any special interest group seeking to influence my future votes. If elected, my priority is to do the people's work. To that end, during this campaign, I have refused and returned campaign donations from lobbyists and other groups and individuals that have donated with strings attached. The money is simply not worth it to me. I quit a high paying job in technology and finance to run for state senate, because I believe in public service, not self-service.

My love of this community and its people is anchored by decades of family presence. My immigrant background, childhood friends, and family members still reside in this District and ensure that I will never lose touch with the regular person. I have said it many times: I stand here before you today on the shoulders of my grandparents and parents, who came to this country from an impoverished Southern Italy with literally the clothes on their backs and wilt in their pockets. Their courage and hard work are ingrained in my DNA. I will speak truth to power.

The Covid-19 pandemic has disrupted our community in virtually every way imaginable. It has laid bare all our society's vulnerabilities and inequities, as well as the ways in which our leaders are failing in their obligations to Massachusetts residents. Like so many others, I watched loved ones be hospitalized with Covid-19. One of the most painful periods of my life was watching my father struggle to breathe while hospitalized despite supplemental oxygen and incredible medical care. Even with the progress Massachusetts has made in containing the virus, the fear and pain of losing loved ones or seeing them suffer has still not dissipated for my family and countless other families in our community.

Many of our local businesses struggle or have closed while the behemoths of industry like Amazon are allowed to get richer and our gas and produce prices skyrocket. Many of our small businesses – the backbone of the American dream— are being pushed toward bankruptcy. Our educational system is also a mess. Many of our children have been left behind with some of the lowest testing scores in decades and little prospect of making up the deficiencies in the short term as Beacon Hill insiders squabble over the disbursement of federal relief dollars. Our nursing and elder homes are still a catastrophe in waiting. Their haphazard oversight is nothing short of shameful.

These situations are unacceptable. We cannot turn our heads and simply ignore the obvious problems before us. While the old ways of Beacon Hill and insider politics are still prevalent, we need new, modern ways of examining our problems and planning for the future.

We are at a pivotal moment in our country and District's history where we can not only recover to pre-pandemic norms, but also rebuild in a way that prepares our residents— especially our children— for the challenges and promises of the 21st century. I am running for State Senate to help ensure that our District continues to provide future generations the same opportunities that my family received nearly 50 years ago when they arrived in Boston.

I ask for your vote.

Anthony D'Ambrosio, BA Yale, MA University of Cambridge. Candidate for State Senate.

Real Estate Trends — November 2021

By Maureen Celata

Just as predicted in my September 2021 article the real estate market is showing signs of price adjustments and some inventories are sitting on the market a little bit longer. Prices are slightly lower than their peak and inventory levels increasing slightly over the previous month: Buyers have a stronger bargaining position than they did six months ago.

After nearly a year of record-breaking sales and prices, the Suffolk County residential real estate market appears to be cooling, perhaps only temporarily. In September, single family homes sales fell for the second consecutive month on an annual basis, while median selling prices of single family homes and condominiums fell or remained flat for the third consecutive month.

The slowdown comes on the heels of a sharp increase in new properties for sale last month and at a time when mortgage rates are gradually increasing. Two consecutive months have seen single family sales decrease over 20 % in August and over 13% in September year over year.

It is the twenty-third consecutive month that the median single-family home price has increased year over year. Monthly, the median selling price of a single-family home has decreased in each of the last three months. And September's median selling price is down 7.6 percent from June's all-time high. Information obtained from Greater Boston Association of REALTORS.

What does this mean?

It is this Brokers opinion that we will have to see when and how much the Feds increase the prime lending rate. Then and only then will we know the direction of the housing market for Buyers and Sellers alike.

Portillo is rebuilding the Revere Chamber of Commerce

Local business owner begins her role as executive director

By Cary Shuman

Like many organizations, the Revere Chamber of Commerce faced trying times during the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020.

With no networking or social events allowed due to coronavirus restrictions, the local business group pretty much fell out of existence for more than a year.

But on September 7, 2021, a new era for RCC began, with long-time Revere resident and business owner Amanda Schepici-Portillo taking the position of executive director.

Portillo has brought some exciting, new energy to the organization. In just seven weeks of membership recruitment, Portillo has built up the organization to 35 members.

"We are getting new members on a weekly basis," said Portillo, who has been contacting previous RCC members.

One reason for the rapid growth has been Portillo and the organization's development of "a new membership program to ensure that members are going to see a return of their investment."

Amanda Schepici-Portillo is the new executive director of the Revere Chamber of Commerce.

Portillo also credits the support the RCC has received from Mayor Brian Arrigo and his wife, Daveen Balliro Arrigo, a real estate agent for Keller Williams Realty who is an RCC member. The popular mayor attended the RCC Networking Night held at Fine Line where he greeted new members and honored numerous photo requests. Ward 4 Councillor Patrick Keefe, who is a sales partner with Daveen Arrigo, has also been a strong supporter since the re-launch of the organization and has become an RCC member.

Portillo a business leader and entrepreneur

The daughter of Cheryl DeMasi Schepici, a 1976 RHS graduate, and Steven Schepici, Amanda, 35, attended Revere schools and graduated in 2004 from Revere High School where she was a two-year member of a state championship cheerleading team. She is a graduate of Salem State University with a degree in Social Work and a minor in Spanish and also holds a Master's Certificate in Organizational Leadership from Southern New Hampshire University.

Her brother, Steven, was an outstanding basketball and baseball player at RHS and a former teammate of Derek Anemoduris, owner of Derek's Barber Shop on Park Avenue.

Amanda and her husband, Gabriel Portillo, are co-owners of Portillo Property Partners, which provides painting services to clients. They are parents of two children, a daughter, Layla, 11, and a son, Angelo, 6, who are students in the Revere school district.

Amanda is also a career and business transformational strategist. A coach for job seekers and service-based business owners and fluent in Spanish, Portillo will be conducting an RCC workshop, Social Media 101, for business

PUBLIC SERVANT of the month

Randall Mondestin is December's Public Servant of the Month

Special to the Journal

Mayor Brian Arrigo announced Randall (Randy) Mondestin as December 2021's Public Servant of the Month. Randy started at Revere City Hall in June 2017 as part of the three-person team launching Revere 311. He brought years of experience to Revere in customer service and technology expertise, including an outsized personality, an ability to connect to people across departments, and a hearty laugh that can be heard throughout the hallways of City Hall. On top of his regular job of responding to constituent calls, combing through 311 data to find service requests to close, and maintaining close working relationships with staff across departments to the benefit of residents, in the last couple of months Randy went above and beyond. He wrestled control over the launch of new Public Works Asset Management and Work Order software, a big upgrade over the existing platform. Meanwhile, he managed the design of the new in-process 311 office build. He continues to handle drone photography as needed for key city functions. As the Deputy Director of 311, he is always making sure that residents are always taken care of. His hard work, attitude, and commitment to the job makes him a clear choice for Public Servant of the Month.

"The demographic breakdown really hasn't changed dramatically over the last few years," said Flint. "This is the current makeup of students enrolled in Revere High (AP courses). We continue to work on addressing the need for placement participation and (RHS) is very excited to partner with MathInsight-the same partner that we have in our equity audit."

Flint said with this partnership RHS and MassInsight are looking at student participation and success in AP courses since last March.

"With MassInsight as a partner we will have an opportunity to work with other school districts to strategize on improving preparation and exam success, focusing on low income students in AP courses," said Flint.

With input from other school districts, MassInsight and RHS are meeting bi-weekly and recently created a leadership group that works to help analyze student data around AP enrollment successes.

"They are very excited and report that by next year we're going to start to see a more dramatic change in these AP course demographics because they've been working very hard at increasing their communication with families over AP coursework, as well as engaging teachers," said Flint.

At the meeting Revere Superintendent Dr. Dianne Kelly said RPS has been taking measures to get more Latino students enrolled in AP courses with the goal of having more Latino students taking advantage of honors-type courses.

"You'll see that our student population is 30% White and 59%, Hispanic or Latino," said Kelly. "What we want to do is get to a space where our AP enrollment is reflective of our overall student enrollment and what Jaime has shown us is that that is not the case. Our goal is to have AP classes that are reflective of our overall student body. We also hope to tear down the kinds of barriers that prevent equitable access to rigorous curriculum so that all students can access this kind of work. One of the ways that we do that is by taking away the kind of rules that say things like, "You have to have been in honors classes in order to take AP courses", and by taking away other kinds of rules and structures that we have historically created in our educational systems."

LOCAL STUDENTS FROM PIONEER CHARTER PARTICIPATE IN FOOD DRIVE

Students from Grades K-8 at Pioneer Charter School of Science in Everett have created a Community Involvement Club, which has been running a food drive this fall semester. They were responsible for collecting boxed and canned food at the school over the past few weeks, and now they are making the donation drop-offs to the organizations they will be helping.

The first drop was Thursday morning at the Edward G.Connolly Center in Everett, and later to the First Congregational Church in Revere and the Somerville Homeless Coalition.

NSMHA CEO Moore announces retirement

Staff Report

North Suffolk Mental Health Association Chief Executive Officer Jackie K. Moore, Ph.D., has announced her intent to retire after more than 16 years at the helm of the Chelsea-based behavioral health nonprofit.

The NSMHA Board of Directors has engaged national executive search firm Isaacson, Miller to assist in finding a successor, and Moore intends to stay on through the spring to ensure a smooth transition.

Moore was named CEO in 2005. Under Moore's leadership, NSMHA has grown into one of the largest behavioral health care providers in Greater Boston, currently employing. More than 950 people who serve over 10,000 children, adults and families annually. She has been instrumental in incorporating peers and people with lived experience into the workforce. "After a lot of thought and consideration, I feel that the timing is right to make this transition for me, and more importantly, for North Suffolk," Moore said. "We've always had to fight for resources and finally, the resources and the public recognition of the importance of this work are coming to behavioral health care.

"We've weathered COVID-19 – we're not completely through it, but we can manage it. For all the challenges of the pandemic, it brought out the creativity and innovation of our staff and their commitment to the people we serve. Their work has our organization in a very good place to move forward. It has been a privilege to work with our very talented and caring staff, our Board of Directors, the individuals who trust us to help them and these wonderful communities."

Traffic Commission rejects request to remove the fire lanes on Naples Rd.

By Journal Sraff

The Revere Traffic Commission held its regular monthly meeting last Thursday, November 18.

DPW Supt. Paul Argenzio chaired the meeting that was attended by fellow members City Engineer Nicholas Rystrom, Fire Chief Chris Bright, and Police Chief Dave Callahan.

The commission tackled a full agenda with the usual number of routine items, but two items proved to be controversial. The first centered around the request by the MBTA to eliminate some bus stops (see item #6 below) and the other concerned a request by the businesses on Naples Rd. to remove the No Parking-Fire Lane designation for both sides of the roadway (see Item #8 below).

This latter discussion involved members of the City Council, with councilors George Rotondo and Anthony Mirabito supporting the businesses. However, City Council President Anthony Zambuto and Vice-President Gerry Visconti strongly urged the commission to keep the Fire Lane designation in place.

The commission's full agenda, followed by its discussions and votes on each item, are below:

1. Amend Schedule IX of Title10 -Resident Parking Streets-Twenty-Four Hour Enforcement by adding:

a. Cross Street entire length

b. Montfern Ave. entire length

Ward 1 Councillor Joanne McKenna, who could not attend the meeting, sent a letter pointing out that patrons of the MBTA's Beachmont Station park along these streets during the day, thereby preventing homeowners from parking in front of their residences. The commission voted 4-0 to erect the signage.

2. Amend Schedule IX of Title 10-Resident Parking Streets by adding four spaces in the Central Ave Municipal lot 24-7.

This measure was designed to provide parking for residents living nearby without having to pay the new parking fee. However, this matter was tabled when it was pointed out that parking is free in the evening and that the logistics of designating free parking spaces for a few residents would be difficult to enforce.

3. Amend Schedule IV of Title 10-Isolated Stop Signs, by adding Rice Ave. for northbound and southbound traffic at both Delano Ave and Whiten Ave.

Former Fire Chief Gene Doherty, a Rice Ave. resident, opposed the request, which had been filed by another resident on the street.

"Stop signs are not an adequate measure to reduce speeding," Doherty said. "We should wait to see if the City Council approves a measure to install raised crosswalks."

Resident Hugo Rizzotto, who originated the request, said, "Nobody observes the speed limit of 20 m.p.h. on Rice Ave. We need to come up with a solution to slow down the speeding."

The commission voted unanimously to deny the request.

4. Amend Schedule IV of title 10-Isolated Stop Signs by adding Prospect Ave for westbound traffic at Homer St.

"I support this 110 percent," said Rotondo, who noted that the stop sign is necessary for traffic safety.

Rystrom made a motion also to place a stop sign in both directions, which further was amended to make the intersection a three-way stop.

The measure was approved 4-0.

5. Amend Schedule VIII of title10- Parking Restrictions Generally by adding 843 Broadway one-hour parking

Julie DeMauro from the Office of Planning and Community Development told the commission that the owner of the small grill-restaurant at the corner of Folsom St. and Broadway had made this request so that his customers can access his business. Without a one-hour parking designation, the parking spots in front of the restaurant are taken all day by non-patrons.

The motion was approved by a vote of 4-0.

6. Amend Schedule XIV of Title10 by removing the following bus stops: 5768, 5770, 5771, 35772, 35773, 5774, 5776, 15778, 5779, 5780 and 5781.

DeMauro explained that the rerouting by the MBTA of its bus lines in the city will require that some stops be eliminated. She told the commissioners that there will be nearby alternative stops to take the place of the ones that are being eliminated. In addition, some of the other stops presently being serviced by two bus routes will be served by only one bus.

Robert Guptill from the MBTA told the commission about the reasons for the T's requested changes.

Ward 2 Councillor Novoselsky spoke on the matter to oppose the request.

"People were not notified of these changes," Novoselsky said. "This is cutting off elderly and handicapped patrons on Ocean Ave. and will make them go a long distance to the new stops. This will hurt our residents. I don't think it's right. Some of these people cannot walk even a short distance. I'm against this and the MBTA should rethink."

Ralph DeCicco from the Commission on Disabilities echoed Novoselsky's sentiments.

"This essentially takes away the right of people with disabilities to have access to a bus stop," said DeCicco.

Rotondo also opposed the changes.

"If you take these stops away, you're discriminating against the elderly and others," said Rotondo. "They (the T) need to go back to the drawing board to figure this out. The changes to the 411 route will adversely affect the elderly and the poor, which the Census shows are the predominant population group in this area."

Visconti also spoke against the proposal.

"Why are they removing these stops? We as a city have been emphasizing public transportation, but now we're removing these stops," he said.

The commission tabled the request in order to get more information from the T.

HAPPY VALLEY CELEBRATES 'GREEN WEDNESDAY'

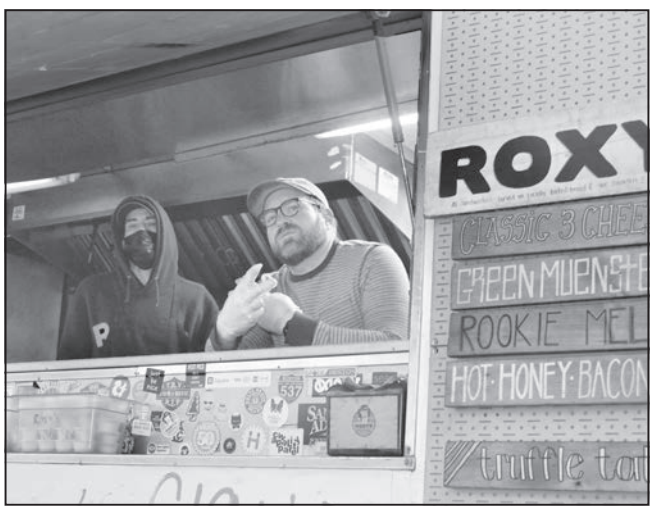
Last Wednesday Eastie's newest cannabis dispensary, Happy Valley, celebrated "Green Wednesday" at its McClellan highway location.

The relatively new holiday started up as the cannabis dispensary industry's answer to the post-Thanksgiving holiday shopping extravaganzas of Black Friday and Cyber Monday and has become the second busiest day for cannabis sales for local dispensaries behind 4/20.

Happy Valley's included the Roxy's Food Truck that served up some free grilled cheese and tots and local deejay, DJ Joe, who played some music for shoppers from 4 pm to 7 pm.

Happy Valley also offered special pricing on cannabis products in the spirit of Black Friday and Cyber Monday.



The Roxy's Food Truck was on hand to serve up some free grilled cheese and tots.

owners on Dec. 7.

"What's awesome is that we're partnering with the Revere Recreation Department, and they've given us space at the Garfield School for our training workshops," said Portillo.

Portillo said that as an entrepreneur she has personally joined networking organizations like the Revere Chamber of Commerce.

"I truly understand the needs and challenges that go into running a business, and that's the perspective I get to offer to our members," she said.

Portillo said the Revere Chamber of Commerce is seeking to open offices in the city.

"We're looking for an office space that fits our budget and meets our needs, but we haven't identified one yet," she concluded.

'Just the beginning'

The Revere Chamber of Commerce will return to the social calendar with its annual awards dinner and gala that will be held Saturday, March 6, 2022 at Casa Lucia.

"I'm super excited about the gala," said Portillo. "What's really great is that Pazza on Porter is now the primary food with provider for Casa Lucia and the owners of Pazza on Porter are two RHS graduates, Gino Scalzi, who was my high school classmate, and his brother, Raffaele Scalzi."

Portillo is hopeful that the organization's momentum and its warm reception from businesspeople will continue into the new year.

"We're pleased with the response so far - it's great but we have to keep going," said Portillo. "We need to make sure that we're being consistent, that we're showing up and providing value because although this is a great first couple of months, this is just the beginning."

Portillo has scheduled three very successful Networking Nights, with the next one on tap for Wednesday, Dec. 8 at 6 p.m. at Bianchi's At The Sandbar on Revere Beach Boulevard.

IV of Title 10 by adding a new stop at Revere St. and Bay Rd.

DeMauro pointed out that this matter was meant to be in tandem with Item 6, so this request also was tabled.

8. Amend Schedule XII of Title 10 Fire Lanes by removing Naples Rd. Both sides.

This item, which was presented to the commission by business owners on Naples Rd., drew the most discussion of the evening, and pitted members of the City Council on opposing sides of the issue.

Kevin Fosse, whose business, Brothers Auto Body, and home are on Naples Rd,, said the fire lane has prevented residents, patrons, and employees from parking in the area.

He was supported by other business owners on the street.

"We've been affected by this because our customers now have nowhere to park," said Andrea Garcia, representing one of the other businesses, while another business owner said the fire lanes prevent his employees from parking.

Jim Ciccone, another business owner, told the commission, "There has been no problem there for 35 years. We maintain and plow this road."

They were joined in their request by Rotondo, who spoke in favor of removing the fire lane designation, and Councillor Steven Mirabito, who sent a letter to the commision in favor of removing the fire lane signs because it negatively affects the local businesses.

However, the commissioners then heard a diametrically-opposite point-of-view, first from Chief Bright, who said that the congestion by haphazard parking on the street creates a problem for fire apparatus. Bright referenced a recent fire in the area and also noted that there is a hotel at the end of Naples Rd.

"We've had a lot of problems in that area over the years," said the chief. "We had a pretty serious fire years ago and we couldn't access it at that time. It's still a problem today. I'm opposed to taking down the fire lanes."

Council President lor Zambuto spoke in favor of keeping the fire lanes on both sides of the street.

"This place is a mess and it is a public safety issue," Zambuto said. "This is a disaster waiting to happen. The fire lane was put there to save lives. We should stripe it and make it a real fire lane and enforce it."

Visconti also voiced his opposition to the motion.

"We did not do this intentionally to affect the businesses there," said Visconti. "This was done because of the public safety for the city. I could barely get my F-150 down the road because people are parking wherever they like. Just because it's been wrong for the past 35 years, it doesn't mean we should continue with it. The area looks terrible and needs an uplift. I am in favor of keeping the fire lanes and marking two lanes."

Both Visconti and Zambuto also noted that the Fire Lane signage put up by the city had been destroyed.

"Somebody took the poles down and we need to mark both sides with the fire lanes," said Visconti.

"We are talking about rewarding the people who took down the signs," added Zambuto.

The commission voted 4-0 to reject the request, thereby keeping the fire lanes on both sides of the roadway.

9. Amend Schedule XI of Title 10 by adding 13 Henry St., 66 Tedford St., 74 Victoria St., and 104 Harris St. for handicapped parking spots.

Ralph DeCicco, chairman of the Revere Commission on Disabilities, which presented the four requests, spoke on the applications.

The commission approved three of the four applications, rejecting the one for 74 Victoria St. because there is no parking allowed on that side of the street.

10. Amend Chapter 10.32.180- Angle parking by removing Chapter 10.32.180- Angle parking.

It was pointed out that this essentially is a moot point because angle parking is not allowed in most areas of the city.

However, there are a few areas where angle parking is permitted and Novoselsky said that in the area of No. Shore Rd. at the former Stearns Hardware, there still is some angle parking, which creates a hazard in that area.

One of the residents told the commission that his vehicles often have been damaged by persons backing out of their angled-parking spots and striking his cars that are parked across the street.

The commission voted unanimously to remove all angle parking in the city.

The following items were new requests to the commission:

1. Councilor Giannino requests to amend Schedule IV of Title10-Isolated Stop Signs by adding a three way stop at Ellerton St and Argyle St.

2. Councilor Keefe Requests to amend Schedule IV of Title10-Isolated Stop Signs by adding: Burbank St at Mountain Ave for southbound traffic on Burbank St.

3. Amend Schedule XI of Title 10 by adding 34 Page St. and 12 Hichborn St. for handciapped signs.

4. Amend Schedule IV of Title10-Isolated Stop Signs by adding Mill St. at Vinal St. for four-way stop signs

5. Amend Schedule IX of title 10 resident parking streets by adding Haddon St. 24/7.

These matters were moved to a public hearing that will be taken up at the next regular meeting of the commission in December.

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

Candidate for State Senate Lydia Edwards with supporters, including State Rep. Adrian Madaro, Boston Mayor Michelle Wu and U.S. Senator Edward Markey.

Markey endorses Lydia Edwards for State Senate

Special to the Times

U.S. Senator Edward J. Markey endorsed Lydia Edwards with a canvass kickoff in East Boston. The campaign was joined by members of 32BJ SEIU, 1199 SEIU, Teamsters Local 122, Teamsters Local 25 and President-elect Sean O'Brien, Mayor Michelle Wu, State Representative Adrian Madaro, State Representative Nika Elugardo, Boston City Councilor-elect Erin Murphy, Winthrop School Committee-elect Suzanne Leonard, and representatives from the Environmental League of Massachusetts and Green Roots. View video of this event on Facebook.

Senator Markey joins the long list of elected officials who support her campaign for State Senate representing the First Suffolk and Middlesex District. "I'm proud to endorse Lydia Edwards for Massachusetts State Senate, a leader who has a record of taking on the special interests and fighting back for our communities," said Senator Markey. "She is a thinker, a fighter, a visionary, and a doer. She never gives up and always remembers where she comes from. The fight for justice guides her heart, and the love for the people of Massachusetts fuels her spirit. I know she will not stop until we achieve environmental and climate justice, which means economic, educational, racial, and health justice for every family in Massachusetts."

"This district has so much natural beauty and its unique needs call for a Senator who will be thoughtful about protecting these assets. I know I am that candidate, and that is why I am particularly honored to receive this endorsement from Senator Markey," said Lydia Edwards. "Senator Markey has been a steward for the environment and a champion of the green economy. His vision is vital and I hope to tackle these same challenges with these same values on Beacon Hill."

Edwards endorsed by State Senators and Representatives

Special to the Times

Recently, Lydia Edwards was endorsed by a group of State Representatives and State Senators, joining the long list of elected officials who support her campaign for State Senate representing the First Suffolk and Middlesex District. View video of this press conference on Facebook.

Boston Mayor Michelle Wu, House Ways & Means Chair State Representative Aaron Michlewitz and State Representative Adrian Madaro offered welcoming remarks reaffirming their support for Lydia for Senate. A number of state legislators joined them in endorsing:

State Representative Mike Connolly (Cambridge)
State Representative Marjorie Decker (Cambridge)
State Representative Kip Diggs (Barnstable)
State Representative Nika Elugardo (Boston)
State Representative Tami Gouveia (Acton)
State Representative Russell Holmes (Boston)
State Representative Jay Livingstone (Boston)
State Representative Joan Meschino (Watertown)
State Representative Liz Miranda (Boston)
State Representative Mike Moran (Boston)
State Representative Tram Nguyen (Andover)
State Representative Steven C. Owens (Watertown)
State Representative Tommy Vitolo (Brookline)
State Representative Maria Robinson (Framingham)
State Representative Dan Ryan (Boston)

"I first met Lydia Edwards in the legal field 10 years ago and I could see right away the qualities that still impress me about her to this day: Always fair, always focused, dedicated and fiercely loyal to her cause," said Rep. Jay Livingstone. "I've seen her put together strong coalitions to get things done and Lydia knows you have to reach out to stakeholders and build partnerships. I've seen her do that through the Domestic Workers Bill of Rights. We need Lydia's energy and spirit in the State House."

"I could talk to you today about Lydia's experience, her expertise, her relationships, but I want to talk to you today about her passion and her dedication," said Rep. Joan Meschino. "She will be a fantastic State Senator with the true commitment to lift up the issues facing her district and who will put the people first every step of the way. Lydia has the ability to walk into the State House and make a difference right now. I am all in."

"We need Lydia Edwards in the State Senate. We know we have a housing crunch in Greater Boston and Lydia is the one with the experience and expertise," said Rep. Steve Owens. "Lydia is an expert on transportation. I modeled one of my bills that I filed this session after an ordinance that she had been working on in Boston, and she is really a role model for me from afar. I was out on the doors this past Sunday with Rep. Connolly in Cambridgeport and we're going to everything we can to help bring Lydia Edwards to the State Senate."

Rep. Kip Diggs said: "The first person who called me when word got out that I was running for state representative was Lydia Edwards, and I was honored by her leadership and guidance. She reached out from Boston, and now I'm reaching with my support from the Cape. Vote for Lydia for the Senate!"

"As you can see, Lydia Edwards is a tenacious campaigner, but today you've heard how important she is as an advocate and that is why this race is so important," said Rep. Dan Ryan. "I'm honored to have her as my City Councilor and I want her to be a member of the Senate. I have seen her knock every door and make every phone call, and bring people together who wouldn't ordinarily come together. That's what makes her a great candidate, a great City Councilor, and what will make her a great Senator."

"We know that Lydia Edwards has the right values and the right policy proposals for this job, but what makes Lydia Edwards and unbelievable choice for the State Senate is that she understands that legislating is about teamwork. It's about building relationships and finding ways to connect with people with whom you don't always agree to move forward and build something positive. Lydia Edwards shows us that time and time again that she can work with folks from anywhere, on anything, and get a positive result," said Rep. Tommy Vitolo.

Rep. Liz Miranda said: "I could spend the next few minutes explaining the 30-some-odd reasons why Lydia Edwards is qualified and has a phenomenal track record, but I want to talk about two other things. I am one of four black women who serve in this building – we make up 2% of the Legislature here in Massachusetts, and across the country we make up 4.5% of state legislatures, which isn't enough. As a member of the Black & Latino Caucus, I am extremely excited at the opportunity to have Lydia Edwards as our next Senator, to be the third Black woman in its history since the found-

Revere Ward City Councilors endorse D'Ambrosio

Special to the Times

With his latest round of major endorsements, Anthony D'Ambrosio continues an unprecedented campaign that has united activists, elected officials and leaders from across the City of Revere.

"When I first announced this campaign, I was determined to unite the City of Revere in a way it hasn't been," said Anthony D'Ambrosio. "The overwhelming support that we have received from every corner of Revere, has allowed us to work throughout this district to bring our unifying message to voters who are tired of politicians beholden to special interests. We will work until the last minute on Election Day to ensure that the voices being ignored on Beacon Hill have an advocate for them in their next State Senator."

Joanne McKenna, Revere Ward 1 City Councilor

"Our next State Senator needs to be a champion for Revere Beach and the rising tides that threaten so many neighborhoods in this district. Anthony D'Ambrosio has released a thorough plan that will protect our coastline and hold polluters accountable. I look forward to voting for Anthony on Tuesday, December 14th."

Ira Novoselsky, Revere Ward 2 City Councilor

"Anthony D'Ambrosio has shown an unmatched commitment to our community. He knows that for us to thrive, we must back our small, local businesses. He will be a leader in the State Senate fighting for the resources and support they need to rebound from the COVID-19 pandemic."

Arthur F. Guinasso, Revere Ward 3 City Councilor

"Revere hasn't had a hometown State Senator in over 30 years. We can end that streak by turning out to vote on December 14th. Anthony D'Ambrosio isn't just the Revere candidate, he is someone who has a deep understanding of our issues because he has lived them. Nobody will fight harder for Revere and the entire 1st Suffolk Middlesex District."

Anthony Cogliandro, Revere Ward 3 City Councilor Elect

"There has never been a greater need for new blood on Beacon Hill. Anthony has proven his work ethic is unmatched and his only loyalty is to US. He is a breath of fresh air and I cannot wait to see what he can accomplish as our State Senator."

Patrick M. Keefe, Jr., Revere Ward 4 City Councilor

"I am so excited to support Anthony D'Ambrosio as our next State Senator because he will work for us all and deliver on his commitments. Anthony has already shown he can bring us all together to achieve a common good. With his deep roots in Revere, Winthrop and Boston, he comes from a place where we take pride in a hard days work and a deep desire to be a fighter for his community and constituents."

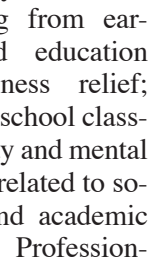
John F. Powers, Revere Ward 5 City Councilor

"Anthony has united our community in a way that I haven't seen in over a generation. I support him because I have seen his tireless work ethic and efforts to bring equity and accountability to our public schools. He will make a tremendous State Senator and I wholeheartedly support his campaign."

Al Fiore, Revere Ward 5 City Councilor Elect

"Far too many politicians say one thing and do another. Anthony knows that we are struggling from the impacts of overdevelopment and the long term ramifications of rising sea levels along the beach. He will be an advocate for our shorelines, against Wheelabrator and the unending noise from Logan Airport."

Richard Serino, Revere Ward 6 City Councilor



"Having worked at the State House, I know firsthand how difficult it is to get things done. We need a State Senator who is tenacious and willing to stand up for their constituents. Anthony D'Ambrosio is exactly the right choice to fight for us on Beacon Hill. I will be reaching out to voters across the district on Anthony's behalf and I urge everyone to vote for him on December 14th or during early voting from December 4th to the 10th."

Anthony D'Ambrosio is a graduate of Yale and Cambridge Universities. He is currently a member of the Revere School Committee where he led the creation of a districtwide Equity Advisory Board; led the implementation of a districtwide mental health audit with enhanced services for students; and fought for union and labor rights.

He has managed a 3,500-person nonprofit organization that provided community-based services ranging from early childhood education to homelessness relief; taught public school classes on disability and mental health issues related to social media and academic performance. Professionally, he has advised on the technology sector and growth strategies for some of the world's most innovative technology companies.

ing of the Legislature. Because we know that when Black and brown people are elected, they not only represent the work in equity and opportunity on behalf of our communities but for everyone. We cannot equally serve the residents of this Commonwealth until we have a body that is incredibly effective. The other point is that 90% of politics is showing up. It's not showing up when it's easy or a time of accomplishment, or a time of achievement or celebration. It's showing up when it's difficult, when it's hard, when it's about pushing the Commonwealth to understand that we've got a long way to go on a lot of issues. Whether it's housing or racial justice or just like later today, about hair discrimination and its impact on Black and brown in the workforce, Lydia shows up."

God saw you getting tired, and a cure was not to be, so He put His arms around you and whispered, "Come with me". With tearful eyes we watched you suffer, and saw you fading away. And though we love you dearly, we could not make you stay. A golden heart stopped beating, hard working hands at rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us He only takes the BEST.

Revere teacher Nate Dore goes the extra "26.6" miles

By Melissa Moore-Randall

Most days you will find Nate Dore teaching physical education at the Beachmont Elementary School and SeaCoast High School, a position that he has held for over a decade. However, when he is not teaching students physical education, he is also an avid runner who just completed his first Boston Marathon with a time of 3:45:38.

Nate was inspired to run his first Boston Marathon last spring. He completed the Horseneck Half Marathon in June of 2021 with a time of 1:38. As a result, he said he felt fine and it got him thinking about committing to doing a full marathon. "As a teacher (start of April vacation) and huge sports fan, I have always loved Marathon Monday including going into Fenway, cheering the runners on, the atmosphere, the excitement, the weather (on the nice years of course). I figured if I were ever to commit to doing a full first half and trailed 6-0 at the break.

Senior captain Augusto Goncalves responded by blocking a Winthrop punt in the third quarter.

"The first thing I told our team at halftime was that we have to find a way to score," said Cicatelli. "We dialed up a nice punt block with Augusto making a play, and we got the ball deep in their territory and we were back in business - that definitely changed the course of the football game."

Davi Barreto quickly turned Goncalves' big play into a touchdown on successive carries, one for 16 and the other for four yards. Barreto also set up Revere's other touchdown (Anwar Mabouh quarterback sneak) with a 19-yard run to the 1-yard line.

Revere led, 16-13, (with two points coming on a team safety when Winthrop elected to not punt from the end zone) in the fourth quarter and needed a stop on Winthrop's last possession.

Merida read the pass route and was in the right place at the right time to intercept the pass and deny Winthrop's quest for the go-ahead touchdown or game-tying field goal.

Goncalves makes 'play of the day"

Four-year varsity player Augusto Goncalves was an All-Star honoree at defensive end and tight end for Revere, but it was his work on special teams and his block of a punt that turned the game the Patriots' way.

Goncalves had a full, unimpeded sprint to devour the football and set up Revere at the 20-yard line. Winthrop had three blockers (up-men) stationed in front of the punter, but Goncalves made the play.

"Just like that, that's a huge special team play," said Revere TV analyst Donnie Boudreu on the game broadcast.

"That's the break they wanted," added play-by-play announcer and Ward 4 Councillor Patrick Keefe.

Cicatelli said Goncalves has been a huge presence on offense, defense, and special teams for multiple seasons.

"Augusto blocked the punt, had a couple of sacks, and set the edge on the defensive end," lauded Coach Cicatelli.

Winthrop Coach Jon Cadigan agreed that Augusto Goncalves made the momentum-turning play with his punt-block.

"There's no doubt that was a big play in the game," said Cadigan.

Doucette leads the Revere defense

Max Doucette was the team's junior captain this season and he surely wanted to send the senior captains and their classmates off with a victory over Winthrop.

Doucette did his part and then some as Revere's leading tackler in the game. "Max was all over the field," said Cicatelli.

Based on his All-Star season and his exceptional leadership, Doucette will likely hold the honor of team captain through the off-season and into the 2022 campaign. Doucette, a 6-foot-1-inch linebacker and offensive lineman, will attract the attention from college football programs.

Cotta emerges with key INT

"An unbelievable game" is how Coach Cicatelli described senior Filipe Cotta's contribution to the victory.

Cotta pounced on the football after Goncalves' punt-block and had one of two Revere interceptions.

"Filipe is a very quiet kid, but a senior linebacker who had a monster game," said Cicatelli. "He stopped the Winthrop screen passes also had a pick."

Cicatelli also praised Ricardo Goncalves, Jason Shosho, Elmahdi El Kaouakibi, and Domenic Boudreau for their excellent play on defense.

Freshman defensive lineman Joel Vasquez had a memorable first Thanksgiving game, making a great one-on-one tackle to contain a Winthrop screen pass at the line of scrimmage.

"It was an all-out team effort," said Cicatelli.

Winthrop had scored 34 points in its playoff loss to Rockland, who will be playing Abington in the Division 6 Super Bowl. Revere Assistant Coach Scott Wlasuk put together a brilliant game plan that the team executed very well, including a key stop off a jet sweep on Winthrop's fourth-and-one attempt at midfield.

"A lot of great things happened on defense," said Cicatelli. "I can't say enough about those guys. And Coach Wlasuk has had a great year defensively."

Mo makes his mark

Mudathir "Mo" Hussein had a tough time handling the first snap on a punt, but the senior was instrumental with his superb punting the rest of the day.

Hussein was one of the unsung heroes in the game and consistently backed up Winthrop in its own territory.

Another key to the victory and the 8-2 season was the leadership of the offense by senior quarterback Anwar Marbouh. Playing in his first season at QB, Marbouh improved steadily as the season progressed and the team had great confidence in his presence as the signal caller.

Reflecting on the 2021 season

Coach Lou Cicatelli knew that his team had to prove its mettle against a strong Winthrop team on Thanksgiving.

"I told the kids that 8-2 – you played a Winthrop team that went deep in the playoffs - and it showed the caliber of team we were," said Cicatelli. "It's a nice way to put a stamp on it: we were 8-2 and definitely deserved a shot at the playoffs. There was a mistake made there, no doubt."

"I couldn't have done this without my coaches," said Cicatelli. "It's been a great year and next year we're going to be very good again. We have a lot of players returning."

The team will celebrate its successful season at an awards banquet.

Revere will open its 2022 season with a home against Catholic Memorial, who is currently ranked No. 1 the state.

RHS SPORTS Through the Years

10 years ago
Dec. 2, 2011

The Revere High football team ended its season on a down note with a 33-0 loss to Winthrop in the season finale on Thanksgiving Day. As expected, the grass at Winthrop's Miller Field was a mess after the rains the previous day, but what was unexpected was Revere's inability to match up against their archrival Vikings. Revere took the opening kickoff and punted after a three-and-out. Winthrop then started at its own 45 and proceeded to march the 55 yards into the endzone, setting the tone for what would be a difficult day for the Patriots and their fans. Highlights proved to be few and far between for the Pats who, unlike in almost all of their games this season, were able neither to mount anything on offense nor find an answer on defense for a Winthrop team that was bigger along the line. Winthrop scored twice more before the end of the half for a 21-0 bulge at the intermission and then added two more TDs for a 33-0 scoreboard reading at the final whistle. "They definitely were bigger than us up front and they got the push off the line of scrimmage," noted RHS head coach Lou Cicatelli, whose Patriots were hoping to make it two Turkey Day wins in a row over Winthrop for the first time since 1973-74. Revere also was seeking its first winning season since 1981, but ended up 5-6 for the 2011 campaign. "It's never fun to lose the last game, but overall we had a good year," reflected Cicatelli. "We had some nice wins this season and the team gave 100 percent every week."

The RHS football team fell for the 15th time in the past 17 years by a score of 41-15 to Winthrop on Thanksgiving Day. Mike Mucci scored both Revere TDs to close out a tremendous season in which he led the GBL in scoring and finished second in Division 2 with 102 points. Mucci rushed for 1037 yards on 162 carries for the year.

marathon, there wasn't another one in the world I could imagine doing before Boston. The fact that this year's 125th Boston Marathon hadn't been run in over a year and a half due to Covid, and the fact it was going to be run in the fall, (meaning I could build on my half marathon training over the three plus months leading up to it) was also very much a contributing factor."

Dore is originally from Westport. His family includes his parents, Moe and Pat, and sister, Danielle, three years younger and also a teacher. His family still lives in Westport. His wife, Abbie, also a teacher at the Beachmont, is from the next town over, Dartmouth. Nate went to Westfield State for Physical Education and Athletic Training, and was hired in Revere right after he graduated. Nate and his wife moved to Peabody this summer with their dog and cat after living in Saugus for years.

Nate has been working in Revere for more than a decade. "I was hired as the Revere Hight School (RHS) athletic trainer and one of the RHS P.E. teachers for the 2008-2009 school year, and did that for two years. When SeaCoast moved to the Beachmont building for the 2010-11 school year, I came over to be the P.E. teacher for both schools, and have done that since. I continue to work with Keith Correia covering Revere sports as an athletic trainer, along with working as an athletic trainer for Bunker Hill Community College and Melrose Wakefield Hospital.

Nate was fairly new to competitive running. "I played baseball, basketball, golf, and was a skier/snowboarder growing up, so I've never run as part of a team or organized sport. In college I started to run a few miles at a time as part of workouts/for general fitness. It was mostly just something to do as a workout/for personal fitness, but it helped that I was relatively "good" at it, and able to naturally run at a decent pace for a few miles pretty easily. I never pushed myself beyond that though. Also, Westport is a beach town, and I used to work at a campground on the beach in the summer, and run there a lot. Having a beautiful location I was so close to and that I enjoyed running at helped keep me motivated to run. That continued when I moved up here, as I've run Revere Beach after work for years."

Eventually Nate's love of running did turn competitive. "I did a sprint triathlon with a couple of friends about 10 years ago and liked it, but didn't do any other races after that for 5 or so years. In the last 5 or so years though, I did some occasional 5k like The Cambridge Fall Classic, The Cambridge Freedom Run but I really started doing more races once Covid started, some of which were "virtual" just running on my own and submitting the time via a tracking app. Abbie and I (along with my family from Westport) did the Social Distance Dash in both 2020 and 2021, and the Revere Beach Pumpkin Dash in 2020 and 2021 (all of which were fundraiser events for Revere Beach Partnerships). We also did the 2020 and 2021 Harpoon 5 Miler (raises funds for the Angel Fund- ALS Research), and I did a virtual half marathon during the summer of 2020. My first and only in person half marathon was the Horseneck Half Marathon in June of 2021 down in Westport, that started and ended at the beach I have been running at for 15 plus summers going back to college."

Nate Dore nearing the finish line at the 2021 Boston Marathon.

The charity that Nate selected for the Boston Marathon was The Shawn Thornton Foundation (https://www.thorntonfoundation.org/). The Shawn Thornton Foundation is dedicated to helping find cures for diseases close to Shawn's heart, specifically, Parkinson's and cancer. The Foundation will work towards this mission by raising awareness, funding innovative research and helping to relieve the burden and improve the quality of life for patients and their families.

"As a lifelong Bruins fan thanks to my parents, I knew Shawn Thornton had done a lot of amazing charity work during his time in Boston, and then later (and currently) his time in Florida. He currently works for the Florida Panthers. My father was diagnosed with Parkinson just over 2 years ago, less than a year after he retired after a 20 year career as a Police Officer. Additionally and unfortunately, everyone knows someone that has been affected by cancer, and I'm no different. My mom's father suffered from lung cancer, passing away before I was born, and Abbie's father successfully overcame cancer which came about due to an extremely compromised immune system after undergoing a heart transplant. So a charity that raises funds to fight, and to help people dealing with those 2 diseases was a no brainer for me. I only learned about the Shawn Thornton Foundation after my father was diagnosed, but Shawn and his team do an annual golf tournament every fall, and organize a team for the Falmouth Road Race, and the Boston Marathon every year. I am hopeful to run the Marathon for the Shawn Thornton Foundation again down the road, but not in 2022. I will be doing the Falmouth Road Race for sure though, and I am considering a different Fall Marathon for 2022."

Throughout the pandemic Nate became actively involved in volunteering for the City of Revere. "When Covid first hit and all after school athletics, and in turn my second job, came to a halt, I suddenly had a lot more free time on my hands. I started helping with food/meal deliveries and distribution from the Beachmont School with Stacey Rizzo, Stacey Livotie, and Food Services, along with helping at the Food Pantry at the First Congregational Church in Revere. With sports being back in full swing, I am back working after school 10-15 hours a week, but try to continue to help at least once or twice a week at the Food Pantry. Everyone involved there does an amazing job helping to feed over 300 families a week."

Nate wanted to extend his thanks to those who supported him during his marathon training and participation. "Just a huge thank you to everyone that supported me. Whether it was sending me a message of support, or donating directly, buying raffle tickets, or squares for the Pats vs. Bucs game, not only did I reach my fundraising goal, I surpassed it by $1,250. The list of people to thank is too long to name individually, but especially my wife & sister, my parents and family, and my friends that came out to cheer me on. I also would like to thank Revere guy and former Boston Marathoner himself, Bob Feeney, for coaching and preparing me. Lastly, the people and local business that donated to my fundraising event and raffles that helped me raise over 1/4 of my goal in one night: April Feeney & Bent Water Brewing Company (Lynn), Easy Pie (Revere), Murrays Tavern (Revere), Stacey Livotie & The Marina at the Wharf (Revere), Night Shift Brewing (Everett), Mill River Winery (Rowley), Jacs Café (Winthrop), Jose Santana & Santana's Barbershop (Peabody), and Claudette Mercurio Ash.

A violent purse-snatching on Thanksgiving Day left Lois Diamond, a tireless worker at the Senior Center and friend to just about everyone, in the hospital after she was attacked by a female robber around 4 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day while walking on Pleasant Street. The female attacker knocked Diamond – who was walking to a friend's house – to the ground and hit her in the face. Then, she stole Diamond's purse and made a run for it – getting some $60 and numerous irreplaceable items such as sentimental photos. Diamond broke her shoulder in the attack and actually was knocked to the ground while in the street, having to crawl to the sidewalk in order to get out of the way of traffic. According to the police report, two witnesses gave chase to the female attacker and followed her into the apartment building at 10 Yeamans St. – a constant source of drug-related problems for police. The attacker, who escaped, was described as a white female with brown hair and wearing a white coat. She was estimated to be in her 20s or 30s.

In another Thanksgiving note, some parishioners at Immaculate Conception Church had their cars broken into during the morning Mass on Thanksgiving Day.

When Mayor Tom Ambrosino leaves office next month, he'll be leaving a neatly wrapped package in the mayor's office for Mayor-elect Dan Rizzo. That gift will be a surplus of cash in the Rainy Day Fund and a nearly $2 million deficit that has been completely wiped off the books. Ambrosino reported to the City Council last week that the city's worrisome deficit has pretty much been reduced to nothing through a number of cost-saving measures and several cash bonuses from the state and federal government. In addition, a new health insurance agreement with the city's municipal, police, fire and DPW unions reaped additional savings.

Eastie Elves stays remote

By John Lynds

Last year, during the height of the COVID-19 pandemic, organizers of community holiday fundraising events had to reorganize how they did things to maintain proper social distancing and keep the spread of the virus to a minimum.

One such event, Rep. Adrian Madaro's Madaro Family Community Fund's Annual Eastie's Elves toy drive, was forced to cancel the usual in-person dinner gala and toy-drive and opt for collecting toys through a series of drop boxes spread across Eastie and the surrounding communities.

With the COVID pandemic far from over the Madaro Family Community Fund has decided, out of an abundance of caution, to keep the annual Eastie's Elves toy drive remote again this year.

The toy collection drive will replace the annual Eastie's Elves gala last held at the Hyatt Boston Harbor Hotel in 2019.

Rep. Madaro's wife and Director of the Madaro Family Community Fund, Ariel Madaro, said the 18th Annual Eastie's Elves toy drive kicked off this week to support local families in need this holiday season.

Until December 14th, toy drop-off boxes will be at over twenty-five locations throughout Eastie Winthrop, and Revere. Madaro said additional program details can be found on the Madaro Family Community Fund's website at www.madarofamily.org.

"Thank you to the businesses, organizations, and residential communities that have partnered with us as drop-off locations this year," said Ariel Madaro. "While we miss having our Eastie's Elves event in person, our partners are helping us uplift hundreds of families this holiday season. Our gratitude also goes out to all the members of our community who support us every year with toy donations."

Eastie's Elves has become a community holiday mainstay since being founded by former State Senator Anthony Petruccelli in the early 2000s. Year after year the annual gala had become something many residents look forward to each holiday season. Since 2003 donations collected through the Eastie's Elves event have resulted in thousands upon thousands of toys that are dropped off to agencies like the East Boston Social Centers, the YMCA, Crossroads Family Shelter, the Salesian Boys & Girls Club as well as agencies in Revere, Winthrop and the North End. Madaro said the Madaro Family Community Fund looks forward to continuing this special tradition of spreading holiday cheer and uplifting those who need it the most this season.

Last week, volunteers placed toy drop-off boxes at the twenty-five locations throughout Eastie, Revere and Winthrop. The drop-off sites will be available from now until December 14th.

"If you have questions or would like to get involved with the Madaro Family Community Fund, please contact the organization at support@madarocharity.org," said Madaro. "To stay up to date on Eastie's Elves and future community events, follow the Madaro Family Community Fund on Facebook and Instagram @madarocharity."

Madaro added that the Madaro Family Community Fund is grateful to have the support of Platinum Level Sponsors Amazon, Cargo Ventures, and HYM Investments; Gold-Level Sponsors AWH Foundation, Bulgroup Properties, Cora Operations, Drago & Toscano LLP, East Boston Neighborhood Health Center, MassBio, and Redgate; and Silver Level Sponsors City Realty, Committee to Elect Aaron Michlewitz, Green Cities Company, Lendlease, Rasky Partners, and Tall Ship/Reelhouse.

NEWS FROM AROUND THE REGION

LIQUOR LICENSES COULD EXPAND

CHELSEA - More people in Chelsea could mean more liquor licenses for the city.

"Based on new census numbers, we're likely to have a significant number of new liquor licenses available," said Stephon Treadway, the city's municipal hearing officer.

Treadway said the Licensing Department is recommending that a request for proposals go out asking potential licensees to meet certain criteria, rather than having the Licensing Commission take the requests for new licenses in order when they become available.

"Then we can decide which we think are the best fit for the city under the criteria established by Chapter 138," said Treadway.

Licensing Commissioner James Guido said a public hearing will be scheduled to help determine the best criteria for the RFPs and issuing the new licenses.

In other business, the commission held a conference on the status of the liquor license for The Chelsea Walk Pub, which is currently closed.

Pub manager Angela Palmieri said there are currently negotiations underway to sell the pub which she said she expects to be concluded by the end of the year. Palmieri said The Chelsea Pub Walk filed to renew the liquor license for 2022.

The Chelsea Walk Pub will be back before the Licensing Commission in December for an update.

"We're not going to let you renew and stay closed and have a pocket license for a year," said Guido. "When you come in December, we'll decide how we are going to proceed."

The commission also got an update on the liquor license held by the estate of Nancy Serna. She held the liquor license for Rancho Las Pupusas on 2nd Street, which is currently open but not serving alcohol.

According to a letter from an attorney representing the estate, the matter is currently in Suffolk County Probate Court, and it's expected that there will be a corporation running the business under one of the heirs. At that time, it is likely that the new corporation will appear before the Licensing Commission to reactivate the liquor license.

In other business, the commission heard from the managers of Bar La Cueva on Broadway, which reopened in September after being closed for over a year due to the pandemic. The managers requested that their hours be extended from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. on weekends.

Guido said the restaurant could file for an extension, and it would be taken up at a public hearing in January.

Police Lt. Keith Houghton said that the bar's hours had been rolled back in 2019, but that there had been no issues since they reopened in September.

MISSING COUNCILORS DELAY VOTE

EVERETT - Lack of attendance by four members of the City Council caused a postponement of action on several ordinances including the new ordinance on a plastic bag ban at Monday night's meeting.

Other orders that needed to be delayed included an order to raise and appropriate $2,815 for ECTV and an order to raise and appropriate $686.015 for the general fund. A vital Zoning Ordinance change for the lower Broadway district also was caught up in the delay.

The issue of holding councillors accountable for missed meetings was discussed in an order proposed by Councillor Stephanie Martins.

However, Ward 5 Councillor Rosa DiFlorio opposed the motion.

"I am against this," said DiFlorio. "We should let voters make the decision."

Councillors John F. Hanlon and Anthony DiPierro also were also against the motion, with Hanlon saying, "There has never been a need for an ordinance like this in 100 years." The motion was referred back to the sponsor.

A motion to delete the controversial longevity and bonus pay for the office of mayor also was referred back to the sponsor, Ward 1 Councillor Fred Capone, who has tested positive for COVID 19 and was unable to attend the meeting. Further complicating the motion was that there was no recommendation from the sub-committee.

DiPierro, speaking on the motion, said that the commendation pay "rewards the individual. There are longevity rewards in a city like Revere, for example. We have three and half years to act on this."

Councilor Jimmy Tri Le said, "We should lay this on the table until (Councilor) Capone comes back."

On the other hand, Councilor Michael Marchese thought waiting four years to redo the ordinance "is absurd."

National Grid was granted permission to lay new gas pipes under the sidewalks on the northeast side of Hancock Street between Highland Avenue and Belmont Street.

DiFlorio voiced a warning that "the sidewalks should be returned to the City in 'as is' condition." She also said that baiting of the neighborhood for rodents should be part of the condition.

The pipes will be laid out in the coming weeks and then asphalt will be used to make the sidewalks passable until the spring, at which time all of the concrete panels will be replaced in full, according to the spokesperson from National Grid.

In another motion, councillors approved the following equipment as surplus and to be sold off:

That the Everett City Council hereby declares the following DPW vehicles as surplus 2009 Freightliner – 6 Wheel Dump Truck Needs a new engine, wiring harness and has electrical issues. Estimated cost over $20,000 to fix. Body is rotting. 2005 International – 6 Wheel Dump Truck

EARLY VOTING STARTS ON SATURDAY

EAST BOSTON - Last week the City of Boston's Election Department, with approval from the Boston City Council, set in-person early voting dates for the 1st Suffolk & Middlesex Senate Special Election Primary.

On Tuesday, December 14 District 1 City Councilor Lydia Edwards will square off against Revere School Committee member Anthony D'Ambrosio to fill the senate seat that was vacated by Joe Boncore earlier this fall.

However, Boston voters in the senatorial district, which includes East Boston, Revere, Winthrop, Bay Village, South End, Chinatown, Beacon Hill, and Cambridgeport, can begin voting Saturday, December 4 and early voting will last until Friday, December 10.

On Sunday December 4 registered voters in the senatorial district can vote at City Hall between 11 am and 7 pm. as well as neighborhood sites from 11 am to 7 pm.

Voters can again vote on Monday, December 6 from 9 am to 5 pm at City Hall and again on Tuesday, December 7 from 9 am to 8 pm as well as at neighborhood sites from 12 pm to 8 pm.

On Wednesday, December 8 early voting will occur for the race at City Hall only from 9 am to 5 pm and again on Thursday, December 9 at City Hall from 9 am to 8 pm and at neighborhood sites from 12 pm to 8 am.

The final date of early voting for the senate race will be on Friday, December 10 from 9 am to 5 pm at City Hall.

The closest in-person early voting neighborhood site in East Boston is the BCYF Paris Street Community Center at 112 Paris St.

Residents in the senatorial district must register to vote before Wednesday, November 24 in order to be eligible to take part in the Special Election Primary.

Councilor Edwards, an East Boston resident, previously ran for the Senate seat after former State Senator Anthony Petrucelli left office in 2016. While unsuccessful in that race Edwards went on to run for the District One City Council seat, which includes Eastie, Charlestown, and the North End, the following year. She went on to win that race and has served on the council ever since.

D'Ambrosio, a Revere resident, got his start in politics in 2019 when he successfully ran for Revere School Committee, a citywide seat. He topped Revere's School Committee ticket in that race and had an impressive showing during his first run for political office.

State would deny Saugus Ash Landfill expansion

By Journal Staff

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) would not allow the expansion of the Wheelabrator Saugus Ash Landfill as it's currently proposed according to a letter from Commissioner Martin Suuberg. The letter cited the location of the landfill and adjacent solid waste incinerator in the middle of an Area of Critical Environmental Concern (a fragile salt marsh) in detailing DEP's opposition to the current expansion plan. Members of the Alliance for Health and Environment (AHE) were hopeful that this means the landfill will close soon.

"State officials would be absolutely right to deny the expansion of this already massive, polluting landfill," said Kirstie Pecci, director of CLF's Zero Waste Project. "No new landfills or expansions of landfills are allowed in an Area of Critical Environmental Concern. The Saugus Ash Landfill is in the middle of one of these areas, so it is not allowed to expand vertically. End of story."

"This is the most dangerous landfill in Massachusetts, and it's been sickening nearby communities and destroying Rumney Marsh for decades," said Cindy Luppi, New England Director of Clean Water Action. "The only long-term solution is to close this facility for good, and we'll be continuing the fight to make sure that happens."

"I am so excited for this important step forward for Environmental Justice in the Town of Saugus and City of Revere," said State Representative Jessica Giannino. "We have been waiting my whole lifetime for this progress."

"Environmental Justice means nothing to the people of the North Shore so long as the Wheelabrator Saugus Ash Landfill continues operate in an ACEC," said State Representative Jeff Turco. "Commissioner Suuberg's letter makes clear that the long overdue closure of the Saugus Ash Landfill is on the horizon."

"SAVE (Saugus Action Volunteers for the Environment) is pleased with MassDEP Commissioner Suuberg's letter," said Stephanie Shalkoski SAVE Co-president. "DEP clearly shares our long-standing concern that any plans to increase the height of the ash landfill will endanger the Rumney Marsh ACEC."

Resident of Revere, Loretta LaCentra said, "As a resident who understands the detrimental impact to the environment and human health that this facility and it's ash landfill has had on local communities, this letter gives me hope that we will soon be having closure plan discussions."

In the past DEP allowed Wheelabrator to expand capacity at the facility by burying an additional 560,000 tons of ash in the stormwater valleys of the landfill. CLF and AHE joined the community in challenging that decision, at which time DEP stated that it would not allow a vertical or footprint expansion of the landfill.

Members of the Alliance for Health and Environment are available for further comment.

MASS BADGE HOST'S ANNUAL COMMUNITY THANKSGIVING DINNER AT CASA LUCIA

Last Tuesday the Revere community got a warm-up Thanksgiving meal, in a big way. The annual Mass Badge community dinner was held at the Casa Lucia, so-sponsored by the Revere Police and Ward 4 Councillor of the City of Revere Patrick Keefe.

The large banquet room at the Casa Lucia was filled with hundreds of Revere residents of all ages to enjoy a turkey dinner.

The kitchen crew was headed by Revere City Councillor Patrick Keefe along with many volunteers. Besides the obvious, a lineup of side dishes and desserts was enjoyed as well.

Revere Police Sgt. Joe Internicola with volunteers made this event truly one on Revere's finest.

A first-class event, calls for world class entertainment, and Revere's own Jimmy Celona fits that bill.

Deborah DeAngelis and Pamela Anderson with Sophia Vararcalli, Natalie Granese, Antonia Varacalli at the salad bar.

Charlie Russo with Marian Maffeo and Geri Damiano.

The best serving the best, members of the RHS Basketball Team helped serve the many residents their dinner.

School Committee member-elect John Kingston with Isabella Varacalli and Billy Granese.

John Correggio with Peter Morrione and Joe Guarino.

The Prizios enjoying their dinner at Casa Lucia.

Mike Roper with Francesca Roper and Debbie West.

RPD Sgt., Joe Internicola, event organizer shows off this year's volunteer T-shirt.

Anthony Padova and his dad, Joe.

State Representative Jessica Giannino, Councillor Ira Novoelsky and Cynthia Ringer.

Head Coach of RHS Basketball David Leary, Asst Coach John Leone and Revere Councillor at Large- elect Dan Rizzo.

Lillian DeFilippo, Dan Maguire, Candidate for Senate Anthony D'Ambrosio and Councillor at Large-elect Marc Silvestrei.

Ward 2 Councillor Ira Novoselsky with Frank Dunn, Trudy Papoutsis, Frank Sarro, Bill Reedy and Jerry Iamniciello.

Allie Esposito helps out at the dessert table.

Councillor at Large Gerry Visconti with some of the many Revere residents that were at the Mass Badge Thanksgiving Community Dinner.
