Ways and Means budget hearings get underway

By Adam Swift

City finance director Richard Viscay presented a balanced $294.6 million Fiscal Year budget to the city council during the first night of ways and means committee budget hearings on Monday night.

The council will be asked to appropriate a total of $274,420,435 for the budget. The majority of the remainder of the budget figure is for state assessments that do not have to be appropriated by the council, but are netted against the amount of state revenue the city receives, according to Viscay.

Last year, the council appropriated just over $262 million for the FY25 operating budget.

"This represents to the council that you have a balanced, responsible budget for FY25," said Viscay. "No one-time revenues are used for general fund operations and they are very reasonable revenue estimates and a spending plan we are proposing here on behalf of Mayor (Patrick) Keefe. I think these are responsible but realistic revenue requests and I encourage you to vote on the budget as submitted."

The biggest source of revenue for the budget comes in through property taxes.

For FY25, Viscay said Revere will have an estimated tax levy of just over $120 million. This includes $2.8 million in natural Proposition 2-1/2 growth, as well as an estimated $3.5 million in new growth from new construction in the city, Council approves Councillor Kelley's proposed increase to senior tax abatement program

By Adam Swift

At last week's city council meeting, the council approved an ordinance amending the city's senior citizen property tax work-off abatement program.

The amended ordinance was introduced by Councillor-at-Large Michelle Kelley. The amendments increase the amount each senior can earn from $750 to $1,000, as well as minimum wage income language in the ordinance, increasing the number of residents eligible through the lottery process, and increasing the city's funding for the abatement program.

The changes in the ordinance increase the property tax abatement for seniors who qualify for the program from $750 per year to $1,000 per year, according to Kelley.

Under Massachusetts General Law, the seniors can volunteer for the city work at the rate of the state minimum wage of $15 per hour, meaning the seniors would need to volunteer for 66.6 hours to earn the full abatement amount.

During the debate on the amendment at last week's meeting, the council eventually voted to increase the number of participants from 50 to 70, as well as increasing the financing of the program from $25,000 per year to $70,000 in order to cover the costs for everyone that could take part at $1,000 each.

Ward 2 Councillor Ira Novoselsky did raise some concerns about the city's ability to pay for the increase in the program, noting that it would be up to the may-

Wonderland site moves ahead before Conservation Comm.

By Journal Staff

The Revere Conservation Commission (ConComm) held its regular monthly meeting last Tuesday evening, June 4, in the City Council Chamber. Chair John Shue presided over the session that was attended by vice-chair Nicholas Rudolph and fellow members Joseph Lavalle, Brian Averbach, and Bernardo Sepulveda.

The first matter on the agenda was a continuation of the hearing regarding the city's Abbreviated Notice of Resource Area Delineation (ANRAD) to confirm wetland resource boundaries involving bordering land subject to flooding and isolated wetlands at the former Wonderland Dog Track site, which is where the city plans to build a new Revere High School.

According to the Mass. Dept. of Environmental Protection (DEP) website, the purposes of an ANRAD are two-fold: First, the ANRAD provides a procedure for an applicant to confirm the delineation of a Bordering Vegetated Wetlands (BVW). If an ANRAD is filed for a BVW delineation, confirmation of other resource areas may

The focus of the program is to fund free events and connect people to Boston Harbor's beaches, with a particular focus on breaking down barriers for people of color, people who don't speak English as a first language, and people with disabilities.

Funds for the program come from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and from Save the Harbor's annual JetBlue Shamrock Splash fundraiser.

"We are very proud to partner with DCR once again to share these spectacular urban natural resources with everyone," said Chris Mancini, executive director of Save The Harbor. "We are so grateful to the Healey/Driscoll administration, the Metropolitan Beaches Commission, JetBlue and all of our corporate partners for continuing to support this essential program, which will activate our beaches all summer long."

The 83 groups receiving grants this year are based in all the metropolitan beachfront and waterfront communities, as well as a dozen surrounding cities and towns. The grantees will bring free programming all summer long to 13 beaches in Nahant, Lynn, Revere, Winthrop, East Boston, South Boston, Dorchester, Quincy and Hull.

AHTF to expend $520,000 to subsidize two condos

By Journal Staff

Last Thursday's meeting of the board of Affordable Housing Trust Fund revealed that the net cost to the AHTF for the purchase and resale of two condo units at the 133 Salem St. condo development project in order to create two units of affordable housing in the city will be $520,000.

Last fall, the AHTF contributed $100,000 to a state program that unlocked funds resulting in 18 units at 133 Salem St. becoming designated as affordable housing. Thanks to the AHTF's $100,000 contribution, together with the state funds, the 18 units will be sold at well-below market rates to eligible buyers through a lottery process (to be administered by an independent firm used by the state), thereby increasing the number of much-needed affordable housing units in the city. Those units will be deed-restricted, which essentially means that the buyers cannot rent them and if they resell them in the future, they must do so at the then-existing price for affordable housing.

Then in March, the brokers for the project came before the AHTF with the suggestion that the board purchase two additional units at full market prices and then resell the units at the subsidized rates through the same lottery process.

AHTF Treasurer Anayo Osueke noted at Thursday's meeting that the $520,000 represents more than 40% of the AHTF's total available funds in its bank account. It also far exceeds the $366,597 that was allocated to the AHTF by the City Council for this year.

The two units purchased by the AHTF will bring to 20 the total number of subsidized units at the 133 Salem St. project, which consists of 72 units in total. Of those 20 units, 12 will be designated for qualifying Revere residents and two for qualifying veterans. The other six will be available to all Mass. residents.

According to the website for the property, "The condos are designated under the following Greater Boston Average Medium Income Restrictions (AMI): Six (6) Condos at the 70% AMI level and fourteen (14) Condos at the 80% AMI level.

"Restricted Community Wealth Builder Housing Units must be sold to first time homebuyers as defined: First-time homebuyer means an individual or household, of which no household member has had an ownership interest in a principal residence at any time during the three (3)-year period prior to the date of qualification as an eligible purchaser, unless such ownership was by (i) any individual who is a displaced homemaker (as may be defined by the Massachusetts Executive Office of Housing and Livable Communities) (ii) any individual who is a single-parent who has only owned a house with a former spouse while married or (iii) any individual who has owned a dwelling unit whose structure is not permanently affixed to a permanent foundation in accordance with local or other applicable regulations or is not in compliance with applicable building codes, or other applicable codes, and cannot be brought into compliance with the codes for less than the cost of constructing a permanent structure.

"At the time eligibility is determined, homebuyers must have assets, excluding qualified retirement plans, of less than $100,000.

Additionally, homebuyers must (1) qualify for a FHA, VA or Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac-conforming fixed-rate mortgage loan, (2) provide a minimum 3% down payment or qualify for an approved Down Payment Assistance program, (3) pay closing costs, and (4) complete homeownership counseling by the time of purchase."

A full breakdown of the $520,000 expenditure was not provided at the meeting, though Osueke touched briefly on the issue at the start of the main discussion on the AHTF's agenda. "This (transaction) is quite complicated," said Osueke. "That's why I wanted to have a separate talk because there are transactions that are happening simultaneously."

However, after the board returned to the main topic of the evening and concluded that discussion, the meeting adjourned without revisiting the matter. The board is holding another meeting this evening (Thursday) when Osueke presumably will provide the details of the transaction, such as the price paid by the AHTF for each unit, the resale price (including commissions), and the size of the units (i.e., 1-bedroom, 2-bedrooms, etc.) that the AHTF is subsidizing. In addition it is unclear whether the two units being purchased and resold by the AHTF will be available to Revere residents only, or whether they will go into the lottery of units available to non-residents.

AHTF begins process of developing a 5-year plan

By Journal Staff

The board of the Revere Affordable Housing Trust held a special meeting last Thursday, June 6, in the City Council Chambers. Chair Joe Gravalles, vice-chair Claire Inzerillo, treasurer Anayo Osueke, and members Laila Pietri, Lori Manzo, Matthew Wolfer, and Dean Harris were in attendance for the session. Mayor Patrick Keefe also was in attendance, as were Tom Skwierawski, the city's Chief of Planning and Community Development, and Lorena Escolero, who also works in the Department of Planning & Development.

The meeting consisted principally of a presentation by consultants from JM Goldson, the firm hired by the city to provide recommendations for the city's Housing Production Plan (HPP).

Gravalles said that the primary purposes for the AHTF to meet with Goldson were to formulate a five-year plan and a budget.

Jenn Goldson, along with assistant Noah Harper, gave a PowerPoint presentation that led to breakout sessions in which members of the AHTF partnered with city officials and others in the audience in order to share and formulate ideas.

Each breakout group then reported back to Goldson with their recommendations, which she in turn will put together for full consideration by the AHTF board members at a later meeting.

Goldson said there will be another working session within a week (which is tonight, June 13), followed by meeting in July to discuss a draft plan, with the goal of adopting a final plan for the AHTF's approval in August.

according to Viscay.

Just over three-quarters of the property tax revenue is from residential property, and the remainder is from commercial and industrial property.

Local receipts such as motor vehicle excise, hotel room, and meals taxes account for just over $20 million of the estimated revenue.

Viscay said the city has not contemplated any revenue increases for FY25, but that it does plan to do a survey of fees over the summer.

"This budget is balanced with no one-time revenues for the general fund operating budget and very reasonable revenue estimates on local receipts," said Viscay.

The city is slated to receive about $117.5 million in state aid, with the majority of that, just over $102 million, going toward the education budget.

There are also two enterprise funds, for water and sewer as well as solid waste, that total just over $35 million for FY25, Viscay said.

The education budget is the largest slice of the overall FY25 spending, coming in at $126,284,616 for the Revere public schools. In addition, the regional vocational school district budget in Revere is $3.28 million.

The proposed public safety budget, which includes the police, fire, 911, and parking departments, has a budget of $32.8 million.

Viscay said this includes two new police officers and two new firefighters.

In addition, Viscay said the city is hoping to get grant money to hire five new firefighters who will help staff the new Point of Pines fire stations, which is scheduled to open in the fall.

Viscay added that the parking department budget is larger this year, since that department absorbed the city's 40 crossing guards from the school budget.

The general government budget, which includes executive and financial divisions of the city, is proposed at $10.7 million. That budget includes $1 million reserved in the mayor's budget for collective bargaining purposes, and reorganized human resources and 311 constituent services departments.

The proposed public works budget is $4.8 million, the health and human services department comes in at $2.4 million, and the culture and recreation budget is $2.1 million.

The debt service costs for FY25 on the general fund side of the ledger is $9.2 million, and includes funding for projects such as the Point of Pines fire station and the new public works building.

Looking ahead, Viscay noted that the debt service for the new Revere High School will be the primary focus of future debt service expenses in the city.

Also mentioning the many free programs that will be available at all the beaches during the summer.

Democratic Party Whip Congresswoman and Revere resident, Katherine Clark was on Revere Beach to address the water safety program and give her support to the Save the Harbor Save the Bay program.

DCR Commissioner Brian Arrigo addressed the crowd at Revere Beach last Monday afternoon. Arrigo stated his approval of the work being done and the more improvements needed to make all the beaches water safe to bathers.

On Monday, Democratic Whip Katherine Clark (MA-5) joined Save the Harbor / Save the Bay, the Massachusetts Department of Conservation and Recreation, and state and local leaders to announce the release of the 2023 Beach Season Water Quality Report Card. This year's report card, which emphasizes the success of the Boston Harbor Clean-up, uses data from the Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR) to survey the water quality across the region including in Revere.

"Future generations deserve to enjoy the same treasures so many have found in this city — from our beloved public beaches to quality, reliable senior housing," said Whip Clark. "Thanks to the steadfast advocacy of Revere residents and the vision of our local leaders, we are bracing this community against the impacts of climate change and ushering in the cleaner, more secure future Bay Staters deserve. I am proud to have helped bring home federal funding for climate and infrastructure projects that will leave a lasting impact across Revere, now and in the years to come."

JUNE IS A MONTH OF FREEDOM

June marks the first month of the summer season, the period on the calendar when we take vacations from school and work to travel and enjoy the company of our friends and family members. It's our personal time, that sweet spot each year when we take a break from the humdrum of our daily schedules and we have the freedom to do whatever we want.

But June also uniquely celebrates a number of events that brought true freedom to Americans who had been unable to experience the promise of America -- "all men are created equal" -- that we take for granted today.

June 12 is known as Loving Day. It was on that day in 1967 that the U.S. Supreme Court struck down a Virginia law that forbade interracial marriage and made it a criminal offense to do so. The Lovings, an interracial couple, were convicted under that Virginia law and, to avoid jail, they agreed to leave the state. Similar laws existed throughout all of the Southern states until the Supreme Court's ruling.

June is observed as Pride Month by the LGBTQIA+ community to mark the date of June 28, 1969, when gays protested arrests at the Stonewall Inn (a gay bar in New York City's Greenwich Village) at a time when police routinely arrested of gay men on phony morals charges. The riots lasted for a number of days and are widely-recognized as the beginning of the modern gay rights movement that culminated more than 50 years later with the Supreme Court decision of Obergefell v. Hodges in 2015 that struck down state laws forbidding same-sex marriage.

June 14 is Flag Day, marking the adoption of the flag of the United States on June 14, 1777, by resolution of the Second Continental Congress, which read as follows: "Resolved, That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." In 1916, President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation that officially established June 14 as Flag Day and in 1949, National Flag Day was established by an Act of Congress. Ever since its inception in 1777, the American flag has been universally recognized as a symbol of freedom around the world.

Finally, Juneteenth, which is now a national holiday, marks the day when the Union army entered the city of Galveston, Texas on June 19, 1865, and freed the slaves in Texas pursuant to President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, which had gone into effect more than two years earlier on January 1, 1863. Texas had been the last state to be occupied by Union forces and where slavery still existed.

NEAR THE WATER?

WATCH YOUR CHILDREN!

We recently were shocked to learn of two statistics that were noted at a recent meeting of the Revere Board of Health.

The first is that about 4500 Americans die from drowning each year. To put that into perspective, that figure is about 50 percent greater than the total number of victims who died on 9/11.

The second number, which was even more surprising -- and even sadder -- is that drowning is the leading cause of unintentional injury-related death among children ages 1-4.

What is stunning to us about that statistic is that we cannot imagine that whenever a parent is with a small child near the water -- whether it be the bathtub in their home or at the beach -- the parent is not watching over their child like a hawk without even a second's worth of distraction, including texting on a cell phone.

Young children are especially susceptible to drowning because of their small lung capacity, which means that once they slip under, their tiny lungs can fill with water almost instantly.

Even if a child is saved from death by drowning, the lack of oxygen to the brain can result in a serious brain injury that will have lifelong implications.

The bottom line is that a young child never should be left unattended for even a moment when near the water. And it goes without saying that every parent should be 100% sober whenever they are near water with their child, whether on a boat, at the beach, at a pool, or in their home.

Your opinions, please

TAKES ISSUE WITH LETTER

Dear Editor,

A recent letter to you was captioned "Nobody is above the law". I beg to differ. The writer was gloating over the conviction of Donald Trump. I can understand if you don't like Trump. But if you're not concerned about the current double standard in the justice system, you should be.

In a debate, just weeks before the 2020 election,

Biden referenced a letter signed by 51 former intelligence officials and echoed their characterization of the laptop as Russian disinformation. Yet last week at Hunter Biden's trial, the prosecutor showed a Silver MacBook 13 Pro to an FBI agent who identified it as Hunter Biden's laptop.

Why the lies and the frantic coverup of the laptop? Because it allegedly contained damning evidence of Biden's involvement in his son's influence peddling schemes netting tens of millions of dollars from America's adversaries. It's evidence of Hunter's selling access to Joe, promises of influence, essentially selling out the nation for financial profit, and making the Bidens very rich. They should have been charged with bribery, conspiracy, foreign corrupt practices. Only due to IRS whistle blowers do we know the DOJ scuttled the investigation to protect the Bidens. That's called obstruction of justice.

You expect us to forget that this information was hidden from the American public, the country lied to, just before a presidential election. But, believe that Trump influenced the election, via a bookkeeping entry, because he hid a hush money payment over a consensual sexual encounter.

No one is above the law? Really?

MBTA, City announce extension of bus lane on Broadway to Revere Beach Parkway Interchange

Special to the Journal

The MBTA and the City of Revere announced the extension of the existing morning peak-only bus lane along the southbound side of Broadway from Revere Street to the Revere Beach Parkway Interchange. The extension is made possible through funding from the MassDOT Shared Streets and Spaces grant. Installation of the extension is scheduled to begin June 10 with completion anticipated within the following few days (weather depending). The project includes an inbound lane from Page Street across the southwest ramp and under Revere Beach Parkway, extending it to the Chelsea line. This road segment serves MBTA Routes 116 and 117, carrying 11,600 riders a day, along one of Revere's busiest corridors and lays the groundwork for future permanent capital reconstruction of the interchange. The project fulfills a critical need for bus priority improvements identified by the MBTA in their Transit Priority Vision and uses design guidance from the MBTA's Transit Priority Toolkit.

"We are pleased that the funding from the Shared Streets and Spaces grant program will be going toward a permanent dedicated bus lane in Revere as one of the program's goals is to improve connections to make it more efficient for residents to travel on transit, on foot, or on bicycles," said Transportation Secretary and CEO Monica Tibbitts-Nutt. "Strong partnerships with municipalities have improved travel options state-wide as the Shared Streets and Spaces Program has awarded a total of $52 million to 492 projects since it was launched during the pandemic."

"We know dedicated bus lanes provide quick, cost-efficient solutions to speeding up travel times for our riders, and I'm pleased to see this morning peak-only lane extension move forward," said MBTA General Manager and CEO Phillip Eng. "The 116 and 117 are critical bus routes for thousands of bus riders traveling through the Revere community and making connections to the Blue Line. Extending this lane will improve their commute while also encouraging more folks to get out of their cars and take public transit. We thank our partners at MassDOT for funding these kinds of important projects, the City of Revere for their continued collaboration, and the MBTA Transit Priority Group for their diligent work on improving our network."

"Thousands of Revere residents rely on MBTA bus service to access work, appointments, and other critical needs," said City of Revere Mayor Patrick Keefe Jr. "By improving the efficiency of bus operations, this project will set the stage for a successful launch of the Bus Network Redesign Phase 1, a system-wide transformation of the MBTA bus system that starts in Revere later this year."

The initial one-mile bus lane was launched in October 2020 as part of a pilot program to prioritize bus service for essential workers during the COVID-19 pandemic. Following a successful pilot period with temporary roadway markings, the Revere City Council voted in August 2022 to make the bus lane permanent. New permanent road markings were put in place in September 2023.

The extension of the morning peak-only bus lane will support faster, more reliable bus service, providing an improved experience for thousands of riders. Additionally, Route 116 will receive significant improvement as a Frequent Bus Route in Bus Network Redesign Phase 1, expected in December 2024.

The MassDOT Shared Street and Spaces Grant funds quick-build projects to help transit authorities and municipalities quickly implement improvements to public spaces. These include sidewalks, curbs, streets, bus stops, and parking areas to support public health, safe mobility, and strengthen commerce.

The MBTA Transit Priority Group is part of the Better Bus Project, which aims to transform bus service throughout the MBTA system. The group is responsible for designing and implementing transit priority infrastructure defined in the MBTA's Bus Priority Vision, and working with municipal and fellow state agencies. To date, the group has delivered more than 40 miles of bus lanes and activated transit signal priority at more than 80 locations in 12 municipalities.

or's office to determine where the money would come from.

Both Kelley and Councillor-at-Large Anthony Zambuto said it was a small amount of money in the overall budget to help take care of the city's senior citizens.

"This is a nominal amount, if we can't do this, something is wrong," said Kelley.

Arcadia Street resident Anthony Parziale said he did not like the fact that senior citizens would have to work in the first place to get some kind of discount on their property taxes.

"I'd like to see this go away, and I'd like to see the seniors get the discount so that they can enjoy their retirement," said Parziale.

Kelley noted that the city was following state law by allowing income eligible senior citizens to take part in the abatement program.

"If we were doing anything other than what's prescribed under that Massachusetts statute, we would have to take it up as special legislation and ask our state legislature ... to help us get this done," said Kelley. "I would happily work with them to try to get something done. I understand that that would take longer and it wouldn't be something for fiscal 2024."

After several proposed amendments to the ordinance were put on the floor, the measure was on the verge of going back into subcommittee before the council did take a vote to approve the changes to the ordinance.

"We are trying to increase some money for the seniors, at least for fiscal year 2024," said Kelley. "If we don't move on this now, I don't think anything can get done for the seniors for the next cycle."

Councillor-at-Large

IN THEIR OWN WORDS

Allen Hou RHS Class of 2024 Class President

I know you're sick and tired of hearing speeches but here's one more.

I'm so proud to stand before you as your class president but I know none of this would have been possible without some very important people. So let's get the shoutouts out of the way.

First I'd like to shout out, my mom and dad, who to this day bring up the fact I never thanked them in my eighth-grade Aspirers speech. So here I am on the big stage; this one's for you.

To my brother, Abel, I just want you to remember I was here first, even if I am now known as Abel's sister.

To my teachers, I wouldn't be the student or person I am today without you. Thank you.

I would also like to thank the past and present administrations for all their hard work in making everything possible, and especially our class advisor Mrs. Felt.

In addition, I would like to thank the class officers, Sabrina, Arianna, and last but not least, Ayra, who has been my right hand at all hours of the day, all those Facetime calls, all-nighters, waking up at 5 am for this class, I'd like to think, it was worth it.

And the most important thank you goes to my best friend of 13 years, the person who has competed with me academically, introduced me to dance, and waited for me every morning when I swore I would be out of the house by 7:20. Madison Luchessi. Love u always.

Class of 2023, Let's take a trip down memory lane...

I remember walking into the auditorium for freshmen year orientation, going to advisory, learning our locker codes, which seemed important at the time but we would never actually use them again.

I remember freshman year pep rally, oh god. Our section decked out in red with our one sad balloon. I remember meeting friends before football games.

And then COVID. A two week break they said. We cheered. Little did we know...

Sophomore year: we had 10 am flex blocks and zoom chemistry. Unfortunately, I cannot tell you anything about the periodic table. During our Zoom student council meetings, we tried our best to orchestrate class bonding activities, like Zoom movie nights, video game tournaments, and online gingerbread house competitions.

Junior year, we returned hopeful. Even with masks, we recognized unfamiliar faces as old friends. We reconnected and so it began, the catch-up game.

We craved normalcy. In November, we had the first pep rally after the pandemic. With only juniors and seniors, there was fierce competition between our grades as we screamed chants at each other. This time we had ALL the balloons. The real pep-in-pep rally came when we got the chance to pie DK in the face.

We wore masks to sports practices and games. We sat in classes for 80 minutes again, but we made it through.

Finally, senior year, let's recap the good parts of this last year together.

We held a somewhat successful haunted hallways, minus the fog machine that set off the fire alarm & the 30 broken desks that we had to pay for out of pocket. Thanks, guys!

Next, we had the powderpuff and the thanksgiving football game. There's not much to be said there. If you know you know.

We had a pep rally with all classes, the first since 2019. Together we played tug of war, dodgeball, potato sack race, and pied teachers.

Before we knew it, the fall season ended and we celebrated each other's senior nights. Whether you were the athlete or attended to support a friend, those ceremonies felt like the beginning of the end.

For some more memories, we had special guests Ice Spice, Magic Mike, and Chris the Magician the Houdini the Great the Third. Congrats again, to our 2023 Mr. RHS Adam Aguoz.

Although we did have the spring fling (or the spring flop) last year, our class never had a prom, so we went all out this year. I hope you had fun & if you didn't have fun there, you did at senior skip the next day.

Last but not least, our senior prank. "Sneaking" into the building at night for senior prank or coming in the morning to orchestrate our wedding was the highlight of my year. If you haven't already, make sure to congratulate our newly weds, Kadidja and Gabe!

We came together as a community in unprecedented ways. Whether that meant buying brownies at the FEM bake sale, cheering in the stands when the volleyball team finished their season 20-0, attending each other's tourney games (yeah, basketball went all the way to Nashoba), supporting JROTC as they won the governors cup, or attending "In the Heights", the first musical in 30 years, or supporting the Robotics team who placed second in worlds.

I am so proud of everything we all have accomplished. What a trip down memory lane.

Someone once said, "The best things in life are the people we love, the places we've been, and the memories we've made along the way."

Every moment, every connection, and every experience is something worth remembering. Another story to share.

Class of 2023, it's truly been an honor. I wish you all the best of luck and I'll see you at the 10 year reunion where their may be actual wedding bells.

Signing off, Hana Aklog, your senior class president.

Melih Yilmaz RHS Class of 2024 Valedictorian

Good evening, esteemed faculty, family, friends, and, most importantly, my fellow graduates of the Class of 2024. We are all gathered here tonight to acknowledge the proud accomplishments of our honorable graduates these past four years. This moment is not only a testament to all of our persistent efforts and dedication, but the unwavering support and encouragement from all that have supported us. For this reason, I am honored to be recognized as the Valedictorian of the Class of 2024.

As I stand here today, I am reminded of my own journey that began when I immigrated to the United States from Turkey at the age of ten. Arriving in a new country, I was filled with feelings of uncertainty and anticipation. Having limited English, it was difficult for me to feel a sense of belonging within the community. Not being able to communicate with my classmates and teachers felt isolating.

Moving to a whole new country had changed everything I'd taken for granted about my life. What was before predictable, ordinary details--buildings I'd walk past, the faces I saw on the street, the voices I'd heard - had now become unknowns. This unfamiliarity left me anxious. Faced with all of these challenges, I had no choice but to adapt. I continued to improve my English and did my best to understand the foreign culture. Gradually, I started feeling confident in myself and my abilities. I formed my new normal by adjusting to the unfamiliar. By the end of the year, for the first time since moving to America, I felt excited about what my future held.

To many of you, my story is a familiar one. A majority of Revere High School is made up of first or second generation immigrants, many of you can relate firsthand to the struggles I've faced. We've all faced adversity head on and adapted to unfamiliar circumstances to become more resilient. However difficult to overcome, these challenges have given us the necessary skills to successfully navigate our futures.

It's at this moment, I would like to thank those who have helped me. Thank you, to annem and babam, for helping provide my siblings and I with the best opportunities possible. You've made so many sacrifices so that I could get to where I am today, and I appreciate everything you've done for me. Thank you to my amazing siblings Ebrar and Tarik, you've always been there to give me help and support me in any situation. Thank you to all of my teachers for pushing supporting your students. Thank you to Coach O'hara, for always making sure our team can compete with the best, and for teaching me valuable lessons not just about volleyball, but about life as a whole and my teammates for making me feel like I'm truly part of a family. And finally, thank you to all of my friends for your unwavering support throughout high school, and for the endless memories we've made together.

I'm so proud of the courage and resilience that we've all demonstrated that has brought us here tonight, and it is with that same courage and resilience that we will face the future. As our paths finally start to diverge, I hope that one day our paths will cross again. Congratulations, and thank you again, Class of 2024.

Bianca Fiore RHS Class of 2024 Salutatorian

Good evening faculty, family, and most importantly, the 2024 graduates.

4 years ago, we joined each other on Zoom to celebrate the end of middle school and the beginning of the "best four years of our lives." Now, we gather together one last time before we branch out to new, exciting opportunities.

Since freshman year, many of us, including myself, have been guilty of uttering the phrases "I can't wait to graduate high school" or "I can't wait to be a senior". We did not acknowledge the value of our high school experience.

What I've realized recently is that we should've been looking back at our past four years rather than fixating on the future.

As someone who loves math, especially trigonometry, I noticed that two common trig functions, sine and cosine, truly encapsulate the high school experience.

High school can either be a sine or cosine function starting at x=0 for all of you. X=0 represents your first walk into the doors of RHS. Now, you sit here at your x=2pi, entering your next interval of life.

Sine functions start at a lower point and increase as time goes on. For example, you fell asleep during first-period biology on Zoom or failed to truthfully fill out your gym fitness log during freshman year. But then, you got good grades in Sophomore English or passed MCAS.

Cosine functions start at a high point and then decrease as it progresses. For example, you joined club meetings on Zoom or jumped into a sports team and flourished. But then, the workload of in-person school caught up to you.

Regardless of the function you resonate with, both share the same pattern. Once they hit their maximum, they slowly start to decrease before they hit their minimum. Then, as soon as their minimum hits, they increase once again. This pattern continues forever.

Whether you're a cosine or sine function, you have experienced rejection and suffered hardship as well as encountering success in high school. We have gone through the waves of sine and cosine.

Which function are you?

I followed the pattern of the cosine function. I started freshman year strong with my courses on Zoom but then underestimated the rigor of Ms. Nanstad's AP Statistics course during my Sophomore year. I slowly got used to the coursework and found my rhythm in high school. You could say that I reached the value as x equals pi/2 - the maximum.

What were times when you reached your maximum?

In senior year, we continued to ride the waves and the minimums persisted. Maybe you didn't get into your dream college, maybe you didn't get the grade you expected, or maybe you couldn't keep a relationship that you held close.

Regardless of your story, take today, your last day of high school to reflect on how you've grown.

I'm forever grateful for the people who helped when I was at my minimum and celebrated me at my maximum.

Who are you grateful for today?

Thank you to my parents and the rest of my family for your support, guidance, and encouragement throughout the past 18 years of my life.

Thank you to my fellow leaders of the Feminist Empowerment Movement, the members of Math Team, and the Writing Center for providing me with a sense of community.

Thank you to the staff members who have supported me over the past four years.

To Mr. Kingston for broadening my perspectives.

To Ms. Szymanski, for enhancing my love for math.

And to Mr. Vasconcelos for providing me with a safe space to confide about my worries.

Thank you to Imane and Caitlin, my two best friends who do not attend RHS, for always being open and honest with me.

And lastly, thank you to my girlfriend Enzo who has provided me with the comfort, love, and reassurance that helped me push through the toughest times of high school.

Revere High School class of 2024, this is it.

As my 14 years at Revere Public Schools end, I encourage all of you to reach your maximum but also to reflect on the period of growth while you are at your minimum.

Congratulations everyone!

Christopher Bowen Revere High Principal

I have the privilege of standing before you tonight as we celebrate a milestone that you and those close to you will remember for years to come. As a group, you have a lot to be proud of. You've forged a class community that began at a 9th grade orientation that started on a zoom call - with a zoom number no less! You've set records for achievement in advanced coursework, athletics, leadership, service and community engagement. The Class of 2024 has certainly made Revere Public Schools a better place, and in doing so made the City of Revere proud. You have a lot of accomplishments to celebrate. But tonight I don't want to focus on your accomplishments. That is too easy to do given all you've achieved. Tonight, I want you to take some time to think about something that's often overlooked at celebrations like these. I want you to think about the times that you've failed, the times that you didn't meet the expectations you had for yourself, the times that those close to you were disappointed in you and called you out on that.

Failure has a certain stigma to it. People don't like to fail. No one wants to be a "failure." People, unfairly, judge others for failing - as if only bad people fail and as though failure is a dead end. And sometimes I can see why people do that. Sometimes failure brings out the worst in us - especially when we are trying to hide how we've failed to those we care most about. Failure can make us feel frustrated, anxious, disappointed, and doubtful. But in speaking to you tonight, my ask is that you reflect positively about the times you've failed. Across the past four years every single one of you has failed. I have failed. The person you respect most in this world has failed. And we are all different and better people because of those failures. So go ahead. Think of a time you've not met the mark. In a class, at work, in a relationship, in your journey to achieving your own personal goals. I want you to think about that tonight, as you also think about what you've accomplished.

As a school, we believe what decades of learning science strongly supports: that revision based on actionable feedback is the most influential part of learning. Failure that leads to feedback is an opportunity to learn, to grow, and to become a better person. That often works best when the feedback comes from a person we care about, who we know cares about us. Instead of asking you to think about your biggest achievement over the past four years, I have a different question. What was your best fail over the past four years? Who called you out on that? How did they do that? How did you react? Do you still talk to them? Do they still talk to you? Did you have an awkward phase with them and now things are ok? Or are things still not ok? And are you ok with that? Why is that? How have you changed since this failure? We all have answers to these questions, but we don't always want to answer these questions.

To the Class of 2024, I encourage you to embrace failure as your personal mentor. My greatest wish for you is that you fail, and that you fail in the best possible way - over and over again for the rest of your lives. I hope that your failures teach you, that they guide you, and most importantly that they push you closer to achieving the dreams that I know you have for yourself. Every mistake is a challenge for you to be better, for you to grow. Surround yourselves with people who love you, who support you and who will challenge you directly to be the best version of yourself you can be. You need people who call you out when you mess up. Make friends who are good for you because of how they push you and how they call you out, not just because they are fun to be around.

Tonight is meant to be about celebrating your successes with those that you love. Do that! I really want you to do that. But I want you to do that against the backdrop of the failures that lead to those successes. Those failures are an integral part of your journey. They are a part of who you are, so they deserve as much reflection and attention as your accomplishments.

Congratulations, Class of 2024! Here's to your future success, but more importantly, here's to the future failures that will change your lives.

Patrick Keefe Mayor of Revere

Good evening, Superintendent Kelly, Principal Bowen, distinguished staff, invited guests, parents, family, and, most important, Graduates of the Revere High School Class of 2024.

Before we begin, I do want to mention, I know very well that people don't come to graduations to hear the Mayor speak... so, know tonight I speak not only as a Mayor but also a parent. Yes, I am extremely honored to shake my son's hand as he crosses the stage, but I am just as proud to see the many faces I have coached, mentored, driven to early morning and late-night practices, fed, and watched mature into such fine young adults.

I want to congratulate each one of you for reaching this important milestone. This has not been an easy journey: filled with rigorous study sessions, countless hours of practice, and numerous challenges to overcome... Let us all take a moment to appreciate the immense accomplishment that we have gathered here to celebrate today.

As I look out at the Class of 2024, I am filled with hope for Revere's future. Each of you possesses unique talents, passions, and dreams that can shape the world in remarkable ways. Some of you may become doctors, lawyers, artists, tradespeople, military specialists, or even future elected leaders. The possibilities are endless.

So, as a parent, tonight I must offer you this important advice. There are few guarantees in life, but one specific guarantee that I offer you is the constant change you will endure and see in your lifetime. The art of embracing change, and the ability to harness its power, is something you must all develop. I also guarantee this, standing resistant to change is like standing in front of a tidal wave. Change is undefeatable. By no means does this suggest you sit back and conform. My challenge to you is to step back, observe, be thoughtful, and then be the change yourself.

I offer you a quote from former president Barack Obama: "Change will not come if we wait for some other person or some other time. We are the ones we've been waiting for. We are the change that we seek."

There will be no perfect day or perfect time when you will one day be "ready" or "equipped" to make the changes you want to see.

Because you have been ready for this all along.

Your missions may all vary but be brave to set out and make a difference, leave your mark on the world. It is up to you to take the knowledge and experiences gained here and apply them to create a brighter tomorrow for yourself and those around you.

There is no doubt that Revere is a special place. We are a city filled with diversity, culture, and a vibrant spirit. It's a city that has nurtured you, supported you, and helped shape who you are today.

Tonight... each one of us is bonded together to celebrate the Class of 2024. Our differences make up the very fabric of our community, but it is our similarities that lead us to common ground and a collective goal. Together, we must continue to believe in Revere and believe in the class of 2024. For you are the future of our city.

Class of 2024 - As you move forward, I encourage you to remember your Reverian roots, to remember the values instilled in you by your families, your teachers, and your community.

Embrace the challenges that lie ahead. Life is not always smooth sailing, and setbacks are inevitable. But it is during these moments that we find our true strength and resilience.

Finally, as you embark on your individual paths, remember the power of community. Stay connected to your classmates, your teachers, and the city that has supported you. Cherish the friendships you have built, for they are lifelong bonds that will carry you through the ups and downs of life.

In closing, I want to reiterate my heartfelt congratulations to the Revere High School Class of 2024. You are the future leaders, innovators, and change-makers of our city, our country, and our world.

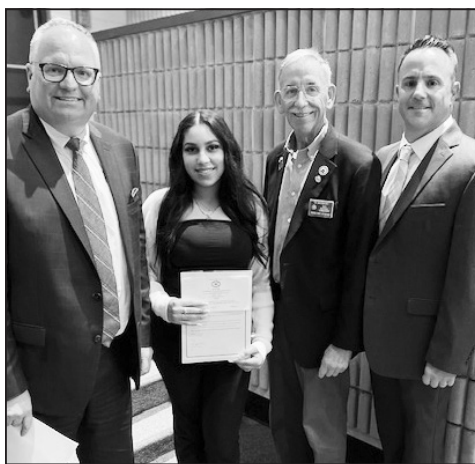

Thank you, and may your journey be filled with success, happiness, and fulfillment.

Congratulations, graduates!

Stacey Mulligan CityLab Principal

Good evening Revere families, caregivers, and the class of 2024

I would like to congratulate all the seniors on their accomplishments they have made over the last 13 years while you have been in school.

Tonight I would like to celebrate the graduating class from CityLan Innovation high school. We may be small but we are mighty. First, I would like to thank all the students for taking a chance and making a choice to attend and experience a non-traditional way of doing high school. I want to be clear why I am emphasizing the word CHOICE. No student in the city of Revere or anywhere should ever be sent to a school that they, or their families did not choose to send them to. These seniors wanted to do high school differently and that is just what they did.

The CityLab students that are graduating this evening have been dual enrolled for the past two years. Collectively they have earned 215 college credits from 5 different colleges and universities. They have been accepted to universities in Boston, throughout the New England area, and as far as Illinois. Please take a minute to recognize these 13 amazing seniors.

Please give these students a round of applause. Over the past year, I have listened to the conversations that have been happening in the community about the need for another alternative school in the district. And I thought to myself, isn’t that what we are at CityLab? Alternative school isn’t a place where you send the “bad kids”. Alternative school isn’t a place where you give worksheets to those students that need to get a quick diploma, Alternative school isn’t a place where you get sent when you don’t have enough credits after junior year.

Alternative, technical and vocational schools are the future. Alternative schools are innovative, rigorous, focus on project based instruction, cater to the needs of diverse learners and most importantly have incredibly strong teacher and student relationships. That is what we are at CityLab. After two years in this redesign model I can proudly say CityLab is the definition of an alternative school.

We, and when I say we, I mean the teachers, students, families, school committee and the city of Revere redesigned this school with all students in mind. And I am proud to lead this school into the innovation future.

Tonight I again celebrate the CityLab seniors who made the CHOICE to make this vision and model a reality for the city of Revere.

Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The RHA Board of Commissioners, including Chairperson Anthony Perrone, Vice Chairperson Fatou Drammeh, Treasurer Richard Viscay, and Member Kathi Reinstein appropriated the funds for the project.

The larger facility replaces the former playground located on site that has been converted into a new parking lot for residents.

The playground, distinguished by its simplicity, spaciousness, lighting poles, and mulch flooring, is providing much recreation and fun activities for children. The tall "Mega-Tower" has been an instant hit while The Whirl (also known as the Mega-Spin) is also proving to be immensely popular.

There are also four brand new benches situated at the edges of the playground. Harris said new picnic tables, fencing and covering will be added at the facility, "so families will be able to use the playground."

"The playground is getting a tremendous amount of use," proudly stated Harris, who is completing the second year of

also be requested provided the other resource area boundaries are identified on the plans which accompany the BVW boundary delineation. The second purpose of the ANRAD is to serve as the application for a Simplified Review for projects in the Buffer Zone.

The Wonderland site is a complicated one. There are six separate parcels on the site per the city assessors' maps and all of the legacy wetlands areas within those parcels essentially were destroyed by the track when it was built in the 1930s (long before there was even a thought of a Wetlands Protection Act). In addition, the site has become overgrown and allowed to deteriorate since the track closed about 15 years ago. Further, the so-called County Ditch drainage creek is adjacent to the site. The ditch is part of an ecosystem that flows into Diamond Creek, which in turn drains into Rumney Marsh.

The ConsComm hired its own wetlands expert, Fleetwood Environmental Solutions LLC, for what is known as a peer review study in order to provide an independent evaluation of the many environmental issues that were identified by the city's own outside experts, LEC Environmental Consultants LLC.

"This is not about the high school," noted Shue at the outset of the hearing. "This is solely about the wetlands and the wetlands delineation and whether the isolated wetlands deserve protection per the city's ordinances."

Claire Hoozeboom, a Wetlands Scientist with LEC (the firm hired by the city), made a presentation to the commissioners. Hoozeboom noted that she had walked the site with representatives from Fleetwood and that she had incorporated some changes that the firm had proposed.

David Cameron, a Wetlands Scientist from Fleetwood, then spoke to the commission. "The site is almost completely level and very disturbed," said Cameron. "It appears to have been a tidal marsh until the late 1930s (when the track was built) based on old maps going back as far as 1892." Cameron also said he viewed aerial photographs from 1938 to the present and commented that he was surprised to see no standing water in the photographs.

"Delineating the wetlands boundaries can be very challenging and LEC overall did a good job, though I made some minor revisions which LEC adopted," Cameron said. "All the questions I had about their evaluation were answered."

Cameron then explained that he had five recommendations, including that the ANRAD, as amended with his suggestions, be approved and that the commission issue an Order of Resource Area Delineation (ORAD).

Cameron pointed out that the land is within the 100-year flood plan for purposes of federal flood insurance and that this is one of the only areas in Revere that has open space that provides wildlife habitat -- he noted that he observed a breeding pair of mallards in a puddle on the asphalt -- and, if possible, floated the idea that steps could be taken during construction of the high school to provide ecological enhancement.

In response to a question from LaValle, Cameron said there was no evidence of vernal pools on the site.

Mayor Patrick Keefe briefly addressed the commission, noting that the city "has every intention of preserving the wetlands and making sure that it is an ecological-learning environment."

The commissioners then had to consider a series of motions before approving the ORAD. The first motion was to approve the areas of the delineation of the isolated wetlands on the site, which they approved unanimously.

The commissioners next approved the determination that one of the four areas on the site (Area B) is an isolated wetland not subject to the Wetlands Protection Act, but that does fall within the city environmental ordinance (Title 16) for protection, and that three other areas (C, D & F) on the site do not fall within Title 16. The commission then voted to approve the delineation of the other two parcels on the site (A & E) that do fall within the Mass. Wetlands Protection Act.

Next up was a vote to approve the delineation of the Eastern County Ditch and the riverfront area.

The next motion was the approval of the extent of the site elevations (4.55 feet) for bordering land subject to flooding.

The next motion approved was to delay a determination of the extent of mitigation for the filling-in of Area B until construction of the school is closer. The final motion approved by the commission was a determination that Area B (the old race track) is not isolated land subject to flooding.

The next item on the agenda was a continuation of a Request for Determination of Applicability (RDA) from the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority to confirm Wetland Delineation along the MBTA's right-of-way in Revere as part of the T's new Vegetated Management Plan (VMP).

After hearing briefly from T representatives, the commission unanimously approved the boundaries of the VMP as delineated by the T.

The next matter was a request for a Notice of Intent (NOI) by Stephen Lakis, 102 Summer Street, for the removal of an in-ground pool, and garage and the replacement of a retention wall. The ConsComm is requiring approval of the project from the neighbors, who must grant access to Lakis onto their property in order for him to do the proposed work. In addition, the city's Building Dept. has required Lakis to submit an engineered plan to replace the existing retaining wall.

A trustee from the neighboring condo association told the commissioners that the association has a number of questions about the project and is not ready to give its approval for the project. With that, the ConsComm further continued the hearing to its next meeting on July 10.

The commission next quickly approved a Request for a Certificate of Compliance from Mass. Electric for a 23kV cable replacement from Revere to Winthrop.

The next item on the agenda was a Request for Determination of Applicability from the city for demolition work at McMackin Field, the former fabled Little League field that had served the city's youth for generations starting in the 1950s, but which has fallen into a state of disrepair and neglect over the past decade. The ConsComm unanimously rejected the determination of applicability, which means that it no longer will retain purview over the project.

The commission heard another Request for a Determination of Applicability from Boston Gas to install a new natural gas pipeline along Lee Burbank Highway. The pipeline will replace the current pipeline that serves the properties located at 101 and 51 Lee Burbank. The commission unanimously approved a negative determination.

The final matter was a request for a Certificate of Compliance from the city for its installation of a new drainage pipe from Avon Street through two rear and side yards to connect to the storm drain system on Bay Road. The ConsComm unanimously approved issuing the certificates of compliance for the three properties affected by the work.

The next meeting of the commission is set for July 10.

Reach the Beach worship event returns in August

By Journal Staff

The First Congregational Church's Reach the Beach outreach week will run this year from Monday, August 12 through Friday, August 17 next to the Bandstand on Revere Beach.

Reach the Beach is a weeklong attempt to spread the Good News at Revere Beach, the first public beach in America. For the entire week, participants will be on the beach witnessing, handing out tracts, doing servant evangelism, according to the organizers.

Each day's events and activities will begin at noon and run until 9 p.m.

There are a number of organizing and fundraising events taking place at the First Congregational Church at 230 Beach St. in the month of July.

The initial get together is on July 12 at the church, where the organizers are looking for feedback on the 2023 event and talking about plans for the 2024 Reach the Beach event. Pizza and salad will be served, and anyone who is planning to attend is asked to RSVP at rtbrevere123@gmail.com.

Last year, Reach the Beach volunteers handed out 3,000 pieces of literature, two cases of English-language bibles, one case of Spanish-language bibles, one case of Arabic-language bibles, and a healthy amount of free water, coffee, snacks, and pastries. Event organizers stated that there will also be music, drama, and other events to draw people to their tables with the goal of speaking with them about the gospel and praying.

There are also upcoming fundraisers for Reach the Beach, including a Worship Night on July 13 and a Pizza Night Silent Auction on July 20. Reach the Beach's new website is rtbrevere.com.

RHS alum Minnah Sheikh believes in Revere

By Melissa Moore-Randall

When her third grade classmates and friends were watching cartoons, Minnah Sheikh was practicing her inaugural address.

"When I was 9 years old, I was absolutely convinced I was going to be President of the United States. Most 9 year olds get home from school and do the usual stuff like watch cartoons. I practiced my inaugural address. So one day, at the dinner table, I thought it was time to make things official and announce my candidacy to my family."

"Instead of explaining to me that I could not base the entirety of my platform on the inadequacies of slush flavors on field day, my mother took my ambitions and broke them down into three major action steps: working hard, studying, and going to college. If I did that, I would "make it." I vividly recall completing an extra credit question for my third grade teacher, Ms. Randall, on Mitt Romney and later doing a project on Jacqueline Kennedy. Those experiences both fed into me becoming a politics nerd and I love Ms. Randall for it!"

A rising senior at Wesleyan University majoring in Government and Economics, Minnah is the only child of parents from Pakistan who immigrated to the United States at the age of 16.

In addition to being a full-time student, Minnah is also Executive Chair of the Committee to Elect Patrick Keefe, a subcontractor for the Dewey Square Group, a member of the leadership team of A Healthier Democracy, Chair of the Revere Democrats, and a Senior Intern for the Wesleyan Office of Admission.

Minnah Sheikh.

Sheikh understands that everyone knows that young people don't vote. However, like most she can't seem to figure out why.

"The dominating explanatory narrative is that Gen-Z is apathetic toward politics or politically disengaged. I wanted to reshape that narrative."

"When I discovered that Patrick Keefe was running for Mayor back in March of 2023, I sent him a Twitter DM. Being only 20 years old and relatively new to the campaign world, most people in his position would have brushed me aside. But not Patrick. He wanted his campaign, much like his administration, to represent and embody all of Revere's citizens including and especially its young people."

"No matter my youth, gender, race, or religion, Pat believed in me. I designed a youth strategy plan for Pat's campaign, specifically targeting the often-overlooked demographic of 18-25-year-olds, aka Gen-Z. The plan outlined the best ways to engage young people, from peer-to-peer relational organizing to having Pat do TikTok dances. And it worked!"

"There is power in young people. We motivated over 500 young people under the age of 25 to vote, breaking records for voter turnout in the Revere elections. So take it from me, our campaign slogan "Believe in Revere" is more than just words—believing is imperative. Mayor Keefe unequivocally believes in the city of Revere, in its people, in its community, and in me."

Upon graduation in May 2025, Minnah Sheikh plans to continue her career in public affairs and political consulting, with a particular focus on government relations.

When asked if she would be interested in a career in politics Minnah replied, "I am a proud by-product of Revere - shaped by its community, culture, and resilience. My priority is to serve this community in the best way I can, regardless of what that may look like - whether that involves running for office, organizing people power, or another form of civic engagement."

Mayor Patrick Keefe sees a lot of Revere Pride when it comes to Minnah. "Minnah was one of my first calls when I decided to run for Mayor. I knew of her organizational talent and abilities in campaigning from her early days as she ran for class secretary. Although she didn't carry the title due to her school commitment Minnah was our Campaign Manager. Pretty big weight to carry not only being a full time college student, but organizing a successful campaign for a mayor's race is a decent resume builder. Seeing this 5 foot tall young lady establish herself amongst some of the largest consulting firms in the Northeast was quite impressive. Minnah was built for this, if you go back and watch her speech at HS graduation it's easily on my short list for most impactful speech from a student. She inspired me. Everything that Minnah has accomplished and continues to will never surprise me, because she is that good. Minnah is a giant amongst us, don't let her size fool you, she makes me so proud to know she will always represent Revere with dignity and respect."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, CAROLE!

Northeast Metro Tech hosts State Reps for Civics Assembly, inspires student engagement

Special to the Journal

Superintendent David DiBarri is pleased to share that Northeast Metro Tech hosted an assembly with three state representatives from the district's sending communities to educate students about civics and state government.

The 2024 Annual Northeast Civics Assembly was held on Friday, May 24 in the school's cafeteria, with state Reps. Kate Lipper-Garabedian, of Melrose, Steve Ultrino, of Malden, and Jessica Giannino, of Revere in attendance.

The assembly was created in response to the Gov. Charlie Baker administration signing into law An Act to Promote and Enhance Civic Engagement, which made civics projects required for all students.

All three state representatives engaged in a question-and-answer session with Northeast students, fielding a range of questions about their positions and responsibilities.

"The 2024 Northeast Metro Tech Civics Assembly was an all-around great success and exciting endeavor for our community. Being able to connect students with inspiring and well-established lawmakers is an invaluable experience for all parties involved," said Lou DeGaudio, English and Social Studies Department Head. "The legislators were able to deeply connect with our diverse student population, largely because of the sincerity and dedication that they exuded on stage when answering the students' questions. Students asked pertinent and relevant questions and were given the opportunity to engage in civil discourse with those who are in a position to make legislative change in their own communities."

ty to speak with the students at Northeast Metro Tech regarding our work as elected officials was an absolute pleasure," said Rep. Ultrino, of Malden. "It was heartwarming to see so many students engaged and curious on a variety of issues concerning themselves and their community!"

"It was a pleasure to join my colleagues at Northeast Metro Tech to talk about our role in the State House and the importance of civics," said Rep. Giannino, of Revere. "It is critical that students embrace their civic responsibility with the same dedication and passion they bring to their trades.

Together, we can build not only strong careers, but a strong community."

"As a former teacher and education attorney, it was a pleasure to join my House colleagues for Northeast Metro Tech's State Representative Assembly," said Rep. Lipper-Garabedian, of Melrose. "The assembly was an excellent opportunity to discuss the work of the state Legislature and to hear student perspectives. I hope that the event inspired Northeast Metro Tech students to become civically involved in policy issues that matter to them."

Students reacted positively to the opportunity, and said they learned much from engaging with their state government leaders.

"I felt like the assembly made me learn about the importance of making a difference in Massachusetts and every city," said Ashley Diaz Lanza, of Revere. "We may not agree with certain things, but if we want change, we can try to make a difference. I learned a lot from the representatives."

"I think it was a great learning opportunity and nice to learn things about local legislators," said Valentine Romero Portillo, of Revere. "Local legislators are important. When wanting to change something about our city we need to start with them."

"The assembly was very informative about civics and how individuals operate," said Esien Clarke, of Malden. "I liked that each legislator gave backgrounds on their lives and what led them to be successful in their jobs."

The Revere High softball team added another page to its historic season by edging Newton North, 1-0, to claim the school's first-ever Division 1 North sectional championship Sunday evening in a post-season classic at Martin Field in Lowell. Junior ace Sabrina Palermo lived up to her billing against Newton North with another brilliant performance, while the Revere offense produced the only run it would need in the top of seventh. Victoria Russo worked an 0-2 count into her third walk of the game. Unsung hero Cassandra DiBella laid down a beautiful bunt to advance Russo to second. RHS head coach Joe Ciccarello gave the green light to the speedy Russo and she stole third base. Victoria then raced home on a wild pitch to give Revere a 1-0 lead. Palermo set down Newton North in the bottom of the seventh to secure the victory, with Noelle MacDonald making a nice catch for the final out. The Lady Patriots won two thrillers prior to the North final, beating perennial Dual County League powerhouse Concord Carlisle, 3-2, and always-tough Central Catholic, 1-0. In the win over Central Catholic, both teams had chances to push a run across, but Palermo and two C-C hurlers combined for seven scoreless innings. The Revere defense made a huge play in the fourth to keep the game locked in a 0-0 tie. With a Central runner on second, Russo charged on a ball hit to left field and fired a clean relay to Kristina Stella, who threw a strike to Juliana Cecere to nail the runner at home plate. In the eighth inning Cecere went to the opposite field and blasted a two-out triple over the rightfielder's head. Central chose to work around cleanup hitter Stella and issued the versatile senior a walk. Russo was up next and conferred with assistant coach Paige Licata before her decisive at-bat, asking for the go-ahead to hit away. Russo followed with a looping hit over the first baseman's head for the game-winner as pinch runner Gabrielle Cammarata crossed home, igniting a giant celebration. The 3-2 victory over Concord-Carlisle was a signal to Ciccarello that his team could beat the best teams in the state. Russo (bunt single) scored the go-ahead run on a sacrifice fly by Lauren Hayes, while Palermo struck out nine batters. Revere plays Bridgewater Raynham in the Division 1 state semifinals tonight in Lowell.

Despite a strong pitching performance from Melissa DeAngelis and excellent defense behind her, the Revere High softball team dropped a 2-0 decision to Framingham in the opening round of the MIAA Division 1 North softball tournament. DeAngelis yielded

Vanessa Ardagna, and DeAngelis. Three Lady Patriots, Jenna Forgione, Christina Polsonetti, and

Garfield School Elementary honors late Fourth-Grader, Alejandro Rivas

School holds "The Rivas Cup" Memorial Soccer Tournament

Special to the Journal

Alejandro Rivas had a passion for playing football and basketball with his friends, as well as watching sports while at home. When he wasn't at school, Alejandro was an avid bike rider, skateboarder, and roller skater who also enjoyed fishing at local ponds and rivers.

But above all, Alejandro loved soccer.

"Ale's love for soccer was very well-known throughout the grade," said Alejandro's 4th grade teacher at Garfield Elementary School, Samantha Shea. "Mrs. Lyon, another 4th grade teacher, told me that her favorite memory of Ale was that he would play soccer at recess as the goalie and that he would always change teams halfway through to help out the losing team."

Tragically, Alejandro passed away on February 19 of this year after a brief illness.

Recently, Garfield School Elementary honored the late 4th grader with "The Rivas Cup" Memorial Soccer Tournament.

"Alejandro's passing was so sudden and tragic; it was important to me that we found a way to honor him as a 4th grade community," said Shea. "It got me thinking that playing soccer was a great way to honor Ale, not just because he loved it but because he showed such strength of character when he played it. After that, the pieces started coming together."

When speaking to Alejandro's classmates about the Rivas Cup, Shea said they were all immediately on board.

"I think it was important for them to have an opportunity to do something for their friend," said Shea. "We spoke a lot about how to support each other during the tournament, and they really rose to the occasion."

Shea said that through the memorial tournament, the school was able to raise enough funds to purchase t-shirts, new pop-up soccer goals, and some rubber bracelets for each student to remember the special day.

"I'm lucky that I have such an amazing 4th grade team that helped me plan this event from scratch—especially Mrs. Lyon, who pressed the logo on 120 individual t-shirts," said Shea. "School Committee member John Kingston was kind enough to donate brand new soccer balls, plenty of water, and snacks for the entire grade level, and a parent, Stephen Livingston, brought his DJ equipment to play some music for us while we played. My husband is a certified soccer referee, and he came to help us out as well. We are lucky that we had so many resources to pull from to help us make this event come together."

Shea added that every single student participated, some of them playing soccer for the very first time because they wanted to try it for Alejandro.

"I know Alejandro's family was grateful that we put such a large event together for him, but it was really our honor," she said.

REVERE SOFTBALL COACH JOE NICHINIELLO RECEIVES SPECIAL RECOGNITION FOR HIS LIFETIME DEDICATION TO THE PLAYERS, SPORT

Joe Nichiniello has spent a lifetime of service to the Revere community as a teacher and coach. His ability to bond with his players and students on and off the field was uncanny. From this season on, starting in 2025, the RYBS Leagues, Softball Coach of the Year, will be presented the Joe Nichiniello Award. Joe was unable to be present at Griswold Field that morning in April, and it was presented to him by league President Shawn Vetere (right) and Treasurer Tom Rossi at his home. Hebrew SeniorLife's Jack Satter House to receive up to $20 Million HUD Grant

Special to the Journal

Hebrew SeniorLife's Jack Satter House held ceremonies on June 10th to announce the receipt of an up to $20 million grant to its Revere supportive housing community to provide efficiency and climate resilience improvements. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development awarded this grant in December as part of its Green and Resilient Retrofit Program (GRRP).

As part of President Biden's Investing in America agenda, a key pillar of Bidenomics, HUD announced in December $173.9 million in new loans and grants under GRRP Comprehensive and Elements categories.

The awards will support energy efficiency, electrification, clean energy, low-embodied carbon materials, and climate resilience improvements in 30 HUD-assisted multi-family properties, including 3,070 rental homes for low-income individuals and families. These investments will help tackle the climate crisis and support equitable economic development in American communities as part of President Biden's Investing in America agenda and historic environmental justice agenda.

GRRP grant and loan funding will improve residents' quality of life by expanding energy efficiency, reducing climate pollution, generating renewable energy, promoting the use of green building materials, improving indoor air quality, and enhancing climate resilience.

These awards include the first set of awards made under the GRRP's Comprehensive category, which provides funding to properties with the highest need for climate resilience and energy efficiency upgrades. All 19 properties receiving Comprehensive awards serve low-income residents and roughly half serve seniors.

Speakers/attendees at the event included:

- Democratic Whip Katherine Clark
- Regional Assistant for Senator Edward J. Markey Mark Lannigan
- HUD New England Regional Administrator Juana B. Matias
- State Representative Jessica Giannino
- State Representative Jeffrey Turco
- Acting Secretary at Executive Office of Elder Affairs Robin Lipson

Rick Henken Chairman of the Board of Hebrew Senior Life welcomes everyone.

Kim Brookes from Hebrew Senior Life with her remarks.

The Regional Administrator of HUD, Juana Matias was pleased to offer this grant to improve the lives at the Jack Satter House.

Congresswoman and Revere resident Katherine Clark reinforces her commitment to fulfilling senior living in her district and was happy to work making this 20 million dollar grant possible.

Mayor Patrick Keefe thanks all the elected officials that helped in making life better for Revere residents at the Jack Satter House and looks forward to more improvements to senior living across Revere in the future.

Henken.

"For nearly five decades, the Jack Satter House has been a beacon of hope and belonging for so many of our seniors," said Democratic Whip Katherine Clark. "This funding represents an investment in the future of this community and a commitment to ensuring its services continue for many more years to come. I remain committed to bringing home the resources we need to support our seniors, clean up our air, and brace our homes against the impacts of climate change."

"I am thrilled to announce the award for the Green and Resilient Retrofit Program Grant award that HUD is presenting to Jack Satter House for $20 million," said HUD New England Regional Administrator Juana B. Matias. "This program will support projects that reduce carbon emissions, improve utility efficiency, enhance indoor air quality, and otherwise improve the climate resilience of this building and many other HUD-assisted properties throughout the country."

"For years the Jack

Satter House has provided seniors along Revere Beach the opportunity to live and age in a community, affordably and with dignity. Now they are demonstrating how senior housing can be resilient and sustainable," said Senator Edward J. Markey (via Regional Assistant Mark Lannigan).

"Jack Satter House is very important to the City of Revere. Therefore it's important its residents have everything they need to make sure that their quality of life is the best it can be," said State Representative Jessica Giannino.

"Today is a great day for the City of Revere, and it's an unbelievable day for the residents of Hebrew SeniorLife's Jack Satter House," said Revere Mayor Patrick Keefe, Jr.

"I am proud to see Hebrew SeniorLife not only grow its affordable housing portfolio but also find ways to partner with HUD to invest in critical greening initiatives like this," said Hebrew SeniorLife Board Chair Richard Henken. "Jack Satter House and its residents will benefit from this grant for years to come."

"Hebrew SeniorLife is committed to creating new affordable housing with the highest level of energy-efficient construction standards and to renovating our existing infrastructure to mitigate the impacts of climate change and plan for future generations of residents in our communities," said Hebrew SeniorLife Executive Vice President of Senior Living Kim Brooks. "Receiving the Green Retrofit Resiliency Program grant ensures that our Revere community can continue to evolve to meet the needs of today and tomorrow."

"Jack Satter House is a vibrant, active, thriving community where our residents can age with programs and services to meet their needs," said Jack Satter House Executive Director Steve Post. "Thank you to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for your partnership to allow Jack Satter House to make the necessary improvements for our current and future residents."

A check for 20 Million Dollars from HUD was presented at the Jack Satter House last Monday afternoon by Regional Director of HUD Juana Matias, with Congresswoman Katherine Clark, and other state and local officials. Rick Henken, Mark Lanagan from Congressman Ed Markey's office, Kim Brookes, Councillors Ira Novoselsky, Angela Guarino Sawaya, State Representative Jeff Turco, Congresswoman Katherine Clark, Steve Post, Dir. AN HISTORIC DAY ON REVERE BEACH

STATUS SYMBOL

Government confirms what we have long known: Revere Beach is a national treasure

By SETH DANIEL
seth@reverejournal.com

The fond memories of generations of sun worshippers converged into one historical occasion on Monday morning when Revere Beach Reservation was officially designated a National Historic Landmark by the U.S. Department of the Interior.

For most of the 11 speakers on the program, the theme was a rebirth of the beach. For decades, as most around here know, the place was left to rot while other beaches in more affluent areas were kept up nicely with funds that should have gone partially to Revere Beach.

That fact alone makes the beach's history more ironic. Today, the beach's sand is laden with debris, but years ago, Charles

Superintendent Dakin: We're hiring more teachers, regardless of the consequences

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

School officials don't care about the flak, they're hiring 10 more teachers.

Superintendent of Schools Paul Dakin and the School Committee have agreed to weather the consequences from state agencies and use money destined for fulfilling bureaucratic requirements to bring back 10 new teachers to the public schools.

"We've redone grants and squeezed out professional development requirement areas and we're saying it's more important to have teachers," Dakin said last week.

He said some letters have already gone out to laid-off teachers and more are going out soon.

"I'll just defend it if they want to criticize us," said Dakin, who figures they will re-route about $500,000 to make way for the teachers' salaries.

At the high school, Principal David DeRuosi said he has been busy hiring a few new teachers.

"You can't lose 20 to 25 staff over two years and expect the same performance," he said.

The new hires, he said, will help him to reduce class size in math and English especially.

Dakin explained that during education reform of the 1990s, teachers were required to take a certain amount of seminars and classes (called opportunities) to keep their license current. If they don't get that "professional development," they lose their teaching license.

The catch comes with the fact the schools must pay for and provide these "opportunities" to the teachers, which comes at a great cost to most urban districts.

Dakin said he is cutting out some of the "opportunities".

"This will be helping out every building," he said. "We'll be living with a very, very, very tight budget, but I think parents and students deserve lower class sizes."

Despite another tight budget year, Dakin said he wouldn't consider cutting sports and after-school

NeighborHealth unites community for health and fitness at annual 5K Event

Special to the Journal

NeighborHealth, formerly East Boston Neighborhood Health Center, Let's Get Movin' program, in partnership with the New Balance Foundation, hosted its annual 5K for Fitness event on Saturday, June 8th, 2024, at East Boston's Memorial Park. The event – the first to take place under the health center's new name – brought together more than 700 people, including over 570 runners, to celebrate and promote healthy living through physical activity and nutrition education.

"I love seeing our community come together to celebrate fitness, physical activity and healthy eating at the Let's Get Movin' 5K," said NeighborHealth President and CEO Greg Wilmot. "Staying healthy is more than not feeling sick, it's about feeling well, and I can't think of a better example of an event that keeps our community connected and supported in living a full and flourishing life."

The race day schedule included "day of" registration followed by a warmup led by the Let's Get Movin' team with refreshments and live music following the event. The first 200 registrants received free t-shirts, and all finishers were awarded medals. The top finishers in each age category were also recognized with special awards concluding the event. More than a dozen community organizations joined the festivities to share resources.

Dozens of NeighborHealth staff participated in the event, both as volunteers and race participants at East Boston's Memorial Park.
