Revere High School graduates Class of 2022

On Tuesday evening over 400 Revere High School seniors walked the stage at Harry Della Russo Stadium and received their diplomas as part of the high school's graduation exercise.

The evening kicked off with the traditional procession of the Class of 2022 into the stadium followed by the presentation of colors by the Revere High JROTC.

Noelis Aponte then performed a beautiful rendition of the National Anthem on guitar before the crowd was led in the Pledge of Allegiance by Shaimaa Bouras Saiah.

The ceremony got underway with a welcome and remarks by outgoing RHS Principal Dr. John

Rizzo offers motion for councillors' pay to be $100 per meeting attended

Longtime political observers could tell by his tone at the last Council meeting that Councilor-at-Large and former Revere mayor Dan Rizzo did not particularly like the underlying theme of his two colleagues' motion to deduct a portion of a councillor's salary for being absent from a meeting.

And Rizzo wasted no time in responding to the salary proposal co-sponsored by Councillors Anthony Cogliandro and Marc Silvestri, proposing his own motion on the issue of councillors' salaries at Monday's meeting. The proposal calls for each councillor to be paid $100 for each meeting attended.

"At our last regular meeting, a motion was submitted that was asking for the City Council to draft an ordinance that will deduct a percentage of a city councillor's salary for missing meetings," began Rizzo.

"We don't work for each other. We get elected by the voters, and so if the sole mission here is to compensate city councillors by the meetings they attend and not the job they

State Rep. Giannino re-election campaign begins

State Representative Jessica Giannino announced she is excited to kick off her re-election campaign formally, after submitting her certified signatures and officially securing a place on the 2022 ballot.

"Serving as your State Representative is truly an honor. I am proud of my record and the progress we have made. Time and again, the people of Revere and Saugus have expressed their willingness to stand up and be heard. Together we have made a difference, and thanks to the hard work of my supporters, I will once again appear on the ballot to represent Saugus and Revere on Beacon Hill. I hope the voters of the new 16th Suffolk District will support my re-election and send me back to the State House to continue to lead the fight on their behalf," said Giannino.

She added, "I am as committed today as I was two years ago, to running a race that takes me to every corner of the transformed district. As your State Representative, I want to hear your concerns. I need your input and opinions to ensure your voice is heard. This is especially true for those who feel left out of the conversation. I will always be a strong advocate for you. I am grateful for the opportunity to bring our communities together and speak with one loud

Christopher Bowen tapped as new RHS principal

Caitlin Reilly will serve as deputy principal

By John Lynds

Last week, Revere Public School Superintendent Dr. Dianne Kelly announced Christopher Bowen will take over as Revere High School Principal next year and Caitlin Reilly will be the school's next Deputy Principal.

Bowen and Reilly will take over leadership of the school from outgoing Principal Dr. John Perella and Deputy Principal Leah Tuckman. Perella and Tuckman announced they were leaving RHS this spring after a combined 47 years as educators in Revere and elsewhere.

"It is with great pleasure that I announce the next Principal of Revere High School to be Christopher Bowen," said Kelly. "We've known Chris for four years now and have been impressed by his work engaging students and families as the Assistant Principal of the Freshman Academy."

Bowen began his career in education as a high school mathematics teacher, mostly at Framingham High School, and has experience designing and leading programs for at-risk students.

"We saw this first hand with his redesign of the 9th grade transition program last summer," said Kelly. "Chris led the RHS strategic plan development for the transition to competency based learning and assessment. This five-year strategic plan has been the basis of the RHS improvement goals since then."

Kelly said Bowen also led the recent NEASC self-study and collaborative conference visit and has worked with the grading sub-committee on Habits of Work.

"He has a vision for defining and implementing a Multi-Tiered System of Student Supports-including entry criteria, referral process, monitoring, and exit criteria-to ensure progress towards graduation for students who would benefit from timely, coordinated and directive academic/social-emotional intervention strategies," said Kelly.

Bowen holds degrees in Mathematics, Sociology, and Education Leadership all from Boston College.

"His knowledge of our high school, our staff, our students, and our community will be an asset to fostering change at RHS," said Kelly.

Kelly also said she was thrilled to announce Reilly as the next Deputy Principal.

"Caitlin Reilly began her career as a high school Spanish teacher and later, an instructional coach at Cesar Chavez Charter School in Washington, D.C.," said Kelly. "She spent five years as Principal of Summit Charter school in Redwood City, California before returning to Massachusetts to be near her family."

At Cesar Chavez, Reilly was part of a team that led the conversion to competency based learning and grading. At Summit, she continued to coach teachers as they implemented a competency-based system using project-based learning.

"She also fostered equity of access for all students through their "AP for All" approach of no tracking," said Kelly. "Caitlin has deep knowledge of restorative practices and tiered interventions which will facilitate stronger implementation of these programs at RHS. A huge asset to our community is Caitlin's fluency in Spanish."

Caitlin earned her Bachelor's degree from the University of Virginia, her Masters in Teaching from American University, and a Master's in School Leadership from Harvard University. "Congratulations Caitlin Reilly, we also look forward to collaborating with you and participating in your leadership," said Kelly.

do – personally I think that's a slippery slope. In all the years that I sat on the City Council, I have not heard a councillor indirectly go after other councillors for their attendance.

"That's insane to me, because we put ourselves before the voters, and if we're not going to give the voters any credit to understand who's doing their job and who isn't then shame on us," said Rizzo. "We're going to sit up here and govern each other? I think that's the crazy."

acceptable. I stand by [my original motion]. I don't know another job in anywhere in the world that you don't show up, you have no repercussions of doing so, and you will still be paid to do that."

Ward 3 Councillor Anthony Cogliandro also said his motion was "not an indirect attack on anyone."

"It is all about accountability. We've had 20 absences. It's not undesirable. It's unacceptable."

$100 per meeting would make sense

Rizzo seemed to infer that his two colleagues were missing the intention of his remarks.

"There's a fundamental disconnect here from the last two explanations that I've heard. We are not employees of the city. We're elected officials. The voters are the ones who put us here. It's not up to you to count absences and who's not here. I don't even understand what we're talking about. I can appreciate we've got a couple of new councillors, and they're aggressive and they want to go out there for the taxpayer. I think my motion has some merit. I think that $100 per meeting would make sense."

Cogliandro countered, "I personally think [Rizzo's motion] is retaliatory to the motion that Councillor Silvestri and I filed."

Council President Gerry Visconti seemed to land on Rizzo's side of the discussion.

"We have so many more important things that are going on in the city," said Visconti. "And to some degree, I understand what your intentions were, but I also agree with my colleague, Councillor Rizzo, that we are elected by the residents of this city, and we do not police themselves. It's not my job to call the treasurer's office and say I'm going to deduct so and so 50 dollars because he didn't attend a meeting."

Visconti referred the issue to the Council's Legislative Affairs Subcommittee for further discussion.

'My alternative'

Rizzo offered what he called "my alternative" to his colleagues' motion. "I think $100 a meeting is pretty fair. Let's just get paid on meetings we attend. That would solve the problem. And then if councillors don't show up, they don't get paid."

Councillors respond

Ward 4 Councillor Patrick Keefe said, "Councillor Rizzo, I totally understand where you're coming from. You spoke well on it that the voters will ultimately choose and govern the role and the job that we do. I think it was well said and I do agree with you.

"We are going down a slippery slope when we start fining each other (deducting pay for missing a meeting) – that's probably not the role we should be playing for each other," said Keefe, adding that the makers of the original motion may have been frustrated by the less than stellar attendance at meetings this year.

Councillor-at-Large Marc Silvestri said his motion to deduct pay from councillors "was not aimed at any one person. This is aimed at a body of representatives who get voted on by the voter."

"We put ourselves on a ballot. We get elected by the people, and we should show up here every chance we can," said Silvestri. "To miss one meeting after another, as far I'm concerned, it's un-

REP. CLARK MARKS START OF PRIDE MONTH

Assistant Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives Katherine Clark (MA-5) released the following statement to mark the start of LGBTQ Pride Month 2022.

"This Pride Month, we honor the achievements of the LGBTQ community and recommit to protecting the safety and dignity of every person, regardless of who they love or how they express their gender and sexual identities. We celebrate the many faces and experiences that make up the LGBTQ community and make space for those who are not yet able to come out as their true selves. As states and local governments across the country target LGBTQ kids and families, the Senate must join House Democrats and pass the Equality Act. All children – including transgender kids and teens – deserve safety, dignity, and freedom of expression, and I will never stop fighting until that dream becomes a reality for us all."

May 31 (afternoon) meeting his request to join the session was denied by the host of the Zoom meeting.

Clark was particularly perturbed that former Ward 5 councillor John Powers was allowed to participate in the meeting while Clark was unable to enter the meeting and participate.

"By allowing Mr. Powers to attend, it's giving a candidate an unfair advantage over another candidate," said Clark. "He's getting inside information about the planning of the fire station. The theme of the situation is that they're playing politics with the safety of Ward 5 residents."

Clark, Powers, and Linda Santos-Rosa are candidates for the vacant Ward 5 seat in the July 19 special election.

Mayor Brian Arrigo responded with the following statement about the matter:

"Internal meetings regarding the reconstruction of the Point of Pines fire station have been happening since the beginning of my administration in 2016. In April of 2021 our Owners Project Manager instituted a biweekly Point of Pines Fire Station zoom meeting. There have been approximately 25 meetings to date. The internal team working on the construction of the new fire station includes the OPM, architect, engineers, and city staff. These are not public meetings and are a standard best practice for any public construction project, similarly to the regular working group for the new DPW facility. John Powers has been part of this project since 2016 and has been included in these meetings from their inception in April 2021. In 2022 when Al Fiore took office as the Ward 5 City Councilor, he was included in these meetings and there was an understanding that John Powers would continue to take

Ban Placed On New Welfare Applications; Councilmen's Commissary Attitude Blamed

Because of an investigation of welfare aid recipients in this city, new applications for such aid will be considered by the welfare office. This was disclosed in a communication emanating from City Hall yesterday, which gave as reasons the need of the city and the feeble response being received to the commissary plan favored by Mayor Andrew A. Casassa.

The cases now on the list will be continued and when the investigation and re-checking of families is completed the lists may again be open.

Following is the statement released by city officials:

"The cases in the Welfare Department now receiving aid from the city have been undergoing careful investigation for the last three months. Because of the need of the city and the failure of the council to permit the establishment of a commissary for the city, it is now considered necessary to receive no new applications in the Welfare Office until such a time as the present investigation shall be completed.

"No new cases will be accepted but those now on the list will receive their usual allowances.

"The results of the preliminary investigation will be summarized and re-checked by impartial investigators for the purpose of eliminating from the welfare recipients all questionable cases."

Many Councilmen were irate last night when they learned of the action planned and stated that they

LOCAL SKIPPER IS MAIN WITNESS IN LIQUOR BOAT SUIT

Gauvreau Tells of Rum Transfer, Boat Owner Seeks Payment For Use Of Craft

Captain Andrew Gauvreau, 1518 North Shore road, this city, revealed as the skipper of the "Mary and Dorothy," allegedly used in the late summer of 1928 to convey cargoes of liquor from Canadian ports to a point on the high seas off Cape Cod, was main witness yesterday at Middlesex Superior court in a suit on trial before Judge Abraham E. Pinsanski to recover $910 said to be due for the use of an auxiliary schooner for the transportation of liquor from Canada.

Andrew Meade of Somerville, owner of the boat, claims that the boat was chartered to Fred K. Snow of Locust street, Lynnfield, at the rate of $100 a day from the latter part of August, 1928, until November of the same year. He claims that $910, plus interest, is still owing on the contract.

Snow was tried on a charge of conspiracy to transport liquor in Federal court last December, but the case was never decided, the jury reporting a disagreement.

Snow contended that even if Meade

Meeting of Councilmen With License Commission Fails To Clarify Matter; Board Scored

LOCAL FIREMEN TO HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES SUNDAY

On Sunday the members of the Revere Fire Department together with the veteran firemen will attend Memorial Exercises at the Congregational Church at the regular 10:45 a. m. service.

The religious exercises have been arranged by the Rev. E. Ambrose Jenkins who will preach a sermon appropriate for the occasion and Mayor Andrew A. Casassa will deliver the Memorial Day address.

William J. Smith and Charles Galiff, committee on graves registration and decoration, will today place floral tributes upon the graves of 87 departed firemen in the various cemeteries throughout Greater Boston. The Mayor and members of the City Council and the Fire Commissioner have been invited to attend the exercises and it is expected that a representative body of the city government will be present.

A short parade will precede the church services and the Revere Post American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps have volunteered to provide appropriate music at the conclusion of exercises and after the calling of the roll of the dead taps will be sounded by members of the drum corps.

The committee in charge includes Chief Thomas J. McCarrick, William J. Smith, Charles E. Clark, John V. Fitzgerald, Harry Paine, and Charles Marden.

The long-awaited "show-down" meeting of the License Committee of the City Council and the local licensing board was held at City Hall last night, and despite the terrific heat the get-together was a fiery one, with the councilmen scoring the licensing power for usurpation of their power.

Present were Montimore Eydenberg, chairman of the Licensing Board, and the two members, Frank Allen and Harry Pray, Council President George E. Lund and the council's committee on licenses and permits represented that body with Lund taking the chief speaking role.

The efforts of the licensing board to issue beer permits and other licenses, which were recently declared illegal by Judge Samuel R. Cutler in Chelsea District court, was charged by Lund as interference which would "no longer be tolerated."

The meeting was a closed affair but the husky voice of the council president could not be concealed as he forced an attack on the "offending" board. Citing the Judge Cutler decision, Councilman Thomas U. Kelley, chairman of the council's license committee declared that the council had the right to issue common victualer's and beer permits.

No actual decision was made as a result of the meeting but the matter is expected to be straightened out somewhat at next Monday's council meeting.

One of the points to be taken up in regard to licenses pertains to the Council In Session Until Two; Further Licensing Power Taken

Meetings of the local City Council lengthen week by week, with Monday night's get-together keeping that body convened until 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, new tempers getting lost as the hours sped by.

An order was entered petitioning summer sessions for the City Council with meeting held every two weeks during the hot period. The matter was tabled for one week and will be acted upon at the next meeting. It is anyone's guess how the matter will come out this year with the city's councilmen having such busy seasons weekly, but no one will deny that a vacation every other week is due them.

A public hearing, as ordered was held on the application of the Hart Bus Lines to run through North Revere to the Beach, with Councilman Michael Morelli leading a heated attack on the plan. Morelli charged that the petitioner was insincere, and alleged that while the bus lines were operated here for profit in the summer time they would be abandoned in the winter.

Representatives of the Service Bus Lines strongly opposed the petition, declaring that the Service outfit was operating a similar line at a loss, and that competition would force their removal. Councilman Morelli then brought to the attention of the council that if the Service Line withdrew their buses the North Revere residents would be without service to the Beach after the summer season.

The matter ended by being placed on the table on motion of Councilman Morelli after Councilmen Charles Giffix and James Doyle questioned the right of Theodore Gaulin to enter into any agreement for the Hart Bus Lines, whom he claimed to represent.

After a good deal of discussion the council voted to grant a beer license to Arthur J. Corbett for a refreshment spot on the Revere Beach Boulevard, over the veto of Mayor Casassa. The fee was set at $100.

Taking a further step in their abrogation of powers, the council voted to issue a Sunday victualer's license to Madalena Cavana, Ocean avenue, the bone of contention in last week's Chelsea court case which gave to the council the licensing power.

Councilman Charles Giffix, a supporter of Mayor Casassa, warned the council members not to "become drunk with power," when the matter of the Sunday license was brought up, and the final vote on the subject showed six in favor of the license and three opposed.

Assessor John M. Liset's request for an appropriation of $1200 for clerk hire in his department to work on tax titles, was laid on the table for a week, with the understanding that he will appear before the council next week with Acting Welfare Commissioner Louis B. Glikman. The latter has stated that there are several college graduates receiving welfare aid who are capable of doing the clerical work in the assessors' department.

BOSTON MAN HURT IN 30 FOOT DROP FROM NEW BRIDGE

George H. Conant, 38, of 533 Massachusetts avenue, Boston, is near death at the Massachusetts General hospital as the result of a thirty-foot plunge from the new bridge on the Revere Beach Parkway Wednesday.

Conant, according to a story told police, was an employ of the Boston Bridge Company, and was working on the construction of the structure. He was working near the railing of the bridge, when in some manner, he lost his balance and plunged to the roadway.

He was discovered by co-workers who notified police immediately. Officer Neil E. McKay, with Driver Edward J. Matthews of the local fire department, rushed to the scene in the city ambulance and the fall victim was removed to the hospital.

His name was immediately placed on the dangerous list when he was found to be suffering a fractured skull and fracture of the limbs.

GRADUATION OF I. C. H. S. SENIORS TO BE SUNDAY EVENT

Sunday has been set as the date for the graduating exercises of the senior class of Immaculate Conception High School, and an interesting and varied program which started early this week will be culminated by the presentation of diplomas at Revere High School auditorium.

The graduates will assemble Sunday morning at 8:45 at the school and will march in a body to the nine o'clock Mass. After the celebration of the Mass, the students will remove to the Revere House, where a Communion Breakfast, the gift of Father Holland, will be served.

Again on Sunday evening, at 6:30 o'clock the senior class will assemble, perhaps for the last time and file in to the Revere High School auditorium where graduation exercises will be held. Fr. Holland will introduce the speaker, the Rev. Richard J. Cushing, who will give the

Revere C. of C. Votes Donation To Visiting Nurses at Meeting

At the regular monthly meeting of the Revere Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening, in the banquet room of City Hall it was voted to contribute $25 to the Revere Visiting Nurse Association and $25 to the tuberculosis clinic of the Southern Middlesex Health Camp, Inc.

The Chamber also voted to endorse the Governor's Sales Tax bill and to endorse the position taken by the Boston Chamber of Commerce regarding this tax.

Mr. Liset, chairman of the board of assessors spoke about the Governor's bill for $30,000,000 bond issue and explained that Revere would have received $285,000 had this bill passed the House, which amount would not have to be paid back to the State. The bill, however, was turned down by the House and under the Hallowell bill, which was substituted, if we receive this amount, it would have to be paid back in five years.

The Secretary of the Chamber was requested to write a letter of commendation to Representatives Airoia and Carroll for their favorable vote when the Governor's bill was presented to the House last week. Although this bill was turned down, it was the opinion of some of the

EXASPERATED BY HIGH ENERGY COSTS? WAIT UNTIL THIS WINTER

Barely a day goes by without a news story about the high cost of gasoline and energy prices in general.

Economists and energy market experts point to a host of reasons as to why the market prices for oil and natural gas have skyrocketed in the past three months. The war in Ukraine only exacerbated what in any event would have been a world-wide energy crisis thanks to the decision by the OPEC+ nations and U.S. oil companies to limit output -- in order to reap huge profits for their shareholders -- despite increased world-wide demand in the aftermath of the pandemic.

However, whatever the reasons may be, they are of little consolation to Americans who must drive a car every day and who face record-high prices of more than $5.00 per gallon for regular gasoline.

It often is said by economists that higher energy prices effectively are a tax on consumers. But higher energy costs are even worse than a tax. We're paying higher gasoline prices for the exact same product, but with higher taxes, at least in theory we'd be getting more services for our tax dollars.

The only ones directly benefiting from higher energy prices are the shareholders of the major oil companies and the dictators in places like Saudi Arabia and Russia.

But as painful as higher energy costs are right now, the real crunch will come this winter, when Americans in the northern half of the country will face costs for heating oil and natural gas that never have been seen. We paid $3.00 for a gallon of heating oil this past winter -- but the price right now from our heating oil dealer is nearly $6.00. At that price, a delivery of heating oil of 175 gallons -- about 2/3 of a tank -- will be more than $1000, a figure that truly will be a hardship for many of us.

So let's start praying now for a mild winter -- and get used to the idea of taking shorter hot showers, dropping the thermostats in our homes, wearing sweaters during the day, using extra blankets at night, and sealing up the drafts through our doors and windows.

LETTER to the Editor

HYPOCRISY.
Dear Editor,
Violence in our society is a symptom rooted in deep hurt, anger and fear. Insecure broken homes, lack of purpose and fatherly leadership all contribute to this. The fact that we are created in God's image has been dismissed over many years of teaching the evolution theory as a scientific fact which it is NOT! If your life is an accident, where's the purpose? The welfare system contributes to broken families by encouraging single motherhood and absentee fathers and discouraging fatherly responsibilities. Lack of purpose leads to drugs and alcohol abuse, creating mentally unstable people.

Pro-Abortion Culture creates an atmosphere that the disposal of sanctified human life is acceptable! Abortion presented as a fundamental right for women is highly held by radicals. The leaked Supreme Court possible ruling on Roe vs Wade has resulted in violent and insane protests from the radical left recently displayed in front of churches, crisis pregnancy centers and at the Justices' own place of residence! In looking at our society, one would conclude that pets are valued more than children!

We all agree that the shooting of children in schools is evil. Yet killing thousands of unborn babies per month in abortion clinics is praised by politicians and radical activists! What hypocrisy! We are a sick society, plagued with a spiritual disease called SIN! We must change our ways as a nation. We need to study the principles of God and re-instate the ten commandments for righteous living. We desperately need GOD!

Most federal career politicians end up very wealthy. They make good salaries. They have great health insurance and very nice retirement packages. They typically develop political action committees that cover expenses the government doesn't pay. When they retire, they can donate campaign funds they have accumulated throughout the years to their own non-profits and administer the funds.

Most Americans know how lucrative a lifetime of "public service" can become and few really care. Most of us have more to worry about than the jet setting life styles of our rich and famous U.S. Senators and Representatives. What torches many of us is their inability and often refusal to do anything. Too many of them are spineless wimps who are terrified of casting a vote that might hinder their reelection.

You've probably noticed that most and often all of the Republicans vote the "party line" and all the Democrats do the same. How does this help us?

I'm tired of the red vs the blue and vice-versa. Doesn't anybody have an opinion that differs from their grand ol' party?

It's obvious that Americans are torn into shreds

GUEST OP-ED

Protecting our children from the shooters over the gun issue. There is no perfect answer. However, doing nothing isn't working to save the next group of children begging for help in 911 calls.

The least our leaders can do is raise the age to 21 to own any kind of labeled assault weapon. Personally, I would push for 25 but honestly there is no golden number. Old people can go crazy with assault style weapons as easy as eighteen-year-olds. We've seen more school shootings from those under 21 which makes it a reasonable place to start. Establishing a six-month waiting period to buy an assault style weapon will not hurt anyone. Background checks are vital but again will not be a cure-all because often the shooters have unblemished backgrounds.

All schools must pay for a couple of armed guards to patrol and protect their students. Even then a surprise attack by two or three people with assault style weapons and body armor could easily overpower guards carrying semi-automatic weapons. Yet, the presence of armed security is better than leaving our children defenseless.

One local county I know fairly well has several schools spread out over the county. They have one sheriff and he has two underpaid deputies. By the time he and the deputies could ever possibly even show up, dozens if not a multitude of children would be dead. This sheriff's department is very underfunded and would have to wait for state police to arrive. The local state police post is one hour away. It is unimaginable how many children could be killed. Such school systems have no choice but to come up with armed security guards to protect the children.

Who ever dreamed you would read something like this in your local paper? I never dreamed of a country where it would need to be written.

A SHORE THING

Mission Beach House delivers great food, service, atmosphere

By Victoria Fabbo

Looking for a new restaurant on the beach? Mission Beach House may be your next destination.

There is something on the menu that everyone will enjoy.

First, we were nicely greeted by the hostess and shown to our seats. The servers were kind and attentive. The manager knew the menu well and was thrilled to showcase the menu.

Ready to start off the summer with a mimosa flight! Yes, please! The flavors may include blueberry, strawberry, oj, pineapple.

Appetizers started with the ceviche, the yucca chips were so nicely thin they paired well with the ceviche.

The presentation of the Smoke Manhattan is classy and charming, great for any whisky lover.

Have you ever heard of swordfish skewers before?

The calamari was delicious.

I had not. I was thoroughly impressed, swordfish is a fish often overcooked. Mission Beach House Chef and cooks prepared it well, and it was tender. I have never had swordfish so tender before.

If you enjoy a beach feeling drink: the coconut, pineapple and rum drink called no other than Painkiller, is a great go to.

Calamari was lightly battered and yummy! Lightly battered calamari was the best yet! Calamari was tender as well, not chewy at all. Nicely done.

Short Rib Empanada, described as an Argentinian classic. The crust was fluffy and fried perfectly. Even meat and potato lovers will enjoy the empanadas!

Basil Gimlet is a classy, sweet, delectable drink, that you can sip and watch the waves crash on the sand.

Burrata and Beet salad was one for the road. The beets were cooked wonderfully, the burrata was nice and juicy, perfect summer salad! Pesto salad dressing is nut free.

How thoughtful. If you like to stop in for a game and sit at the bar or high top, great place to stop and watch the ocean as well. The music was 2000s and up just a fun vibe, do not think there was one song I did not enjoy.

A lovely entree to have while staring at the beach would be the grilled blackened salmon, coconut curry jasmine rice, sweet sliced almonds, paired with seared plantains, fresh lime.

All my girls out there looking for Espresso Martinis Mission Beach House make a couple of great choices.

They do not miss the Aperol Spritz either, sweet and yummy!

The sweetest ending to my heart, brownie sundae with perfect marshmallow, chocolate sauce and vanilla ice cream. A lovely spot on the beach with the view of the ocean and fabulous food to pair with it.

Cheers until next time...

REVERE'S EDWARD DEMASO CELEBRATES CENTENNIAL

Col Edward M. Demaso, a retired World War II pilot with the Air Force, celebrated his 100th birthday at his home in Revere with his family on April 10. From his boyhood dream of becoming a pilot, to enlisting in the Army Air Force at the age of 20, just after Pearl Harbor, he served his country for more than 30 years. During World War II, he flew the massive C-46 aircraft. While stationed overseas, he flew throughout West and Central Africa, Arabia and New Guinea before being assigned to India, where he then participated in the China-Burma-India Theatre in 1944. Flying the world's most dangerous air route, over the highest mountains in the world, the Himalayas, (nicknamed "The Hump"), he was part of the Air Transport Command, transporting desperately needed war supplies, like jeeps, B-29 engines, ammunition and food to Kunming, China to support the war resistance against the Japanese. A humble man, who downplays his contribution to the war by stating that he was just doing his job, simply says, "I served 30 years in the Air Force and loved every minute of it" Looking back over his 100 years, he says, "It's been a good life. We as his children feel very lucky to have this remarkable man still in our lives.

Mayor’s Chief of Staff Kim Hanton Honored as Unsung 2022 Commonwealth Heroine

Staf Report

This month, the Massachusetts Commission on the Status of Women announced the 2022 Commonwealth Heroine Award honorees. The annual awards recognize women across the Commonwealth for their extraordinary contributions to their local communities in public or community service. Among this year’s honorees is Kim Hanton, a Revere resident nominated by Representative Jessica A. Giannino.

Mayor Brian Arrigo's Chief of Staff, Kim Hanton, Unsung 2022 Commonwealth Heroine.

“Kim Hanton is a shining example of an unsung heroine who works tirelessly to make the City of Revere a better place for all to live, work, and visit,” said Rep. Giannino. “I was proud to nominate Kim because in addition to what is in her job description as Mayor’s Chief of Staff, she goes far above and beyond what is expected and truly cares about her community and its people.”

In addition to being the Mayor’s Chief of Staff, Kim Hanton has given 34 years of leadership, guidance and vision to NSMHA’s Addictions Division while serving as the Director of Addiction Services. Kim joined NSMHA in 1988, coming from the state’s Department of Social Services, where she started her clinical career in 1982. Kim changed the course of the Addictions Division by growing the number of services and programs provided. In addition, Kim was an integral part in advancing the Division’s outreach, being involved with both the STEPProx Recovery Support Center and the second RSC – Recovery On the Harbor. Before retiring from NSMHA, Kim concurrently served as the City of Revere’s Chief of Health and Human Services and City COVID-19 Response Team leader.

Kim will be recognized and honored at a ceremony on June 22nd hosted by the Massachusetts Commission on the Status of Women. The Commission is an independent state agency that was legislatively established in 1998 to support equal opportunities for women in the Commonwealth in all areas of life and to promote their advancement. To encourage attendance for family and friends, and in celebration of our heroines, the Massachusetts Commission on the Status of Women will be streaming this celebration “Live” on their Facebook page at 11:00am on Wednesday June 22, 2022.

In a trapeze duet, Crystal returns to the light and life above.

Cirque du Soleil’s Crystal comes to Boston

Story & Photos by Marianne Salza

Cirque du Soleil rhythmically combines the grace of figure skating and the exhilarating athleticism of acrobatics for the first time in its 42nd creation, Crystal, an emotional journey of self-discovery, playing at Boston’s Agganis Arena through June 12.

“We have everything you know and love from a circus show – the high energy acrobatics, the music, and the costumes – but it’s all on ice. You’ll see real flips and tumbling from Olympic-level gymnasts who have been in circus their whole lives,” boasted Senior Publicist Christine Achampong, Canada. “The best part of this show is that we come from 18 different countries. We are a big, international family.”

Lead character, Crystal, is a timid, eccentric young woman who feels misunderstood. Disheartened, Crystal retreats to a frozen pond, where she plummets through the ice into a surreal world of her imagination, and encounters a reflection of herself. Bold and mischievous, Crystal’s reflection encourages her to be confident and helps her discover her strengths.

“There is a sense of nostalgia in how the show opens. We have a pre-show animation that I love. It feels like I am back in the 1960s in a public park with people skating. As a spectator, people think – ‘Oh, that could be me,’” exclaimed Rob Tanion, Artistic Director. “There is a sense of human connection. Apart from that, it’s a super contemporary show.”

Twenty-three 10,000-lumen visual projectors create stunning landscapes and swirling drawings onto the ice and towering, quartz wall that contains plunging ramps for ice skaters to hurtle down. Projectors transform the stage from an enchanting, frozen pond, into a frolicking schoolyard, and regimented office in the city.

A three-dimensional tracking system and wireless transmitters in performers’ costumes allow artists to continuously be illuminated by spot lights as they swing on ropes, and whirl on the ice.

The ability to transport audiences is Tanion’s favorite element of the show. He loves hearing viewers’ exuberant eruption. Although Tanion has experienced Crystal hundreds of times, his heart still leaps with thrill when witnessing the extreme feats.

“We rely on each other. As an art form, the circus feels like the most inclusive because it can surpass language barriers,” explained Tanion, who chuckled as he mimed directions for performers: stop, one more time, it’s time to eat. “We have at least 11 language groups. We work in synchronicity because we have a common goal.”

Having grown up in suburban Australia, searching for an artistic outlet, Tanion sees himself mirrored in Crystal, and believes that the show provides hope for the human potential.

“Crystal is intuitive and creative. She is given a pen, and all of a sudden, it can create a line, a dot, a circle, a word, a sentence, a phrase, a story, a world,” Tanion excitedly described. “It surpasses language. It’s the ephemeral power of the arts.”

CITY COUNCIL PRESENTS CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Revere City Council, acting on a motion by Council President Gerry Visconti, presented a Certificate of Appreciation to the Revere Chamber of Commerce (RCC) in recognition of its re-establishment last September and its positive impact in the community under the leadership of Executive Director Amanda Schepici-Portillo. Pictured at the presentation ceremony in the Council Chambers Monday night are (from left) Councillors Anthony Cogliandro, Patrick Keefe, Steven Morabito, and Joanne McKenna, RCC Treasurer Marta Flores, RCC President Patrick Lospennato, RCC Executive Director Amanda Schepici-Portillo, City Council President Gerry Visconti, and Councillors Dan Rizzo, Richard Serino, and Marc Silvestri.

PUBLIC SERVANT of the month Paula Sepulveda is June’s Public Servant of the Month

Mayor Brian Arrigo announced Paula Sepulveda as June 2022’s Public Servant of the Month. Paula has worked in the Revere Department of Public Health since 2020, where she administered vaccination clinics and worked to help our residents throughout the pandemic. A Shirley Ave resident for more than 10 years, Paula is also raising her son, Enzo, in the City of Revere. Paula is an incredible asset to the residents of Revere who goes above and beyond her duties to help her community, making her a clear choice for this month’s Public Servant of the Month.

Q: What do you do? What was your career prior to City Hall?

A: I am the Administrative Assistant for Health and Human Services, where I work with the Director of Public Health to help coordinate and administer vaccination clinics and other events in the City of Revere. I also work as a clerk for both the Board of Health and the Human Rights Commission. Before working at Revere City Hall, I worked at the East Boston Neighborhood Health Center where I was a care coordinator for kids with disabilities.

Q: What does Revere mean to you?

A: I always joke that Revere chose me, I didn’t choose Revere. My parents immigrated to the United States when I was 8 years old - we started living in East Boston and eventually made it to Revere. I’ve been living on Shirley Ave since I was

14, and Shirley Ave will always be home to me. My son goes to the Revere Public Schools and I’m happy to say Revere is where I’m going to stay!

Q: What was it like working in the public health sector during the pandemic?

A: It’s strange - I started this job in the middle of the pandemic, so it almost feels like a blur. Coming from East Boston Neighborhood Health Center, I was just going from one public health space to another. In a lot of ways, I feel like I was privileged to be able to leave the home and work - but sometimes I was so involved in my work that I forgot what was really happening around me. At the time, there was this adrenaline rush among those in the public health sector - especially at the very start of the pandemic. Sometimes it was hard to really take it all in and understand the weight of what we were experiencing.

Q: At the peak of the pandemic, what did your weeks look like?

A: Probably the hardest point personally for me during the pandemic was the start of vaccination clinics. All of a sudden, thousands of residents were eligible for the vaccine, and it really came down to us to make a decision on where to host these clinics and how to make it as streamlined as possible. It was a lot of work - working through the weekends and coordinating all the appointments. But what I love the most about this job is that there is not one day that’s the same - every day we’re faced with a new challenge and there really couldn’t be a job description for what we do. We just love what we do and do everything we can to help the community.

Q: What does public service mean to you?

A: Public service is a natural human experience - we see people in need, and we help them. It’s what you do because you love it and enjoy it, not just because it’s your job. Before working at City Hall, I had never stepped into the building, as bad as that sounds. There was a huge separation between the community I lived in (Shirley Ave) and City Hall for years, but a lot of that has changed in recent years. I almost wish I felt a connection to it sooner. What I hope to teach my son and others in the community is that it’s never too late to get involved and make a difference and getting involved locally is one of the best ways to create change in your community.

Human Rights Commission monthly meeting held virtually

By Journal Staff

The Revere Human Rights Commission (HRC) held its regular monthly meeting last Thursday evening, June 2. The meeting was held via Zoom because of the unavailability of the City Council Chamber.

Chairperson Janine Grillo Marra and fellow commissioners Rachid Moukhabir, Kourou Pich, vice-chair Chai Hossani, Rev. Timothy Bogertman, Molly McGee, Kathi-Anne Reinstein, and Dr. Lourenco Garcia were in attendance, as well as the HRC’s Executive Director, Dr. Maritsa Barros, Ed.D., who also serves as the city’s Chief Officer of Talent and Culture.

The meeting began with the regular “Land Acknowledgement,” in which Marra presents a map of the southern New England area indicating the various Indigenous peoples who occupied the land prior to the arrival of European settlers. The Pawtucket tribe lived on the land of present-day Revere.

“We take this time to acknowledge the land so that we can pay respect to the original overseers of this land that we are on,” said Marra.

Marra also mentioned the recent tragic mass shooting at the Robb elementary school in Uvalde, Texas, as well as the racially-motivated hate crime mass shooting that took place only a few days before that in Buffalo, N.Y.

“This was a hate crime where innocent people were killed simply because of the color of their skin,” said Marra. “This is why the Human Rights Commission exists.”

The commissioners held a moment of silence for the victims of both of those tragic events.

Hossani further mentioned a third mass shooting that had occurred only hours before the meeting earlier that day at a hospital in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and asked for another moment of silence for those victims.

Marra then presented the HRC’s Mission Statement:

“The Mission of the Revere Human Rights Commission is to promote human and civil rights and empower all people of Revere by ensuring that everyone, especially the most vulnerable and marginalized, have equitable opportunities, equal access, and are treated with dignity, respect, fairness, and justice.”

Barros made a presentation and updated the commissioners on what she has been doing in her official capacity with the city.

She said she has been working together with Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion officials in other cities and towns in the area.

“The City of Revere is a leading voice in this space,” said Barros.

Barros informed the commission that she also has been meeting with high school students in Revere “to build pathways for connections and collaborative project work with the city.”

Barros mentioned that the Revere Beach Partnership is seeking performers, singers, and dancers from different cultural groups for the annual International Sand Sculpting Festival on Revere Beach, which will be held July 22-24.

Barros said she also wanted to revisit some other matters since the commission’s last meeting in the context of the recent shooting massacres.

“It made me think about how volatile our meetings of the HRC have become and the intimidation by those who attend the HRC meetings,” said Barros. “Although nothing dangerous has happened in our space, it made me realize how quickly things can escalate. I know there are people of color who do not join us in the chamber out of fear of what might happen. It’s a real fear to realize you might die in America just because of the color of your skin.”

She then referenced what she termed as “the mockery” of the culture of the Mexican community that occurred at the last meeting by certain members of the audience.

Commissioner McGee also addressed the commission regarding the “mockery and racism” that occurred at the last meeting.

“To be Americans is to celebrate immigrants and I feel compelled to respond to hate speech directed at immigrants,” said McGee. “This was disgraceful and offensive behavior.”

Barros then turned to the many upcoming June holidays and events. She noted that there was a large turnout for the flag-raising the day before on June 1 to mark the start of LGBTQ+ Pride Month.

She noted that there will be a Celebrate Pride Tea Dance on Sunday, June 26, from 2-7 p.m. at Waterfront Square.

Juneteenth -- which marks the day on which the last slaves were emancipated by U.S. troops in the state of Texas in the aftermath of the Civil War on June 19, 1865 -- will be observed with a celebration on Saturday, June 18, at Veterans Memorial Park from 11:30-2:00. There will be a flag-raising, barbecue, and other events.

Barros also noted that this is Caribbean Heritage Month and Black Music Month.

Pich further mentioned that June is Immigrant Heritage Month.

Moukhabir added that the city’s annual Moroccan Festival will be held Saturday, June 25, from 1-8 at the Whelan School, to which all members of the Revere community are invited.

Members of the HRC’s new working groups -- Cultural Events and Celebration, Education Outreach, Evaluation, and the Public Mediation Task Force -- made brief presentations about the progress of the work they are doing.

Ward 3 City Councillor Anthony Cogliandro made an appearance before the commission to discuss an incident that occurred at the HRC meeting on December 2. The full City Council had discussed this matter in April, but took no action regarding the incident.

Cogliandro initially discussed the behavior of some members of the audience that had occurred at the May meeting pertaining to the Mexican community.

“What happened at the last meeting was totally inappropriate,” said Cogliandro, who noted that he has friends from all over the world, including Mexico.

Cogliandro then addressed the commission about the verbal exchange between an HRC member and a member of the audience on December 2.

“I am here on my own. I have not been sent here by anyone,” said Cogliandro. “I believe in the HRC and all of you are community warriors who care very much about your city and the cultures within it, as do I. I understand what it’s like to be in those council chambers with people yelling and it is completely inappropriate. However, as elected and appointed officials, we need to hold ourselves to a higher standard. A resident approached the council and she said she was called names. I have zero personal interest in this. I heard a member on tape call the resident ‘trash’ and ‘garbage.’

“I do feel that as a mayoral-appointed, council-confirmed member, you need to be above that and apologize to her,” Cogliandro said.

Cogliandro reaffirmed that he did not agree with the behavior of those in the audience that night, who reportedly were shouting things such as “go back to your country” at some of the commission members.

“I acknowledge that there have been awful things that have been said, but it’s how we respond to those things that matter as representatives serving the members of the community,” said Cogliandro.

“We’re on the same page as regards accountability and standards, but have you asked those who made those comments if they will apologize?” asked Marra, to which Cogliandro responded, “We are held to a higher standard. It is our responsibility to be the bigger person. It’s about conducting yourself professionally and as a servant of the community.”

Hossani, the HRC member who was involved in the controversy, then spoke.

“I will come out and say I take full accountability and responsibility for the things I have said,” Hossani said. “The way I acted is not the way I typically act. When I and my fellow members are being attacked racially and Islamaphobically, I have zero tolerance for that. But I am not going to apologize if she (the audience member) was offended.”

Marra interjected that the incident will be handled in a public mediation. “This really isn’t the venue for this discussion,” said Marra.

“You cannot compare that situation to what you see in the council because this was racially-motivated,” added Hossani.

“I appreciate that Ms. Hossani has taken responsibility,” said Cogliandro. “We all have to work together. I simply was saying that we have boisterous crowds in the audience, but I would never compare the issues that we deal with in the City Council to the issues you deal with. Those things that have been said to you are completely wrong.”

“If you ever need help from the council, feel free to reach out,” Cogliandro added.

The commission then opened up the meeting to the audience members who were on the Zoom meeting.

Among those who spoke was Ralph DeCicco, the chair of the Revere Commission on Disabilities.

“You guys are doing a great job despite what’s being thrown at you. I’m reaching out to you so that all public meetings have a hybrid component to them and ask you to make recommendations so that people with disabilities, seniors, and others can partake of these meetings.”

“Those are excellent points,” said Marra. “We will do what we can to support you to make all meetings more accessible.”

The commission then adjourned.

Sheriff Tompkins, Department receive appreciation from Rep. Giannino for community cleanup

Staff Report

Suffolk County Sheriff Steven W. Tompkins, members the Department and participants in the Department’s Community Works Program joined State Representative Jessica Giannino, who invited the group out to Revere to personally thank them for their work in helping to clean up and beautify sites across the City of Revere.

The Community Works Program (CWP), which is made up of volunteers from the Department’s in-custody population who must meet strict classification standards to be selected for the program, helps participants to gain work experience and build upon valuable skills learned through vocational and job training that can help to remove the barriers to employment that they often face upon their return to society. Under the constant supervision of Deputy Sheriffs, who also provide on-site training to participants, CWP members work on assignments that include: cleaning vacant lots, beautifying roadway intersections, painting street lamps, boarding and securing abandoned homes, shoveling walkways for senior citizen housing, and more. Many of the assignments are made through requests to the Department for assistance from municipal governments, non-profits and various divisions within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

“I am so grateful for the partnership that I have with Suffolk County Sheriff Steve Tompkins,” said State Representative Giannino. “Every day, I receive requests from the residents of Revere and Chelsea regarding litter and debris on our state roads, particularly Routes 60 and 107. Mass DOT has been very helpful in assisting with cleanup efforts, but I knew to get the results the 16th Suffolk needed, we needed backup. Sheriff Tompkins stepped up and ensured that crews from his Community Works Program were out helping to keep our state roads clean. Thank you, Sheriff Tompkins for helping keep Suffolk County clean.”

Returning praise for Representative Giannino, Sheriff Tompkins spoke about the ability to provide opportunities for people in his care and custody with the help of committed community partners.

“While we really appreciate the recognition of the work that we’re doing in the community, it wouldn’t be possible without truly committed partners like Representative Giannino,” said Sheriff Tompkins. “So, we thank Rep. Giannino for providing them the opportunity to come out and practice their newfound skills. We are in the ‘second chance’ business with respect to our work in helping the people remanded to our facilities to acquire the skills and training they need to return to society in better stead, with the ability to change their own lives and, thereby, transform entire communities.”

The Department’s CWP crews have begun ramping up activity over the past several months following more conservative deployment during the COVID-19 pandemic. In pre-pandemic times, the program was running seven contracts throughout Suffolk County and deployed approximately twenty-five individuals, or four crews of CWP participants.

Recent fire shouldn't affect Suffolk Downs simulcasting for Saturday's Belmont Stakes

Planned outdoor summer activities at the track also to move forward

By John Lynds

Last Monday's six-alarm fire that tore through the Suffolk Downs Racetrack's grandstand press box did cause some damage but Sterling Suffolk Racecourse's Chip Tuttle said the historic track should be up and running for simulcasting for Saturday's Belmont Stakes.

When HYM purchased Suffolk Downs they entered into a lease agreement with Sterling Suffolk to continue simulcasting at the racetrack. HYM, who is embarking on a massive redevelopment of Suffolk Downs's 160 acre site, broke ground on the first phase of the redevelopment on the Revere side of the track near Beachmont last month.

"We lost simulcasting for the past week due to a series of inspections, clean up of the building and restoring of power," said Tuttle. "However, the fire was contained to the old press box and the portion of the building open to the public for simulcasting is mainly on the first and second floor of the grandstand away from where the fire occurred."

Tuttle said Suffolk Downs was closed all last week so cres could cap the power to the area where the fire occurred but had to work to restore power to the rest of the building. There was also some water damage mitigation performed and other cleanup efforts.

"We also lost some broadcasting equipment used for simulcasting that was housed in the old press box that was destroyed in the fire," said Tuttle. "But we got some new equipment from Scarborough Downs in Maine that arrived this week so we should be up and running in time for the Belmont Stakes on Saturday."

As far as the myriad of outdoor summer activities HYM has planned for the racetrack's historic racing oval and grounds, HYM's Vice President of Marketing Jessica Feroli said last week's fire hasn't had an impact on HYM's plans.

"As far as summer events at the track, everything is still scheduled as planned," said Feroli. "We have the free fitness series this Sunday at 10am and the Hot Dog Safari Food Truck and Craft Beer Festival is on Saturday, June 25th. We are working on some other events throughout the summer like hosting a satellite sand sculpture in July during the Revere Beach festival and will be hosting Touch-a-Truck again on September 18th. We will keep the community updated on future happenings and if anything changes."

HYM also recently got approved by the city to create an interim outdoor entertainment venue, associated infrastructure, and other related site improvements.

The entire outdoor venue will be located in a portion of the existing racetrack infield area and will consist of a grassed area with temporary stage, restrooms, and vendor booths to remain in place until late 2025.

HYM has partnered with "The Bowery Presents", a leading East Coast promoter, to continue the long tradition of arts or music and entertainment on the site.

Over the historic span of the thoroughbred racetrack, Suffolk Downs hosted big name bands and events including The Beatles in 1966 and Cirque du Soleil.

The venue will be able to hold a maximum capacity of 8,500 attendants through mainly general admission ticket sales with VIP seating areas and run from June through October.

However, this year HYM likely will not start the outdoor concerts until August or September. The proposed timeline for the venue is late summer 2022 through 2025. There will be at least eight shows planned for the end of this summer and then 20 or more shows planned for the next three summers.

Baker-Polito administration visits Revere in support of FORWARD proposal

Special to the Journal

Last week, Lt. Governor Karyn Polito, Energy and Environmental Affairs Secretary Beth Card, and Housing and Economic Development Undersecretary Ashley Stolba were joined by City of Revere Mayor Brian Arrigo and other state and local officials to advocate for the Baker-Polito Administration's recently filed legislation to make $3.5 billion in investments to support the Commonwealth's path forward into a post-pandemic world.

The legislation, An Act Investing in Future Opportunities for Resiliency, Workforce, and Revitalized Downtowns (FORWARD) includes $2.3 billion in funding from the federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) and $1.256 billion in capital bond authorizations. The funding would be directed toward projects to strengthen state infrastructure, create jobs and invest in all 351 cities and towns in the Commonwealth.

Today's event was held at the Markey Memorial Pedestrian Bridge in the City of Revere. Under the proposed set of investments detailed in FORWARD, Revere would receive $10 million for renovations to the Oak Island and Shirley Avenue bathhouses on Revere Beach; $11 million for infrastructure improvements to support the city's RiverFront District plan; and $3 million for new park and playground construction at Sullivan Park. In total, the FORWARD bill proposes approximately $25 million in funding for projects in Revere.

"While Massachusetts has repeatedly demonstrated its resiliency, the COVID-19 pandemic has taken a toll on local, regional, and state economies, but the filing of the FORWARD Act will enable the state to rebound faster by making critical investments where they are needed most, which is within our communities," said Governor Charlie Baker. "Through this thoughtful series of investments, we can make sure that communities like Revere as well as each and every city and town in the Commonwealth can benefit from our plans for economic recovery."

"Through this proposal, each and every city and town in Massachusetts, including Revere, will receive critical funds to make important infrastructure investments and support other initiatives to aid in the state's economic recovery efforts," said Lieutenant Governor Karyn Polito. "Importantly, the FORWARD Act provides the Commonwealth and its communities with a once in a generation opportunity to make significant investments in each city and town across Massachusetts."

"Throughout the pandemic, the partnerships we've built across cities and towns, the business community academia, and state government became more important than ever, and this legislation reflects that spirit of collaboration by targeting funding toward key priorities in all cities and towns across the Commonwealth," said Housing and Economic Development Secretary Mike Kennealy. "In addition, this bill lays out a thoughtful strategy that will accelerate our transition to a post-pandemic world by making the kinds of investments that support our downtowns, our workforce, core infrastructure, and the state's housing needs with the urgency this situation calls for."

The FORWARD Act supports $1.2 billion for climate resiliency and preservation efforts, including $413 million for over 100 projects across state parks and trails, water and sewer, and environmental infrastructure grant programs. The legislation supports reconstructing Revere Beach's decades-old bathhouses into state-of-the-art, net zero buildings that would house amenities such as public restrooms, changing rooms, and breakrooms for lifeguards. The bill also proposes spending $750 million on the Commonwealth's clean energy industry.

"We saw people in our communities visiting our state parks and beaches more than ever during the pandemic; and we want to do all we can to continue to enhance visitor experiences," said Energy and Environmental Affairs Secretary Beth Card. "Making smart investments into our coastal facilities, parks, and downtowns will benefit our environment, our economy and the health and well-being of the Commonwealth's residents."

The FORWARD legislation also proposes:

- Nearly $970 million for investments to revitalize the Commonwealth's downtowns and help communities adapt to the post-pandemic world. This includes $550 million for the MassWorks program to support 94 local projects. Nearly 250 municipalities will receive downtown recovery grants totaling $108 million.

From left, Assistant Secretary Juan Vega, Secretary of Energy and Environmental Affairs Beth Card, State Undersecretary of Community Development Ashley Stolba, State Rep. Jeff Turco, Lt. Gov. Karyn Polito, Mayor Brian Arrigo, Linda Santos-Rosa, State Sen. Lydia Edwards, and Ward 2 Councilor Ira Novoselsky.

- $325 million in ARPA funding for workforce efforts, including $300 million for the Unemployment Trust Fund to address unemployment overpayments. The Hire-Now program, which provides grants to employers to train and hire new workers, would receive $25 million.
- $270 million in authorization to support housing production across the Commonwealth, including affordable rental housing production and rehabilitation, public housing, climate resilient housing, and transit-oriented development. The bill also makes several policy proposals to increase housing production, including an increase of the cap on the Housing Development Incentive Program from $10 million to $30 million.
- Funding to support the Commonwealth's innovation economy, including $50 million for a new competitive and secure future innovation program to make strategic investments in purpose-driven research, technology development, and innovation, and in emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence and machine learning (AI/ML), robotics, quantum information science, cybersecurity, communications, and digital health.

In addition, the bill would allow the Massachusetts Convention Center Authority to sell the Hynes Convention Center, with proceeds from the sale going to affordable housing development and the Back Bay area.

ARPA funds must be committed by states by the end of 2024 and spent by the end of 2026. This legislation prioritizes investing ARPA funding into projects that are already sufficiently defined and narrow in scope so they can be completed by 2026.

In an effort to support the Commonwealth as the state recovers from the COVID-19 pandemic, Governor Baker has filed several bills recently to aid municipalities and industries across the state. On May 18, 2022, Governor Baker announced the filing of a Fiscal Year 2022 (FY22) supplemental budget that directs investments in transportation, housing, environmental infrastructure, economic development, childcare and education initiatives. Additionally, on March 17, 2022, Governor Baker announced the filing of "An Act Relative to Massachusetts's Transportation Resources and Climate," (MassTRAC) a $9.7 billion infrastructure bond bill, which seeks to advance and support significant investments in the Commonwealth's transportation and environmental infrastructure, as well as provide critical and required state matching funds to compete for, unlock and leverage federal formula and discretionary investments provided by the federal Bipartisan Infrastructure Law (BIL) enacted in November 2021.

Revere Police Department's Singer and Hickey Boxing for a Cause

By Melissa Moore-Randall

Boxing was back on Revere Beach Saturday night at Battle of the Beach 3 sponsored by The Massachusetts State Police Boxing Team and USA Boxing. The 10 match event took place at Oceanside Events Center in Revere. The highlight of Saturday's matches were Revere Police's own

Officer Joe Singer and Sgt. Dennis Hickey who squared off against fellow law enforcement amateur boxers. Both Singer and Hickey work with the Revere Boxing program which is a boxing program for Revere's high school boys and girls as well as middle school students in grades 6-8. The Massachusetts State Police Boxing Team is a 501c3 charity that has been raising funds since 1976. Over $500,000 has been donated to various charities. A portion of the proceeds from Saturday's fight went to the Revere Boxing program.

Saturday's event, which was well attended by members of the RPD and students from Revere's Boxing program showing strong support for Singer and Hickey, also included state troopers, police officers, firefighters, EMS and the members of the military. The Massachusetts State Police Boxing Team is the only State Officer Joe Singer and opponent Trooper Joe Gregg.

Officer Joe Singer is a 2000 RHS graduate and U.S. Marine veteran. He has been a member of the RPD since 2006 and has served as the SRO for Revere Public Schools for the past six years. Singer WON in a split decision in a heavyweight battle with Trooper Joe Gregg. , Singer is looking forward to getting back in the ring soon. "Some days you are the dog. Some days you are the hydrant. I only move in one direction and that's forward. The journey for the Revere Boxing Club, and our students is far from over. I still have a lot of fight in me," he said.

RHS and a Coast Guard veteran. He has been a member of the RPD since 2010. He was declared the winner after three rounds beating Officer Joel Velez of Keene, NH who he described as a tough MMA opponent. Hickey currently has a 4-0 amateur boxing record. Hickey was humbled by his win and commented, "I want to thank my longtime coach Joe Lake, as well as my friend and professional boxer Greg Vendetti. I also want to recognize the great job Joe Singer has done with the boxing program at Revere High School. I hope the city knows how lucky they are to have this program for the kids of Revere," he said.

Singer and Hickey look forward to returning to the ring for the next boxing battle on Revere Beach in the future.

The casino plan that Revere residents will soon have the opportunity to vote for or against was unveiled Tuesday by owners of Suffolk Downs. While dramatically different from plans touted back in 2010, the proposal by Suffolk Downs' principal owners and Caesar's Entertainment includes a $1 billion investment to build a 300 room hotel, a 200,000 sq. ft. casino gaming facility, entertainment and nightclub venues, up to 10 restaurants that include fine dining concepts, a buffet, food court and sports bar. According to Suffolk Downs' owners and Caesar's the gaming space will have 4,000-5,000 slot machines, 200 table games and a World Series of Poker room and was designed by architect Elkus Manfredi of Boston. The project includes plans to improve the track's racing facilities and provide millions of dollars in funding to reduce longstanding transportation concerns and to make improvements on the local road network.

The Revere High School (RHS) Class of 2012 Graduation ceremony has already experienced a change of venue, with the ceremony being moved from the Della Russo Stadium to the RHS Field House. Graduation will begin at the Field House at 6 p.m. today, June 6th, and student tickets will still be honored. Because the venue is much smaller than the stadium, anyone who cannot fit into the Field House will be allowed to watch the ceremony on a large screen that will be set up in the RHS Auditorium. The ceremonies will be led by Class President Kate Ferrante and Vice President Venous Hamza.

Adaliz Correa will sing the National Anthem. Mayor Dan Rizzo, School Committee Vice Chair Dan Maguire and RHS Principal Lourenco Garcia will give opening remarks, followed by speeches from Valedictorian Michael Ferrante and Salutatorian Racquel MacDonald.

Over 150 staff, students, parents and community members – including School Committeewoman Stacey Rizzo – came together on Saturday morning to attend a fund-raising walk for Susan B. City Councillor Robert J. Haas must have known something was coming when he filed a motion Thursday with the City Clerk to ask that city officials look into the flooding problem at the Towle Manufacturing site that is affecting area residents. On Friday afternoon it started to rain and it continued through the weekend, dumping 6.87 inches of rain on the city, causing flooding all over Revere. At the Towle site, the flooding conditions grew and grew until, in the words of City Councilor Kenneth Hill, the area "resembled Lake George." Although Haas was one of the original supporters of the Towle plant, he said that the city must determine whether a culvert moved by Towle has created a serious problem.

More than 100 residents from the Point of Pines went to the City Council meeting to protest the proposal that the Saugus dump on Lynn Marsh Road be used as the dumping ground for rubbish which presently is being disposed of at calf pasture in South Boston. RHS BASEBALL CONCLUDES MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON IN ALMOST THREE DECADES

The Revere High baseball team came up short in its Division 1 state tourney opener by a score of 8-1 to Beverly last Friday.

The Patriots entered the D-1 tourney as the 42nd seed, while the Panthers were the 23rd seed in D-1.

"It was a tough draw considering they were Northeastern Conference champs this year," noted RHS head coach Michael Manning.

Sophomore Ollie Svendsen started the game for the Patriots. The contest was a tight, 2-1 affair through three frames, but after Svendsen came out in the fourth inning, the Panthers tacked on three runs in the bottom of the fourth.

Revere threatened to cut into the Beverly advantage, loading the bases in both the fifth and seventh innings, but the Patriots were unable to muster the timely hit.

Sal DeAngelis reached base three times and scored the lone run thanks to an RBI single by Mikey Popp.

Despite the tourney loss, the 2022 campaign rates as the most successful season compiled by a Patriot baseball squad in almost three decades.

Revere finished the regular season at 13-7, which is the most wins and best record for an RHS baseball squad since the 1990s. It also was the Patriots' second consecutive winning season and second D-1 state tourney appearance in a row. Revere had not been to the tourney since the 1990s previously.

The Patriots finished 11-3 in the Greater Boston League (GBL), which was good for a tie for second place, only one game behind league champion Lynn Classical at 12-2.

The Patriots concluded their regular season on a roll, winning six of their final seven encounters.

Revere beat all seven of their GBL rivals at least once this year, splitting with Lynn Classical, Lynn English, and Somerville and sweeping Everett, Medford, Malden, and Chelsea.

The Patriots also defeated two non-conference league champions, East Boston (Boston City League) and Mystic Valley (Commonwealth Athletic Conference).

Looking ahead to 2023, the future looks bright for Manning and his crew. There were only two seniors on the team and all of the starters were underclassmen.

The top six pitchers in the rotation had a combined 1.90 ERA: sophomore Ollie Svendsen at 0.93 and one win; junior Mikey Popp with a 1.40 ERA and a win and a save; freshman Brendan Sack at 1.58 and a win; sophomore Kyle Cummings at 1.62 and four wins; junior Chris Cassidy at 1.79 and a win; and junior Dom Boudreau at 3.55 and three wins.

"This feat is especially impressive considering that last year's pitching staff featured those players for a total of only 14 innings because our 2021 rotation was comprised almost entirely of seniors," noted Manning.

At the plate, the Patriot offense was led by

RHS Alum, Amy Rotger, takes over the helm of RHS girls' lacrosse team

By Melissa Moore-Randall

As the school year ends, Revere High's sports teams are finishing up their first full season since the pandemic closed schools and limited athletics in 2020. However, one of the sports showing an impressive season was the RHS Lady Patriots' Lacrosse team under first year coach and RHS alum Amy Rotger.

The team put up an 8-11 record under the RHS alum including winning the GBL championship. Despite winning their league, the team did not qualify for the tournament because they did not have a 500 record.

Rotger, a 2013 graduate of Revere High School, was a varsity athlete in basketball, soccer, lacrosse and softball at RHS. A captain and all-star for RHS lacrosse, Amy went on to play lacrosse at Framingham State for four years.

Rotger, also in her fifth year of teaching as a third grade teacher at the Whelan School, was pleased with her first season. "I was really proud of how the team came together and worked together as a team. I especially enjoyed watching the kids improve over the course of the season. I also was thankful for the hard work of my assistant coach, Paolo Ortez, who I also played with at Revere High School."

RPS Athletic Director Frank Shea was pleased with Rotger's first year. "Amy was a pleasant surprise and under her the program looks promising."

When Coach Rotger is not teaching or coaching, she enjoys spending time with her family including her aunt and uncle, longtime Point of Pines residents Ron (a current candidate for Ward 5 City Councillor) and Lynn Clarke, her twin sister, Allison, and her 6-year-old Yorkie/Shitzu Gracie.

After decades as the Revere High School (RHS) hockey coach, Jim Palumbo is passing the puck to current softball coach Joe Ciccarello. Ciccarello – a former hockey coach at the old Savio Prep School – has been named the new RHS hockey coach starting next year. Athletic Director Shaun Hart told the Journal last Friday that Palumbo had approached him in March and indicated he was ready to retire as head coach. Hart said that he opened up the job and had numerous applicants, including Ciccarello. Ciccarello has been the RHS softball coach for the last several years, but has a great hockey-coaching career already under his belt. Ciccarello had been the head coach at Savio for many years and took the program on to win a couple of state championships.

four hitters who hit above .300: Chris Cassidy at .353; Mikey Popp at .340; junior Giancarlo Miro at .313; and Dom Boudreau at .309.

"Chris Cassidy started the season 1-for-20, but finished 17-for-31 in a great show of perseverance," noted Manning.

The two seniors on the team, Bobby O'Brien and Juan Londono, earned the honor of being added as team captains on Athletic continued. "We were second in the GBL, but if that first game of the season against Classical had been a 3-1 win instead of a 3-1 loss, we would be hanging a banner.

"This was just a really fun season," the coach added. "I feel like a lot of kids really grew this year, and I'm excited to see what next year brings if these guys really put in the work this off-season."

EBNHC LET’S GET MOVIN’ ANNUAL 5K HELD SATURDAY

On Saturday at East Boston Memorial Stadium the East Boston Neighborhood Health Center’s (EBNHC) Let’s Get Movin’ program held its annual 5K race to combat obesity in the area. Let’s Get Movin’ is a program of the Health Center that promotes healthy lifestyles in the community through physical activity and nutrition education programming. The annual 5K was hosted in partnership with the New Balance Foundation.

EBNHC is combating childhood obesity through its Let’s Get Movin’ program. Obesity and related conditions like diabetes and heart disease, disproportionately affect EBNHC’s patient population, the majority of whom are Spanish-speaking. The pandemic has heightened these issues across East Boston, Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop – and the health center is responding by working to improve access to physical activity.

Runners in the EBNHC Let’s Get Movin’ Annual 5K race through East Boston Memorial Stadium to combat obesity.

Runners started the race that took participants through the greenway and ended back at the Stadium with a morning of festivities.

Max J. Heichman, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Heichman of 17 Florence Ave., was rescued by a lifeboat after clinging to a piece of wreckage for four hours when his merchant ship was blasted by an enemy torpedo and sank within 90 seconds in the Southern Atlantic. Heichman then spent four days in the lifeboat with 27 of his crewmates in the blistering sun before being rescued. Heichman was able to see the German U-boat after it surfaced. An officer on the conning tower yelled out, "What is the name of your ship?" to which one of the other crew members in the water replied, "The S.S. Lollipop!" The U-boat then submerged.

Revere man charged with human trafficking, held on $100,000 bail

Staff Report

A Revere man is being held on $100,000 bail after he was charged with attempting to traffic a woman to an undercover police officer in Revere, Suffolk County District Attorney Kevin Hayden said.

Juan Vanegas, 31, was charged Wednesday in Chelsea District Court with one count of trafficking a person for sexual servitude. Assistant District Attorney Kate Fraiman requested that the court set bail at $50,000. As conditions for his release, she asked that Vanegas stay away from and have no contact with the victim, surrender his passport and remain in Massachusetts.

Judge Matthew Machera set bail at $100,000 and agreed to the requested release conditions. He also mandated that Vanegas be tracked via GPS upon release. Vanegas returns to court June. 9.

On May 31, Revere Police and Massachusetts State Police set up a surveillance operation in the area of Raymond Road in Revere. The officers were acting on information that Vanegas, a suspected human trafficker police at that point knew only as "Juan Diaz," would be meeting an undercover officer in order to traffic a woman.

Police had developed information that Vanegas would post sexually explicit photos of women on messaging and social media platforms. When someone would make an order, he would meet them at a residential address with the ordered victim.

The undercover officer contacted Vanegas and asked "Who do you have?" Vanegas told him that he had two women, one from Cuba and one from Venezuela. The officer requested the Cuban woman and gave him an address on Raymond Road. Vanegas agreed to meet him there and arrived about 20 minutes later with the victim. The woman got out of the car, and the officer asked Vanegas if he should pay him. From the driver seat of his vehicle, Vanegas replied, "No, you pay her, she knows what to do." The officer escorted the victim inside and police took Vanegas into custody.

"This incident provides a clear example of how human trafficking works and how traffickers manipulate and exploit victims for their personal financial gain. This type of crime degrades streets and communities, and above all, places short-term dangers and long-term scars on victims," Hayden said.

Survivors of human trafficking or those with information on or concerns about human trafficking can call the Polaris Project's national human trafficking resource center hotline at 888-373-7888 or send a text to "BeFree" (233733). In Suffolk County, survivors of commercial sexual exploitation of all ages can access services through My Life My Choice at 617-396-7807.

All charged individuals are presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

Goldberg urges Legislature to include gun divestment in supplemental budget

Staff Report

In the aftermath of the horrific shooting in Uvalde, Texas at Robb Elementary School that killed 19 students and two teachers, State Treasurer Deborah B. Goldberg calls for the Massachusetts Legislature to pass legislation requiring the state's $101.5 billion pension fund to divest approximately $2 million from companies that manufacture and distribute guns and ammunition for civilian use.

The proposed legislation would require the Massachusetts Pension Reserves Investment Management (PRIM) Board, which oversees the pension fund, to sell, redeem, divest, or withdraw all publicly traded securities from any ammunition, firearm and firearm accessory manufacturing companies that derive 15% or more of their revenues from the sale or manufacture of ammunition, firearms, or firearm accessories for civilian purposes. The companies impacted would be Ammo Inc, Smith & Wesson, Sturm Ruger, and Vista Outdoors, Inc.

The PRIM Board can only divest as a directive from the Massachusetts Legislature. Similar to the recent bill passed by legislators in support of divesting from Russian companies in the wake of the war with Ukraine, the Legislature has the opportunity to pass the proposed divestment language. This action will send the strong message that Massachusetts will not continue to finance preventable gun violence.

"It is unacceptable that we as a country continue to live in a seemingly endless cycle of gun violence," said Treasurer Deborah B. Goldberg, Chair of PRIM. "Traditional approaches are not working, and we must do what we can to potentially save lives. I implore the Legislature to support the divestment of our public pension funds from gun and ammunition manufacturers and distributors in support of the American people who are victims and survivors of preventable gun violence, just as we did recently by divesting from companies in Russia following their invasion of Ukraine."

In 2018, Treasurer Goldberg issued the same recommendation to the legislature following the mass shooting in Parkland, Florida at Stoneman Douglas High School that killed 17 people and injured 17 more, but the bill did not receive enough legislative support to require PRIM to divest.

However, since 2018, PRIM independently sold $4 million in shareholdings from gun and ammunition manufacturers and distributors.

In the past, PRIM has been directed to divest from companies that derived much of its revenue from tobacco and companies doing business with Sudan, Northern Ireland, and Iran due to regional conflicts.

John Rosenthal, President of Meredith Management Corporation and renowned advocate for gun violence prevention as co-founder of Stop Handgun Violence, is currently supporting legislation in alignment with Treasurer Goldberg's gun divestment initiative that prohibits the manufacturing of assault weapons in Massachusetts. The sale and ownership of the same weapons is currently banned in the Commonwealth. However, assault weapons continue to be manufactured in Massachusetts and sold in other states making mass shootings more prevalent across the country.

"I applaud Treasurer Goldberg for her strong and courageous leadership in proposing divestiture from the uniquely unregulated gun industry," said John Rosenthal. "Last year alone over 45,000 Americans died from firearms and today and every day over 100 more Americans will die and there will be a mass shooting of four or more people. Urban Massachusetts has enacted the most effective gun laws and regulations, has reduced the rate of gun deaths by 40% since 1994, and along with Hawaii, has the lowest gun death rate in the nation. Divestiture from the gun industry combined with our strong bipartisan leadership in the Commonwealth will absolutely help save lives from preventable gun injuries and death here and around the country."

Since the tragedy in Uvalde, Rosenthal says that there have been seventeen mass shootings killing at least fifteen and wounding over seventy people. Additionally, there have been at least 215 mass shootings of four or more people so far this year. According to Everytown Research and Policy, in an average year, gun violence in America kills nearly 40,000 people, injures more than twice as many, and costs our nation $280 billion.

Several events and rallies to advocate for legislation to prevent gun violence are planned in Massachusetts this month. Additionally, the first Friday in June is recognized annually in the United States as National Gun Violence Awareness Day, with the days following acknowledged as Wear Orange Weekend.

Under the leadership of Treasurer Deborah B. Goldberg, the Massachusetts State Treasury is comprised of 13 departments and agencies that serve the public through the Office of the State Treasurer and Receiver General. The Treasury is committed to embracing cutting-edge technology, implementing practical business strategies, and developing public-private partnerships to ensure economic stability, security, and opportunity for every Massachusetts resident. Treasurer Goldberg is the former President of the National Association of State Treasurers and is the Co-Chair of the National Institute of Public Finance. ABCD's Field of Dreams charity event at Fenway Park

Staff Report

Thanks to the generosity of the Boston Red Sox, ABCD (Action for Boston Community Development) will once again host its iconic summertime fundraiser, Field of Dreams, at Fenway Park to benefit Greater Boston's underserved, low-income youth through the ABCD SummerWorks program.

NESN's Tom Caron will co-chair and serve as emcee.

The event will take place on Monday, June 27, starting at 7 am. And with only a couple of spots remaining, corporate and other teams are encouraged to sign up immediately to secure a place on the roster and play at the legendary home of the Boston Red Sox: Fenway Park.

ABCD is planning for up to 12 teams to play at Field of Dreams; the event has raised more than $5 million since its inception in 1997.

Joining Tom Caron as co-chairs are longtime coach and ally Lew Eisenberg, partner at Cosgrove, Eisenberg & Kiley, P.C., and Peter Damato, CEO, the Merchant Resource Group. Eisenberg has served in this role every year, and Damato is back for a crack at America's pastime after co-chairing ABCD's Hoop Dreams event at TD Garden last fall.

This year's event will also be momentous as ABCD says goodbye to retiring President/CEO John J. Drew. Drew is leaving after a successful and fulfilling 51-year tenure with the organization.

13 of them as president/CEO.

"SummerWorks can make a life-changing difference for these young participants. Not only are they placed in a paying job with a mission-driven organization where they learn to give back, but they also gain skills they will use throughout their lives and future careers," Drew said.

He continued: "SummerWorks benefits from the support of our corporate partners who take the field at Fenway each year. Many youngsters in the communities we serve have been isolated or struggled during the pandemic; SummerWorks offers access and opportunity to a fun and stimulating summer. Of course, the more funding we have, the more youth we can help. This is why the money raised from Field of Dreams is critical."

Tom Caron has lent his talent at the microphone and played in past Field of Dreams events.

"This ABCD event is like no other. It's amazing to see these men and women from the region's powerhouse companies and organizations emerge from the dugouts like they're kids again, swinging the bat, rounding the bases, and snagging a fly ball at America's most beloved ballpark. I am very happy to be part of this worthwhile event that benefits so many young people in Greater Boston," said Caron.

Teams pay an entrance fee to participate, and players are permitted to invite guests to watch the games at Fenway. Mass General Brigham, which has participated in the event every year since it started more than 20 years ago, is back again this summer. We're also happy to see returning teams from Ropes & Gray, TJX Companies, DMB Financial, Boston Children's Hospital, Shields Health Care Group, and Slalom—which will field two teams of colleagues who will go head to head. (That's a first for Field of Dreams!)

Time and space are running out!

A variety of off-field activities including free baseball pictures and a photo booth are all part of the day's events. Also, the Boston Red Sox mascot, Wally, will be there to cheer on these generous teams and take pics with plays and fans alike.

ABCD SummerWorks provides six weeks of full-time employment and a broad range of job readiness skills for under-resourced youth ages 14 to 21 in Boston and Medford. Participants spend 120 hours working at local nonprofit organizations, and are provided 20 hours of individualized job readiness education. Youth also receive the supportive mentorship and guidance of a youth services specialist to navigate the ins and outs of their first supervisory work relationship.

To learn more about ABCD Field of Dreams and how you or your organization can sign up, call Liz McCarthy, ABCD Events Manager, at elizabeth.mccarthy@bostonabcd.org, call 617.620.6949 or visit abcdfieldofdreams.org.

PRIDE FLAG-RAISING CEREMONY HELD AT CITY HALL

Photos by Cary Shuam

The City of Revere held its third annual Pride Flag Raising Ceremony June 1 to help kick off Pride Month in the city.

Councillor-at-Large Steven Morabito served as master of ceremonies for an impressive speaking program.

In his introduction of Mayor Brian Arrigo, Morabito lauded the city's chief executive "as one of the best partners to work with. He and his staff have been amazing."

"For the last three years, we have joined together to celebrate progress, embrace diversity, and honor our LGBTQ residents by raising the Progress Pride Flag," said Arrigo.

"We are all working toward one and that is for everyone, despite their sexual orientation or gender expression, to express themselves as they wish, to be themselves, without facing judgment or prejudice by their peers," Arrigo added.

"We would not be here today without the driving force that is Steven Morabito," continued the mayor in praising his former colleague on the Revere City Council. "Steve took the step to run for public office. He's taken the step to be a leader in the community, and one, where today, younger people can look up to Steven and know that they see somebody who's like them. Steven, I want to thank you for your service and your dedication to the City of Revere."

Arrigo also credited former state representative Kathi Reinstein for her work on Beacon Hill and "her fight for progress to get us to the point where we are today and her commitment to the cause of the LGBTQ community."

Assistant House Speaker Catherine Clark, who now resides in the city, began her remarks by stating, "It is so nice to be home here in Revere."

"It has taken a lot of fearless people to bring us together today, and here in Revere, there is no better example of that courageous leadership than Councillor Steven Morabito," said Clark. "Proudly raising this flag over this city is not just a token act. It is a clear message to every LGBTQ youth in this city that we see them and are with them and we honor them, and we are building a community where they are included."

State Sen. Lydia Edwards, State Rep. Jessica Giannino, Rabbi Lior Nevo, and Revere Human Rights Commission Executive Director Dr. Maritza Barros were among the other speakers at the program. School Committee member Carol Tye read a statement of support from U.S. Sen. Edward J. Markey.

Said Giannino, "I am so proud of the progress that the City of Revere has made in large part due to the work people like Councillor Steven Morabito in recognizing Pride and supporting our LGBTQ community."

Grassroots activist Ellie Pagan Vargas, an intern in the office of State Rep. Jeff Turco, concluded the program with an inspiring address.

"As a citizen of Revere, I've seen all sides of the city and it's been good to see the growth of diversity and acceptance over recent years, said Pagan Vargas. "I think this event is a great way to open discussion about LGBTQ issues in our community."

Guest speaker and grassroots activist Ellie Pagan Vargas, with other dignitaries, School Committee member Michael Ferrante, Mayor Brian Arrigo, School Committee member Carol Tye, U.S. Army Sgt. First Class Jamie Chambers, State Sen. Lydia Edwards, Councillor-at-Large Steven Morabito, School Committee member Stacey Bronsdon-Rizzo, Rabbi Lior Nevo, and State Rep. Jessica Giannino, who participated in the Pride Flag Raising Ceremony at City Hall.

CHANGE IS SIMPLE MOBILE LEARNING LAB COMES TO PAUL REVERE

On Monday students at the Paul Revere School watched a giant mobile learning lab pull up outside their school and were invited to climb on board for engaging, interactive lessons from the local environmental education leader Change is Simple.

This month, Change is Simple is rolling out its new 30-foot mobile STEM lab called SCiLL (Sustainability and Climate Innovation Learning Lab) and bringing it to several schools.

The students at the Paul Revere were some of the first to experience it.

SCiLL opens up like a Transformer toy and contains an interactive lab and hands-on learning stations. Students got a chance to make eco-friendly bug spray, examined live specimens under microscopes and calculated the percent of biodiversity in their ecosystem. Afterward, they played a giant Jenga game that illustrates the interconnectedness of species and the delicate nature of our ecosystem.

Change is Simple (CiS) has been empowering young students for over a decade and has reached over 40,000 children in that time. This fall, CiS will be in dozens of classrooms across eight Massachusetts public school districts.

The goal is to engage students with hands-on learning and empower them to make change, teaching them simple things they can do in their own lives to protect the planet.

State Representatives Jeff Turco and Jessica Giannino pose with students from the Paul Revere School outside Change is Simple's new 30-foot mobile STEM lab.

Paul Revere students hold up the world. The Change is Simple new 30-foot mobile STEM lab is teaching students across Massachusetts to do just that by engaging students with hands-on learning and empowering them to make change, teaching them simple things they can do in their own lives to protect the planet.

The Change is Simple staff gets some Paul Revere students geared up for the mobile lab experience.

The students spent the morning learning several eco-friendly recipes like making homemade bug spray in reusable bottles, which cuts down on plastic waste and is better for the environment.

The Change is Simple staff were all smiles as they helped students navigate several activities aimed at improving the environment.

State Representative Jeff Turco took a ride as well.

August of 2018. Together we have ridden this wild rollercoaster of a high school experience and together we are graduating into a world of real need and challenge, yet potent possibility. Class of 2022, thank you for sharing this part of your journey with me. I have learned so much from and with you. I am a better educator, father, and person because of the time that we spent together, because of the lessons and friendships you have shared with me, and from your inextinguishable spirit. You will forever be in my heart."

Perella was followed by remarks by Revere Mayor Brian Arrigo who said the Class of 2022 endured a high school experience unlike any other in history given the challenges of the pandemic.

"The life you are living today — and the world you're heading into — is dramatically different from the one at the beginning of high school," said Arrigo. "Your class will be our champions for progress and possibility. Because of your unique experiences and the challenges you have already learned to pivot from, each of you have the skills and fortitude to drive a new course of progress for our collective futures. Every single one of you continued to show up for class, despite everything the world was facing. You still came to school every day — even when masks were mandatory and each day seemed more confusing and frustrating than the one before. You went to your games, you participated in your clubs, you applied to the colleges of your dreams, and you did it all — together. Class of 2022— your strength inspires me."

After RHS Poet Laureate Parker Legere read a poem dedicated to the Class of 2022 and Assistant RHS Principal Dr. Lena Marie Rockwood addressed the Class of 2022, Seacoast High School's Alexia Serino delivered the first student speech of the evening.

"Being at SeaCoast high school has not only changed my goals and mindset on how I want to thrive in life, but has shown me that it doesn't matter where you come from in order to be successful," said Serino. "Starting off my first year of high school at Revere High was difficult with many obstacles, like skipping class, not finishing assignments and overall not doing my best in school which made it feel as though I wasn't going to succeed. But, with welcoming arms, SeaCoast gave me that second chance to prove that I can do it and blossom into the smart independent woman I am standing here today."

Serino was followed by co-Salutatorians Nicholas Gerasev and Angela Huynh. The two Salutatorians provided a little comedy relief with a clever routine that reflected on some of the high school moments many experienced before concluding on a more serious note.

"Thank you again to everyone who has supported us throughout our high school careers, it genuinely meant a lot," said Gerasev. "And to our peers, you guys have your whole lives ahead of you. Go out there and take on the world."

While Huynh added, "You are not a number, you are not your grades, but you are our future. Good luck, Class of 2022."

Class of 2022 Valedictorian Jennie Pich then delivered her speech, reflecting on how her parents had to flee genocide in thier homeland to make a new and better life in the US.

"As the child of two immigrants, it means a lot to me to be up here today," said Pich. "My parents came here as genocide survivors, speaking no English, so to stand up here today as the Valedictorian is not only an accomplishment for me, but also for them."

Like Perella, Pich said the Class of 2022 faced more challenges and obstacles to finally be able to graduate.

"I know that we have all faced the unique challenges presented by the pandemic," said Pich. "Our last normal year was four years ago, when we were only freshmen. After that, we were thrown into the pit that was online school. The isolation was something that no one was prepared for. It was hard; maybe some of you felt the effects of online learning on your performance. Your grades might have dropped, and your motivation might have diminished."

Pich said in the face of so much hardship, the Class of 2022 was able to make the best of a bad situation and thrive.

"It is easy to look at the accomplishments of others and believe they are better, happier, and more successful," she said. "That they are all living exciting, exceptional stories. But we are all the protagonists of our own tales, and there is no perfect story. We are all doing the best we can with the things we have, and there is nothing more to expect from each other than this. I wish for all of you to be at peace with the people you are, and move forward now ready to grow and change evermore. The next chapter of your life is here now, and it is up to you to make the most of it. I am confident that you will make the right choices for yourselves, and will find fulfillment wherever life leads you. I wish all of you the happiest of lives and hope to see you doing great things when I internet stalk you in my twenties."

The last speech of the evening before the Class of 2022 received their diplomas was by Class President Shaimaa Bouras Saiah.

"During our sophomore year on March 13, 2020 our whole lives changed," said Saiah. "What was supposed to be a two-week vacation turned into a year-long experience of learning and being at home. Then junior year many of us felt a loss of hope while being fully remote. We missed out on soccer games, speech and debate competitions, robotics, or hanging in the learning commons during lunch. But our hope was restored when we came back in April as we finally got the opportunity to come back to school and finally reconnect with the things we loved doing. Now as graduating seniors, it is time for us to close this chapter and open a new one. Look at every hardship we endured, how we adapted, overcame, and grew. Look at how we succeeded in the past four years. When you step onto this stage and receive your diploma, remember the four years, 7:20 am wake-ups, and the 2,928 80-minute blocks, your hard work is now finally paid off. The moment that felt like centuries away has finally arrived. Congratulations, graduates of 2022. We made it!"

Scholarship Awards Night

As a tradition at RHS the seniors have an afternoon to receive their scholarships prior to graduation day. This serves two reasons, first it saves lots of time on graduation day, and two, the recipients get a little more recognition time from family and classmates.

Regardless it's a wonderful feeling for a future graduate to get their name called and get financial aid for the next level of education. On Wednesday, May 25, it was no different, screams, applause and whistling abounded from the seats in the RHS Auditorium as each name was called and the scholarship amounts were announced.

In Their Own Words Graduation

Jennie Pich Valedictorian

Hello everyone!

I am so honored to have the opportunity to speak with you all today! Even now, it still feels like a dream. I never imagined I would be giving a speech like this. That said, I am so excited to congratulate all of you on this amazing day.

As the child of two immigrants, it means a lot to me to be up here today. My parents came here as genocide survivors, speaking no English, so to stand up here today as the valedictorian is not only an accomplishment for me, but also for them. Thank you to both of them for their support and love these last 18 years. I would also like to thank my little brother Christopher (who I personally named after my favorite sonic character) for listening to all of my anime theories and playing video games with me even when I slowed him down. And of course, my grandmother myeay, who brought us all here. What family member or loved one will you thank today?

A huge thank you to the RHS staff. I, all of us here today, would never have succeeded without the support of our incredible teachers, who have worked so hard under the challenges of an ever-changing system. I am eternally grateful for Ms. Marafioti, Ms. Goldman, Mr. Johnson, Ms. Szymanski, and Mr. Eatough. What teachers are you eternally grateful for?

Lastly, thank you to all of my friends! You have made my life so much better. Thank you to my best friend Kayla, who decided to talk to the quiet girl seven years ago and never stopped. Some of the bonds we made at RHS will be our forever people. What friendships or relationships will you cherish tonight?

As the class of 2022, I know that we have all faced the unique challenges presented by the pandemic. Our last normal year was four years ago, when we were only freshmen! After that, we were thrown into the pit that was online school. Whether it was finding a place in your house with good wifi, somewhere where you couldn't hear your mom in the background, or hiding the reflection in your eyes while you scrolled through Instagram during a lecture, we all faced difficulties during remote learning. The isolation was something that no one was prepared for. It was hard; maybe some of you felt the effects of online learning on your performance. Your grades might have dropped, and your motivation might have diminished. Maybe you had to relearn all of your social skills after interacting with only profile pictures for over a year.

Despite this, I know many of you took the extra time to learn more about yourselves! I observed so much personal growth from you over the course of these last two years, and I felt so inspired by your tenacity. Some of you took the extra time at home to work on your hobbies. Some started passion projects; wrote the novel you want to start; created the art you never had time to produce. Some of you discovered your love for cooking and made the prettiest bread I've ever seen. Others pursued their New Years' resolution and had the time to work out regularly. And some of you realized you needed a little help and started therapy. Good job!

In the face of so much hardship, you were able to make the best of a bad situation and thrive. I hope you are all giving yourselves credit.

I know I haven't been able to meet all of you, but I genuinely mean it when I say I am so proud of all of us. We finished high school! We made it! That is a huge accomplishment all on its own, and I hope you are all proud of yourselves. We are leaving here today much different people from when we arrived. We all have our stories of triumph and tragedy. Regardless of how you look back on these years, I hope you are kind to your younger selves. With all that has happened these past four years, it is easy to believe that we could have done better.

It is easy to look at the accomplishments of others and believe they are better, happier, and more successful. That they are all living exciting, exceptional stories. But we are all the protagonists of our own tales, and there is no perfect story. We are all doing the best we can with the things we have, and there is nothing more to expect from each other than this. I wish for all of you to be at peace with the people you are, and move forward now ready to grow and change evermore.

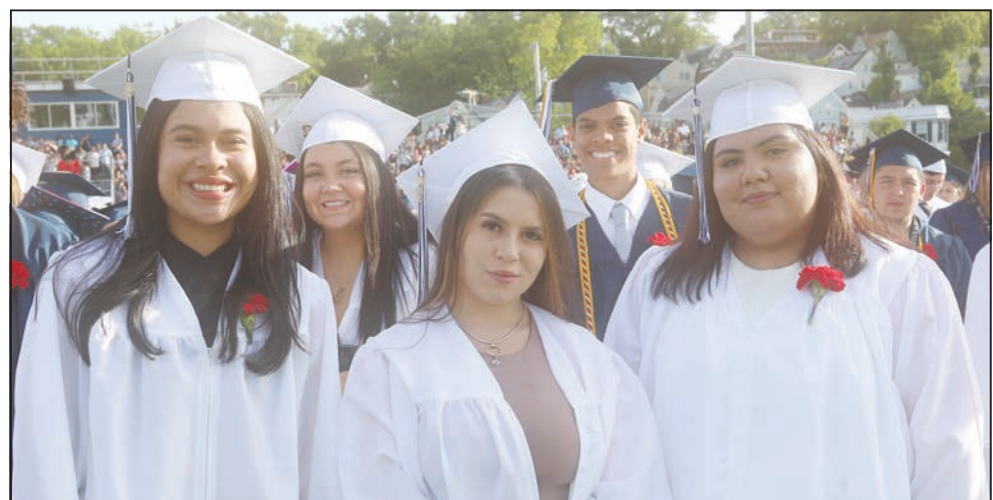

The next chapter of your life is here now, and it is up to you to make the most of it. You might be attending college, joining the military, starting an apprenticeship, or diving straight into the workforce. Some of you might be taking a gap year. Maybe some of you are still in the process of figuring things out, and that's okay too! Regardless of your next steps, I am confident that you will make the right choices for yourselves, and will find fulfillment wherever life leads you.

I wish all of you the happiest of lives and hope to see you doing great things when I internet stalk you in my twenties.

Congratulations, Class of 2022!

FOUR YEARS?

By Parker Legere

RHS Poet Laureate Class of 2022

us blank slate youngsters! After middle school, we chased a new horizon, glory-bound!

Er, boredom-bound, lest classes made you drool.
Together, strong, four years with bright eyes round.

Hm... maybe three. (Or fewer, possibly.)
Encased between dull walls and lockers first,
Then home. And two weeks passed impossibly,
No longer "break," the joke we once rehearsed.

our junior year allowed a fresh return
A lunch outside the cafe with chirping birds
In person, hopeful days for which we yearned.
O' students here before me! Heed my words:

our tunnel's end awaits here. Now, at last.
A bright horizon nears us - chase it fast.

In Their Own Words

Shaimaa Bouras Saiah

Class President

Good evening friends, family, staff, and most importantly, the graduating class of 2022.

We truly appreciate all of you attending this very special day. But, before I get into the good stuff... first I would like to start off with some shoutouts.

I would like to thank the admin team for their hard work and dedication, but most importantly I want to express gratitude to Dr. Perella who made all of our events possible. From pep rally to Mr. RHS, to prom, we thank you for allowing us to make the most fun of our last year of high school in such a difficult time. It is a bittersweet coincidence that you started your first year as principal when we were freshmen and moving on with us as we graduate.

Secondly, I would like to give a huge thank you to the class of 2022 for giving me the opportunity to deliver your graduation speech.

Now, let's state the obvious. It's been an interesting four years.

Remember your first day as freshmen. Remember walking into the auditorium doors and sitting through our first assembly about the expectations for the next four years of your life.

Freshman year. I remember Idolizing the cool senior kids. Maybe you remember searching for your biology class or wondering who to sit with at lunch on that very first day.

Sophomore year. I remember getting accustomed to the Revere High School Culture, attending Friday night football games, joining different clubs, and most importantly; forming new friendships.

And then on March 13, 2020. Our whole lives changed. What was supposed to be a two-week vacation turned into a year-long experience of learning and being at home. Trying to figure out a new way of living was probably one of the most difficult challenges that we all had to face.

Junior year. Many of us felt a loss of hope while being fully remote. We missed out on soccer games, speech and debate competitions, robotics, or hanging in the learning during lunch. But our hope was restored when we came back in April as we finally got the opportunity to come back to school and finally reconnect with the things we loved doing.

Now, senior year. I don't want to minimize the academic piece, but I'm sure many of you are happy to be finished with calc, or that English research project, or maybe the stressful college application process. I am so proud of all of you. But I want to highlight the best moments of senior year. We managed to pull off a fantastic "Haunted Hallways". Shout out to the groups that made the little kids cry in fear. That was pretty funny. We executed a memorable pep rally, with potato sack races, dodgeball, and pie-in-the-face... thank you, Dr. Kelly. We won the Thanksgiving game against Winthrop. We raised lots of funds at Mr. RHS. Thank you to everyone who helped and participated. We attended the first RHS senior prom in 3 years. Everyone looked beautiful. Finally, we accomplished a memorable senior prank, maybe the best one yet, and recorded the first Lip Dub in 10 years. I'm proud of us.

Now as seniors, It is time for us to close this chapter and open a new one. Look at every hardship we endured, how we adapted, overcame, and grew. Look at how we succeeded in the past four years.

And when you step onto this stage and receive your diploma, remember the 4 years, 720 wake-ups, and the 2,928 80-minute blocks, your hard work is now finally paid off. The moment that felt like centuries away has finally arrived. Congratulations graduates of 2022.

Kiss my Class, RHS. We made it.

John Perella

RHS Principal

My Dear Class of 2022. Welcome to your commencement ceremony. This is a celebration of you, our kin, our clan, and our community. And in you we renew our hopes.

I have been incredibly fortunate to have been part of 10 graduations as a principal, and another 12 as an administrator and teacher. Graduation day has always been that one day in the year that excites and scares me the most. Equal parts exhilarating and terrifying. This graduation however is quite different. I had the distinct privilege of entering RHS in my first year as the principal with all of you back in August of 2018.

Together we have ridden this wild rollercoaster of a high school experience. And together we are graduating into a world of real need and challenge, yet potent possibility. These four years have connected us in deep, special, and singular ways. Together we came in, and together we are going out.

Billy Joel, an entertainer that I hope you get to know, shared that life is a series of hellos and goodbyes. This is the cosmos in balance. Before I say goodbye, I'd like to first say hello: It is with immense fondness and hope that I introduce Revere's next flagship principal, Mr. Christopher Bowen. I believe in Chris and know in my heart that he is the right person to next lead this amazing school.

Class of 2022, thank you for sharing this part of your journey with me. I have learned so much from and with you. I am a better educator, father, and person because of the time that we spent together, because of the lessons and friendships you have shared with me, and from your inextinguishable spirit.

I hope you find happiness and love in your next great adventure. You will forever be in my heart.

Thank you.

Angela Huynh & Nick Gerashev

Salutatorians

Angela: This is Nick Gerashev

Nick: And this is Angela Huynh

Angela: When I first met Nick back in middle school, I knew he was going to be a problem. For the past five years, we have been competing against each other and now we are here standing beside one another. Everybody wanted to know what I would do if I didn't win.

Nick: I guess we finally know

Nick: I transferred into Revere Schools in 7th grade. It was the best decision of my life. I met so many amazing people. Yes, my classes have been challenging, but whenever my motivation was low, Angela's dedication pushed me forward. We have both pushed ourselves to achieve high grades in school, which became stressful at times, but if you know Angela, she has probably shown you that humor can solve every problem- except for maybe a Calculus one.

Angela: I began my education at Lincoln Elementary and since then I've been competing for almost my entire life. There, we competed for the George Collela award for the highest academic achievement in the fifth grade. Then in middle school, we competed again for this award. Funny part is, Nick and I were neck and neck in the race for this award.

Turn to look at Nick "You know, you almost beat me there."

Now we stand in front of you as seniors, leaving Revere Public Schools after spending the past four years chasing the goal of being first in our class.

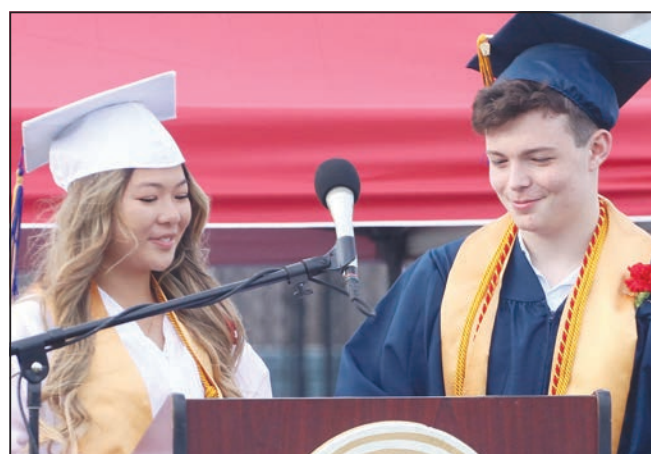

I remember since sophomore year, Nick and I would joke around,

"Can you please stop being such a tryhard and just get a B so that I can be ranked first?"

I guess the universe works in funny ways because now neither of us are valedictorian. Shout out to Jennie, we respect the grind!

Nick: All these years, we competed to achieve the highest GPA, which always presented us with a clear "right choice". I maxed out how many APs I took for the sole purpose of achieving the highest class rank. Now that we are at the end of our high school journey, and the competition has ended, we've had time to reflect. Sure, the number looked good on college applications and at award ceremonies, but what did we actually achieve?

While I was fighting for my AP score in US History, what I actually achieved was a meaningful discussion of the failures and successes of our country and how we can improve. I also gained some pretty good Trivia skills about Presidents. While I was sweating about the Physics test, what I actually discovered was my passion for robotics, and that I wanted to make Engineering my future. I'm fascinated by how tires, catapults and even wireless charging works- like there's this coil called a solenoid, and it makes a magnetic field in the center which-

Angela: "Nick, that's enough physics for today."

Nick: Got it. For all of our futures, there will no longer be a clear "right" or "wrong" decision, and that's pretty intimidating- or is it exciting?

We can choose to be exactly the people who we want to become. We all made it. We made it through COVID! So whatever you choose, just know that you can do it. And don't worry, you'll have thousands of Angelas and Jennies around you to encourage you to succeed.

Angela: My entire life has been an attempt to define myself through the validation of others, titles, and awards. I am salutatorian, class vice president, captain of two varsity sports, and I was awarded with six academic scholarships this year. This made for one hell of a resume, but honestly none of it really matters.

Now, I don't mean to say this from a nihilistic perspective or give into my teenage apathy, but I've learned that these achievements do not define me. For a period of my life, my academic success became a part of my personality. Especially as a first-generation, Asian American woman, I wanted to embody the idea of the American dream. My parents grew up in post-war poverty and never saw a high school diploma, so I put the pressure on myself to perform well and break this cycle.

Sophomore year, I took AP Statistics and AP US History just so I could take one more AP class than Nick. Looking back on it, I don't even remember what I got on my exams.

Maybe Mr. Kimbrough was right when he said to us, "You're not going to remember your GPA in five years."

In hindsight, my grades were nothing compared to the self-discoveries I made along the way. This year, I didn't even know my grade in Physics for the majority of the semester. I was too preoccupied designing car models and 3D printing project parts. Our physics teacher, Josh Miranda, helped us both develop a love for engineering without an over-emphasis on our grades.

To my peers, I hope you have discovered some of your passions throughout high school as well. And if you haven't, that's okay I'm still working on defining myself too.

Nick: Before we conclude our speech, we'd like to thank people who've helped us discover and define ourselves.

I'd like to give a shout out to my parents, grandparents, Baba Zina, and all of my family, you are all the best! Ms. Chaves, who would be "Upsetti Spaghetti" if I didn't say those words, my Calculus table, except Hebat, my classmates that made me laugh too loud during class, and all of my amazing teachers and counselors who guided me to today and taught me that learning is much more than the grades.

Angela: Okay Nick now it's my turn. Thank you to our teachers and coaches, Ms. Cronin, Ms. Wilkens, Ms. Maniscalco, Coach Rotgers, and Coach O'Donnell for caring about us not only as students but as humans. I'd also like to say a special thank you to Ms. Casper for helping us write this speech as well as our college applications. Go Jumbos and Terriers!!

And to my close friends, Wilmer, Bella, and Alexio--thank you for growing up with me.

Lastly, thank you to my family, especially my older sister Rachel--you are my role model. And dad if you're watching me up there, I hope I made you proud.

Nick: So thank you again for everyone who has supported us throughout our high school careers, it genuinely meant a lot. And to our peers, you guys have your whole lives ahead of you. Go out there and take on the world.

Angela: You are not a number, you are not your grades, but you are our future. Good luck class of 2022

Alexia Serino

Seacoast Speaker

Hello class of '22, friends, family, teachers, and city officials. For those of you who don't know me, I'm Alexia Serino, and if you don't, it's most likely because I've been at SeaCoast for the past 3 years. I definitely don't think I could have accomplished what I have without the staff and teachers by my side.

I want to start off with a thank you to Dr Mulligan and Ms. Livote for giving me the honor of speaking at today's graduation ceremony representing SeaCoast. I also want to thank the friends and family that supported me and also the English teachers that helped me put this speech together. It has been an eventful four years of high school, but for me, the best of them have been with the SeaCoast community.

Being at SeaCoast high school has not only changed my goals and mindset on how I want to thrive in life, but has shown me that it doesn't matter where you come from in order to be successful.

Starting off my first year of high school at Revere High was difficult with many obstacles, like skipping class, not finishing assignments and overall not doing my best in school which made it feel as though I wasn't going to succeed. But, with welcoming arms, SeaCoast gave me that second chance to prove that I can do it and blossom into the smart independent woman I am standing here today. I started going to every class, improved my attendance, and for the most part got straight A's or as we like to call it "competencies" and Now, I have a scholarship for the UMAss Dual enrollment program with an organization named Digital Ready for Visual Design and Coding.

It is an amazing experience to watch my fellow classmates thrive and make their own path in life whether it's college, the army, or jumping right into their forever career. I am very proud of every single one of us for pushing through a Covid era, online schooling, and making it here today to receive our diplomas. This is only the beginning of our journey's, class of 2022. We have so much life ahead of us, and will always have the memories of high school. It's been a good one, and with that, I'm ecstatic to see where life takes us all.
