Officials alert residents to possible lead contamination

Special to the Journal

Revere City officials are urging residents to remove lead service lines. Some homes may have high levels of lead in their drinking water.

The Revere Water Division has performed tests on higher risk properties that may contain lead or copper in their drinking water. Of the 20 tests performed 4 came back over the Environment Protection Agency and the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection action level for lead, of 15 parts per billion.

What does this mean?

Our system's water mains that carry the water to you are made mostly of iron, and therefore do not add lead to water. However, lead can get into tap water through the service line that connects your home to the water main if it is made of lead. Lead may also come from lead solder used to connect pipes in home plumbing, and from some faucets and fixtures.

What is our system doing?

Our public water system is taking the following actions to address the situation:

- The City of Revere Water and Engineering Departments have together removed 68 lead services and confirmed 32 services to be non-lead, this fiscal year. All lead services included in these tests as of 10/4/23 have also been removed. If you believe you have a lead service line or for more information, contact

Voters head to the polls next Tuesday

By Adam Swift

A hotly contested mayoral race tops the ballot for a Revere Municipal Election on Tuesday that also sees a number of other contested races.

Polls will be open in the city from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

There has been no love lost between Acting Mayor and former Ward 4 Councillor Patrick Keefe and former mayor and current Councillor-at-Large Dan Rizzo.

Keefe was the council president when former Mayor Brian Arrigo left to take the top job at the DCR a little over six months ago, elevating Keefe to the mayor's office.

Rizzo was elected to a single term as mayor in 2011.

Keefe and Rizzo topped the preliminary election ballot in September, outdistancing fellow councillors Steve Morabito and Gerry Visconti. Rizzo topped the ballot with 2,634 votes to 2,493 to Keefe, but Morabito and Visconti split nearly 1,500 votes in the preliminary.

With the number of current councillors stepping aside to take a run at the mayor's office, there is also a full slate of 10 candidates for the five at-large council seats.

Anthony Zambuto and Marc Silvestri are the only incumbents on the ballot. They are joined in the race by Robert Haas, III; Stephen Damiano; Michelle Kelley; Alexander Rhalimi; Anthony Par-

Board of Health hears of rat control program

By Journal Staff

The Revere Board of Health got together last Thursday, October 26, for a meeting in the City Council Chambers. Chairperson Dr. Drew Bunker and fellow members Dr. Craig Costanza and Nezha Louaddi were on hand for the session, as were Lauren Buck, Revere's Director of Public Health, and Michael Wells, the city's Health Agent/Director of Inspectional Services.

Buck presented the Public Health Communicable Disease monthly report. She noted that the highlights included three suspected cases of the mumps, but all were investigated and closed. She also reported that there were 347 confirmed cases and 116 suspected cases of COVID-19 from July 22 to October 23.

Buck also presented an update on a program operated by the Health Dept. to control mosquitoes this summer. She said that spraying conducted under the auspices of the Northeast Mass. Mosquito Control program has wrapped for the season. She added that two barrier treatments were made this season at the schools and other municipal properties. The program also came to private properties at the request of homeowners. There were five cases of West Nile virus this season across the state and no cases of EEE (Eastern Equine Encephalitis).

Buck also presented an update on the city's rodent control efforts that run all year long. The city's program consists of contracts with two exterminator services that provide free residential services upon request and baiting at municipal locations. She said that up to six free treatments in a calendar year are available to private property owners. Buck said there were 5188 service calls and 1086 treatments, and that 102 burrows were found and exterminated.

Buck noted that respiratory illness season arrives in the fall and that there are three significant illnesses, RSV, flu, and COVID-19, for which vaccines are available.

Council approves street name change to honor Previte family

By Adam Swift

The City Council honored the Previte family's contributions to Beachmont and the city on Monday night, voting to change the name of Unity Way to Previte Way.

The motion was originally put forward by Councillor-at-Large Gerry Visconti. He said the request was made by another prominent family in Beachmont.

Visconti and several other councillors spoke about the contributions the Previte family made to Beachmont residents when they ran their market in that part of the city.

However, several residents did raise some concerns about the name change and how it would affect the current residents of Unity Way.

"I'm against this motion because I think it presents a significant hardship to the residents and the business owners, specifically in regard to changing their addresses in multiple places such as their employment, banking, credit cards," said Bradstreet Avenue resident Mary Turner. "Anyone who has ever moved in their lifetime, whether personally or for business, can attest to the vast endeavor required to make these changes."

Turner said there would also be challenges for first responders and 911 operators with a street name change.

"It seems unimaginable to me to entertain any notion of removing the word unity anywhere in our city given the state of division this country is in right now," said Turner.

School Committee member Carol Tye noted that she is a lifelong Beachmont resident, but said changing the street name would put an unfair burden on residents.

Tye suggested that the city create a garden in the island in the middle of the street in honor of the Previte family.

"I stand against inconveniencing our citizens that way," said Tye. "I know is is not a huge, long street, but it is surely a street that represents at least in theory something I wish we had more of, not only right in this room but in other places – the name of the street, as Mrs. Turner noted, is Unity."

Visconti said he didn't understand the objections to the renaming of the street.

"I think it is a perfect opportunity to say thank you for the long deserved effort of that family for the Beachmont community," said Visconti.

Councillor-at-Large Dan Rizzo said he appreciated the concerns raised by Turner and Tye, adding he was not opposed to further discussion in subcommittee on the motion.

Ward 5 Councillor John Powers agreed that there wasn't a rush to vote on the name change on Monday night, but the motion was moved to a vote, and all councillors present except for Powers voted in favor of the motion.

Ms. Denise celebrating 25 years at Happy Day Nursery School.

Ms. Denise celebrates 25 years at Happy Day

By Melissa Randall

One of the very first school experiences Revere children have is at Happy Day Nursery School. Happy Day, which has been operating for over 40 years, is a half day preschool program that focuses on encouraging children to grow intellectually, socially and emotionally. They strive to provide a well rounded curriculum to the students to prepare them in the best way possible for Kindergarten and beyond, as starting with a core foundation and a love for learning is most important in a child's development.

One of those dedicated to the development of the youngest learners is Denise Balchunas who recently celebrated 25 years at Happy Day. When Ms. Denise's son attended Kindergarten at the A.C. Whelan School she volunteered in his classroom with his teacher Mrs. Webb. She had been a stay at home mom, but when her son entered first grade she got a part time job at Progressive Private Preschool in Revere. That is where her love for Early Education began.

A 1980 graduate of Revere high School, she began attending North Shore Community College. There she received her certification in Early Childhood Education as a Lead Teacher/Preschool.

"A friend of mine saw a job posting for Happy Day in the fall of 1998. I had set up an interview with the two owners Carole Smith & Dianne Misci. I was very impressed with the both of them and how they ran their preschool. I was very happy they hired me, and began working in October 1998."

Ms. Denise has had many special moments over the last 25 years. "I have enjoyed special times with the students such as holidays and special events. Most importantly I have enjoyed watching the children learn, grow and come into their own. A lot of the students come to Happy Day at 2.9 and stay with us until 5 when they leave to attend kindergarten. It is so rewarding to see them develop and become more confident, self-sufficient and develop a love for learning. I have also met so many wonderful families over the years. I love when they send us Christmas cards and stop in to say hello! I have also, along with Miss Carole, experienced the 2nd generation of Happy Day students!"

"The staff at Happy Day has always been more like a family. There are 2 teachers in each class. We team teach and are constantly bouncing ideas off of one another, and learning from each other's strengths. It is very rewarding seeing the children develop along with my co-workers."

No job comes without challenges. "One of the biggest challenges is trying to minimize the chaos when working with 16 three & four year olds. A lot of the children come into preschool at 2.9 and have not had any experience being in a group setting. Learning to listen, following directions, sharing and transitioning are always big challenges with preschoolers. But it can also be so rewarding to see them evolve. I feel that I have been truly blessed to be working in a field that I love and working with the people I love as well. I can honestly say that after 25 years I still enjoy going into school every day!"

Carole Smith, owner of Happy Day, could not be happier to have Ms. Denise on her staff. "I feel very blessed to have had Miss Denise be a part of the Happy Day family for the past 25 years. Denise walks into school every day with a smile on her face and puts her heart and soul into teaching!"

GET OUT AND VOTE ON TUESDAY

Many of us view local government in the same way that we think about the weather: Everybody complains about it, but nobody does anything about it.

However, unlike the weather, there actually is something we can do about the future direction of our local government: We can get out and vote.

We’ve always found it ironic that the turnout for national elections far exceeds the turnout for local elections. Local government has a much more direct impact on our daily lives than what happens in Washington. Our local government officials are responsible for just about everything that affects the quality of life in our communities, including our schools, public safety departments, trash collection, snow removal, street repair, etc., etc., etc.

Local governments are holding elections across the state this Tuesday, November 7. We urge all of our readers to take the time to get out and vote in order to elect the leaders in our community who best will reflect our values and goals for ourselves and our families.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS: TOTAL FAILURES

It is clear that the decision by the Democrats in the House of Representatives to allow a small band of narcissistic and anarchistic Republicans, led by the odious Matt Gaetz of Florida, to throw the Congress (as well as the country and the world) into chaos when they sided with Gaetz’s small band of fellow GOP anarchists to remove former House Speaker Kevin McCarthy has completely backfired.

It is axiomatic in politics that you always should have a plan (with a desired end result) before embarking on a course of action. But with the unanimous election last week by the Republicans of little-known Louisiana Congressman Mike Johnson to the speakership after three weeks of dysfunction, it is obvious that House Majority Leader Hakeem Jeffries and his team had no plan or strategy of any kind.

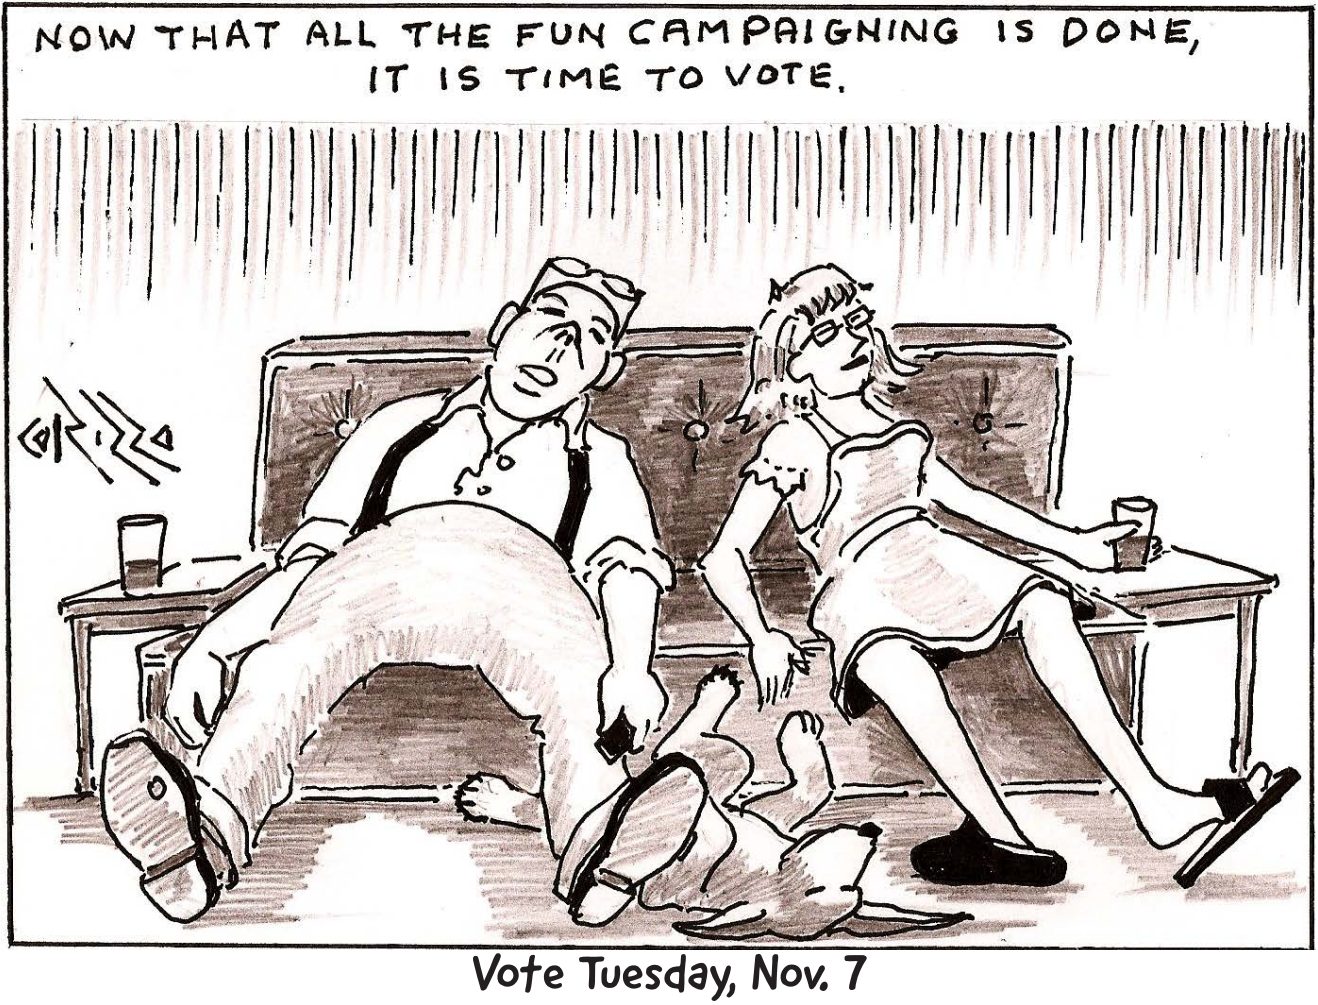

Sure, they were able to gloat for a few weeks while the Republicans stumbled and fumbled, but in the final analysis, the Democrats ended up with the worst of all possible outcomes: The Republicans now are completely united and Congress has a Speaker (a position that is second in line to become president) who is so far right-wing, that he is somewhere out in the proverbial left field on just about every issue imaginable. In addition, Johnson was a staunch supporter of Donald Trump’s efforts to undermine the election and has gone on record as opposing further military aid to Ukraine.

Sometimes -- SOMETIMES — politicians have to put the good of the country above their party’s perceived short-term political gain. Yes, Kevin McCarthy was a sniveling snake, but he did do the right thing in June to craft a compromise with Joe Biden to raise the debt ceiling and then again in September to pass a short term budget deal that averted a government shutdown.

Democrats complained that McCarthy could not be trusted and that he’s a liar (all of which is true) — but really? All politicians are less-than-truthful to some extent, from Joe Biden on down — do they think the people don’t know that?

In short, the Democrats “strategy” of just standing by and allowing McCarthy to fall has turned out to be a total disaster, with the immediate beneficiaries of their inaction and their miscalculations being Donald Trump and Vladimir Putin.

The Democrats forgot a cardinal rule of politics: The enemy of my enemy is my friend, as well as a cardinal rule of life: The devil you know is better than the devil you don’t.

City proposes outdoor dining ordinance

By Adam Swift

The city is looking to adopt a permanent outdoor dining ordinance through a zoning amendment.

“This is a way for us as a city to formalize what’s been happening in earnest since Covid when many different restaurants expressed a need to get outdoors in that public emergency,” said Tom Skwierawski, the city’s planning and community development director. “It was supported by different state regulations, most importantly the ABCC extension of temporary granting (of outdoor dining), which will expire in April. What we want to do now as a city is create an ordinance which makes formal the allowance for outdoor dining throughout the city and public places.”

The city policy was created as a partnership between the planning department, the city’s business liaison, the inspectional services department, and the licensing commission.

“I believe it is a reasonable set of regulations that puts a lot of checks and balances on the outdoor dining policy, most importantly through site plan review and the licensing commission,” said Skwierawski.

Assistant city solicitor Claire Inzerillo said all the applications will go through a site review process that includes input from the city’s disability commission, fire prevention, and police department among others.

“It’s not going to be a free-for-all, which was kind of happening under the state’s emergency guidelines,” she said. “This is a way to really put it in place so these places can go through one rigorous process in the beginning, getting all of their checks in and then having the ability to open up every single summer and treat people to a nice outdoor dining experience in the city.”

City ADA coordinator and City Councillors

Ira Novoselsky and John Powers did raise some concerns about how outdoor dining would impact ADA accessibility on public streets and sidewalks.

Licensing Administrator Maggie Haney noted that the ADA takes precedence and everything within the ordinance must comply with it. She added that the new ordinance could also make it easier to enforce potential ADA accessibility issues.

The council’s zoning subcommittee will discuss the proposed ordinance change at its Nov. 13 meeting before coming back to the full council for a potential vote.

Mayoral candidates trade vision and accusations in debate

By Adam Swift

Acting Mayor Patrick Keefe and former mayor and current Councilor-at-Large Dan Rizzo faced off in a hard-nosed debate at Revere High School last week.

With just over 140 votes separating the two mayoral candidates in the September preliminary election, the race looks to be going down to the wire for general municipal election on Tuesday, Nov. 7.

During the debate, Keefe and Rizzo battled over their records, the future of a new Revere High School, development in the city, public safety services, campaign donors, the Covid pandemic, houses in Florida, and every other question and issue that was raised over the course of 90 minutes.

Coming out of the gate in his opening statement, Keefe talked about the experience he’s garnered over the past six months as the acting mayor.

“Some might wonder about the value of six months experience running a city like Revere,” said Keefe. “Let me put it this way, when you swim in a pool of sharks, you learn quickly to become alert and decisive. So tonight, six months into my duty as mayor, we are safe and sound and Revere continues to move forward and thrive.”

Keefe said concerns about the transition or an absence of leadership when he took over when Brian Arrigo left office to head the DCR were quickly dismissed.

During this time in office, Keefe said he staffed vital positions in public safety and the public works departments, saw the city break ground on the new Point of Pines fire station and cut the ribbon on a new public works facility.

“We continue to invest in our community infrastructure, our educational programs and we continue to enhance our youth and senior services,” said Keefe. “I’ve served you with less than four weeks notice and one hand tied behind my back and I’m doing the job.”

Rizzo asked voters to look at the election as a job interview, and pointed to his experience as a graduate of Emmanuel College, a six-year veteran of the Navy, someone who has owned and operated his own business since 1987, and to his record as mayor and city councillor.

“Everything in my life has been accomplished with hard work, whether it was circling the globe on an aircraft carrier, earning my bachelor’s degree by going back to school nights, or starting my business from the ground up,” said Rizzo. “I’ve never taken the easy way out. In this race for mayor, no one should be appointed, you should earn it.”

During his term as mayor, Rizzo said the school system was top tier, winning awards, and a place where attendance and discipline policies were in place and teachers were respected.

“When I am elected, I will work as hard as I can every day to make sure your child is safe, gets a first class education, and I will address opportunities for expanded vocational studies,” said Rizzo.

Rizzo pointed to a number of investments in Revere that were made during his term, including the new Harry Della Russo Stadium, the Hill Elementary School, three new little league fields, and a number of park and playground upgrades.

Numerous times during the debate, Rizzo tied Keefe to the Arrigo administration and what he characterized as rampant residential development over the past eight years at the expense of city services.

“The last eight years, with the help of Mr. Keefe and the administration has only led to new massive residential apartment buildings and I say no more,” Rizzo said, adding that during his term as mayor his focus was on commercial growth in the city.

The candidates disagreed on the location of a potential new Revere High School, with Rizzo supporting building on the current high school site, while Keefe has been a staunch supporter of building on the Wonderland site that was initially approved by the School Committee and City Council.

Rizzo pointed to safety issues for students build-

DAN RIZZO FOR MAYOR

The leadership we know for the future we deserve.

Dan Rizzo is the only candidate with the experience and the willingness to get Revere's overdevelopment crisis under control. Out-of-town developers are engaged in a feeding frenzy, overdeveloping Revere too rapidly and building housing that our residents can't afford. As a result, our quality of life is suffering. We're mired in traffic, our communities are less safe, and our schools are underfunded and overcrowded.

We need Dan's plan for smart growth.

- ✔ Help Revere grow responsibly
- ✔ Create predetermined traffic mitigation
- ✔ Ensure city services match our city's growth

Dan Rizzo understands the issues of the city's top executive better than anyone. He has a pragmatic approach that will allow Revere to move into the future in ways that help improve our quality of life rather than overwhelm it.

ing on Wonderland across from the MBTA station and the fact that it is not centrally located. He also noted that there is pending litigation from the land-owners that cost the city up to $100 million for the right to build on the prop-erty.

“It’s not all about what I want, it’s about what the people want,” said Keefe. “For two years, we had a site plan review for the new high school with 40-plus meetings and every-one on that board voted for Wonderland as the first and best site.”

Keefe said there were subsequent votes by the School Committee and council in support of the Wonderland site before the council later voted not to move forward with the design plans for the Won-derland site largely due to additional costs. He said the Wonderland site re-mains the best parcel, with Revere likely never again having the opportunity to build on such a large and open parcel of land.

“We owe it to our stu-dents to make the best de-cision; we have one bite at the apple,” said Keefe.

In addition to the high school project, the candi-dates traded barbs when asked about how they would work to improve the Revere educational system in general.

Keefe said that as Act-ing Mayor, he is also the chair of the School Com-mittee and shows up to meetings. He also pointed to his long record of com-mitment to students and youth in the city.

“During my six months as mayor, I’ve spent more time in the schools than the former mayor spent in any of our schools,” said Keefe. “I know the parents, I know the prob-lems, and we are far from perfect, but we have a lot of opportunity and need someone to step up and do the job, not someone who goes to Florida every three months.”

Rizzo countered that perhaps Keefe shouldn’t show up to the schools, because Rizzo said when he was mayor, Revere High School was recog-nized with a gold medal from the National Center for Urban Transformation and all the city schools were ranked as level one or two.

“My goal as a mayor is to give kids a first-class education and make sure there is a discipline and attendance policy that brings the schools back to where they need to be,” said Rizzo.

The candidates next battled over their records and vision for develop-ment in the city.

Rizzo once again stat-ed that Keefe and former mayor Arrigo overextend-ed public services in the city by allowing too much residential development, while Keefe countered that during his term, Rizzo also backed a number of residential developments and spent much of his time trying to bring casinos to Revere.

“He begged for race-tracks, he begged for ca-sinos, he begged for slot parlors; all he wanted was casinos and slot parlors, and gambling,” said Keefe. “For four years, you spent your whole ad-ministration chasing down a corrupt casino and failed and lost and cost the city millions of dollars.”

Rizzo argued that during the past eight years, the city moved forward too fast with the Suffolk Downs redevelopment project without getting the level of mitigation that East Boston is getting for its portion of the project.

“We need someone to step up to (the develop-ers),” Rizzo said. “When you take money from real estate developers and high-end donors, I’m not sure how you can do that.”

Unsurprisingly, Keefe and Rizzo painted differ-ent pictures of economic growth and affordability in the city.

Several times, Rizzo noted that the city’s bud-get grew by $100 million in the time since he left of-fice as mayor.

“For another $100 mil-lion, does anybody in the city think they are getting more or better services than they did eight years ago?” Rizzo asked. “I doubt it.”

For his part, Keefe said that the water and sewer rates were up 20 percent and taxes rose four years in a row during the Rizzo administration. He also stated that the property tax rate is lower now than it was when Rizzo was may-or.

“He also had to raid the rainy day fund twice to balance his budget, and all the city’s free cash sat in a non-interest bearing account,” Keefe said. “I have earned more interest in the last six months than in his entire term as may-or.”

Keefe also responded to the number of times Rizzo brought up Keefe’s record in concert with Arrigo’s eight years as mayor.

“I know that you hate the former mayor, that’s between you and him,” said Keefe. “He seems to own space in your head. I have to continually remind him, ‘I’m Patrick Keefe;’ I don’t know why that is so hard.”

Rizzo said he was amazed that Keefe was trying to say that water and sewer and tax rates were higher when he was mayor.

“People are not happy

in the city with 4,000 addi-tional units that do not do anything for the taxpayer,” said Rizzo.

Rizzo said the past eight years have seen a dramatic rise in the number of res-idents and housing units and that the public ser-vices have not been able to keep up with the increase.

If elected, Rizzo said his first priority would be to make sure there is enough public safety personnel in place to handle the burden of the increased popula-tion.

The candidates also dis-agreed over the state of the police department, with Keefe accusing of making the appointment of the po-lice chief a political foot-ball. Rizzo countered that when he was mayor he appointed the best person for the position, and that the chief was not facing accusations like those that have come up in the media against the current police chief.

“I know that Mr. Keefe is disappointed that so many members of law enforcement support my candidacy; I can’t help that,” said Rizzo. “Where he comes up with the promises to appoint a chief, I wish he would let me know where that in-formation comes from. I can’t spit stuff out to the public and not be able to back it up.”

The tail end of the de-bate featured questions about traffic, affordable housing, and potential re-sponse to another public safety crisis such as the Covid pandemic.

Keefe said that during the pandemic, he was out every day volunteering with the Revere Food Pan-try and fighting to get the schools safely open for Revere’s students.

As he did several times during the debate, Keefe accused Rizzo of disap-pearing from the city after lost elections,

“He took PPP money and went to Florida while we took care of Revere,” said Keefe. “He disap-peared for the entire pan-demic.”

Rizzo said he didn’t understand why Keefe seemed so obsessed with his house in Florida.

“I should apologize to Mr. Keefe for buying a house in Florida back in 2004, I didn’t know it was such a major issue for him and his family,” said Rizzo. “As far as the pandemic goes, maybe he does not realize that I was not an elected official at that time. I was suffering from the pandemic with everyone else along with my family and father.

“I’m glad my opponent worked at a food bank, that’s great, but I had things I was dealing with myself,” Rizzo continued. “To turn a natural disaster into a political gain is re-ally despicable. This was a horrible time for our coun-try and our city.”

Rounding out the ques-tion portion of the debate, each candidate was asked to describe Revere in a single word.

Rizzo said Revere is a special place, with people from all different walks of life, cultures, and so-cio-economic levels.

Keefe characterized Revere as beautiful, with beautiful resources and people and an unbeliev-able upside.

Acting Mayor Keefe announces Revere Budget Office receives International Certificate of Achievement

Special to the Journal

Mayor Patrick M. Keefe Jr. has announced that the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA) has awarded the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting to the City of Revere for its annual comprehensive financial report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2022. The report has been judged by an impartial panel to meet the high standards of the program, which includes demonstrating a constructive “spirit of full disclosure” to clearly communicate its financial story and motivate potential users and user groups to read the report.

“I am tremendously proud of our Chief Financial Officer Richard Viscay and his coordination of the City’s annual financial audit by its independent auditors,” said Mayor Patrick Keefe. “This award is a testament to the dedicated work of him and his team in ensuring that the City’s finances are audited to comply with the highest of standards.”

The Certificate of Achievement is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting, and its attainment represents a significant accomplishment by a government and its management.

“On behalf of my staff, I am truly honored to receive the GFOA’s Certificate for Excellence in Financial Reporting for the 10th straight year, said Chief Financial Officer Richard Viscay. “Fiscal Year 2022 presented its own set of unique challenges with all of the federal and state aid received during the pandemic, and the unified efforts by my staff allowed us to effectively account for and manage the tens of millions of dollars received without the use of outside vendors that many other communities hire to manage these funds. Through collaboration, we were able to deliver on the priorities of funds received and comply with all federal and state regulations accordingly.”

Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA) advances excellence in government finance by providing best practices, professional development, resources, and practical research for more than 21,000 members and the communities they serve.

preparation, building construction, infrastructure, and housing development.

The grants were announced during a kickoff celebration at Suffolk Downs in Revere honoring recipients of awards through the MassWorks and HousingWorks grant programs, two of the largest programs in the One Stop. Revere is a recipient of a MassWorks award for the redevelopment of Suffolk Downs, as well as a Housing Choice program grant, among grants for a wide range of projects.

“Revere is in the midst of an exciting transformation - from Revere Beach to Suffolk Downs and Shirley Ave, the city continues to drive forward with great momentum,” said Acting Mayor Patrick Keefe. “Our growth wouldn’t be possible without the support of the Governor and her team and resources provided through the One Stop for Growth grants. This program gives us the tools to inform our planning efforts, improve the quality of life in our neighborhoods, and support economic development for all in the city, allowing Revere to compete again for the fastest-growing city in the Commonwealth.”

Healey said One Stop is a vital economic development tool to spark growth, spur development and strengthen local economies across the state.

“These funds will help make possible community-led projects that build vibrant downtowns and unlock economic potential in every region of Massachusetts, while creating new jobs, housing, and opportunity,” said the governor.

Through this round of the One Stop, EOED received 783 applications from 239 communities representing every region of the state. Of the 336 applications awarded, 26 percent are located in a rural or small town, 33 percent are located in a Gateway City, and 61 percent are located in an MBTA Community, and 49 percent are located in a Housing Choice Community.

EOED estimates the One Stop awards will help create more 8,000 new housing units across the state including 3,000 new affordable units, 10,000 new permanent jobs, and more than 5.4 million square feet of new commercial development.

“On behalf of the people of Revere, I extend my appreciation to Governor Healey and Lt. Gov. Driscoll for their leadership in promoting these One Stop Awards,” said state Representative Jeffrey Rosario Turco. “With these grants, the City of Revere can continue its strategic planning to improve both economic opportunity and the quality of life for our residents.”

Revere State Representative Jessica Giannino said having a single application portal and collaborative review process of community development grant programs is a great tool for gateway cities like Revere.

“This process streamlines the experience for the applicant and better coordinates economic development programs which means more resources and programming for our communities,” Giannino said.

Some of the One Stop Grant award highlights in Revere include $250,000 for a Brownfields Redevelopment Project The city will use this grant to advance a portion of a larger municipal park redevelopment and climate resiliency project that will complement the city’s Riverfront Master Plan.

Women Encouraging Empowerment were the recipients of a $20,000 grant which will be used to upgrade technology and make essential renovations to its facility in Revere’s Shirley Avenue neighborhood.

The Neighborhood Developers received a $50,000 Commonwealth Places Program grant to advance the transformation of Fitzhenry Square into a shared-use space and dog park.

The city received a $285,000 Housing Choice grant to conduct community-led public realm infrastructure improvements to support a growing local population near Shirley Avenue. The city also received a $25,000 grant for technical assistance for a parking management and utilization study of the Broadway corridor.

A $4 million MassWorks Infrastructure Program grant will provide funding for traffic improvements to support the first phase of the 161-acre Suffolk Downs redevelopment project.

A $275,000 Site Readiness program grant will support master planning for an envisioned mixed-use development at the 35-acre Wonderland Park located across Rte. 1A from Wonderland Station.

Prestigious Position

Sen. Edwards sworn in as JAG in Mass. Army National Guard

By Cary Shuman

Sen. Lydia Edwards was sworn in Monday, Oct. 30 as a Judge Advocate General in the Massachusetts Army National Guard.

Edwards continues her family’s outstanding tradition of military service that began with her mother, Retired Master Sergeant Bridgett Edwards, who enlisted in the United States Air Force in 1971 and served with distinction for 23 years.

Lydia Edwards is a graduate of American University’s Washington School of Law.

Her formal title will be First Lt. Lydia Marie Edwards of the Massachusetts Army National Guard.

“As a Judge Advocate General (also known as attorney), I will have the honor to serve and advocate on behalf of those who serve our country,” said Edwards, who will continue in her position as state senator in the First Suffolk and Middlesex District that includes East Boston.

Following are some background facts and personal observations from Sen. Edwards on her prestigious position as a JAG in the Massachusetts Army National Guard:

Her Background

“I was born on St. Patrick Air Force Base in Florida and lived “on base” at various locations mostly in Florida, two bases in England, and KI Sawyer Air Force Base in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan until I was about 15 years old.

“Base is a small bubble, but it amounts to an entire ecosystem and culture of service. Everyone on base is there to serve. My mom had two girls to raise, and we didn’t want for a babysitter, helping hand, or rides home. I am forever grateful to those adults who helped us. I want to give a special shout-out to the base wives. They really connected with my mom and helped her.”

The reasons for her decision

“I think it’s normal for people to do what their parents did. I had interviewed for the JAG while in law school and took an offer from a law firm in Boston. I always wondered about the opportunity I had given up. I actually made it to a second round with JAG. Then I met Sen. John Velis and Sen. Mike Rush.

I learned they were very much serving the country and commonwealth. I started the 18-month process soon thereafter. I was “old” and needed a waiver. I had support from Council President Ed Flynn, Mayor Michelle Wu, former Gov. Charlie Baker, and various attorney supervisors from my past that could speak to my legal chops.

I chose the Army because of the comradery and excitement of the people I met. I talked with Hank Naughton, a former state representative, and Jerry Parisella, a current state representative. Both served as Army JAG attorneys.

The National Guard is something special. At its very essence is the concept of the citizen soldier. The person who lives an everyday normal life but when the country calls, you respond. The Guard is often called during natural disasters and was recently called to respond to the migrant crisis. Many of the soldiers deploy to various locations as well. At each major point, a JAG officer is there to provide legal advice to a commanding officer or to directly represent soldiers (such as writing wills). This aspect really spoke to me. I am essentially a legal services attorney for soldiers.

I also deeply believe in

civil liberties and that everyone including soldiers should have the right to due process. JAG has defense and prosecutorial aspects. Soldiers are people who need help. Some need to fight to keep their jobs as their civilian employer may not want to hear about you deploying for several months. Some need advice on family matters such as divorce, adoption etc. Some soldiers have committed horrible crimes and need a defense attorney.”

What’s next?

“Well, I have been to drill already. I will continue to go once a month and two weeks a year. I will continue to be East Boston’s senator and advocate on Beacon Hill. I won’t be alone with Sen. John Velis (Major -MA NG) and Sen Mike Rush (Commander US Navy) already in the State House.

Colleagues offer their congratulations to Sen. Edwards

Colleagues in government of Sen. Lydia Edwards extended their congratulatory wishes on becoming a Judge Advocate General in the Massachusetts Army National Guard. Following are their remarks:

State Rep. Adrian Madaro

“I congratulate Senator Edwards on becoming a Judge Advocate General in the Massachusetts Army National Guard. This is a wonderful accomplishment and an amazing way to continue her mother’s legacy of service in the Armed Forces.”

State Rep. Jessica Giannino

“Senator Edwards is a shining example of a strong woman who is continuing a family legacy of military service. I wish her all the best in this journey, and I know that she will bring the same commitment she brings to the State House to our soldiers.”

State Rep. Jeff Turco

“Congratulations and best wishes to Lt. Lydia Edwards. From the first time I met Lydia, she has always spoken so well and admirably of her mother’s service in the U.S. Armed Forces. As she joins the ranks of the Massachusetts National Guard as a JAG officer, she honors her mom and all of us.”

Link Logistics donates $1 million for community projects in Ward 1

Special to the Journal

Link Logistics will be redeveloping a 44-acre Global Petroleum facility along 1A, creating over 600k square feet of logistics space that will create jobs, remove an eyesore from a key city gateway, and bring a host of community benefits to Revere. Last Thursday, the Link Logistics team provided a $1 million donation to the City of Revere, to be used for community projects in Ward 1. Most importantly, funding will include support for the conversion of the former Beachmont Fire Station to a community arts center. This is the culmination of a year-long planning effort, in partnership with MAPC and a team of community stakeholders, to develop a shared vision for the former Fire Station, which has sat vacant since closing in 2008. Funds will support initial remedial repairs to prepare the project for its end-use as an arts center, which the city hopes will be leased and operated by a nonprofit community partner. “Link Logistics’ generous $1 million donation supports our vision for the next generation in Revere and demonstrates their commitment to supporting local organizations that will benefit our residents for years to come,” said Acting Mayor Patrick Keefe. “These funds will pave the way for a brighter, more culturally enriched Revere. We are grateful for this partnership and excited about the opportunities it will bring to our city.”

Leaky Dogs

By Penny & Ed Cherubino

Having had two dogs who lived to a ripe old age, dogs with urinary tract infections, and fostered dogs with house training issues, we’ve had experience with leaky dogs. Don’t be dismayed if your canine pal begins to have signs of urinary incontinence.

Off to the Vet

Any sudden change in house training or signs of leaking urine are reasons for a visit to your veterinarian to find a cause. Washington State University’s School of Veterinary Medicine notes that urinary incontinence is the involuntary passing of urine. This leak differs from diseases and infections that cause a pet to urinate frequently. However, these possible causes should be eliminated and treated before you consider a dog incontinent.

Causes of Incontinence

The WSU Veterinary Teaching Hospital identifies many conditions that might cause incontinence in dogs. “... including abnormalities in parts of the brain and spinal cord that control bladder function, birth defects, and disease. As pets age, they may become incontinent because muscles that hold urine in the bladder weaken.”

Your veterinarian may order tests to determine the cause of your dog’s problem. They will most likely want a urine sample to look for bacteria. Blood tests can give them information on kidney function or disease. Ultrasound and X-ray views may be needed to examine the urinary tract. Once they narrow in on a cause, your veterinary team may suggest a medication or surgical procedure to correct the problem.

Living with a Leaky Dog

If your dog has a leaking condition that you will live with, there are many products to prevent damage to your home. For a mild leaker, washable, waterproof blankets or throws can cover your furniture and the space you share with your dog in your bed. We’ve relied on the Mambe brand of products for years and love them. They come in many sizes and colors.

You can use the small square, washable incontinence pads (made for people to put on the seat of chairs) when the dog is sitting on someone’s lap or as a spot for the dog to sit when you visit someone’s home, business, or in a car, bus or train.

As our Maggie Mae aged, she leaked quite a bit. We used diapers on her. It took a little while for her to adjust to them, but she soon did. When we took in a foster whom we named Cooper, he had a severe urinary tract infection and was not housetrained. We used bellybands with pads to keep him from damaging the house each time he raised his leg.

Diapers for dogs come in many styles and sizes. Some are washable and reusable with disposable liners. Others are entirely disposable. We kept trying different types until we found the ones that worked best.

A dermatologist dis-

There are many styles of diapers and belly bands for those who live with a leaky dog.

covered our Poppy’s slow leak when looking for a cause of a skin infection. The medications we tried didn’t work or had side effects. By logging the details of her leaks, we found that she leaked when she waited too long to urinate. Fortunately, she uses puppy pads inside. We continue to log her urinary details and set reminders to have her go on her pads more often. Finally, contact with urine can cause problems for your dog’s skin. If you use a diaper or bellyband, check and change the pad often and clean the skin with a mild soap or chlorhexidine wipe. Ask your vet to examine the dog’s skin on every visit.

Project Bread hosts another successful Interfaith Mini Walk for Hunger

Special to the Journal

On Sunday, Oct. 22, over 75 participants of different faiths united both in person and virtually for the annual Interfaith Mini Walk for Hunger. Together, they raised $15,000 to support Project Bread’s year-round efforts to prevent and combat food insecurity statewide and are continuing to accept donations in the coming weeks. The 3-mile family friendly walk started and ended at Temple Beth David in Westwood. As in previous years, Christians, Jews, Muslims, and Hindus from surrounding towns participated. However, the walkers did not need to be members of a house of worship to participate.

Project Bread is the leading statewide anti-hunger organization in Massachusetts. As 1 in 5 households through the state struggle with food insecurity, the nonprofit connects people and communities to reliable food sources and advocates for policies that make food more accessible for all.

“When people come together to fight for something, it unites them for a common purpose,” says Alexa Drolette, Senior Director of Development at Project Bread. “The fundraising efforts from this Walk will go toward ensuring that everyone in Massachusetts has reliable access to healthy food.”

During the event, remarks were shared by the clergy members, along with Dr. Jeffrey Greenwald for Temple Beth David, co-chair of the Walk, Alexa Drolette from Project Bread, and Trish Tucke from the Westwood Food Pantry. Walkers brought over 20 bags of non-perishable food items to donate to the food pantry and live music was played by Larry and Kyra Kramer of the Route 109 Band. The Interfaith Mini Walk for Hunger received major support from their Gold Sponsors: Wegmans and Dedham Savings Bank. Roche Bros donated snacks and drinks for the day, as well as pantry supplies.

“We were so pleased to be joined by the greatest number of houses of faith in the Walk’s history, all coming together in solidarity, showing that addressing hunger in our community is an issue that transcends all differences in faith, culture, background, and politics,” says Dr. Jeffrey Greenwald, one of the organizers from Temple Beth David.

Money raised from the annual Interfaith Mini Walk for Hunger will fund statewide hunger prevention efforts, advocacy for permanent policies that solve hunger, and local partnerships with organizations and people with lived experience with hunger to develop community-driven solutions.

People experiencing food insecurity should call into Project Bread’s toll-free FoodSource Hotline (1-800-645-8333), which provides confidential assistance to connect with food resources, including SNAP benefits, in 180 languages and for the hearing impaired. For more information, visit: www.projectbread.org/get-help.

REVERE Through the Years

The news about the troubles of the Caesars' gaming company fell on Suffolk ownership like a pallet of bricks from out of the blue sky. At least according to Suffolk. As witnesses at an MGC adjudicatory hearing on Tuesday morning. The two hour meeting revealed a detailed timeline about Suffolk's initial vetting, its two-year partnership, and its eventual break-up with the gaming giant. A company that is now also under investigation by a Grand Jury in Nevada about anti-money laundering policies. What blindsided them was the licensing agreement deal Caesars had engaged in last March with Gansevoort Hotel, a company that regulators believe has ties to some segment of Russian organized crime. MGC Commissioners said on Tuesday they had told Caesars about their concerns with the Gansevoort deal last April.

Revere voters will be going to the polls Tuesday to decide whether to approve the Suffolk Downs casino proposal for a Host Community Agreement. The process has been a long time coming, starting more than six years ago when Suffolk Downs first told residents about their project.

Incumbent Mayor Thomas Ambrosino overwhelmingly defeated his challenger, City Council President John Jordan, in Tuesday's city election. Ambrosino, who has been elected to the first four-year mayoral term in city history, received 7510 votes to just 3815 for Jordan.

In the contest for Councilor at Large, former mayor George Colella topped the balloting with 6363 votes. Joe Giannino was second with 5410 votes, followed by Dan Rizzo, Robert Haas Jr., and Anthony Zambuto. John Correggio, Stephen Reardon, Carol Sinclair, and Dennis Sentner finished out of the money.

In the ward races, a number of incumbents were defeated. In Ward 1, Doug Goodwin defeated incumbent Richard Penta; in Ward 3, Arthur Guinasso defeated incumbent Brian Vesce; in Ward 4, George Rotondo defeated incumbent Michael Ferrante; and in Ward 6, Mark Casella defeated Richard Ireton. Ira Novoselsky in Ward 2 and John Powers in Ward 5 ran unopposed.

In the School Committee contest, Incumbents Carol Tye, Fred Sannela, Donna Wood Pruitt, Emmanuel Ferrante, and Thomas Caporale were re-elected. Newcomer Ann Raponi also was elected. Dan Maguire was the lone candidate to finish out of the money.

The number of registered motor vehicles in the city has exploded in the past decade, jumping from 23,473 in 1991 to 33,063 in 2001, according to the latest figures issued by the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

The Mass. House overwhelmingly has passed a ban on smoking in restaurants, bars, and workplaces. If the ban is approved by the State Senate, Massachusetts will become the fifth state in the nation to ban smoking in such places.

Two males pulled off a violent robbery of the Blockbuster Video store on the VFW Parkway just after 1 a.m. Sunday. The robbers assaulted the store's two employees and then held guns to their heads demanding money in the store's safe.

Thieves broke into the Radio Shack store in the Northgate Mall Saturday night, smashing through a front door and taking several items.

Incumbent Mayor Robert Haas handily won re-election Tuesday, defeating challenger Edward Ryan, a Revere Police Lieutenant, by a 3-1 margin, 8820-2960.

Al Fiore once again topped the balloting in the at-large City Council contest with 7297 votes, more than 2000 votes better than the next candidate, newcomer Paul Buonfiglio. The other three candidates elected to at-large seats are incumbent George A. Caporale Jr., former mayor George Colella (who stepped down from the mayoral post two years ago), and incumbent Joseph DelGrosso. Incumbents Linda Santos Rosa and Patsy Tata were defeated, as were Anthony Zambuto, Gerald Esposito, and Carole Lombard Sinclair.

In the Ward 1 race, Richard Penta defeated incumbent Rita Singer; in Ward 2, incumbent Richard Penn defeated Richard Tegan; in Ward 3, incumbent Arthur Guinasso defeated Richard Cejka; in Ward 4, incumbent John Jordan was unopposed; in Ward 5, Joseph DiCarlo defeated Guy Meli in the race to succeed incumbent John Arrigo; and in Ward 6, incumbent Steve Colarossi defeated Christine Robertson.

In the School Committee contest, incumbent Thomas Ambrosino handily topped the balloting with 4956 votes, followed by incumbents Peter Martino, Denise Salemi, Louis H. Cheako Carlone, and Emmanuel Ferrante. Candidates Robert Nardone, William Cintolo, William Foley, Dennis Toto, Louise Bernard, and Steven Rocky Parelo were not elected.

Voters also decided a referendum question, which had been placed on the ballot by the Citizens Against Municipal Mismanagement. Voters approved the question, which will cut City Council salaries from $11,432 to $5000; School Committee salaries from $3600 to $1000; the stipend for the Regional School Committee member from $6000 to zero, as well as eliminating that office's expense account from $6000 to zero; and eliminated the $3300 expense and health care accounts for School Committee members from $3300 each to zero.

Few surprises are expected in Tuesday's city election, with Mayor George V. Colella expected to have only token opposition from challenger Larry Torregrossa. However, a ballot question is drawing the most interest, in which voters will decide whether to reverse

Why I Decided to Run For Councillor At Large
By Michelle Kelley- At Large Candidate

Being a lifelong Revere resident, working my way through college and then law school, while generally living what most would call a quiet life, I even surprised myself when I decided to run for Councilor At Large. So, it's not surprising that my campaign hasn't been about headlines, being an attention-getter or being in the spotlight all the time -- it's been about you! It's about giving you a voice. It's about your quality-of-life. It's about making sure your best interests are being protected & served at all times.

I got involved because my neighbors and I didn't like the way the city was being run, and because we felt that decisions were being made on our behalf - in our name, and with our tax dollars - without adequate input from us. From YOU!

I got involved because I didn't like the way decisions about the Biolab at Suffolk Downs were made - without adequate due diligence and full transparency. And, I felt a responsibility to bring my experience as a lifelong resident and as an attorney to that issue which resulted in significant policy changes through perseverance and hard work.

I got involved because I didn't like the way I saw seniors were being treated. The way residents didn't have a voice in the way out-of-town developers were building in their neighborhoods.

I got involved because it became evident to me that the residents need a voice - and we need a "neighborhood watch" approach that will look out for the best interests & quality of life of the residents of Revere.

I got involved to bring that same "neighborhood watch" approach over the city budget because those are taxpayer dollars. That's your money.

And I've STAYED involved because I know I can be your voice on the City Council. And, most importantly, because your voice does matter. It matters to me and it should matter to everyone at City Hall. As an attorney, being an advocate comes naturally to me and I will be your advocate at City Hall. That means, first & foremost, listening to you and taking your interests and ideas and turning them into action and not allowing your interests to be silenced by deep pockets and political connections.

Thank you for all the support over the last six months. I've lived in Revere my whole life, and I love it, but I love it in a different way now -- now that I've had the opportunity to hear all your stories and concerns and it's only intensified my commitment to serve as YOUR VOICE! Elect me and I promise you will always have a voice at City Hall.

I'm Michelle Kelley and I humbly & respectfully ask for your vote on or before November 7th!

1. "The most effective and visibly impactful ordinance was the prohibition of plastic bags. This ordinance has made a world of difference in the cleanliness of our streets and beaches.

2. Another environmentally sound ordinance that I proposed, was the prohibition of polystyrene, a toxic chemical linked to cancer and other negative health effects used to make Styrofoam packaging. Prohibiting this material has promoted the use of sustainable food packaging at our stores and restaurants like paper, cardboard, or other recyclable materials.

3. I also largely contributed to and was a staunch advocate for the prohibition of new billboards, the control and regulation of the short-term rental market {which has decimated residential housing stock throughout the Commonwealth}, and making open green space safer for our children by prohibiting tobacco, alcohol, drugs, and weapons from our parks and playgrounds.

4. I have the most recorded 311 calls only second to Ward Two Councillor Ira Novoselsky. Each and every issue that I report to 311 has made Ward One a cleaner place to live.

5. I advocated for and approved funding for the upgraded sewer system infrastructure and all new streets and sidewalks in the lower half of Beachmont. In addition to the sewer infrastructure upgrades in Beachmont, stormwater infrastructure upgrades will be taking place on Sewall, Victoria, Haddon, Elm, and Mill Streets beginning in the Spring of 2024.

6. I have planted over 100 (one hundred) trees to clean and purify the air directly caused by pollution inundating Ward One from Logan Airport.

7. I was directly involved with returning the dilapidated MacMackin Field to City-owned property, which will someday be developed for the benefit of our residents.

8. I was able to obtain $585,000 {five hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars) to repave Winthrop Avenue, which is scheduled for Spring 2024.

9. I advocated for the addition of a bus stop at the Suffolk Downs Stop and Shop so people no longer have to walk a long distance in inclement weather from the former bus stop location on Winthrop Avenue.

10. To combat the rising ocean, waters, I worked with FEMA and MEMA to elevate houses on Pearl Avenue to protect those residents' homes from storm surges and worked with State Representative Jeff Turco and Congresswoman Katherine Clark to obtain money to restore the beach wall along Winthrop Parkway.

11. Most recently, I worked to obtain $500,000 (half a million dollars) for the renovation of the Community Arts Center at the Beachmont Fire Station."

GIRLS SOCCER FINISHES AT 16-1-1; READY FOR TOURNNEY

The Revere High girls soccer team came up on the short end of a 2-0 decision to Somerville in the final game of the season that was a winner-take-all contest for the 2023 Greater Boston League (GBL) title. Revere finished with a 12-1-1 record in the GBL, just behind the 13-0-1 Lady Highlanders. The teams had dueled to a 1-1 deadlock in their first meeting earlier in the season, thus setting up the dramatic season finale. Despite the loss, the Lady Patriots concluded the most successful season in program history with an overall record of 16-1-1.

"It was an unbelievable game," said RHS head coach Megan O'Donnell. "Nisrin Sekkat played her best game of the season and Somerville got lucky and scored two goals in the last 15 minutes.

"We played our hearts out but came up short," O'Donnell continued. "Kaylin Oliva had the best game of her career. She challenged Somerville for every ball. We had great ball movement from Jessica Nova, Samarah Paiva, Ari Pina, Erika Mejia, and Sandra Torres. Catalina Chivazo, Nataly Oliva, and Giselle Salvador all played their hearts out and our bench players played a huge role in the game by cheering and encouraging their teammates the whole game.

"I am proud of how we did this season and I am sad the girls couldn't pull out the GBL title," added O'Donnell, "but the growth and success of our program from last year has been phenomenal. Our eight seniors have shown true leadership and commitment to this program. I am definitely going to miss this senior class. I am so proud of this team for everything they have accomplished this season and I am hoping we can make a statement in this year's tournament. I tell the girls, 'Work hard, play hard, but at the end of the day, what lesson did you learn from the game?' "

"Our team wouldn't be where we are today without the help of coach Rivera," O'Donnell added.

"Coach Rivera is a true leader for these girls. She pushes them to their limits and is always there to listen and help the girls in any situation. Coach Rivera is going to do big things with the girls basketball team this winter."

The JV team earned a 4-4 tie with Somerville. "They had their best season in a long time, Coach Kelly and Jerry did a fantastic job with the girls this year," noted O'Donnell.

O'Donnell and her crew now await word of their seeding and preliminary round opponent in the upcoming Division 3 state tournament. The Lady Patriots are ranked 51st in D-3.

RHS BOYS SOCCER AWAITS TOURNNEY FOE

The Revere High boys soccer team celebrated Senior Night in appropriate fashion with a 5-2 victory over Excel Academy last Wednesday evening under the lights at Harry Della Russo Stadium. The win gave coach Manny Lopes's crew a final overall record of 9-3-3. The Patriots finished in third place in the Greater Boston League with an 8-3-3 mark behind league champion Somerville (12-1-1) and second-place Medford (10-3-1).

The Revere squad now awaits word of its seeding and first-round opponent in the MIAA's Division 2 soccer tournament. The Patriots were seeded 17th in D-2 as of Monday and if the current rankings hold up by the end of the season (some schools still had some games to play this week), the Patriots would travel to 16th-seeded Reading for a first-round contest.

GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY FINISHES SECOND IN GBL

The Revere High girls cross country team turned in an outstanding performance to take second place at last Wednesday's Greater Boston League (GBL) Meet that was held at Torbert Macdonald Park, which is located on Route 16 in Medford along the banks of the Mystic River.

Attoui, Woodard power Revere to 27-0 win over Malden

By Cary Shuman

The improving Revere High School football excelled in all phases of the game in a strong 27-0 victory over Malden.

Abbas Attoui had his second three-touchdown performance of the season, rushing for 154 yards to lead the Revere offense. Attoui was named a Boston Globe 'Player of the Week' in recognition of his outstanding performance.

Running back Giovanni Woodard also helped boost the offense with 101 yards rushing and a touchdown.

"I'm very happy with the way we played on offense and defense," said head coach Lou Cicatelli.

"Getting healthy has definitely helped us."

Quarterback Carlos Rizo showed a lot of poise in the passing game, according to Cicatelli. "He managed the game very well. When Carlos is on and we get the play-action going, it opens up the running game, and that was a big plus for the team."

Felipe Maia booted

three PATs in the game as he continued to showcase his placekicking talents.

Senior linebacker Victor Andrade (10 tackles), Medhi Bellemsieh, Walter Rodriguez, and Isaiah Decrosta were the standouts for Revere's defense.

Revere (2-6) plays at Beverly Saturday at 11 a.m.

RHS national champion cheerleader Lauren Maloney will fight in charity event

By Cary Shuman

Lauren Maloney said her experience and skills as a former Revere High School cheerleader helped set the foundation for her newest athletic endeavor: amateur boxing.

The 2004 RHS graduate is preparing to enter the ring for a three-round exhibition bout as part of the Punch 4 Parkinson's charity boxing show Sunday, Nov. 5 at Big Night Live in Boston.

Maloney raised more than $3,000 for the cause during an event held at Santarpio's, Peabody, where she works. She is also co-owner of Bizzy, a women's social networking organization.

Maloney said she had attended previous Punch 4 Parkinson's boxing shows two years in a row, "and I thought it was an awesome cause."

"A couple of my friends participated in it, and the energy in the room and all the rewarding experiences that people talked about – I said, 'I gotta do this, this is for me,'" related Maloney.

She said is not worried about taking a punch. "I just have to move my head and keep my hands up," offered Maloney, noting that the boxers wear head gear for the three, 90-second rounds of the fight.

Maloney, daughter of Mark and Liz Maloney, credits her trainer and coach, Danny Olivar, for her improvement as a boxer.

"I started boxing at Sonny's Boxing and Fitness three years ago, and since coming here, I'm definitely improved a lot in my skills," said Maloney. "It's been an honor to work with Danny Olivar as my coach and trainer."

Asked if she intends to continue in the sport after Sunday's debut, Maloney said, "We'll see how this goes. This is really just my goal for now. I wanted to check that box, and we'll see what happens from here."

Maloney said her parents will be at ringside for the fight.

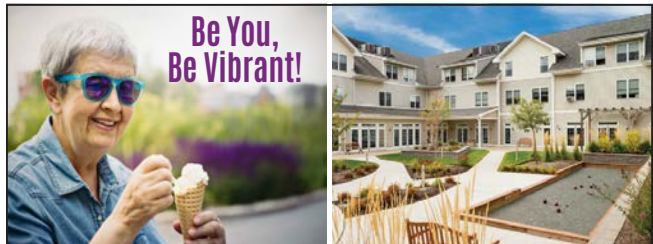

A four-year RHS cheerleader

Lauren Maloney competed in four years of varsity cheerleading at Revere High, helping the Patriots win a USA national title and three state championships. Current Peabody superintendent of schools, Josh Vadala, was Revere's coach during its reign as a cheerleading superpower.

"All the things Josh taught me over the years, they stay with me now," said Maloney. "Things like being competing and being five minutes earlier for practices. Early is on time, on time is late, he used to say."

Maloney said coordination, footwork, flexibility, and movement are skills that she has taken from the sport of cheerleading into the sport of boxing.

The Revere High boys soccer team completed the most successful season in the program’s history with a sweep of its final three games of the season last week. Coach Abdel Rhazi’s Patriots concluded their 2013 campaign with a sterling 11-2-3 record and claimed the championship of the Large School Division of the Northeastern Conference, Revere’s first-ever league crown of any kind. The Patriots started the week by nipping Salem, 1-0. Saad El Khiam notched the lone goal of the contest to provide the only offense that would be needed by the Revere defense and keeper Jesus Landaverde. Three days later at Beverly, the Patriots earned a 3-1 triumph. Tarik Maddrey and Jose Soriano scored goals in the first half for a 2-1 Revere lead, and then Soriano reached the back of the net again with 10 minutes to play for an insurance marker to seal the victory. The season finale against Lynn English was highlighted by Senior Day festivities which ended appropriately with a 2-0 victory for the Patriots. Soriano reached the back of the English net in the first half, racing ahead of the English defense to grab a nice through-ball from Ruben Soares. Soares then iced the RHS victory cake with a marker after the intermission when he made a nice run from midfield and then delivered a powerful and high strike from just outside the 18 that beat the English keeper.

Individual post-season plaudits poured in for the Revere High boys soccer team, befitting a Patriot team that achieved a successful 11-2-3 campaign and earned the championship of the North Division of the Northeastern Conference. Senior forward Saad El Khiam and junior midfielder Abel Alcantar were named to the NEC’s All-Conference All-Star squad, while senior captains Tarik Maddrey, a forward, and Younes Hartout, a defenseman, were selected to the Large Division All-Star team. In addition, first-year head coach Abdel Rhazi was named the NEC Coach of the Year.

The Revere High football team dropped a 32-14 decision to Lynn Classical Friday evening, eliminating the Patriots from contention for a berth in the post-season under the new playoff format established by the MIAA. An old nemesis, costly turnovers, that had bedeviled the Patriots early in the season, but which had disappeared in the past few games, returned to haunt the Revere cause. Patriot quarterback Tom Portrait directed a 55 yard drive that culminated with a pass to tight end Steve Selevitch for the touchdown. Portrait once again found Selevitch, who has become the Revere Patriots’ version of the New England Patriots’ Rob Gronkowski and who kicked both extra points, in the end zone for a 30 yard TD toss to give Revere a 14-8 lead in the first half. However, the second half proved to be a different story, as the Rams rolled to the win.

Revere star cross country runner Nikki Nelson became the first Lady Patriot to earn a full league medal in Saturday’s Northeastern Conference All-League Meet that was held on a chilly but sunny and dry Saturday morning at Bradley Palmer State Park in Topsfield. Nelson finished 16th, earning an NEC All Star medal in the field of almost 80 runners.

Senior captain John Della Russo led the way for the Revere High boys cross country team at Saturday’s All-League Meet of the Northeastern Conference that was held in Bradley Palmer State Park in Topsfield. John finished with a time of 18:37, good for 28th place in the field of 68 runners representing the top performers from each school in the NEC.

Coach Megan O’Donnell’s Lady Patriots were honored at the annual meeting of the league’s coaches with the Sportsmanship Award, which was voted upon by all the coaches in the league. In addition, Lady Patriot Cassandra DiBella received second team honorable mention honors.

The Revere High football team exploded for two unanswered touchdowns in the fourth quarter to earn a thrilling 25-21 victory over Malden Friday night at Harry Della Russo Stadium. The Patriots achieved the victory without the services of star running back Jose Escobar, who had to leave the game after just three plays with a concussion.

Marcus Johnson filled the role of star performer with three pass receptions for 132 yards and two touchdowns. Steve Bagnera tossed one of the TD passes to Johnson on a 72-yard halfback option play and caught a TD pass himself on an 85-yard pass from quarterback Matt Mauro, who completed 3-of-4 passes for 145 yards and two TDs. Emilio Digitale scored the other Revere touchdown on a 36 yard run. Brad Evans kicked a point after touchdown. Revere is now 4-4 on the season under first year head coach Lou Cicatelli with the possibility of its first winning season in 21 years.

The RHS football team, after taking a week off, defeated winless Medford 15-14 Saturday at Harry Della Russo Stadium. Brian Spagnola tackled the Medford punter in the end-zone with 2:46 remaining to provide the Pats with their margin of victory. David Gravalese rushed for 130 yards on 19 carries, including TD jaunts of 40 and nine yards.

Michael Barranco set a Revere record on the local course with a time of 16:02 to lead the boys cross country team to a 20-41 win over Everett. Barranco’s new mark shattered the previous record of 16:26 held by teammate Colin Doherty and former RHS star Paul Fusco.

Junior Michelle Medeiros was the top Revere finisher in 20th place among a field of 50 runners at the GBL all-league meet. Medeiros clocked a time of 21:31 over the 2.85 mile course to pace the Lady Patriots to a fifth place finish among the nine teams at the meet.

Two Revere girls, Brenda Della Russo and Rachel Belliveau, have been named to the GBL field hockey all star team.

The Revere Junior B team defeated Arlington to improve to 7-0-1 on the season. Ratha Mom scored four touchdowns for the second week in a row and Kevin Rampelberg scored his first TD of the season for Revere.

Despite committing five turnovers, the RHS football team defeated Everett, 14-12. Mike Ross tackled the Everett quarterback in the end zone early in the game for a safety and a 2-0 Revere lead that ultimately proved to be the margin of victory.

Maloney’s athleticism and work ethic

Boxing coach and trainer Danny Olivar, a former boxing champion, will be in Lauren’s corner Sunday.

“I’ve worked with Lauren for about three years, and this is our first USA Boxing-sanctioned bout together,” said Olivar. “I think she’s very talented and competitive and very coachable. She’s an excellent athlete and she has power in her punches. I’d like to see her continue in boxing after this charity event.”

Olivar said that Maloney has been working hard and showing improvement each day in training. “I’ve seen huge improvement in her headwork and footwork, and she’s punching a lot harder. And her work ethic is outstanding.”

Candidate for councilor-at-large, Bob Haas III, held a child-friendly Team Haas Halloween Bash on October 26 at Casa Lucia. Haas is a fourth generation Revere resident and son of a former mayor.

"Politics don't have to be boring. Young people should see politics as something they can become involved in and have fun with. I think that's evident tonight," said Haas, who has a son and daughter. "I have a big legacy to live up to; but I am excited to build a legacy of my own."

As the Assistant Director & Transportation Coordinator for the Revere Office of Elder Affairs, Haas is an advocate for the senior population and will fight for budget increases for senior transportation, food services, and mental healthcare resources.

Haas is a graduate of Revere High School, the father of a Revere Public Schools student; and plans to provide resources to expand current after school programs. He believes in the importance of outdoor activities and their positive impacts on mental health.

Revere High holds Big Futures Program Ceremony

By Melissa Moore-Randall

Nervous excitement filled the Revere High School cafeteria on Wednesday evening as about 50 RHS Freshmen were introduced to their mentors from the Big Brother Big Sister of Eastern Massachusetts organization.

The mentor program was coordinated by RHS Principal Christopher Bowen. "Revere High is so grateful to the many community members who have stepped up to support our 9th grade students in this program. I'm beyond excited to see life-long relationships being formed tonight between mentors and mentees! Mentoring has the power to shape lives, and to be here at the start to see this kick off is a special thing."

During the celebration, freshman students were introduced to their mentors, professionals in the Greater Boston community, for the first time. Matches were made based on each student's personal needs, interests, and career tracks. Mentors will see their mentees through their high school experiences into their chosen pathway - whether it be college, trade school, entrepreneurship, or the military.

Along with Principal Bowen, the program came to fruition due to many different partners and community leaders including Terrence McCarron, Chief Program Officer at BBBSEM, Lorena Escolero, City Of Revere Community Development Planner, Niklas Jordow, Digital Transformation Officer at W.B. Mason Inc., Duche Romeus, Police Officer at Revere Police Department., Fay Moy, Sr. Project Manager at Mass General Brigham/Dana Farber Institute, and Jacob Rosenberg, Physician at General MassHealth.

Terrence McCarron, Chief Program Officer at BBBSEM is excited about bringing the program to RHS. "I oversee all of the Eastern Massachusetts mentoring initiatives like the one being launching at Revere High School. I led the selection process that resulting in Revere High School becoming our newest community partner. I am thrilled to be working with Principal Chris Bowen, John Perella at City Hall, Representative Jessica Giannino at the State House and, of course, the wonderful staff at Revere High School. We believe we have a dream scenario with the strongest possible partners and with a set of great students who are invested in their future!"

"Usually it takes time for a grassroots program like this to take hold but Revere leaders and community members are stepping up right away to make sure that every high school student who wants mental health support and a career pathways guide has someone in their corner. The students are raising their hands to get involved too. More than 100 students have expressed their interest. It's been inspiring to watch. We still have a few mentoring positions left for this academic year so I want to encourage readers to check out www.emassbig.org and start the process of joining our team of community champions in Revere."

Freshman Damien Rivera has been in the BBBS program for three years. When his mentor's mother became sick and could no longer mentor, he decided to join the RHS Program. "It gives me the courage to speak my mind and give me the guidance to focus in life and in school." His classmate, Kenneth Palacios added, "I think it will be very beneficial for me and bring out my potential and help me raise the bar in life".

Lorena Escolero, who is the City of Revere Community Development Planner and Conservation Agent, is mentoring this year. "The combination of navigating the difficulties of being a teenager and the added trauma of the impacts of the pandemic has disproportionately affected low-income households, especially those of color. Recognizing this glaring disparity is what compels me to contribute to the healing and empowerment of the young minds within my community, alongside my esteemed fellow volunteers. Having personally partaken in a mentorship program akin to the one I am now engaged in; I am acutely aware of the pivotal role a mentor assumes in the life of a child hailing from underprivileged circumstances. It is my fervent aspiration to impart a positive influence upon my little sister, instilling within her a sense of encouragement and unwavering confidence, propelling her towards accomplishments in high school and beyond!"

At one of the most wide-awake and interesting meetings of the Revere Republican City Committee, Thursday night in City Hall, Charles W. Lovett, of Lynn, the party's nominee for Congress from this Seventh Congressional District, Representative Augustine Airola, and Representative Thomas Carroll appeared and outlined their policies and plans for the remaining days before the election. Car Racketeers Face 18 Months Apiece In House of Correction

Police alleged that they advertised to buy automobiles and paid only a small down payment on them, giving notes for the balance which they never met or had any intentions of meeting when due.

By Joseph "O'B" O'Brien

This afternoon at two thirty o'clock at Paul Revere Park the Revere High School football eleven will take the field against the strong Rindge Technical High School outfit of Cambridge. The entire proceeds of today's exciting gridiron encounter will be turned over to the Revere Visiting Nurse Association to aid in the unemployment fund of the city.

Rindge Has Strong Team

Rindge Tech will bring their usual strong team to Revere today, which will force the local high school representatives to exhibit their best plays in order to come out on top. The visitors have lost but one game in four, that one was by a 7 to 6 score in their Wakefield encounter. Their season's record is as follows:

Wakefield 7, Rindge 6.
Rindge 7, Lawrence 0.
Rindge 0, Cambridge Latin 0.
Rindge 24, Brookline 0.
Practice work of the Blue and White, like that of Rindge Tech, has been handicapped during the present week due to the severe rainstorms which kept both squads indoors. The Cambridge team is ably coached by Thomas J. Murphy, assisted by Wilfred Metivier, assistant coach and Henry C. Lynch, faculty manager. Those responsible for Revere's success in football are Robert O'Keefe, head coach; Harry Finkelstein, and Clinton Bradley, assistant coaches, and Arthur E. Tierney, faculty manager.

Revere has won two games out of four played but the opposition Revere has faced has been much stronger than the Rindge opponents. Revere's record to date is as follows:
Revere 0, Lynn English 6.
Revere 6, Salem 7.
Revere 21, Brookline 0.
Revere 7, Peabody 0.

Ananis Back Against Revere

Veto Ananis, Captain and quarterback of the Rindge team will be at his customary post today ready to duplicate his great performance of a year ago against Revere. It was his all around ability that enabled Rindge to battle Cambridge Latin to a scoreless tie a few weeks ago at Cambridge.

Home Game Turkey Day

There will be another home game on Thanksgiving Day morning between Revere High and Lynn General Electric, according to information received yesterday from Faculty Manager Tierney. The G. E. team is not quite as strong as Revere, having been defeated by Brockton, 25 to 0, and losing a close game to Malden.

PLANS ROUNDING INTO SHAPE FOR A. L. INSTALLATION

Plans and arrangements have been completed for the public installation of officers of the Revere Post 61, American Legion, which is to be held at the Revere City Hall next Thursday evening, November 3rd.

An elaborate program which consists of dancing and entertainment after the ceremonies are over, are part of these plans. An orchestra has been obtained which will furnish the music for the evening. There will be several presentations made,

School Board Welcomes 'Journal' Benefit Game Edition, Day's Program

The Revere School Committee on Tuesday night of this week passed approval on today's "Benefit Game Edition" of the JOURNAL and welcomed it as the program to be sold at Paul Revere Park for the game. It is specifically understood that every cent of the proceeds taken in from the sale of these papers at the contest will be used towards unemployment relief.

In its weekly report the School Committee says:

"Mr. Carleton Hovey of The Revere Journal appeared before the School Committee with reference to the selling of complimentary issues of The Revere Journal at the benefit football game to be held at Paul Revere Park on Saturday, October 29, 1932." USPS, Inspection Service continue nationwide effort to crack down on postal crime and crimes

The U.S Postal Service (USPS) and U.S. Postal Inspection Service (Inspection Service)provided an update on their Project Safe Delivery campaign to crack down on postal crimes, including attacks against postal employees. Announced in May 2023, Project Safe Delivery is a USPS initiative to combat the recent rise in threats and attacks on letter carriers and mail theft incidents by protecting Postal employees and the security of the nation’s mail and packages. Multiple departments within USPS, including the Inspection Service, the Office of the Chief Information Officer, and the Office of the Chief Retail and Delivery Officer are working together to support the ongoing campaign. To help strengthen this effort, the Inspection Service has also significantly increased monetary rewards for information leading to the arrest or conviction of a perpetrator of postal crimes.

“As our nation continues to address a sustained crime wave, our targeted focus to crack down on postal crime is progressing,” said Postmaster General and Chief Executive Officer Louis DeJoy. “The safety of our letter carriers — and all postal employees — is our top priority. We will continue to work steadfastly with our law enforcement partners to increase the safety of our employees and protect the sanctity of the nation’s mail.”

“We have effectively focused our efforts with USPS on hardening both physical and digital targets to combat threats to postal employees and secure the mail. We continue to turn up the pressure and put potential perpetrators on notice; If you attack Postal employees, steal the mail, or commit other postal crimes, Postal Inspectors will bring you to justice,” said Chief Postal Inspector Gary Barksdale. “We ask that the public assist us with our mission. Our rewards for information have increased substantially, highlighting the importance of the safety and security of our employees and the mail. If you see something, say something, and help us bring to justice those that cause harm to postal employees, steal mail, or commit other postal crimes.”

Project Safe Delivery Progress To Date

Since the launch of Project Safe Delivery in May 2023, the Postal Service and Inspection Service have taken the following actions to address postal crime nationwide:

- Law Enforcement Surges Completed In Chicago, San Francisco, Ohio; More than 600 Individuals Arrested for Postal Crimes. Postal inspectors completed a series of targeted law enforcement surges in Chicago, San Francisco, and cities across Ohio, major metropolitan regions facing significant threats from organized postal crime. Each operation used wide-ranging law enforcement partnerships including with the Department of Justice, Postal Service Office of the Inspector General, other federal agencies, and local law enforcement. Postal Inspectors conducted more than 700 investigative actions, including the execution of arrests and other court authorized law enforcement activities and more than 375 prevention activities, including presentations to postal employees on employee safety and mail theft prevention.
- Since May, the Inspection Service has made 109 arrests for robberies and more than 530 arrests for mail theft. The Inspection Service will continue to collaborate with local, state, and federal law enforcement and conduct targeted surge operations focusing on those high postal crime areas.
- 10,000 High-Security Blue Collection Boxes Installed Nationwide. The Postal Service is installing high-security blue collection boxes making access to their contents more difficult for criminals. Since May, over 10,000 high-security blue boxes have been deployed in high-security risk areas.
- The Postal Service will continue to evaluate replacing additional existing blue collection boxes with these enhanced boxes and anticipates installing several thousand more boxes in the near future. In specific locations where a blue box is a repeated crime target and/or mail density is very low, collection boxes may have to be removed entirely when access is not meaningfully diminished due to nearby access points.
- Ongoing Replacement of Antiquated Arrow Locks with 49,000 Electronic Locks. There has been an increase in letter carrier robberies nationwide where criminals are targeting letter carriers for their Arrow and Modified Arrow Lock (MAL) Keys. Criminals use Arrow and MAL keys to steal mail from secure mail receptacles to commit financial crimes, including altering checks to commit check fraud. To make Arrow Keys less valuable for criminals, the Postal Service has replaced more than 6,500 antiquated arrow locks with electronic locks in select cities. In coming months, the Postal Service plans to deploy an additional 42,500 electronic locks nationwide. The Postal Service and the Postal Inspection Service are also increasing Arrow Key accountability reviews in select high Postal crime areas.

- 99.3% Reduction In Fraudulent Change of Address Submissions After Implementation of Electronic- and In-Person Authentication Procedures. The Postal Service processed more than 29 million change of address (COA) transactions in Fiscal Year 2023. Across the globe identity theft is on the rise driven by a financial motive. The Postal Service is not the intended target, however implicated due to the fraudster intercepting financially oriented mail such as credit cards or checks. To combat the rise in fraudulent submissions, the Postal Service has strengthened authentication processes for all methods of COA submissions, electronic and hardcopy submitted in person or through the mail stream.
- Since expanding enhanced in-person change of address protocols and implementing additional identity verification services for online change of addresses, fraudulent submissions have decreased by more than 99.3% compared to the same period last year.

- 50% Reduction in Counterfeit Package Postage In Postal Network Due to Increased Controls and Enforcement. The Postal Service is committed to protecting the integrity and security of the mail system and ensuring that customers receive the service they pay for. Customers are urged to use only authorized and legitimate labels for their packages, and to report any suspicious or fraudulent labels to the USPS or the Inspection Service. Customers who use counterfeit or hijacked labels may face legal consequences and lose their mailing privileges.
- The USPS has developed a sophisticated system to identify, intercept and retain counterfeit or hijacked labels on packages, using artificial intelligence, machine learning, and data analysis. Since the start of the interception program, counterfeit package postage in the postal network has significantly reduced by more than 50%.
- In May, analysis conducted by the Inspection Service led to the arrest of a Chinese-national in Los Angeles for running an alleged counterfeit postage scheme and shipping more than 9 million pieces of mail with $60 million in counterfeit postage.
- The Inspection Service continues to expand actions to crack down on fraudulent postage including:

- Interdictions of packages with counterfeit labels affixed
- Reviews of shipments on Postal Service docks and during warehouse outreach visits
- Shut down of websites and closure of eCommerce accounts selling counterfeit postage
- Engagement and partnership with eCommerce companies to disrupt activity
- Customs and Border Protection (CBP) collaboration

Increased Monetary Rewards

The Inspection Service is authorized to issue monetary rewards for certain types of offenses against the United States Postal Service. The agency along with its partners has enacted regulatory changes to reflect increased monetary reward amounts for information that leads to the arrest and conviction of a perpetrator of mail crime. Relevant criminal behavior includes homicide, assault, mail fraud, mail theft, counterfeiting and forgery, and destroying, obstructing, or limiting the passage of mail.

In August, the Inspection Service increased monetary rewards for information that leads to the arrest and conviction of a perpetrator of mail crime. See the inset chart for examples of some of the increased monetary rewards.

Action the American Public Can Take To Help Prevent Mail Theft

Customers can take several steps to protect their mail and their letter carriers, including:

- Don’t let incoming or outgoing mail sit in your mailbox. You can significantly reduce the chance of being victimized by simply removing your mail from your mailbox every day.
- Deposit outgoing mail through a number of secure manners including inside your local Post Office or at your place of business or by handing it to a letter carrier.
- Sign up for Informed Delivery and get daily digest emails that preview your mail and packages scheduled to arrive soon.
- Become involved and engaged in your neighborhood via neighborhood watches and local social media groups to spread awareness and share information.
- Keep an eye out for your letter carrier. If you see something that looks suspicious, or you see someone following your carrier, call 911.

Customers are encouraged to report stolen mail as soon as possible by submitting an online complaint to the Postal Inspection Service at www.uspis.gov/report or calling 877-876-2455. Additionally, individuals are encouraged to report allegations of Postal Service employee misconduct, including attempts to corrupt a Postal Service employee, to the USPS OIG at 1-888-877-7644 or www.uspsaig.gov.

Ready to fall back? When you change your clocks, check your alarms

Special to the Journal

With the end of daylight savings time coming on Nov. 5, Massachusetts fire officials issued a seasonal reminder to check your smoke and carbon monoxide (CO) alarms and change the batteries when you change your clocks.

“Working smoke and CO alarms are crucial home safety tools,” said State Fire Marshal Jon M. Davine. “As we ‘fall back’ this weekend, be sure you have the best protection by putting fresh alkaline batteries in alarms that use them and replacing alarms that are out of date.”

Today’s smoke and carbon monoxide alarms have the manufacturing date printed on the back of the device. Smoke alarms should be replaced when they’re 10 years old, and CO alarms should be replaced when they’re five to seven years old, depending on the model. Unless you have newer alarms with 10-year sealed batteries, this is also a good time to replace the alkaline batteries in all your alarms. And remember to test your smoke and CO alarms once a month to be sure they’re working properly.

Heating Season brings Carbon Monoxide hazards

Hyannis Fire Chief Peter J. Burke, Jr, president of the Fire Chiefs Association of Massachusetts, emphasized the importance of working carbon monoxide alarms as we enter the colder months.

“Carbon monoxide is the leading cause of poisoning deaths in the United States, and heating equipment is the main source of carbon monoxide in the home,” Chief Burke said. “We can’t see, smell, or taste carbon monoxide.

Working CO alarms are the only way to detect this invisible killer.”

Replacement Alarms Should be Photoelectric With 10-Year Sealed Batteries

Replacing your old smoke alarm? The Massachusetts Comprehensive Fire Safety Code requires replacement battery-operated smoke alarms in older one- and two-family homes to be photoelectric and have sealed, long-life batteries and a hush feature. This makes it less likely that someone in the home will use the batteries for another device, forget to change them twice a year, or remove them when cooking causes smoke in the kitchen.

“Disabling a smoke alarm puts you, your loved ones, and everyone in the building at risk,” said State Fire Marshal Davine. “Never remove batteries from a smoke alarm except when putting fresh ones in.”

Alarms Should Be Listed by an Independent Lab

Massachusetts requires that all smoke and carbon monoxide alarms be listed by a nationally recognized testing laboratory such as Underwriters Laboratories (UL) or Intertek (ETL). Listed devices will have the laboratory’s mark on the back. In recent years, fire officials have seen numerous smoke and carbon monoxide alarms that were purchased online and either have counterfeit marks or no mark at all.

“If the price seems too good to be true, then it probably is,” said Chief Burke. “Smoke and CO alarms can be the difference between life and death, but only if they work properly. If you’re purchasing a new alarm, choose one from a well-known, national brand.”

Create & Practice a Home Escape Plan

“In the average house fire, you could have less than three minutes to escape after the smoke alarm activates,” said State Fire Marshal Davine. “Creating and practicing a home escape plan that includes two routes out will help you make the most of that precious time to get outside before poisonous gases and heat make escape impossible.”

“Working smoke alarms and a practiced home escape plan are among the most fundamental and important tools for surviving a fire,” said Chief Burke. “Be sure everyone in the home knows what to do and where to go when the alarm sounds, including young children, older adults, and persons with disabilities.”

Senior SAFE

Adults over 65 are at disproportionate risk of dying in a fire, especially if they live in one- or two-family homes. Hundreds of fire departments across Massachusetts have grant-funded Senior SAFE programs that may provide assistance with alarm installation and testing. Seniors who need help testing, maintaining, or replacing smoke alarms should contact their local fire department or senior center for assistance.

For more information on smoke alarms or the Senior SAFE program, visit <http://www.mass.gov/dfs> or contact your local fire department.

Zakim Bunker Hill Memorial Bridge, together with more than 1,000 buildings and landmarks around the world, will be lighting up teal on November 2 to raise Alzheimer’s awareness as part of the Alzheimer’s Foundation of America’s (AFA) Light the World in Teal program.

The annual program, held in November as part of Alzheimer’s Awareness Month, aims to literally shine a spotlight on Alzheimer’s disease and show support for the millions of people affected by it. Teal is AFA’s Alzheimer’s awareness color.

Participating Boston area landmarks include:

“It’s wonderful to see some of the Boston area’s most well-known and world renowned sites helping to raise Alzheimer’s awareness and show support for the millions of Americans impacted by the disease,” said Charles J. Fuschillo, Jr., AFA’s President & CEO. “. “By ‘Going Teal,’ these sites are literally highlighting the issue of Alzheimer’s and the need to continue doing more for the 6.7 million Americans currently living with it. We thank them for supporting this program and all those affected by Alzheimer’s disease.”

The Boston area landmarks are among more than 1,000 sites worldwide “going teal” for Alzheimer’s awareness on November 2. This is the tenth year of AFA’s Light the World in Teal campaign.

Individuals can also participate in raising Alzheimer’s awareness by “going teal” on their own November 2. You can wear teal or even use social media to raise awareness.

More than 6.7 million Americans, including 130,000 Massachusetts residents, are currently living with Alzheimer’s disease. The number of people with Alzheimer’s is projected to more than double by 2060, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Incumbent Mayor William G. Reinstein is expected to win handily in his bid for re-election against his challenger, City Council President Joseph DelGrosso. Reinstein earned a runaway victory in the primary and it generally is acknowledged that DelGrosso has failed to build a campaign to stir voters to oust Reinstein, who never has lost an election from the time he entered politics in 1963 at the age of 23 and topped the balloting for School Committee. The City Council race also will be hotly-contested, with incumbents DelGrosso and Anthony Yantosca, who also ran for mayor in the primary, not on the ballot, as well as State Rep. Fran Doris, who kept his pledge not to return to the Council if elected to the Mass. House. Former mayor George V. Colella, who was defeated by Reinstein two years ago, is among the newcomers on the City Council ballot.

Voters also will decide a referendum question whether to approve a pay raise of $5000 for the mayor to a salary of $20,000 and of $1000 for each city councillor to a salary of $3000.

Revere resident Vincent Stagno, 59, of 62 Wentworth Rd., was the winner of $100,000 in The Game of the Mass. Lottery Commission when his ticket was chosen at the Copley Plaza Hotel. A group of 22 members of Stagno’s family were on hand for the drawing. Stagno will receive $10,000 over the next 10 years for his second place prize. The winning ticket holder will receive $1 million to be paid out over 20 years.

A large crowd of more than 1000 persons, including dignitaries from across the country, attended funeral services for Louis B. Fox, 61, one of Revere’s leading philanthropists, sportsmen, and business leaders, who suffered an apparent heart attack while driving his car home on Route 1 in Norwood Friday night. Those who were unable to gain a seat in the chapel stood outside to listen to the services on a loudspeaker. The long funeral procession, which started at the Stanetsky Funeral Home in Brookline, passed along Shirley St., where mourners lined the street as the cortege passed by. The procession stopped at two of the city’s synagogues and the Jewish

A heavy turnout is expected for Tuesday's city election, the third under the Plan E form of government adopted by the voters a few years ago. There will be 20 candidates for the seven City Council seats and 15 for the six School Committee seats. Voters may vote for as many candidates as they wish, but they must mark them in order of preference. Cecil Deskin of the Election Commission will be in charge of counting the ballots.

The city is taking all possible steps to curb Hal-

Sgt. Manley has seen extensive fighting in his year of service, having taken part in the invasion of Africa by the American division. He graduated from Revere High in 1940.

Post-war plans for the city's businesses were discussed at length before an enthusiastic meeting of the Revere Chamber of Commerce held at City Hall with Chamber President Joseph L. Carr presiding. Chief topic was how local businesses can benefit from the expected economic boom after the war.

Revere firefighters will have their work week reduced from 80 to 70 hours under the terms of a state law adopted by the City Council. However, the new hours will not go into effect until six months after the war ends.

Massachusetts Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program’s Winter heating season to begins

Special to the Journal

The Massachusetts Executive Office of Housing and Livable Communities (EOHLC) is pleased to announce the start of the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) 2023-2024 winter heating season. LIHEAP is a free, statewide service funded by the federal Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program that helps eligible households stay warm during the winter months by paying a portion of winter heating bills.

Applications for home energy assistance are currently being accepted online at toapply.org/massliheap, and income-eligible households may receive financial help to offset heating bills from November 1, 2023, through April 30, 2024.

Both homeowners and renters can apply online or through local administering agencies for LIHEAP assistance. Households must meet specific eligibility requirements to qualify for aid, which will be paid directly to their heating vendor.

Eligibility is based on several factors, including household size and combined gross annual income of residents 18 and older. Qualifying households – including those with the cost of heat included in the rent – can receive assistance for all sources of heat, including oil, electricity, natural gas, propane, kerosene, wood and coal.

“The Massachusetts home energy assistance program is free, because no resident should have to worry about heating their home during the winter-time,” said Ed Augustus Jr., Secretary of Housing and Livable Communities. “High fuel costs can have a devastating effect on household budgets and can even endanger Massachusetts’ most vulnerable residents. We encourage anyone who needs heating assistance to explore their eligibility by applying online or visiting the nearest administering agency. And to please share the information with loved ones or neighbors who could benefit from this free resource.”

For more information, or to find your local LIHEAP agency, visit www.toapply.org/Mass-LIHEAP.

Northeast Vocational students work on Revere Historical Museum for second year

Special to the Journal

Superintendent David DiBarri is pleased to share that Northeast Metro Tech students have begun a second year of work at the 122-year-old Revere History Museum.

Last year students in the Electrical Pathway put their skills to use as they replaced wiring in the museum. This year students in the HVAC Pathway will replace the museum's HVAC system and ductwork, while Carpentry Pathway students repair surface holes that were created last year while the building was re-wired.

The Revere History Museum was built in 1901, and was previously used as a rectory by the Immaculate Conception Church before the City of Revere was given the property in a land swap in the 1980's. The City then leased it to the Revere Society for Cultural and Historic Preservation, which converted the building into a 14-room Revere History Museum.

While the building was successfully converted into a museum, and remains open today, Northeast Metro Tech students have been working with administrators at the museum to make much-needed improvements to the structure.

"This ongoing project will now include two more sets of students using the skills that they've learned in class to renovate key portions of an important building in one of our communities," said Superintendent DiBarri. "This is a learning experience these students will not soon forget."

"This type of project will be enjoyed by all the residents of Revere. They will get to see and learn all about the history of their
