Arrigo and cabinet members invite residents to third ‘Community Conversations’

Staff Report

Mayor Brian Arrigo and Cabinet Members announced the third event of the Community Conversations with the Mayor program. On September 27 at 6:30 PM, Mayor Arrigo and Cabinet Members will meet with Ward 5 residents at the Paul Revere School, and all residents are encouraged to register for the in-person and virtual event in-advance. The program was launched in May of 2022 with intentions to meet with city leaders, engage with neighbors, and discuss various city-wide initiatives. So far, Mayor Arrigo and Cabinet Members have visited both the Rumney Marsh Academy and the Jack Satter House as part of this initiative.

“We’re always trying to think of creative ways to interact with our residents and the pandemic greatly exacerbated this need,” said Mayor Brian Arrigo. “The opportunity to go to different neighborhoods in Revere and hear first-hand from our residents what they experience day-to-day is instrumental for both me and my cabinet members. I hope residents take this opportunity to learn more about our work, and also find this as an opportunity to meet their neighbors and discuss issues we face in fruitful conversation.”

Novoselsky expresses thanks to the community for their kindness

By Cary Shuman

Ward 2 Councillor Ira Novoselsky said he was grateful to Revere residents and friends who joined the family in paying their respects to his wife, Rochelle “Shelley” Novoselsky, who died on August 25, 2022.

More than 350 people attended funeral services and the shiva for Mrs. Novoselsky at Torf Funeral Home in Chelsea and at her late residence on Dehon Street.

Mayor Brian Arrigo and First Lady Daveen Arrigo, former Speaker of the House Robert A. DeLeo, State Sen. Lydia Edwards, Rep. Jessica Giannino, Rep. Jeff Turco, city councillors and School Committee members were among the many people who attended the memorial observances or expressed their sympathy to the Novoselsky family in personal correspondences.

Rabbi Harold Robinson, a rear admiral in the United States Navy and one of Mr. Novoselsky’s long-time friends, delivered a beautiful eulogy that was written by Mrs. Novoselsky. In her own words, Shelley recalled first meeting Ira on Revere Beach when he was 13 years old and she was 12 years old and telling her friends, “That’s the man I’m going to marry.”

Ira and Shelley Novoselsky shared 52 years of marriage. She was the devoted mother of Seth Novoselsky and his wife, Jeannemarie, and the loving grandmother of Olivia Novoselsky and Charleigh Novoselsky.

“I want to thank all who paid their respects to Shelley through their attendance at the funeral services, their presence at the shiva, and in the many kind messages of condolence that were extended to the family,” said Ira Novoselsky.

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL RAIN OR SHINE

The rain was no hurdle to State Rep. Jessica Giannino, who hit the streets on the Tuesday, Sept. 6 Primary Election day holding signs and encouraging voters to get out and vote.

CityLab opens its doors to a new way of learning

What to know about Revere’s newest high school

By Taylor Giuffre-Catalano

“I knew there was something broken in the system at Seacoast High School,” said Dr. Stacey Mulligan, a principal at Seacoast High School for the past three years: “I realized, these are [students who would benefit from] alternative education.” Dr. Mulligan, now in the role of principal at the new CityLab High School, cited her reasoning for spearheading the transition from the former Seacoast High School, “I want to do right by the students.”

PUBLIC SERVANT of the month

Chloe Gladu is September 2022’s Public Servant of the Month

Special to the Journal

When the Mayor’s Office reached out to department heads about “stand-out” interns this summer, almost immediately three department heads suggested Chloe Gladu for Public Servant of the Month. Working as a paralegal in the Solicitor’s Office, as well as being co-chair of the Revere Cultural Council, Chloe is an exemplary example of giving back to her community. Her help this summer in the Solicitor’s Office and the Cultural Council - on-top of her full-time position as a teacher - makes Chloe a clear choice for this month’s Public Servant of the Month.

Q: What do you do in the City of Revere?

A: I am currently a paralegal in the Solicitor’s Office at City Hall in the City of Revere. A paralegal role in Revere City Hall entails answering citizens’ claims against the city and assisting multiple attorneys. I am also the Co-Chair of the Revere Cultural Council. The Revere Cultural Council seeks to collaborate with local and neighboring organizations on programs which will elevate Revere’s diverse, extensive heritage and cultural background through grant funding opportunities. I work to assure all citizens of Revere know about the funding and how to apply through my work in social media.

Q: What does Revere mean to you?

A: The City of Revere

means a new beginning for me since I moved to Revere just a little over a year ago. I am so fortunate to have been granted many opportunities to better myself and give back to others. Revere gave me a space to grow as a professional and become more knowledgeable about my career path, and I am thankful for that.

Q: Why did you want to work at Revere City Hall this summer?

A: My career experience has been focused on helping students and their parents negotiate the educational environment to best meet their specific learning needs. I hope to pivot my career from education into law so that I can have a greater impact in this way and obtained a summer internship at Revere City Hall to expand my understanding of the legal field.

Q: If you could give future interns a piece of advice before they start at City Hall, what would it be?

A: My best piece of advice for future interns working at City Hall would be to not be afraid to ask questions. You are surrounded by incredibly intelligent and hardworking people who are here to help you.

MBTA RELEASES UPDATE ON WORK

Last Friday, the MBTA announced that 50 percent of the work taking place along the Orange Line during the 30-day closure is complete. Additionally, the scheduled work is on schedule overall.

Overall, work teams have completed:

- 44% of rail replacement;
- 49% of track renewal / tie replacement;
- 84% of special track work, like track work at crossovers; and
- 22% of cologne eggs and rail fastener work.

Earlier in the project, crews completed rail replacement between Downtown Crossing and State Street stations over an unencumbered two-day period, which was about 900 feet of track. This track replacement was one of the six slow zones that the MBTA was aiming to address during the Orange Line shutdown. To put this into context, when MBTA crews work during overnight hours when the subway is closed, they are able to replace about 39 feet of track a night after materials are staged and the third rail power is cut. The rest of the slow zones are also in the process of being completed.

As of this week, an additional four of the MBTA’s projects have been completed: crossover improvements at Rugles station, rail welding at Forest Hills station, canopy work at Sullivan Square station, and security enhancements at North Station. Crossover work at Jackson Square will also be finishing today. Tie replacement also continues between the Dana Bridge and Community College station. Work teams near Wellington station began de-stressing rail and continued electrical connections at special track work locations. At the Tufts Curve, crews are continuing to replace cologne eggs, which are fasteners that allow crews to directly affix rail to the concrete pads utilized on certain parts of the Orange Line. The signal upgrades at Oak Grove and Malden stations have also reached 47% completion.

As progress is made on track and signal upgrades, work teams are also leveraging the Orange Line shutdown to complete opportunity projects. Over this past week:

- Crews have continued to complete punch list items at Sullivan Square.
- Testing of the new security enhancements at North Station is now complete.
- The replacement standpipe for fire protection at Tufts station is being painted and is near completion.

Additionally, 56 new Orange Line cars are now available for service. This means that, when service re-starts on September 19, Orange Line riders’ commutes will be on predominantly new cars. The MBTA is actively working to get a full complement of new Orange Line cars ready for the restart of service.

More Information about the Work:

The major revitalization and safety work to take place on the Orange Line during this 30-day shutdown will deliver a number of projects, including track replacement, upgraded signal systems, and more, over five years faster than originally planned. The MBTA will also accomplish required track maintenance associated with Federal Transit Association (FTA) directives as quickly as possible.

This shutdown will maximize the amount of work able to be accomplished and will progress a number of projects and maintenance along the entire Orange Line, which will improve service, safety, and reliability for riders, including:

- The replacement of over 3,500 feet of 38-year-old Orange Line track and tie replacement work that will allow for the removal of speed restrictions, improving travel time for Orange Line riders.
- The replacement of two crossovers that facilitate the movement of Orange Line trains, allowing for improved reliability and future capacity improvements;
- Track repair, tie replacement, concrete work, and more along the Southwest Corridor of the Orange Line, which will improve reliability; and
- The installation of upgraded signals and associated systems at Oak Grove and Malden stations, allowing for improved safety and reliability.

The Orange Line provides approximately 101,000 trips each day with ridership approximately 49% of what it was prior to the pandemic.

STYLE OF PINES STRUCTURE MAY BRING PROTESTS

Plans Call For Draw-Type Span, May Cause Serious Traffic Tie-ups At Point

Protests on the part of Greater Lynn and Revere residents are expected following reports that the new Point of Pines bridge will be of the draw type to allow small boats and tugs access up the Saugus river.

Plans show height of the bridge to be 34 feet at the center at mean tide, with a height of 32 feet on the edges and a width of 100 feet. The plans have been approved and the necessary license issued by the United States government. The bascule system of opening is specified.

It is understood that the structure will not be of sufficient height to allow a tug boat to pass under and would have to be opened to permit tugs, small single-masted vessels and coal barges to pass through.

This will mean two openings for every small craft that goes up the stream, for the tug boats usually return to Boston immediately upon discharging their loads at their destinations.

NEGOTIATIONS STILL ON FOR REFUND LOAN

James M. O'Brien, Revere City Treasurer, is still working in an effort to complete negotiations with Boston bank officials for the floating of the $500,000 loan authorized by the refunding bill recently passed.

The loan, it is stated, would be the main cog in the machinery to put this city back on a 100 percent credit basis and give it a surplus for January 1, 1934.

For weeks Treasurer O'Brien has been amassing facts and figures for presentation to the bankers and yesterday he made another of his repeated trips to confer with them. The one big thing which must be done, according to authorities, is to establish a feeling of confidence in those from whom the loans are sought.

Through the figures compiled it is thought the needed confidence can be instilled and that the supervision of the State Emergency Finance Board which oversees all extra appropriations sought to be made here will add to city's arguments and pleas for consideration.

Although nothing definite has been forthcoming this week, it is thought that a decision one way or the other may be handed down early next week.

NEW HEARING IS GIVEN MAYOR BY FINANCE BOARD

Mayor Andrew A. Casassa appeared before the State Emergency Finance Board again yesterday afternoon in an attempt to get their approval to appropriations turned down by that body last week. As far as could be learned today no decision had been given by the State officials at press time.

The appropriations were originally for an amount in excess of $90,000, including funds for salaries of various city employees whose positions were abolished by the councilmen when the 1933 budget came up for their consideration, but which were authorized at the last meeting of the City Council.

After hearing the arguments of various city officials last week the State board pared the appropriations down to a minimum and Mayor Casassa asked for another hearing. This was afforded and yesterday was set as the date for the arguments.

Certain overdrafts and the salary accounts are said to be the main bone of contention. Members of the State Emergency Finance Board are thoroughly conversant with conditions in this city, having watched the evolutions of the 1933 budget since it was first submitted to the council by the chief executive.

Revere Men Will Be Appointed To Commission; Crowley Draws Up Bill

As the result of a movement sponsored by residents of Revere, Chelsea, Winthrop and North Shore cities and towns, the oft-dreamed of possibility of a high bridge over the Mystic, between Chelsea and Charlestown, may become a reality.

A legislative resolve drawn up by Senator Frank D. Crowley calls for the investigation of the advisability of constructing such a bridge and a committee is to be appointed within a short time to make a study of the situation and report to the legislature by December 1.

The senator's resolve "providing for an investigation by a special commission relative to a proposed bridge over the Mystic river between the cities of Boston and Chelsea," reads as follows:

"Resolved, that an unpaid special commission, to consist of the commissioner and associate commissioners of public works and one official of each of the cities of Boston, Chelsea and Revere to be designated by the mayor thereof, is hereby established to investigate the matter of constructing a new bridge, with or without draws, over the Mystic River from a point at or near City square in the Charlestown district of the

PORCELLA HELD FOR GRAND JURY IN GUN MISHAP

Joseph Porcella, 29, of 69 Roosevelt street, this city, who, according to police, accidentally shot Mrs. Beatrice Nardolua, 24, of Beachland avenue, Revere, during a party at his home, while she was dancing, was held in bonds of $6000 for the grand jury Wednesday on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon and having a revolver illegally.

Mrs. Nardolua is in a serious condition at Lynn hospital, where a surgeon removed the bullet from her abdomen.

Porcella, on his arraignment in Chelsea district court before Judge Samuel E. Cutler, waived examination and was then ordered held for the higher tribunal.

The shooting victim and Porcella, according to the story told to Sergeant Francis R. Lawler and John F. Welch of the Lynn police, went to Porcella's apartment early Tuesday night and consumed several bottles of beer.

Shortly after midnight they started playing and, in the midst of an apache dance, Mrs. Nardolua said "give me the works" as Porcella brandished a gun. Porcella, thinking the gun unloaded pulled the trigger several times and it was discharged, the bullet striking Mrs. Nardolua in the abdomen.

Porcella ran from the house, it is said, and met James Camuso, of 78 Tremont street, and in Camuso's car they took her to the Lynn hospital. The victim stated to police that the shooting was accidental. Porcella was arrested in Lynn after questioning and was later turned over to local authorities.

Education Campaign Next Phase Recovery Movement In Revere

Chisholm And Cohorts Take Up New Phase Of Movement Next Week

In line with the education campaign, a warning against the indiscriminate repetition of rumors and gossip regarding adherence to the President's Re-employment Agreement and the industrial codes adopted under the NRA was issued by Chairman Robert F. Shepard of the New England District Recovery Board. In a statement made public at District Board headquarters, 80 Federal street, Boston, Mr. Shepard pointed out that the next phase of the NRA campaign will be one of education and interpretation, to make sure that every employer who has signed the President's Re-employment Agreement understands how to put it into effect in his particular circumstances, and that, pending the completion of this phase, the good faith of those who are trying to work out their problems under the NRA should be taken for granted.

"So far complaints reaching the New England District Recovery board are concerned," Chairman Shepard said, "it is evident that the great majority are based upon misunderstanding and misapprehension on the part of employer or employee. The New England District Recovery board and six State Recovery Boards of New England will put increasing emphasis in the next two weeks on the administrative job of straightening out difficulties in the application of the President's Re-employment Agreement wherever they exist throughout New England.

"In the meantime, it will be readily seen that the indiscriminate

New Tax Rate to be Known Shortly; Surprise Rumored

Despite financial reverses with which the city has been beset, there is still hope for a reduced tax rate, according to some in the political "know" and it is rumored that the new tax rate may be surprising.

Announcement of the new levy is expected at any moment and citizens are anxiously awaiting developments. The rate was expected to be released earlier in the week, but delays have crept in and the matter is still in the air.

It is believed that the rate announcements were held up to some extent by the awaited decision on the hearing accorded on appropriations yesterday by the State Finance Board.

ARGUMENTS ON LABOR TROUBLE OFFERED TODAY

Arguments before Homer Alberts, sitting as Master in Suffolk Superior Court, with regard to the labor controversy at the North Shore Dye House, Broadway, this city, got under way today, and it is expected that a ruling on the matter will be handed down shortly.

The entire week has been spent in hearing the testimony of strikers, the dye house officials, who brought the court action, having had their say last week.

Hearing of evidence was concluded yesterday afternoon and attorneys for both factions stated that they would be ready for arguments today.

The court matter is a petition to enjoin the employees of the plant from striking for recognition of the union, picketing in front of the dye house, and intimidating employees and customers.

Attorney Joseph E. Rice, adviser for the strikers had a short conference with representatives of the dye-house owners and it is understood that further conferences may result favorably with possibilities of a settlement of the labor trouble.

Jackson Democratic Club Will Ask For Investigation By District Attorney

The Jackson Democratic Club, according to announcements released this week will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening, September 12, which may assume proportions of importance if developments materialize as indicated in the announcement which is issued by Thomas W. Dowd, secretary of the organization.

All members are urged to attend by Secretary Dowd as matters of extreme importance are to be considered.

One of the matters to be taken up is the present condition of the collector of tax's office, but what these conditions are could not be learned.

The announcement also states that "A membership petition to request an investigation of certain city matters by the office of the district attorney" will be sponsored.

Third on the list of items to be considered is a "report upon the 1933 tax rate."

Dr. John E. Walsh, ex-Mayor, is president of the Democratic organization.

Tax Collector Ernest Acker.

At the present time, however, in view of the communication from Commissioner Long, he is practically directed to clean up the due taxes.

Property sold for taxes is redeemable within two years from the date of sale.

The letter of Commissioner Long to Collector Acker reads in part as follows:

CLIMATE CHANGE IS EVERYWHERE, ALL AT ONCE

About a dozen years ago, the New York Times columnist and Pulitzer Prize-winning author Tom Friedman wrote a column in which he explained that "global warming" was a misnomer for the coming changes to the earth's environment. He quoted some climate scientists who suggested that the more-appropriate way to think about the coming changes in our weather pattern is to call it "global weirding."

That's because, wrote Friedman, the effects of spewing fossil fuels into the environment will not become manifest in something as benign-sounding as "global warming." After all, if the planet gets a little bit warmer, the term "global warming" suggests that we only need to crank up the AC in the summer and we can turn down our thermostats in the winter. No big deal, right?

But by using the term "global weirding," the scientists were telling us that extreme weather events, fueled by a warming atmosphere, would become the norm in every part of the globe.

Consider that in this summer alone, the American West is facing a drought that appears to be the worst in 1200 years and the northeast is also now experiencing drought conditions.

Yet at the same time, record rainfalls have brought about floods that have overwhelmed St. Louis, Kentucky, Yellowstone National Park, Dallas, Mississippi, and Georgia.

Boise, Idaho just experienced its hottest August and has seen the most days over 100 degrees (already at 22) in a year since the city's record-keeping began in 1875.

Some parts of China are experiencing their longest sustained heat wave since record-keeping began in 1961, according to China's National Climate Center, leading to manufacturing shutdowns owing to a lack of hydropower because of dried-up rivers.

Yet there also has been dramatic flooding in other parts of the country where the highest-ever water levels in history have been recorded on some rivers.

Parts of Japan are in extreme drought and that country recently endured its hottest June since record-keeping began in 1874.

In Europe, the drought affecting Spain, Portugal, France, and Italy is on track to be the worst in 500 years.

Yet two weeks ago, torrential rains once again drenched England, turning London's streets into rivers and flooding the underground train system. Oh, and London earlier this summer recorded its hottest day on record that precipitated wildfires in the city's outskirts.

A dozen years after Mr. Friedman's column, the term "global warming" has been retired and we now use the more-accurate term of climate change.

On the other hand, given how crazy the weather has been all across the planet these past few weeks, "global weirding" does have a better ring of truth to it.

But whatever we want to call it, it is clear that there is no escaping the inevitable effects of our warming planet -- and about the only thing we can say for sure is that things are going to get a lot worse.

While we certainly applaud the recently-passed bill (the so-called Inflation Reduction Act) by Congress that will set the U.S. on a world-leading path to reducing fossil fuel emissions, we can't help but think that it is too little, too late.

SERENA WILLIAMS IS AN INSPIRATION FOR EVERYBODY

We wish to add our voice to the universal acclaim for tennis star Serena Williams, who played her last match this past week at the U.S. Open.

The life story of Serena and her sister Venus, as depicted in the movie King Richard (named after their father), would be too fantastical even for Hollywood if it were not true.

Their rise from the hard-scrabble asphalt courts of Compton, California, to the pinnacle of tennis greatness, in which they overcame the obstacles of overt racism and near-poverty, serves as an inspiration for all of us. Their success is a testament to the virtues of hard work, dedication, and perseverance in the face of adversity.

We congratulate Serena Williams on her success as the greatest female athlete of all time and wish her the best of luck in her life off the court in the years ahead.

Enjoyable weather is coming soon. For many parts of the country September through November offers many pleasant days. Don't waste them by spending all your time staring at the television or Facebook. You still have some life to live. Spending four or five hours a day watching what everyone else is doing is a waste of your time.

There are programs you enjoy and news events that grab our attention. There are a few people you enjoy keeping up with via social media. After this, get a life. Do you want to spend the rest of your life with your head bent down staring at a tablet or a cell phone? You might get to a point where all you can do is sit in your chair and stare at the television. I've seen many good people who at the end of their lives who could do nothing but watch television or Several Revere officials are none too happy about a plan floated by the state Department of Transportation to close off Ocean Avenue for the next eight weeks, starting Sept. 17th. The closure would affect Ocean Avenue and lower Revere Street and would be done to accommodate construction on the new pedestrian footbridge that goes from Wonderland Station to Revere Beach. That bridge work is slated to finish in November, but before that can happen, the street must be closed.

Thursday's primary, replacing the traditional first Tuesday of September primary, is not expected to bring out a major vote. Secretary of State William Galvin said he is expecting a lower than usual voter turnout because of a large number of what are considered lackluster races. He predicts that turnout at 15 percent stare into space. Often our bodies get to where that's all we can do. Is this all you can do now? Consider your daily options.

Stop throwing your life away doing nothing. Have verbal conversations with people on the telephone. You can overdo this as well but it's at least human interaction. Keep moving, stretching and exerting yourself. Plan your meals and eat as healthy as possible and don't overeat. Save some for your next meal. You'll live till the next one.

Go somewhere when you can. Going someplace is better than no place. A change of pace and being outdoors is mentally good for you. Your travel may be across the street but the key is to move and get out.

You will get depressed if all you are doing is eating, staring at your cell phone and flipping television channels. If you are physically able, work ten to twenty hours a week. Somebody will hire you.

Everyone needs something to do, someone to talk to and something to look forward to doing. You also need someone to love and first you always have God. God loves you now and if you'll open your heart, he will fill your life with his love. There are people to love. Love your family, love friends, love people at work and church. Love the people with whom you socially gather. Some people aren't easy to love and some are impossible. Keep in mind that all things with God are possible. Keep your heart filled with God's love. Love yourself. You can't love others very well if you don't love yourself. Forgive and take care of yourself. You'll then have something you can give others, love and kindness.

It's sad to be around bitter people who have never resolved life's issues and embraced their own lives. Everyone has potential to excel and achieve. Too often people get bogged down with failures and are totally destroyed. Some failures are just events in your life in which you will learn about you and others. You can use failure to grow, reposition and redevelop your life.

You know what the political candidates are saying. You don't have to spend hours watching political ads, unless you are bored stiff.

Enjoy the season. Make this next one a great one.

cost on the American Taxpayer. However, this past week an interview that investigative reporter Sara Carter had with a Central American Human Trafficker described another side to this issue! He told Carter how drug cartels harvest children's organs for sale, then use their corpses to fill with drugs that they smuggle across our border. These victimized children are never set free. Carter discovered that the Mexican Authorities previously investigated a cartel in 2014 for juvenile organ trafficking! This horrific practice continues thanks to Biden's and Mayorkas's policies that incentivizes traffickers with their open border policies and decreased border security.

MS13 and other transnational gangs use our Southern border as an open gateway contributing to the crime rate. And Fentanyl trafficked through Mexico from China has killed our own young people with drug overdoses -the highest level in US history! These Monsters must be stopped!

The Democratic Party which has callously supported the killing of innocent unborn babies in the womb display no sensitivity that their policies result in children being victimized by drug cartels. They avoid addressing this crisis. Children on both sides are being victimized, those trying to cross our border illegally and our own young people who use the drugs that flow into our nation. We don't need more IRS agents, we need more border patrol agents! This unethical and Immoral Border policy must end!

(Sept. 7), at 15 Everard St., in the Beachmont School building. "This has been an eight-month process," Dr. Mulligan noted, "where staff, families, and students transformed the school into something the kids wanted." Since January, CityLab has been developed into a STEAM innovation high school that offers an alternative curriculum model, compared to the traditional high school experience. At CityLab, students now have the opportunity to learn through hands-on experiences and project-based learning. While the school still offers a core high school education, Dr. Mulligan's vision also implements career and college-oriented learning opportunities to push students to their full potential. At CityLab, students will have the opportunity to earn college credit, work in studios and labs, and take on apprenticeship programs while still earning their high school diploma. Dr. Mulligan explained, "I wasn't here for the creation of Seacoast, and the school did a good job of getting kids their diploma, but I decided to look for more." Dr. Mulligan, working with Assistant Principal Stacey Livote, took her search to the Massachusetts Department of Education, where she connected with Dr. Sarah Cherry-Rice, a design partner at DesignReady, a nonprofit that helps develop nontraditional school curriculum to accelerate students learning and career-readiness skills. "Before, kids were sent to Seacoast with no choice in their education," Dr. Mulligan noted. Now, "The school is meant to be exploratory for different paths, because every student can have a different path," Dr. Mulligan explained. She stressed her praise for her partners in this transformation: "I couldn't have done it without my Assistant Principal, Stacey Livote and Dr. Sarah Cherry-Rice."

Dr. Sarah Cherry-Rice, of DesignReady, further explained the nonprofit's mission in redesigning education: "Our goal is to re-imagine what high school looks like, by working with high schools, industry, and higher education." She explained the "connected pathway" style of education, which CityLab now bolsters, "Students design their path, they're in the driver's seat." The goal? "A high wage job," Dr. Cherry-Rice explained. CityLab is a pioneer, Dr. Cherry-Rice explained, as it is the "first full high school model" of connected pathway learning. "The students are excited to design their pathway," she noted. She then explained the schools model: In ninth grade, students learn in the CityLab building, and in 10th grade, students begin to be able to venture out and explore other learning opportunities such as college courses and apprenticeship programs, while still also learning in the building for at least half of the time. By 11th and 12th grade, students will spend more time learning in external environments, "Hence the CityLab name," Dr. Cherry-Rice noted. "We want to give students industry opportunities," she explained, "and give them their autonomy." Another big change, Dr. Cherry-Rice explained, is that "teachers are more facilitators of learning, as opposed to lecturers. [The classroom experience] will be more project-based, and hands on." These educators, and their students and staff alike, have expressed their excitement about the new school and curriculum. Under the guidance of Dr. Mulligan, Ms. Livote, and Dr. Cherry-Rice, CityLab opens its doors as a breath of fresh air to education in the City of Revere.

COVID-19 Vaccine for Kids: What You Need to Know

The COVID-19 vaccine is an important tool to keep kids safe from COVID-19.

- Vaccines are available for free for everyone 6 months and older.
- Some kids may still get COVID after getting the vaccine, but being vaccinated reduces their risk of severe illness.
- Kids may have side effects like a sore arm, achy muscles, and tiredness that can last a day or two.
- Children who get the COVID vaccine are extremely unlikely to experience any serious problems.

CityLab High School, Revere Rec partner to host community dinner

By Taylor Giuffre-Catalano

The staff of the new CityLab High School, in conjunction with Revere Parks and Recreation, hosted its first community dinner on Wednesday, Aug. 31.

The Beachmont School playground, and its surrounding back fields, saw students, staff, and families join together for a meet-and-greet prior to the first day of school. Barbecue fare, a DJ, and activities rounded out the night.

CityLab, which has since replaced Seacoast High School, is slated to open its doors for the first time today (Sept. 7). While most students and staff have been retained from the former Seacoast High School, the transition from the former to CityLab marks a key turning point in the direction of education in the City of Revere. Where Seacoast High School was a traditional high school, CityLab is an innovation school, which opts for an alternative learning model that offers students hands-on learning, both inside the classroom and out.

Spearheaded by Principal, Dr. Stacey Mulligan,

Assistant Principal Stacey Livote, and design partner, Dr. Sarah Cherry-Rice, the curriculum and programming development for CityLab began in January of 2022. By partnering with local businesses and other community organizations, the mission of CityLab is to offer students more opportunities for career exploration and/or college readiness. By providing students with educational opportunities beyond the four walls of high school—such as apprenticeships, college courses, and tours of different workplaces—CityLab’s nontraditional model aims to spark and accelerate passion in students that would otherwise be tabled until the student is in college, or a member of the workforce.

Erik Fearing, a member of the Seacoast High School math department for 18 years, is “absolutely excited” to begin teaching at CityLab. He believes it’s “amazing” that “students and families are opting for something different.” Fearing explained that, in the past year of development, there have been “significant curriculum changes” that emphasize “community learning” as opposed to the traditional high school model. “The staff has been here all week. We’re getting to know the families, community, and the kids,” Fearing noted. As CityLab’s mission leans into community, Fearing explained that he was happy to see so much “engagement.”

School Committee Member John Kingston attended the event and explained that he was “looking forward to making changes and improvements.” Kingston explained that the curriculum for CityLab was developed “in-house” by current staff, citing the school’s “ambition” positively. “It’s easy to stay the current road,” Kingston said, “but, not all kids learn the same. There are different pathways to success.”

“This is a game-changer in what school is like,” stated Dr. Dianne Kelly, superintendent of Revere Public Schools, who also attended the event. Kelly also noted, “I love the opportunity that Dr. Mulligan and the staff are providing for the children of Revere.”

With 25 school crossing guards not funded in the school budget, School Supt. Rocco Malfitano said he will ask the principals of each of the city's schools to seek volunteer parents to man the street crossings.

The city is applying for a $100,000 grant to turn the site of the former Immaculate Conception Church at the corner of Beach St. and Winthrop Ave. into a tot lot. Community Development Director Frank Stringi said the goal is to make this the only play area in the city dedicated solely to tots. Mayor Robert Haas said the new tot lot, if built, will be named in the memory of the late Sonny Myers, the popular founder of local business Reliable Heating.

Election Commission Chairman Sherri Botticelli is predicting a 50 turnout in Tuesday's state primary election that will feature six Democratic contests and three on the Republican side. Incumbent State Senator Tom Birmingham is facing a challenge for the Democratic nomina-

City Auditor Andrew Bisignani has announced that the 250 phone lines at Revere City Hall will become part of a new phone system that will begin with the prefix 286.

Parents are needed to volunteer for school crossing guard positions that were not funded in the school budget for this year.

Three Revere men, John Miller, Mike Mucci, and Vincent Locchiato, have been named to the Boston College Varsity Club Hall of Fame. Miller played in the NFL for six years as an offensive lineman, while Mucci was a fearsome defensive end who earned All East and All New England honors. The shortfall will be on top of the $700,000 budget deficit that the schools already are facing.

Officials from the state's School Building Assistance Board said that the proposed site for a new elementary school for 700 pupils at Crystal Ave. is too small. A 10 year old girl, Anita L. Kratman of 19 Alice Rd., was killed as she was walking on the sidewalk on No. Shore Rd. near Oak Island St. The driver of the car that struck her, Michael McBride, 19, of Everett, told police that as he approached the red light in the rainy weather, his brakes failed and he lost control of his vehicle.

Clerk of the Works Joseph Yantosca said he is certain that the new Revere High School which is being constructed just off East Mountain Ave. will be ready for occupancy as scheduled in September, 1974.

Thomas Kerrins, director of the Federal Employment Act program for Chelsea, Revere, and Winthrop, reports that $1.25 million has been spent by his agency to provide jobs for local persons who perform work on municipal projects that the cities and towns otherwise could not afford to undertake.

Vincent Steriti is a new Deputy Fire Chief, Joseph Pizzano is a new Captain, and John W. Sweeney a new Lieut. in the Revere Fire Dept. All three were sworn in this week by Mayor William Reinstein.

The city's third housing project for the elderly, a 46-unit complex at Eliot Rd. and Garfield Ave., opened for occupancy this week. There now are 111 housing units for the elderly in the city. Each of the two-room units in the new complex are light and airy, painted in refreshing pastels with modern equipment and conveniences, and feature a large kitchen-dining area, a bedroom, and full-sized modern bathroom.

Chelsea District Court Judge John W. MacLeod lashed out at the Revere Licensing Board from the bench the other day, saying, "The Revere Licensing Board has given me more trouble than anything else that has come before me." The current issue before MacLeod involves a complaint brought by the board against a Revere Beach businessman who did not have a license for a dart game because the board refused to issue one to him. MacLeod accused the board of favoring some businesses, but discriminating against others.

The legislation that would empower Revere and 10 other school districts to form a regional vocational school will be reviewed by the 11 cities and towns this week.

A public hearing on the matter of whether the city should borrow $200,000 to enlarge the Revere Memorial Hospital has been set by the City Council for Sept. 24.

Enrollment figures for the first week of school show 7781 students in the public schools and more than 600 at the Immaculate Conception parochial school.

Revere public schools have been advised that they may continue with the practice of opening each school day with a Bible reading, as is required by state law. State Education Commissioner Owen B. Kiernan said that last spring's ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court banning prayer in public schools does not apply to readings from the Bible.

Interest is high in the state primary election Tuesday. Revere Mayor Frederick Reinstein is challenging incumbent Andrew P. Quigley in the Democratic State Senate contest and is rated a good chance to defeat Quigley. Reinstein is the only Revere candidate, while Quigley is facing four challengers from his home city of Chelsea, where he also is the mayor. The district comprises Chelsea, Revere, Winthrop, and part of Everett. In the State Representative contest, incumbents Harold Canavan and William H.J. Rowan are facing just one foe, Joshua Gold, in the Democratic primary. A ballot question to determine whether to extend term control in Revere for another six months also is expected to draw heavy voter turnout.

School Committee members delved into some controversial topics which come up from time to time, but which came to a head Tuesday night. Committee members argued long and hard over whether to hire married female teachers; who should get the school milk contract; and whether collections for charitable causes should continue to be allowed in the schools. However, despite hours of discussion, the committee did not reach a decision on any of the issues.

Public school enrollment in the lower grades has soared this year, particularly in the first grade, with 779 boys and girls. In 1950, there were just 609 first graders. The school enrollment overall is 5702, up from 5546 in 1951 and 5490 in 1950. There are 665 students enrolled at the Immaculate Conception School. The increase in the number of students in the lower grades is part of a nationwide trend as a result of the large number of births following WWII.

The School Committee has voted to permit Revere High football games to be played on the Sabbath. The committee also voted to allow students to work on farms to aid the war effort.

With the attention of residents focused on the war, a light turnout of voters is expected for Tuesday's primary with few contested races.

Revere receives major grants for climate resiliency projects

Special to the Journal

The City of Revere has received state Municipal Vulnerability Preparedness (MVP) funding as part of a regional effort to help people and places prepare for extreme weather.

The Cities of Revere, Malden, and Everett, all longtime members of the RMC, are working with their coastal neighbors to the north, Saugus and Lynn. The cities secured $151,000 to begin work on a regional Saugus River Watershed Vulnerability and Adaptation Study to help these coastal communities manage coastal flood damage.

“As a longtime member of the Resilient Mystic Collaborative, I’ve witnessed firsthand how working with our neighbors can move critical projects forward,” said Elle Baker, Revere’s Open Space and Environmental Planner. “The $150,872 in MVP funds will help us work with our neighbors in the Saugus River Watershed to tackle our major coastal flood risks.”

In addition to the regional grants, Cambridge, Chelsea, Malden, Medford, and Revere received individual MVP grants to further flood and heat resiliency projects.

The Mystic River Watershed Association announced that Resilient Mystic Collaborative (RMC) cities and towns had secured a total of $8.6 million in state Municipal Vulnerability Preparedness (MVP) funding.. Of these funds, over $7 million were grants for multi-community projects, and nearly $1.6 million went to projects in individual municipalities. In addition, Congresswomen Katherine Clark and Ayanna Pressley and Congressman Seth Moulton are working to secure $12.2 million in Community Project grants through the FY2023 federal budget, bringing the total in new funding for heat and flood resilience to nearly $21 million.

Flooding from extreme rainfall events, storm surges on top of a rising sea level, and longer, more intense heat waves are climate impacts that don’t stop at municipal boundaries,” said John Walkey, Director of Waterfront and Climate Justice Initiatives at GreenRoots. “But they do tend to be felt worse in historically disinvested communities. We greatly appreciate that the MVP Program supports projects addressing social vulnerabilities from a regional perspective, as the communities of the RMC are doing.”

Each of the municipalities, including Revere, that championed these climate resilient projects is a founding member of the Resilient Mystic Collaborative (RMC), a watershed-wide voluntary partnership focused on regional climate resilience. Convened by MyRWA in September 2018 and led by senior staff from 20 cities and towns and non-governmental partners, the Resilient Mystic Collaborative (RMC) focuses on managing flooding and extreme heat on a regional scale and increasing the resilience of our most vulnerable residents and workers to extreme weather. These projects are the result of years of analysis and design by both individual communities and multiple municipalities working collectively.

“Our communities are where climate resilience either happens or doesn’t,” said Julie Wormser, Senior Policy Advisor for the Mystic River Watershed Association (MyRWA). “Years of collective research and planning are turning into on-the-ground projects that will make a real difference in people’s lives. These state and federal investments are both a recognition of and essential support for their great work.”

Dept. of Veterans Affairs to begin providing abortion care

Staff Report

U.S. Senators Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.) and Mazie Hirono (D-Hawaii) applauded the Department of Veterans Affairs’ (VA) announcement that it will begin offering abortion services in certain circumstances. In July, Senators Warren and Hirono led 23 of their colleagues to call on VA to immediately begin offering abortion services after the far-right Supreme Court’s disastrous Dobbs decision overturning Roe v. Wade. Because of the Dobbs decision, over 800,000—or half of women veterans in this country—live in states that are certain or likely to ban abortions.

right to abortion, the federal government, including the VA, must do more to protect abortion access. That’s why we led our colleagues in calling on the VA to provide abortion care to the veterans it serves, millions of whom now live in states where abortion access has been restricted.

“We’re glad to see the VA quickly heeding our calls to begin offering abortion services in instances of rape, incest, and the life of a mother. This is an important first step. The VA must go further and provide these services to all veterans, regardless of circumstances. It’s critical that women are trusted and free to make decisions about their bodies,” said Senators Warren and Hirono.

Baker signs bill implementing a women’s rights history trail in Commonwealth

Special to the Journal

The legislation directs the Executive Director of the Massachusetts Office of Travel and Tourism (MOTT), in conjunction with the Secretary of Transportation, to develop and implement a women’s rights history trail program that will include properties and sites that are associated with the fight for women’s rights and suffrage in the Commonwealth. The legislation establishes a women’s rights history trail task force to research, solicit public input, and make recommendations for sites, properties, and attractions to be included in the trail program, and calls for MOTT to create related educational materials and vacation itineraries. Governor Baker and Lt. Governor Polito were joined by bill sponsors Senator Joan Lovely (D-Salem) and Representative Hannah Kane (R-Shrewsbury) and several other members of the Legislature, including the Massachusetts Caucus of Women Legislators, for the ceremonial bill signing at Mechanics Hall in Worcester.

“I am pleased to sign this legislation that will help Massachusetts better honor and preserve the legacies of women throughout the Commonwealth’s history who have made our state a better place,” said Governor

Charlie Baker. “I am deeply grateful for the work of so many legislators other partners who worked hard to pass this bill, and our administration looks forward to working with the new commission to make this history trail a reality.”

“This bill is the product of significant work and collaboration by many key players and we are grateful to see it become law,” said Lt. Governor Karyn Polito. “The new Women’s Rights History Trail will cover important historical milestones and landmarks across the Commonwealth and will help our residents better understand these crucially important historical figures.”

"This legislation adds to the important work the Massachusetts Office of Travel and Tourism does educating residents and visitors about our unique state by creating a new avenue for exploring sites related to significant women throughout our history," said Housing and Economic Development Secretary Mike Kennealy. "With tourism playing a big role in Massachusetts' recovery from COVID-19, our cultural sector and local economies will benefit from this coordinated effort to increase visibility and access to historic sites in our communities."

“With the creation of a Women’s Rights History Trail, Massachusetts is acting to memorialize the struggle for women’s rights in the Commonwealth,” said House Speaker Ronald J. Mariano. “I want to thank my colleagues in the House and Senate, as well as Governor Baker, for working to ensure that the suffrage movement, and all that it achieved, will be celebrated through the highlighting of these landmarks.”

"Women in Massachusetts have played a pivotal role at every step in the Commonwealth’s history, yet their contributions are too often overlooked," said Senate President Karen E. Spilka. "The Women's Rights History Trail will serve as a visible monument to the history of women—and the women's rights movement. Understanding this history gives us all a chance to reflect on where we have come from and what it means to leave a legacy that can uplift and inspire future generations. I am glad to see that this trail will give particular attention to the diverse backgrounds and perspectives of the women who have transformed Massachusetts. I would like to thank Senator Lovely and my colleagues in the Senate, as well as our partners in the House and Senate, for their work to make this a reality."

“Our nation and our Commonwealth would not be what they are today, were it not for the contributions of women,” said Senator Joan B. Lovely. “Though as important as men to our country’s history, women have seldom received the recognition they rightly deserve. With this law, we stand to remove women from the annals of history and finally place them at the forefront. I would like to thank Senate President Karen Spilka, Governor Baker and Lt. Governor Polito, House Co-sponsors Representative Hannah Kane and former Representative Carolyn Dykema, Caucus Co-Chair Representative Pat Haddad and Executive Director Nora Bent, for ensuring that women’s history will continue to be preserved and advanced for generations to come.”

“This legislation creating the Women’s Rights History Trail ensures that the many women from our Commonwealth who contributed to the fabric of our nation and democracy are recognized, and that their accomplishments are preserved in our state’s history, so that their legacies may serve as inspiration for future generations of young women,” said Representative Hannah Kane. “I am proud to have been a sponsor of this legislation, helping to carry out my late colleague Rep. Gailanne Cariddi’s vision, and I look forward to serving as a member of the Women’s Rights History Trail Task Force.”

Governor Charlie Baker and Lt. Governor Karyn Polito, joined by legislators participated in a ceremonial bill signing of H. 4555, An Act relative to the creation of a women's rights history trail. The Governor previously signed this bill into law in late May. It is now codified as Chapter 76 of the Acts of 2022.

Assistant Speaker Clark, Sen. Warren, Secretary Becerra celebrate health care wins for seniors in the Inflation Reduction Act

Special to the Journal

Assistant Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives Katherine Clark (MA-5), Senator Elizabeth Warren (D-MA) and U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services Xavier Becerra joined AARP advocates, patients, and community providers for a roundtable discussion at the Waltham Senior Center on the Inflation Reduction Act. Their conversation highlighted how this legislation significantly reduces health care costs and puts money back into the pockets of older Americans.

“With the Inflation Reduction Act, seniors won’t have to choose between putting food on the table and paying for lifesaving prescriptions. More families will be able to afford health care, and fewer Americans will be uninsured,”said Assistant Speaker Clark. “This cost-cutting new law is a win for American seniors and will help working families get by and get behind.”

“Starting this year, Americans will save about $800 a year. What else? If a drug manufacturer tries to increase the price of their drug above the inflation rate, they have to return to the Medicare program the difference between the inflation rate and what they’re charging. As a result, they don’t make a profit above what they should, and you don’t have to pay more,” said Secretary Becerra. “To Assistant Speaker Clark and the Senator: thank you for having the foresight to do big things for Americans, but more importantly, to everyone here, thank you for having the foresight to elect them.”

The Inflation Reduction Act is a game changer for American seniors. In Massachusetts, it will not only bring down costs but make it possible for seniors to age with the dignity they deserve by:

- Capping Medicare Part D Out-of-Pocket Costs at $2,000
- Allowing Medicare to Negotiate Prices for High-Cost Drugs
- Capping Insulin Co-pays at $35 per Month
- Expanding Eligibility for Part D Low-Income Subsidies
- Expanding No Cost Vaccine Coverage for Medicare Beneficiaries

Clark has long been a champion for lowering health care costs and ensuring seniors can age with the dignity they deserve. She voted for critical legislation to provide older Americans with

Sen. Elizabeth Warren and Asst. Speaker Catherine Clark shown discussing the benefits for seniors in the Inflation Reduction Act at a roundtable discussion in Waltham last week.

much-needed support, including capping the price of insulin at $35 a month and expanding health insurance coverage for seniors.

In addition to Senators Warren and Hirono, the July 28 letter was also signed by Senators Tammy Baldwin (D-Wis.), Michael Bennet (D-Colo.), Richard Blumenthal (D-Conn.), Cory Booker (D-N.J.), Catherine Cortez Masto (D-Nev.), Tammy Duckworth (D-Ill.), Richard Durbin (D-Ill.), Dianne Feinstein (D-Calif.), Kirsten Gillibrand (D-N.Y.), John Hickenlooper (D-Colo.), Angus King (I-Maine), Amy Klobuchar (D-Minn.), Edward J. Markey (D-Mass.), Patty Murray (D-Wash.), Alex Padilla (D-Calif.), Jack Reed (D-R.I.), Jacky Rosen (D-Nev.), Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.), Tina Smith (D-Minn.), Chris Van Hollen (D-Md.), Raphael Warnock (D-Ga.), Sheldon Whitehouse (D-R.I.), and Ron Wyden (D-Ore.).

As access to abortion care and health care is under attack by the extremist Supreme Court and Republican state legislatures, Senator Warren has called on the government to use every tool to expand and protect reproductive care:

- On August 10, 2022, Senator Warren opened an investigation into how state abortion bans enacted by rightwing legislators have affected women’s access to urgent and critical pregnancy care, reproductive care, and even non-reproductive health care. She wrote to five leading organizations representing physicians, nurses, pharmacists, and other health care providers to gather more information: the American Medical Association, Physicians for Reproductive Health, National Nurses United, the American Pharmacists Association, and the American Hospital Association.

- On August 5, 2022, Senator Warren spoke on the floor of the Senate about the need to crack down on the deceptive and misleading practices employed by many crisis pregnancy centers (CPCs). Senator Warren also spoke on the need to bring the Stop Anti-Abortion Disinformation Act up for a vote. The legislation would direct the Federal Trade Commission to prohibit deceptive or misleading advertising that many CPCs use to dissuade patients from getting the reproductive care they need, including abortion care.

- On August 4, 2022, Senators Warren, Hirono, and Baldwin sent a letter to the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), outlining concrete actions HHS can take to help meet President Biden’s goal of protecting and expanding access to medication abortion.
- On July 21, 2022, Senators Warren and Markey sent letters to Bark Technologies, Gaggles.net, GoGuardian, and Securly Inc., raising concerns that the software these companies use to monitor students’ online activity could be used to criminalize or punish students who are seeking information about abortion services and reproductive health care.
- On July 19, 2022, Senators Warren, Smith, and Murray, Chair of the Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee, introduced the Expanding Access to Family Planning Act, legislation that would protect access to critical reproductive health care services—like birth control, cancer screenings, and more—by providing a consistent and strong source of funding for the Title X Family Planning Program.

- On July 14, 2022, Senators Warren, Booker, Padilla, and over a dozen Senate Democrats wrote to President Biden and HHS Secretary Xavier Becerra, urging them to immediately declare national and public health emergencies over Americans’ access to reproductive care.
- On July 11, 2022, Senators Warren and Klobuchar sent letters to Facebook and Instagram, calling on them to address their reported censorship of posts related to abortion services, following the Supreme Court’s overturning of Roe v. Wade.
- On July 7, 2022, Senator Warren announced two key data brokers’ commitments to permanently stop selling the location data of people seeking abortion services.
- On June 23, 2022, Senators Warren and Bob Menendez (D-N.J.) and Representatives Carolyn Maloney (D-N.Y.) and Suzanne Bonamici (D-Ore.) introduced the Stop Anti-Abortion Disinformation Act, legislation that would crack down on false advertising that crisis pregnancy centers employ to dissuade patients from getting the reproductive care they need, including abortion care.

- On June 22, 2022, following the Supreme Court’s decision overturning Roe v. Wade, Senators Warren and Smith wrote an op-ed in the New York Times laying out the next steps in the fight to protect the right to an abortion, including calling for the declaration of a public health emergency.
- On June 15, 2022, Senator Warren introduced the Health and Location Data Protection Act, legislation that bans data brokers from selling some of the most sensitive data available about everyday Americans: their health and location data.
- On June 7, 2022, Senators Warren and Murray led 23 of their Senate colleagues in a letter to President Biden urging him to immediately issue an executive order directing the federal government to develop a national plan to defend Americans’ fundamental reproductive rights, including their right to an abortion.
- On May 17, 2022, Senator Warren led thirteen of her Senate colleagues in letters to two data brokers, demanding answers about their collection and sale of the cellphone-based location data of people who visit abortion clinics such as Planned Parenthood.

- On May 12, 2022, Senator Warren joined Senator Gillibrand and her colleagues on the Senate Armed Services Committee in a letter urging Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin III to protect military service members’ abortion rights.
- On May 10, 2022, Senator Warren delivered a speech on the floor of the United States Senate on the need to protect the constitutional right to an abortion, pass the Women’s Health Protection Act, and fight back against Republican extremism.
- On May 9, 2022, Senator Warren wrote an op-ed in Marie Claire about the need to enshrine the right to an abortion in federal law.
- On May 3, 2022, when the draft Supreme Court opinion that would overturn Roe v. Wade was leaked, Senator Warren spoke on the steps of the Supreme Court twice to activists, protestors, and the nation about the need to protect abortion rights.

RHS football faces tough test in season opener versus Peabody Friday

By Cary Shuman

Coming off an impressive performance in a pre-season scrimmage, the Revere High football team, led by head coach, Lou Cicatelli, will bring momentum and optimism into its season opener at Peabody Friday at 7 p.m.

Revere is feeling confident about the new season after holding a wide edge against perennial Commonwealth Conference power Northeast Regional in a scrimmage last Friday at Della Russo Stadium.

But Cicatelli knows that Peabody, who has one of the top dual-threat quarterbacks in the area in 6-foot, 195-pound senior Shea Lynch, will be a very tough assignment for the Patriots. Cicatelli saw the Tanners play well in a 21-7 defeat to powerful Everett in a scrimmage last week.

"Peabody is a very fast team," said Cicatelli. "They have some really good athletes and Lynch is the real deal at quarterback. He's a very accurate passer and he can throw in the pocket and on the run."

Cicatelli understands a victory over Peabody would be a ratings points bonanza in the MIAA playoff system.

"We know it's a big game for us for the simple reason that these are the games you have to get, because you need [ratings] points from them," said Cicatelli. "You could end up 8-2 or 7-3 and still be on the outside looking in because of this system and not make the playoffs, like what happened to us last

RHS Roundup

RHS FALL SPORTS GETS UNDERWAY THIS WEEK

After a pre-season of dry and near-perfect weather, Mother Nature pulled a cruel trick on area high school athletes with a steady menu of rain for the first week of the 2022 fall athletic season.

But despite the inclement weather, Revere High athletes are set to get their seasons underway this week.

The Patriots once again will be competing in the eight-school Greater Boston League with fellow members Chelsea, Everett, Malden, Medford, Somerville, Lynn Classical, and Lynn English.

Both the boys and girls soccer teams were scheduled to kick off the 2022 season yesterday (Tuesday), with coach Manny Lopes and his boys squad hosting Medford and coach Megan O'Connell and the girls making the

Cicatelli expects to see a large crowd for the season opener against its previous GBL and NEC opponent. Peabody was once a GBL football powerhouse before exiting for the Northeastern Conference.

"Peabody's doing a special halftime ceremony Friday night to honor its Hall of Fame class, so we know there will be a huge hometown crowd," said Cicatelli. "But this is a game we had circled on our schedule at the beginning of the season because we know we have to win this game. It's a tough place to play, but we've beaten them a few times in the last six years.

I think it's going to be an exciting, well-played high school football game."

Max Doucette A 'Player To Watch'

Senior captain and linebacker Max Doucette has been named a Boston Herald 'Player To Watch' in the newspaper's pre-season preview of the 2022 season.

Doucette is a three-year starter and a returning GBL All-Star. He had several tackles in Revere's final scrimmage against Northeast Regional, which was a 33-8 victory over Coach Don Heres' Golden Knights.

Sami Elasri, Chris Cassidy, and Danny Hou rushed for touchdowns in Revere's Dom Boudreau (24) stretches for an interception during Revere's football scrimmage against Northeast Metro Tech Friday at Harry Della Russo Stadium. Boudreau had a big day, scoring a pair of touchdowns on offense and a pick 6 on defense.

the scrimmage, while Domenic Boudreau caught a touchdown pass from quarterback Carlos Rizo, who will make his starting debut against Peabody.

Defensive tackle Jason Shoshu was Revere's leading tackler and had two quarterback sacks.

"Jason had a monster game - he was everywhere," credited Cicatelli.

Outside linebacker Kamal Maijid had several tackles alongside Doucette in the Patriots' 4-3 defense.

Malden Catholic Athletics Hall of Fame is reignited and renamed

Staff Report

In recognition of Malden Catholic’s longest serving Xaverian Brother, MC has dedicated its Athletic Hall Of Fame to Brother Daniel Cremin, C.F.X. who spent 23 years at the school coaching and teaching physical education instruction and 23 years at the school as a counselor. The school’s hall of fame was originally established in 1989 and it celebrated the institution’s strong athletic history and outstanding individual athlete, team, coach and volunteer accomplishments with a formal induction into the MC Hall of Fame for sixteen years. The newly reignited Brother Daniel Cremin, C.F.X. Hall of Fame will continue this rich history by accepting nominations for 2022 inductees, recognizing exemplary MC alumnus and Girls Catholic alumna, employees, coaches and volunteers until September 30, 2022 through this link: <https://forms.gle/TpWZxVB-8CGp3G6CR9>. The new roster of Hall of Fame inductees will be announced in the fall of 2022 and formally inducted at a banquet at the school in December.

John Thornburg, Malden Catholic President stated, “Brother Dan’s commitment to MC and his athletic accomplishments are unprecedented.

In light of Brother Dan’s retirement after 46 years, we are delighted to honor him for his lifelong dedication to the school and feature his outstanding success along with the positive athletic accomplishments of our talented alumni and alumnae who have who have performed so well over the years.”

Brother Daniel Cremin, C.F.X. holds the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education from Northeastern University, a graduate degree as Master of Education from Boston University, and a graduate degree as Master of Education in School Counseling from Suffolk University. A member of the Malden Catholic Athletics Hall of Fame, Brother Dan had an illustrious MC coaching career. He was the head varsity soccer coach from 1975 - 1983, leading the team into the Commonwealth Conference league play in 1978 and into a berth in the state tournament in 1979 with Co-Captains Frank Ciampa and Mike Killion.

In 1976 Brother Dan launched the school’s swimming and diving program, continuing as head coach until 1998 with able assistance from Brother Fred Eid. Brother Dan earned recognition in this sport as the Boston

Cheerleaders from Malden Catholic.

Globe’s Coach of the Year, North Division, in 1989. Brother Dan served eight years as the President of the Eastern Mass. Swim Coaches Association and on the MIAA Swim Committee during that same time. In 2002-2003, the Eastern Mass. Swim Coaches Academy inducted Brother Dan into its Hall of Fame.

Brother Dan coached Cross Country from 1984 -1998, first as assistant to Bro. Myles McManus and then 10 years as head coach. During the 1990 season, the Lancers shattered Xaverian’s unbeaten streak of forty-five dual meets on its way to a first-place finish in the State Catholic High School Championship Meet and to fourth place at the All-State Meet, led by Kevin Carnabucci, ‘92. Brother Dan was also an assistant coach for Brother Tim Hoey for five seasons in outdoor track and field.

REVERE OVERDOSE MEMORIAL

Photos & Story by Marianne Salza

The City of Revere and Mayor Brian Arrigo held an Overdose Memorial on August 31 in Leach Park, an outdoor space that has been developed to memorialize those who lost their lives to overdose. Last year, a tree was planted to begin the Beachmont park’s transformation; now loved ones are invited to purchase bricks engraved with their family and friends’ names to pave a pathway. “Too often, family members suffer in shame because of the stigma related to fatal overdose,” began Julia Newhall, Director of the Substance Use Disorder and Homeless Initiatives Office.

“Our goal is to create a space where people can go to and the city is invested in. The city is committed to addressing drug-related stigma. We send that message with the park here tonight.” Newhall and the City of Revere’s Public Health Department is working with local non-profit organization, Just a Little Help, in providing financial support to families who are in need after an unexpected loss. “We lost almost 110,000 people to fatal overdose last year. These numbers are brothers, sisters, sons, daughters, mothers, and fathers,” Newhall attested. “My hope is to continue our mission to make sure that everybody – regardless of their circumstances – can live with dignity and respect.” Keynote speaker and healthcare worker, Gary Langis, a community activist, shared his survival story and experiences of feeling shame and guilt. “I know what it’s like to lose a son, a grandson, and a nephew to a heroin overdose. It’s the lousi-est feeling, and I never want anyone to feel like that again,” said Langis. “Tonight is to remember our friends and family members. They can never be replaced. Overdose is a preventable death. My mission is to keep as many people alive as I can.”

Mayor Brian Arrigo, Ward 2 Councilor Ira Novoselsky, Project Manager Elle Baker, and The Neighborhood Developers Director of Community Building Sharon Fosbury joined with representatives from UnitedHealthcare, The Neighborhood Developers, and KABOOM! at a ribbon-cutting ceremony for the new community-designed playground at Costa Park.

Volunteers from the City of Revere, UnitedHealthcare, The Neighborhood Developers, and Revere Community Committee constructed a kid-designed playground to ensure kids have a safe, inclusive place to play.

This project was part of a nationwide effort by KABOOM! to end play space inequity – the reality that places to play are not available to every child, especially in communities of color. This project will provide a state-of-the-art playground to more than 1,000 children each year.

Community members, including members of the Revere Community Committee, led the creation of the playground, from design to installation. In May, children from the Revere community shared drawings of their dream play spaces with project organizers. These ideas were integrated into the new playground design. As the most-used play area in the City, the current equipment at Costa Park had exceeded the anticipated rate of wear and tear and was in need of replacement. As the first community-build event since 2020, the community had been eagerly awaiting an opportunity to get out and volunteer together again.

The project is a part of UnitedHealthcare's commitment to "Do Good. Live Well." employee volunteer initiative focused on inspiring volunteerism and helping people live healthier lives across the country.

Seth Tata, Brody McNair, Jack DeSantis, Chris Courage, and Laylynn Butler of the Revere DPW were a big part of the team that constructed the new playground at Costa Park.

RHS grad Eve Lescovitz participates in exchange program in Washington, D.C.

By Melissa Moore-Randall

Revere High School Class of 2020 graduate Eve Lescovitz just completed her first summer as Program Assistant for The Institute for Training and Development at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Revere High School Class of 2020 graduate Eve Lescovitz.

“I had the wonderful opportunity to spend the summer with 15 incredible international Scholars of Economics and Business during their training as part of the Study of the US Institutes for Scholars, a series of academic exchange programs sponsored by the US State Department and carried out by ITD. During my time with them, we did everything from touring the Massachusetts Statehouse and the U.S. Capitol, attending a lecture at The International Monetary Fund, bike riding along the Potomac, to whitewater rafting along the Deerfield River! I have lived one million summers all in 6 weeks.”

According to their website, The Institute for Training and Development (ITD) is a nonprofit organization based in Amherst, Massachusetts dedicated to education and inter-cultural exchange. ITD has supported civic engagement, academic exchange, youth leadership, sustainable development and other priority areas worldwide by immersing community leaders, scholars, professionals, governmental and non-governmental administrators in engaging programs from over 100 countries. ITD specializes in short-term academic, professional and youth exchanges.

Eve, the daughter of Rich and Diane Lescovitz, attended the A.C. Whelan Elementary and the Susan B Anthony Middle Schools. She will be starting her junior year this fall at UMass. “I am super excited to return to campus and go back to living with and seeing my friends. I will be continuing my work with ITD as their Program Assistant and will also return for my second semester as a Peer Tutor at the school’s Learning Resource Center, where I tutor students enrolled in introductory level Spanish and Political Science courses.”

She is pursuing a double major in Political Science and Spanish, and is also pursuing a certificate in International Relations. “I chose to also pursue International Relations because after taking the Intro Political Science courses my first semester of freshman year. I realized I found domestic politics and the U.S. government a little boring and enjoyed learning about World Politics and foreign policy more. I like learning about the way the U.S. interacts with other countries more than the way in which we interact with ourselves, even though that can definitely be interesting sometimes, especially recently.”

Like so many students, Eve’s college experience was negatively impacted by the pandemic. “Since my freshman year was on-line due to the pandemic, and my first semester on campus in the Spring of 2021 consisted of us being locked down in our dorms, this past year was basically my first full year of college where most clubs, classes, programs, and activities were back in full swing. One of the funnest clubs I was a part of this year was called Sisters on the Runway, a club dedicated to raising awareness for survivors of domestic violence, where we host an annual fashion show and donate the proceeds to survivors.”

“The most important thing I was a part of this year was called Umass Women Into Leadership, a highly selective leadership program dedicated to women who are interested in pursuing a career in public service. Throughout the program we learn about networking, salary negotiation, interviewing, building a strong resume, and much more. It consisted of weekly classes where we usually had a guest speaker, including local politicians like State Representative Mindy Domb, or other women working for non profits or other governmental positions. The program concluded with a 3-day long workshop where we networked with professionals in the public and private sectors and attended guest speeches and panels on leadership and government work. Our keynote speaker was Usha Pitts, the US Chargé d’Affaires of the Bahamas. We also had the opportunity to meet former Mayor of Boston Kim Janey, where she gave a speech and did a Q&A with us over breakfast.”

“After the fall semester, I will be traveling to Madrid, Spain to complete a semester abroad at the University of Nebrija where I will continue to study Spanish from February to May. I plan to pursue a career in the foreign service, so during my last year at UMass I will probably be preparing to enroll in graduate school to continue my studies in foreign affairs.”

“If it weren’t for the great education I received at Revere High School I wouldn’t be where I am today. Mr. Kingston, Mr. Benner, Mr. Fellowes, Mr. Ciccarello, Ms Purkey, and Ms. Casper were just a few of the several teachers that helped me navigate not only being a good student but a good friend, teammate, leader, and person-and due to the pandemic I never got to give them a proper thanks. My teachers were there for me and my hundreds of annoying questions, concerns, stories, and even the drama that came with being a teenager, scared and anxious to see what the world had in store for her. I am grateful for all the great opportunities and experiences.”

Transportation Security Administration screened 8.76 million travelers during Labor Day weekend

Special to the Journal

During the Labor Day holiday, the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) screened 8.76 million travelers between Friday, Sept. 2 and Monday, Sept. 5. The weekend travel volume represents 106% of volume for the same pre-pandemic holiday weekend in 2019 and is the first time that a holiday weekend passenger screening volume exceeds that of 2019.

In 2019, Labor Day was on Monday, Sept. 2, and TSA screened 8.24 million passengers. The Labor Day weekend represents the conclusion of the summer travel season. This year, Friday marked the heaviest travel day. Transportation Security Officers screened 2.48 million passengers.

Over the course of the long weekend, 94.9% of TSA PreCheck® passengers waited less than 5 minutes. About 91.6% of those passengers in standard screening lanes waited less than 15 minutes.

During the weekend, Transportation Security Officers intercepted 67 firearms and prevented them from entering aircraft passenger cabins. On average, TSA stopped 17.3 firearms each day at checkpoints since the beginning of the year. If this pace continues, TSA anticipates that firearm catches at checkpoints will eclipse the current full year-record of 5,972 firearms intercepted at the nation's checkpoints in 2021.

"TSA's highly trained and dedicated workforce facilitated secure travel for millions of passengers during the busy summer travel season with very little disruptions at the checkpoint," said TSA Acting Administrator David Pekoske. "We were also able to continue the deployment of new technologies that facilitate stronger identity verification procedures and enhanced security screening for carry-on bags."

Through effective collaboration among airlines and airports within the transportation sector and with more than 12 million TSA PreCheck passengers enrolled, TSA actively monitored and managed wait times at airport security checkpoints. It is never too late to enroll and participate in the benefit of the expedited TSA PreCheck screening program that allows travelers to leave on shoes, jackets, and belts, and enables them to keep their electronics and 3-1-1 liquids in their carry-on bags. As a result of these benefits, TSA PreCheck lanes move faster and more efficiently than regular lanes.

As travelers prepare to embark on future trips, they may submit questions about TSA checkpoint procedures via Twitter at @AskTSA or via Facebook Messenger to a team of TSA employees who provide real-time responses on average within five minutes from 8am-6pm daily, including weekends and holidays.

Passengers or families of passengers with disabilities and/or medical conditions may call the TSA Cares helpline toll free at 855-787-2227 at least 72 hours prior to flying with any questions about screening policies, procedures, or to find out what to expect at the security checkpoint as well as arrange for assistance at the checkpoint.

Shapiro appointed new Inspector General

Staff Report

Governor Charlie Baker, Attorney General Maura Healey and Auditor Suzanne Bump last week announced the appointment of Jeffrey Shapiro to serve as the next Inspector General. Shapiro is an attorney who currently serves as the Commonwealth's First Deputy Comptroller and previously worked for the Middlesex County District Attorney and the Office of the Attorney General. Shapiro replaces former Inspector General Glenn Cunha, who served two five-year terms from 2012 until 2022.

"Jeffrey Shapiro brings a wide range of experience in legal matters, financial management and government accountability that will serve him well as Inspector General," said Governor Charlie Baker. "He has spent his career dedicated to public service, and his experience will be a strong asset to the Commonwealth as he takes on this new role."

"I want to congratulate and welcome Jeffrey Shapiro on his appointment as Inspector General," said Attorney General Maura Healey. "The Attorney General's Office works closely with the Inspector General on important investigations and oversight actions, and I look forward to collaborating with Inspector General Shapiro and the hardworking staff of his office in the future."

"Jeffrey Shapiro has proven himself to be a solid leader with deep experience in financial governance," said Auditor Suzanne M. Bump.

The Office of the Inspector General (OIG) is an independent agency that prevents and detects fraud, waste and abuse of public funds and public property and promotes transparency and efficiency in government. The OIG serves the residents of Massachusetts, state and local governments, and those who work with the government. The Governor, Attorney General and State Auditor are statutorily charged with selecting, by majority vote, an Inspector General for a term of five years, which is renewable once. Learn more about the OIG at their website.

Shapiro previously served as Chief Operating Officer in the Middlesex County District Attorney's office, from June 2013 until August 2015. In this role, he managed the business operations for the Office, which is one of the largest district attorney's offices in the country. From June 2012 until June 2013, he served as the Director of Resource Management in the Office of the Comptroller. Prior to that, he worked in the Middlesex County District Attorney's office as the Director of Administration and Finance from January 2007 until June 2012.

Cooking with Green Crabs on Revere Beach brings awareness to a destructive but tasty invasive species

Special to the Journal

On Thursday, August 18th, three local chefs took to Revere Beach to showcase their culinary creations using European Green Crabs, an invasive species now found commonly in Boston Harbor and Massachusetts Bay. Greencrab.org partnered with Eating the Ecosystem to demonstrate how to cook green crabs and to raise awareness on the damage this invasive species has done to the ecosystem. This event was made possible through a grant from Save the Harbor/Save the Bay's Better Beaches Program partnership with the Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR).

"This is a fun, and delicious way to connect people to the harbor and raise awareness about the impact of green crabs on our ecosystem," said Chris Mancini, Executive Director of Save the Harbor/Save the Bay. "It also brings free food to environmental justice communities and helps demystify cooking with this unusual, but plentiful and affordable species. Thanks to Greencrab.org for cultivating this culinary experience and bringing the community together on America's first public beach."

Chef Youji Iwakura created a seafood ramen, using green crabs to make a rich seafood broth combined with shrimp, vegetables and ramen noodles. Chef Ernie Campbell from Jamaica Mi Hungry demonstrated how to cook a green crab curry with rice and beans. Chef Andrew McQuesten made pressed rice with green crab, green crab roe and corn relish. This was each chef's first time cooking with green crabs, and attendees sampled each dish while they learned about the history and consequences of green crabs in our ecosystem. The organization provided information about green crabs in multiple languages and green crab coloring books to engage people of all ages and who may speak a language other than English as their primary language. You can find green crab recipes at <https://www.greencrab.org/recipes>.

"I want to thank Save the Harbor/Save the Bay for sponsoring the Cooking with Green Crabs event, on Revere Beach this past week," said Representative Jessica Giannino. "I am so proud that events like this are happening in the district to spread awareness on a range of environmental issues, like how we deal with invasive species creatively. Environmental justice and coastal communities, like Revere, need to be able to utilize all the resources they have available, and bringing awareness with events like this is a major first step."

"Green crabs cause a lot of problems for local ecosystems and fisheries but they're also delicious. Our organization is all about 'eating the problem' and developing culinary markets for a species that's largely underutilized in the U.S.," said Mary Parks, Founder and Director of Greencrab.org. "Our goal for this event was to get people in the community excited about the many ways you can cook with green crab and provide free resources and recipes in multiple languages so that more people can learn about this underutilized resource. We were so excited to partner with Eating with the Ecosystem for this event, given their focus on local and underutilized seafood and our biggest thanks to Save the Harbor/Save the Bay's Better Beaches Program for making this event possible."

According to Save the Harbor/Save the Bays Development Director

Patricia Salic, free beach events like this would not be possible without their program partners and event sponsors, including Arctic Chill and Harpoon Brewery, JetBlue, FMC Ice Sports, P&G Gillette, National Grid, Coast Cannabis, the Daily Catch, Comcast, Mix 104.1, iZotope, Inc, The Blue Sky Collaborative, Boston & Maine Webcams, BostonHarbor.com, The Boston Foundation, and The Richard Saltonstall Charitable Foundation.

tive Adrian Madaro of East Boston and the legislative and community members of the Commission as well as Senate President Karen Spilka and House Speaker Ron Mariano for their support for their beaches and communities. Save the Harbor also thanked the Baker-Polito Administration, the Massachusetts Legislature, Save the Harbor's partners at the Department of Conservation and Recreation, the Boston Centers for Youth & Families, the YMCA of Greater Boston, and the hundreds of people who took part in the Shamrock Splash for their support.
