Llanos powers Revere to 46-31 Thanksgiving Day win

Special to the Journal

(Spoiler alert: The first sentence of this story does not contain any typographical errors.)

Revere Patriot running back Joe Llanos ran for 378 yards on 22 carries and scored six touchdowns to lead the Patriots to a 46-31 victory over the Winthrop Vikings on Thanksgiving Day at Miller Field.

Let those numbers sink in for a moment: 378 yards -- 22 carries -- six touchdowns.

Llanos's performance truly was one for the ages in the 91st holiday meeting between the archrivals on a perfectly unpredictable morning for a football game that featured a slick field (yes, the turf is much better than the grass at Miller that would have turned the old field into a mud bowl in the opening minutes, but it's the equivalent of a slip 'n slide when wet); a gusty north wind that got stronger as the game wore on; and then an off-and-on, driving rain that began just before the end of the first half and continued until after the final whistle.

The 5-foot, 8-inch, 165 pound Llanos, who is all but a lock for the Northeastern Conference Player of the Year honors, ran for 144 yards in the first half and added another 234 in the second half, dividing his six touchdowns equally before and after the intermission.

However, despite Llanos's herculean efforts, the plucky Vikings remained undaunted throughout the contest. Led by their own star, junior quarterback Bobby Hubert, who ran for 135 yards on the ground on 26 attempts, passed for 51 yards on 4-for-5 attempts, and accounted for three touchdowns (two on the ground and one in the air). Winthrop counterpunched effectively, matching the first three Revere scores that brought the contest back to level, 19-19, with 4:01 left in the third period.

Tax rate decreases, but property values rise

By Cary Shuman

The City Council unanimously approved the Minimum Residential Factor for the purpose of establishing the Fiscal Year 2020 tax rate at its Council meeting Monday night.

Board of Assessors Chair Dana Brangiforte and Assessors John Verengia and Mathew McGrath appeared before the City Council, announcing that the residential tax rate would be $11.26 while the commercial tax rate would be $21.88. The $11.26 figure represents a decrease from last year's rate of $12.11. The $21.88 figure is also a decrease from last year's rate of $23.68.

However, Brangiforte stated that single-family homeowners will see an average increase of $106 in their tax bills. Condominium owners will see an average increase of $187, two-family home owners

LEGISLATURE PASSES FIRST-IN-THE-NATION TOBACCO CONTROL LEGISLATION

House Speaker Robert A. DeLeo along with his colleagues in the House and Senate passed legislation to ban all flavored tobacco products and tax vaping products in an effort to protect youth from the harmful effects of tobacco usage.

Known as An Act Modernizing Tobacco Control, the legislation also requires commercial health insurers and MassHealth to cover tobacco cessation counseling and all nicotine replacement therapies with generics offered without any cost to the consumer. The flavor ban includes a ban on menthol cigarettes and restricts higher nicotine level products to age 21 plus tobacco shops and smoking bars.

“Massachusetts moved quickly to act on behalf of the children of the Commonwealth to modernize our laws that regulate tobacco,” said Speaker DeLeo, (D – Winthrop). “The bill bans all flavored tobacco and makes it easier for people to access the tools they need to quit tobacco use. This nation-leading step will save lives. I hope other states will follow our example in combatting this public health crisis with comprehensive legislation amid inaction by the Trump Administration. I thank Chairs Mahoney and Gregoire for their diligence on this issue, and the Senate for their partnership.”

“The negative effects of nicotine are irrefutable, and the health impacts of vaping are staggering,” said Sen. Joe Boncore (D-Winthrop). “Addressing its proliferation among students and teens is one of the clearest steps we can take to prevent another generation from becoming addicted to nicotine.”

“I thank Speaker DeLeo, Chair Mahoney and Chair Gregoire for bringing this important piece of public health legislation to the floor of the House for consideration,” said Rep. Vincent (D-Revere). “For the past few years, high school students from my district have been advocating to me for the passage of ban on flavored tobacco because they know all too well how tempting this and vaping are to their peers. Knowing now how dangerous smoking is as opposed to when smoking was in vogue years ago, I am proud that the House took this step to protect the public health of the next generation in modernizing our tobacco laws.”

In Massachusetts, 9,300 adults die annually from smoking, and more than 20 percent of high school students report having used vaping products. More than 80 percent of teens who have used a tobacco product started with a flavored product such as mint or menthol. The Massachusetts Department of Public Health has reported three vaping-related deaths to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. In Massachusetts, smoking is estimated to cost more than $4 billion in direct health-care costs.

DRONE SAFETY

The Massachusetts Port Authority (Massport) kicked off an advertising campaign aimed at educating the public about the safe use of drones. The campaign encourages drone operators to be responsible: “Fly your drone safely this Holiday Season. Know the Rules.” The ads will appear on print media, social media, and billboards. The campaign will run from November 27, 2019-January 10, 2020.

Drones have been among the list of popular holiday gifts. According to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), nearly 1.5 million drones are registered in the U.S. and a majority of them—over 1 million—are intended for recreational use. The FAA also predicts the number of drones sold in the U.S. to reach nearly 2.5 million by 2022.

“We are most concerned about the people who are unaware of the rules on drones,” said Massport Chief Security Officer

‘TIS THE SEASON, REVERE SCOUTS SELLING CHRISTMAS WREATHS AT CITY HALL

Last Saturday Revere Scout and Pack Troop 15, sponsored by the Revere American Legion Post took to the streets and were selling holiday wreaths to help raise funds to offset the many expenses of the program that occur throughout the year. This helps the scouts in keeping the cost down per scout for camping trips and other worthwhile field trips, as well as projects throughout the year at the regular meetings.

Pack 15 and Troop 15 are a credit to our city, Boy Scouting has been a long time tradition in Revere and continues to do so, thanks to the efforts of the volunteer leaders involved in the many stages of Boy Scouting.

Scout Master Parrick McNair and Cub Master Mike Frodin and Clair McNair are shown with some of the scouts that were selling wreaths last Saturday in front of Revere City Hall: Aiden Dilorio, James Keegan, Jack Cambriello, William Hurley, Brody McNair. Thanks from Pack and Troop 15 for the generosity Revere showed again by purchasing wreaths from them to make the upcoming scouting year a great one.

Hank Shaw. “With the growth and advancement of drone technologies, we recognize there are significant benefits for commercial or business purposes, recreational use, and support to our first responders. But, drones must be safely integrated into the airspace and pose a significant concern when operators do not follow the rules.”

All drones over .55 pounds, must be registered with the FAA and must be marked with the registration number. Operators are required to carry proof of registration. Other regulations include the following:

- Flying around and above airports is prohibited without prior FAA approval. Violators will be subject to penalties.
- Never fly near any aircraft, especially near airports.
- Keep your drone in sight at all times and always lower than 400 feet.

Since 2016, Massport has installed “No Drone Zone” signs in several parks and other properties around Boston Logan International Airport. The locations include Piers Park, Bremen Street Park, Festa Field, and the Neptune Road Buffer in Easton Boston. Signs have also been posted at the Maritime Park and Cruiseport Harborwalk in South Boston. Massport is also working with neighboring communities to install signs in other public places.

A CHANGE IN SCHOOL BREAKFAST

House Speaker Robert A. DeLeo and Rep. RoseL-

ee Vincent along with their colleagues in the House of Representatives unanimously passed legislation ensuring Massachusetts' students have access to breakfast after the beginning of the instructional day. This bill will increase school breakfast participation while supporting the health and education of the Commonwealth's most vulnerable students.

An Act Regarding Breakfast After the Bell, requires public schools where 60 percent or more of the students are eligible for free or reduced-price lunch to offer its students breakfast options after classes begin.

“We recognize that students need a healthy breakfast so they are ready for learning in the classroom, and this legislation gives that opportunity to all students,” said Speaker DeLeo (D-Winthrop). “This legislation builds on the House's ongoing support of children's wellness, and I want to thank Chair Peisch, Vice Chair Vega and Representative Vargas for their work on this issue.”

“This legislation helps to provide students with nutritious meal as the school day is getting started so that they are focused and ready to learn,” said Rep. Vincent (D-Revere). “I'd like to thank Speaker DeLeo for his leadership on taking up this important issue for our communities.”

This legislation builds on the House's ongoing efforts to prioritize programs that support the health, wellbeing and academic success of the Commonwealth's most vulnerable children. Research shows 1 in 10 households and 1 in 9 children in Massachusetts are food insecure. Providing breakfast to students has been shown to improve concentration, increase school attendance and decrease tardiness and visits to the school nurse. It also serves to destigmatize traditional school breakfast programming by supporting an all-inclusive school-wide option.

Key provisions of the bill are as follows:

- Requires all public schools where not less than 60 percent of the students at the school are eligible for free or reduced-price meals to offer all students a school breakfast after the beginning of the instructional day.

- Allows schools the flexibility to use the model that best suits its students that may include: breakfast in the classroom, grab and go breakfast, or second chance breakfast in the cafeteria.

- Directs DESE to issue guidance or regulations in order to implement programming, allowing for consultation with nonprofit organizations with experience regarding the opportunity gap, hunger and food security issues, and best practices for improving student access to school breakfast.

- Requires DESE to develop and distribute a schedule by Jan. 1, 2020 for districts to begin implementing breakfast after the bell programming, collect data on availability and participation rates and make information publicly available on its website.

- Requires full implementation by the start of 2022 school year. Requirement can be waived for 1 year if a school is already meeting an 80 percent or higher breakfast participation rate or is able to demonstrate an extreme hardship to implementation. Schools approved for a one year waiver must demonstrate the progress being made to meet the requirements of the bill.

The bill will now go to the Senate.

Council denies installation of wireless cell antennas in three locations

By Cary Shuman

The City Council denied the installation of small, low-powered wireless antennas on three existing utility poles on Kimball Avenue, North Shore Road, and Crystal Avenue.

Cellco Partnership (d/b/a Verizon Wireless) sought permission from the Council to install the antennas and "associated equipment" in the three neighborhood locations.

The residents of Crystal Avenue and nearby Pearl Avenue turned out in force for the meeting, applauding each of three votes denying the requests.

Councillor-at-Large Tony Zambuto, who chaired the zoning sub-committee meeting about the issue prior to the Council meeting, was the lone councillor to vote in favor of granting the request for the installations to take place.

"The truth is that we [the City Council] cannot legally vote against the small cell antenna due to the Federal law, in my opinion," said Zambuto, who also questioned councillors raising the issue of the aesthetic appearance of the antennas as a reason for voting against the installations. "This was a feel-good vote, it made the neighbors feel like they weren't going to get these small cell antennas which they will end up getting. It was a Pyrrhic victory, in my opinion."

But residents, such as former Revere School Committee member Dan Maguire of Pearl Avenue, were clearly against the antennas and pleased by the Council's vote.

"In my living room I would be looking right out at the antenna," said Maguire. "The Boston Fire Department was against this. The Revere Fire Department was against it and got it removed from Central Fire Station. If it happened at a school [Weston High School] and got removed, why are we going now to the neighborhoods? Because people won't speak out, they're thinking that they can sneak it in."

Maguire also expressed concerns about the negative effects on people's health that the antennas might have.

"The jury is still out with the health effects and what happened to the greater good of a neighborhood - who benefits from this, the customers of Verizon - the city gets no benefits from this. Someone gets a faster download of a movie at the sacrifice of the health and welfare of a neighborhood next to a marsh. I don't want to be reading 10 years from now that someone's children or grandchildren got sick or anyone got sick."

Ward 1 Councillor Joanne McKenna also expressed concerns about the effects the antennas would have on residents in the neighborhood.

"I need to see and read the scientific data," McKenna said during the sub-committee meeting. "I don't think there's enough data for and against - I don't think there's enough data, period. And I don't want to see the same thing that happened with vaping - six months ago we didn't know the consequences of vaping, Beachmont resident Dan Maguire spoke up against the installation at the Council meeting.

now people are dying and people are sick - because there was no data. I just can't go with this. You're putting these antennas in a conservation area that is heavily impacted with residents. I just don't think it belongs in a neighborhood. Put it somewhere else."

Councillor-at-Large Jessica Giannino brought up the aesthetic appearance of the antennas.

"Aesthetically, I would not want this [cell antennas] outside my bedroom window, or across from my kitchen window, or outside my home," said Giannino. "So aesthetically, I don't believe this is the right application for a neighborhood and that is something the City Council can say and cancel it."

Prior to the three separate votes denying the antenna installations at the Council meeting, Ward 4 Councillor Patrick Keefe said, "The citizens of Revere are speaking and they don't want this, some of it for reasons based on health or based on the fact they're unsightly. We're not breaking the law by voting on this. If they want to take me to court, feel free, that's their right."

Keefe's strong stance drew applause from the Crystal Avenue residents in the audience.

Council President Arthur Guinasso also felt the Council was not in violation of any FCC regulations by voting against the installation of the antennas.

"We're doing it based on conscience and concern for our community," said Guinasso. "If somebody can take us to court and challenge that, I don't see how they can win in court. We're voting for the wishes of the people we represent and I don't think anybody can deny that."

will see an increase of $245 and three-family home owners will see an increase of more than $600.

The reason for the increases in the average tax bills (despite the lower tax rate) is because the revaluation of Revere properties saw assessed property values increase.

Speaking about the increased tax bills, Ward 4 Councillor Patrick Keefe said, "I was very much under the impression that we wouldn't be seeing an increase in the assessments based on the fact that they rose so much in the last few years. I know this is not going to be determined tonight, but we have to figure out how to even it out so the residents are not paying more."

Ward 1 Councillor Joanne McKenna said there are three major problems that Revere residents always talk about: "the overbuilding, the traffic, and the taxes."

"The people got creamed last year with the taxes," said McKenna. "So I can't see myself voting for more taxes."

Brangiforte explained that the Council would not be voting for a tax increase, "you're just voting on whether there should be a split tax rate, yes or no, and what percentage that split-rate should be."

Ward 2 Councillor Ira Novoselsky said while it is unfortunate that the tax bills are increasing, "people are happy right now with the services they are getting in the city of Revere. They (DPW, Fire, Police) deserve what they're getting, but unfortunately the assessments on people's homes are helping pay for that. Unfortunately, that's where we have to go. And it's up to the mayor to come in with a budget next year as low as possible, for us to scrutinize it, and see what we can do to try and keep those numbers down."

Councillor-at-Large Jessica Giannino echoed colleague Joanne McKenna's comment that taxes are one of the biggest concerns in the city.

"People are getting priced out of their homes, they're having a hard time paying their water bills... this is hurting our most vulnerable residents, it's affecting seniors, people with disabilities, people in working-class families," said Giannino.

"I just hope we keep this conversation in the back of our minds next year when we look at the budget and find ways that we cannot cut city services," she added.

Saying he was passionate about the issue of taxes, Councillor-at-Large Steven Morabito reasoned that, "We (the city of Revere) need a revenue stream, but so don't our people. One hundred dollars doesn't seem like a lot, but it may be to that one family."

Council President Arthur Giannino called the issue of taxes "a very controversial situation, but the bottom line is that if we have an 'X' number of dollars, somebody has to pay for it, and it's you the taxpayer."

The Revere tax rate will now be proposed to the state Department of Revenue for its approval.

Guinasso wants 'Go Slow' signs placed on Revere Street

By Cary Shuman

The City Council approved a motion by President Arthur Guinasso that Mayor Brian Arrigo request the DPW to install "Go Slow" signs on Revere Street near the curve at St. Anthony's Church.

"This is one of most dangerous blind curves we have in this city," Guinasso said. "We have had numerous accidents there and over this past week, a pedestrian was hit there."

Councillor-at-Large Tony Zambuto suggested a flashing "Go Slow" sign as opposed to a regular "Go Slow" sign. "That is probably one of the worst intersections in the city," said Zambuto.

Ward 2 Councillor Ira Novoselsky said the new streetlights in that area should be brighter (400-watt) than the streetlights in other parts of the city."

mental Protection and TD Garden.

At the STEM Week Challenge's showcase at the Reggie Lewis Center in Boston, 5th grade students from the Whelan School received second place in the Zero Energy Waste category.

The fifth-graders constructed a solar powered tree house to show how homes can not only be better for the environment but more cost effective.

At a recent Revere School Committee meeting, the fifth-graders showed off their projects to school committee members.

The students explained how solar power can save residents money by harnessing the sun's solar power rather than relying on electricity. It is also better for the environment because solar power does not rely on the burning of fossil fuels.

While the student's tree-house was small, students argued that using solar power on a larger scale in traditional homes can help low-income families save money on energy. At the STEM Week showcase and subsequent School Committee meeting the fifth-graders gave a demonstration of how solar power works.

One of the students said that solar power is not only more affordable in the long run but it also helps the environment and combat climate change.

The students used all recyclable materials to make their renewable energy treehouse.

At the showcase the 5th graders received authentic feedback from professionals in the STEM field.

"The STEM Week Challenge is an opportunity for teachers across the Commonwealth to help students apply learning to real-world problems," said PLTW President and Chief Executive Officer Dr. Vince Bertram. "The challenge is designed to actively engage students as they solve real-world problems that organizations like TD Garden and MassDEP currently face."

The Whelan School also announced that the school has been awarded a "STEM Career Pathway Capacity Grant" that will allow the Whelan to expand its Project Lead the Way program. The Whelan will use these grant funds to strengthen its PLTW Launch program. Funds from the grant will allow the school the opportunity to purchase additional materials for students for hands-on project based STEM lessons.

WE ARE DRINKING, DRUGGING, EATING, AND STRESSING OURSELVES TO DEATH

Okay, we know it is the holiday season -- a time for good cheer and all that.

But the results of a report issued last week by the Centers for Disease Control reveal a disturbing and dangerous pattern in the United States: The life expectancy of the average American has declined in the past few years, reversing the general trend of the past 130 years of an increase in our collective longevity.

Although the decline in life expectancy has been most acute in poorer parts of the country, it cuts across all socio-economic groups.

There are many specific causes that the researchers point to as contributing to the downward trend, such as the opioid crisis, which tragically has cut short the lives of tens of thousands of our fellow Americans in the past decade.

There also has been an increase in the use -- and abuse -- of alcoholic beverages, which have been labeled a Class I carcinogen by the World Health Organization.

Our poor eating habits also play a large role in shortening our lives.

As a recent article in The New York Times noted, "Obesity is a significant part of the story. The average woman in America today weighs as much as the average man half a century ago, and men now weigh about 30 pounds more. Most people in the United States are overweight -- an estimated 71.6 [percent] of the population ages 20 and older, according to the CDC. That figure includes the 39.8 [percent] who are obese, defined as having a body mass index of 30 or higher in adults (18.5 to 25 is the normal range). Obesity is also rising in children; nearly 19 [percent] of the population ages 2 to 19 is obese."

The ads for fast-food restaurants, primarily shown during college football games, that show those close-up photos of tantalizing double-bacon cheeseburgers topped with onion rings, are an open invitation to heart disease, cancer, and diabetes.

Although the researchers note these cause-specific reasons for many early deaths in the U.S., the statistics suggest that there is something more going on that is not readily-apparent.

Depression and loneliness have risen at alarming rates. It is said that loneliness is as bad for our physical health as smoking two packs of cigarettes per day.

The national suicide rate -- the ultimate expression of depression and despair -- has risen alarmingly by 30 percent in the past decade. Even if we do not commit that ultimate act of ending our lives quickly, our lifestyles are contributing to our shorter national life span.

So here's our holiday message:

Don't drink -- and certainly don't do drugs -- and watch what you eat.

But most important, get together with your friends, family, neighbors, and co-workers. Isolation is bad for our health, and just as we have to make an effort to exercise and eat right, we also have to make an effort to get out of our homes and socialize.

It truly is a matter of life -- or death.

IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT LIKE...

LETTER to the Editor

Dear editor,

Vaping by youth has become what the U.S. Surgeon General calls an epidemic and many people are working to find solutions. I'm asked frequently what can be done to turn the tide, and now new resources are available to educate youth and help those who want to quit vaping.

Sadly, many youth are unaware of the facts about and the dangers of vaping. To help, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health developed a campaign designed for youth found at mass.gov/vaping. It provides facts and materials for young people that compare vapes and cigarettes: both put nicotine and cancer-causing chemicals in their body and both are highly addictive and dangerous for young people.

The vaping epidemic has led parents, schools and youth-serving organizations to struggle with how to help youth who are addicted to nicotine and want to quit. Now, two new free programs, This is Quitting powered by truth@ and My Life, My Quit, are available to help Massachusetts youth become nicotine- and tobacco-free.

Quitting vapes or other tobacco products can be hard. Here are some ways you can help young people get the support they need:

- This is Quitting powered by truth@ is a free and confidential texting program for young people who vape. Text "VapeFreeMass" to 88709. In partnership with the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

- My Life, My Quit has youth coach specialists trained to help young people by phone or text. Young people can call or text "Start My Quit" to 855-891-9989 for free and confidential help. or sign up online at mylifemyquit.com.

- Visit teen.smokefree.gov for tools and tips.

- Encourage young people to ask their school nurse or counselor, athletic coach, doctor, parent or other trusted adult for help.

- For more information, young people can visit mass.gov/vaping.

- More information for parents/adults is available at GetOutraged.org.

Talking with young people about vaping is essential—youth need to know that vaping is harmful and that help is available for those who want to quit. Visit GetOutraged.org to learn more or contact me at eduran@hria.org.

GUEST OP-ED

A Holiday Strategy

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

The holidays can be glad, sad or bad. Take your pick and choose a direction.

I choose glad. Who wants to be sad and who needs bad? I don't want either one and neither do you. There is enough in life that confronts us every day that has the propensity to get us down.

Don't go crazy eating this holiday. I hear every year from people who say, "I'm going to eat whatever I want during the holidays and I'll change in January." These are the people who gain five to 10 pounds between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day. There are reports that some people only gain a pound during the holidays. You and I know better. I know personally that I have gained ten pounds during the holidays. My scale might be off a pound or two, but it does not lie. The sad staggering number tells me what I don't want to see and there have been times it has been bad and sad! Who needs to start January 2020 ten pounds heavier?!? You don't need it! Who does?

People literally go crazy eating during the holidays eating "pounds" of candy, cookies and eating the dining room table. You don't have to eat the kitchen just because you can. Make a determination now how you are going to conduct your eating this holiday. You can have a good plate of food and even splurge on a dessert without busting your waistline. You don't need three plates of food and four desserts. You'll be glad if you approach the holidays with some discretion or you will be sad and feel bad in January if you eat your head off. Now, don't be mad at me because you have total freedom on what you put in your mouth.

Participate in Christmas. It's more fun if you participate in life. Visit some elderly people who can't get out much. Visit the nursing home. People are lonely in those places. Last Christmas Eve my wife and I went to the local nursing home and visited the residents. Not one room in that nursing home on Christmas Eve had any family or visitors. It was a very sad, lonely place. If you want to feel good, do good. Take some of your food and give it away before Christmas. Don't take people leftovers. Maybe there is a family or two that you might help in some tangible way? Think about it and God will lead you with some good charitable ideas.

This year remember who and what the seasons are about. Focus on Joy, Peace and good will toward all. Say good words to people. Be Kind. Wish the best for others. Help others if and when you can. Don't say bad things about people and give people second chances.

Make your holiday strategy today for a season of gladness.

FIRST CHURCH THANKSGIVING DINNER

A GOOD DINER, A GREAT DEED

Photos & Story by Marianne Salza

With joyful tears of affection, First Congregational Church Thanksgiving dinner coordinators, Pamela M. Anderson and Carol DeSantis, expressed their gratitude for the blessings of friendship and generosity. On Nov. 28, the parish served a hearty meal provided by The Good Diner to 100 members of the community, many of whom are without homes.

"Working with her has been amazing. Her love of the people is what shows," said DeSantis, who cooks for a soup kitchen on Saturdays, as she held Anderson's hand. "She really cares about everybody here. It doesn't matter who they are, or where they come from, she has a heart to serve."

SEVENTH ANNUAL COMMUNITY THANKSGIVING DINNER

BADGE OF HONOR

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, Mass Badge hosted the Seventh Annual Community Thanksgiving Dinner at the Casa Lucia facility. Thanks to countless volunteers and generous donations from local businesses this feast open to all Revere residents was exceptional. There was nothing left out, including terrific service from the volunteers, clearing plates to picking up trash or helping people find seats to enjoy their dinner, personal service was above reproach. Not to say the food was great, ham, turkey, stuffing, all types of vegetables, deserts, coffee and anything else that makes a perfect Thanksgiving Dinner.

The place was packed with a very appreciative crowd, all enjoying the entertainment by Revere's own Jimmy Celona. All this took a lot of effort by those who plan the event each year, and especially all those who volunteer to make it such a terrific event, so a hearty thank you to all those who make Revere such a great place to live.

James Aloisi

Member of the greatest generation

James Aloisi died at home, in the loving care of his family, on Friday, Nov. 29 at the age of 93.

Jim grew up in Medford, the youngest of the seven children of Agrippino and Antonetta (Speranza) Aloisi. His sisters Mary, Rose and Josie and his brothers, Joseph, Mike, Sam and Frank predeceased him.

He was a graduate of Medford High School and as a young man he earned the distinction of becoming an Eagle Scout. Jim married Rose Costa, an East Boston native, four years after he returned from naval service in World War II. They were born two weeks apart in the same month of the same year, and they died two months apart, as if they were always meant to be closely linked through life's journey. He was a part of that "Greatest Generation," the men and women who took their courage for granted. That courage was born in their perseverance, overcoming the deprivations of the Great Depression and, later, defending the world in a global conflict when the cause was clear and the moral imperative never in doubt. Jim served in both the Atlantic and Pacific theaters, notably guarding ships on the perilous Murmansk Run. Jim and Rose were married in June of 1949, settled in East Boston, had two children and lived and loved through good times and bad through 70 years of marriage.

Jim worked for many years for the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company and, during the Christmas holidays, he would work evenings at the Post Office in order to earn a little extra money to pay for the holiday presents. In later years he worked for the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, heading the rate setting division.

Rose was a formidable cook and Jim was a formidable eater. In food they found a special place of enjoyment and pleasure. In retirement, they summered at Oak Bluffs on Martha's Vineyard where Jim found special enjoyment in creating and tending a lush seasonal garden.

Before he died, he was the oldest living member of the Saint Agrippina Society, a religious group that venerates the patron saint of Mineo, Sicily. His son, James Jr. and daughter, Carol Ann would like to acknowledge the support and care of the Care Dimensions hospice team and the home care support provided by truly wonderful people who seamlessly worked with the family to make a challenging time manageable. Jim Aloisi is mourned by his two children, who will miss the warmth of his gentle, generous, spirit, their spouses Paul Rehme and Susan Ward, and by many nieces, nephews and extended family and friends. The family strongly prefers that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to either St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105 or to Care Dimensions, 75 Sylvan St., Suite B-102, Danvers, MA 01923.

His Funeral will be held from the Paul Buonfiglio & Sons-Bruno Funeral Home, 128 Revere Street, Revere today, Wednesday, Dec. 4 at 9:45 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass at Sacred Heart Church, 45 Brooks St., East Boston at 11 a.m. Relatives and friends are kindly invited.

SPOTLIGHT

The RevereTV staff would like to sincerely thank everyone for their kind messages and condolences in regards to the recent passing of our colleague, Rick Promise. Rick was a valued employee at RTV for decades and we are grateful for his dedication to the studio, especially in covering every city government meeting throughout his time here. At last week's Revere City Council meeting, our councillors voted to dedicate a plaque to honor Rick in the council chambers. We are appreciative of this dedication and also honor Rick for his service to us and the city. He will be missed.

If you're watching RevereTV this week or checking out our YouTube page, you'll see the ribbon cutting ceremony of Revere Beach's newest restaurant, Dryft. We are also playing our coverage of the Revere High School Girls Flag Football game, and the RHS Football Thanksgiving Day Game, both versus Winthrop. Our RTV Staff serves to cover as many community events as possible, and it's always a plus when we can stream live, which we did for both games. The Revere Society for Cultural and Historical Preservation also held an event last weekend, their holiday social, which we had the help of a new student community member, Isabella, in covering as part of our crew.

A new episode of Revere Senior News is now playing on our channel, Comcast channel 8 and RCN channel 3. The latest for this program features Morris Morris and Stephen Fielding as hosts, per usual, but also a special guest for the holiday season, Santa. Revere Senior News is a program put on by the Rossetti-Cowan Senior Center in partnership with our studio. An episode is recorded each month, but all episodes of this program can be viewed on our YouTube page at any time.

At that point, it was anybody's game and the final 16 minutes proved to be among the most entertaining, unpredictable, and memorable stretches of play between the rivals in their 91-year history.

FIRST QUARTER

Llanos gave an early indication of things to come when he accumulated 63 of Revere's 80 yards on the Patriots' first possession off the opening kickoff. Llanos ripped off a 31-yard gain on the first play of the game and chunked 13 more on the next, moving the ball from the Revere 20 to the Winthrop 36 in short order. He eventually finished the drive on runs of 14 and five yards to give Revere a 7-0 lead (after a successful PAT by Rayan Riazzi) just 2:13 into the contest.

Winthrop opened its first possession after the kickoff on its own 39 -- the Vikings enjoyed good field position after all but one kickoff -- and drove to the Revere 30. However, on a third-and-16, Patriot Marco Cerbone picked off a Winthrop pass, giving the ball back to the Pats.

But that's when a combination of penalties, the slick field, and the wind conspired to turn the ball back to the Vikings at the Revere 20. A gain of nine yards on a jet sweep by Jonathan Murphy was nullified by a holding penalty. Patriot ballcarriers then lost their footing on the turf on the next two plays, most notably quarterback Calvin Boudreau, who slipped at the 21 as he dropped back to pass on third down.

The ensuing Revere punt was shanked -- it appeared as though the wind moved the ball away from the kicker's foot when he released it -- and the pigskin squibbed out of bounds at the Revere 20 for a net kick of -one yard as the first quarter ended.

SECOND QUARTER

Hubert and the Viking offense made the most of the short field, though not without some difficulty. Hubert ran a succession of keepers to bring the ball to the three, where the Vikings faced a third-and-goal.

Hubert dropped back to pass on third down, but Patriot captain Jaryd Benson executed a perfect blitz and sacked Hubert for a six yard loss at the nine.

After a time-out, and with Winthrop now heading into the wicked wind, the Vikings eschewed the field goal and went for it on fourth-and-nine. Hubert tossed a perfect pass to Steve Perullo, who was wide open in the right corner area of the end zone, to cut the deficit to 7-6 (Winthrop's attempt for a two-point conversion failed) with 8:43 left in the half.

Revere took over after the kickoff and embarked on 62-yard drive, with Llanos accounting for 49 of them (including a one yard TD run), that ate up 6:30 on the clock. The Revere PAT attempt sailed wide, leaving matters at 13-6.

The Winthrop offense got the ball back at its own 20 with just 2:08 left in the half, but after a seven yard gain on first down by Tyler Rockefeller (who had a nice day with 47 yards on nine carries to add to his total of 247 yards for the season), Hubert went around left end on second down, found a seam, and outran the Revere secondary en route to a 73 yard sprint to the Patriot end zone. The Winthrop PAT kick angled wide, leaving matters at 13-12.

However, Hubert's dash (which elevated Hubert to over 1,000 yards rushing for the season) left plenty of time (1:22 to be precise) for the Revere offense -- specifically Llanos -- to respond, starting at the Patriots' 37.

Revere moved the chains to the 49 thanks to a nine yard run on third-and-seven by Adetayo Attitebi. An eight yard pass completion by Boudreau to Murphy and a nice scramble by Boudreau brought the ball to the Winthrop 29 for a first down with 0:32 on the clock.

Llanos then took a pitch to the left and cut back to his right on the counter play, from where he rambled into the end zone. Revere fumbled on the two-point attempt, leaving matters at 19-12 at the intermission.

THIRD QUARTER

Winthrop took the opening kickoff of the second half and executed its game plan -- grind-it-out, ball-control offense -- to perfection, covering 69 yards and using 7:56 of the clock. An assortment of Viking ballcarriers -- Ryan Hovermale (who totaled 17 yards on four carries plus an 11 yard reception on the day), Bryan Conceicao (39 yards on five carries plus a 13 yard reception for the morning), and Hubert -- took turns battering the Revere defense for short gains, with Rockefeller eventually waltzing in from the eight for the TD.

Sanchez delivered a perfect kick for the PAT and the teams were even-steven at 19-19 with 4:04 to go in the third period.

But that's when Llanos elevated his performance from the merely mortal to the sublime. With Revere starting its next possession after the kickoff at its own nine yard line (thanks to a penalty for a blind side block called against Llanos on the return), Llanos got the call on five of the next seven Revere plays, accounting for 70 yards, that moved the ball to the Winthrop seven, from where Patriot Lucas Barboza went in to give the Patriots a 26-19 lead (with a successful kick by Riazzi) with 0:19 left in the period.

FOURTH QUARTER

Hubert and Co. went right back to work after the kickoff, moving the ball from their own 37 to the Revere 33, thanks to the downhill running off-tackle by Hubert, Conceicao, and Rockefeller. (It should be noted that Conceicao and Rockefeller also shared Winthrop's weekly Black Shirt Award for the Vikings' top defensive players).

The Vikings appeared poised once again to reach the Patriot end zone, but disaster struck in the form of a fumble at the Revere 24 that was recovered by Patriot Zach Furlong.

After a run for three yards by Murphy, Llanos took a handoff from RHS quarterback Calvin Boudreau. Llanos patiently followed his blockers to the right side of the line, found a hole, and accelerated, breaking a few tackles at the first level of defenders, and then outrunning the Winthrop secondary as he cut upfield from right to left to reach the end zone.

The electrifying, 73-yard romp made it 33-19 and provided a separation of two scores between the teams for the first time of the day.

But with 9:21 remaining, there was still plenty of football left to play, and the coaching staffs on both sides were fully aware that Winthrop had erased a 21 point deficit in the final six minutes of its last game to pull out a 36-35 victory.

The Vikings, led by the committee of Hubert, Hovermale, and Rockefeller, moved from their own 37 to the Revere 44, where they faced a fourth-and-one.

However, a penalty for a false start created a fourth-and-six and Hubert was sacked by Patriot captain Mazer Ali (who led Revere with nine tackles and two sacks on the day) for a nine yard loss that gave Revere the ball on downs at the Winthrop 42.

Llanos ran for eight yards on first down and then took the next handoff and bolted 34 yards into the end zone to increase the Revere advantage to a seemingly insurmountable 40-19 with 4:27 to play.

But Winthrop refused to give up. The Vikings used a nice combination of runs and passes, including an 18-yard connection from Hubert to David DiCicco (Winthrop's top receiver this season with 17 receptions), to move the ball downfield in hurry, with Hubert taking the capper into the end zone from five yards out. The Winthrop drive was accomplished in less than two minutes and drew the Vikings within 40-25 (after an unsuccessful two-point try) with 2:36 to go.

Although a Viking on-side kick failed thanks to a sure-handed grab of the bouncing pigskin by the Patriots' Barbosa, the Winthrop defense rose to the occasion. Viking defenders stuffed two successive Revere running plays for two-yard losses, after which Winthrop called immediate timeouts.

Faced with a third-and-14 at their own 49 with 2:22 remaining -- plenty of time for a miracle Viking finish given the ease with which the Winthrop offense had been moving the ball -- Llanos was sent back into the game.

Llanos took the handoff, shook off a few would-be tacklers -- maintaining his balance as he sidestepped through the Viking defensive front -- and then sped 51 yards to the Winthrop end zone -- his third TD run in a span of just 7:15 -- to increase the Revere advantage to 46-25 with 2:06 on the clock.

However, the Vikings still had one last shot at a victory when Julian Osorio hauled in what ironically was the best kickoff by either team on the day. The high and deep, end-over-end kick was taken in by Osorio one step behind his goal line.

Julian found a seam and then outran the entire Revere team for a 101 yard kickoff return, leaving matters at 46-31 with 1:50 still showing the clock.

OBSTACLE IN SIGHT: Zach Furlong runs away from Viking Andre Ocampo (#78) and eyes a would-be tackler in Winthrop's Chris Rodriguez (#24)

AND HE CAN FLY: Joe Llanos was simply unstoppable, showing here that he can take to air travel to escape defense and mount up a chunk more of the 389 yards he accumulated during the day.

However, that would prove to be the Vikings' last gasp. Another on-side kick was snared adroitly once again by Barbosa. From there, the Patriots were able to run out the clock to ensure the victory.

MILESTONES

For Winthrop-Revere football aficionados, it should be noted that the 77 combined points rung up by the Pats and Vikes by far was the most in their 91-year tradition and the 46 points scored by Revere was its highest total ever.

The Revere win marked the fourth straight on the holiday for the Patriots, the first time that Revere has accomplished that feat in series' history. Revere had won three straight games twice (from 1940-42 and 1972-74), but had never pulled off a quadruple.

Winthrop still leads the series, 57-31-3, thanks to two generations of Viking domination when Winthrop claimed victories in 32 of the 35 games played between the years from 1975-2009.

However, the win gave Revere a 6-4 edge in Turkey Day tilts for the decade from 2010-2019, the first time since the 1960s that the Patriots have won a decade. (However, it should be noted that Revere and Winthrop played two games in each of the 2013 and 2014 seasons when the football playoffs were introduced. Winthrop won both of those non-Thanksgiving Day encounters, so technically the teams were 6-6 in this decade).

The triumph also earned two other firsts for the Revere High football program. The Patriots concluded their season with a 10-1 record, marking the first 10-win season in RHS grid history.

The win also gave Revere its first-ever, undisputed Northeastern Conference South Division championship with a perfect 5-0 record. Lynn Classical was second in the NEC South with a 4-1 mark; Lynn English was third at 3-2; Winthrop was fourth at 2-3 (the Vikings finished at 4-7 overall); Saugus was fifth at 1-4; and Salem was sixth at 0-5.

Llanos set RHS records with his 378 yards and six touchdowns in one game; 2022 yards rushing in one season; and more than 2400 all-purpose yards in one season. He also tied Trey Weathers' mark with 30 touchdowns for one season, which included two pick-sixes.

COACHES' COMMENTS

"We knew that Llanos would be the best running back we had faced all season," said WHS head coach Jon Cadigan. "But we went into the game expecting to win and I was very proud that we matched the Revere score-for-score through the end of the third period.

"But execution and turnovers are the keys to success and we had two turnovers to none for them, and that proved to be the difference," continued Cadigan, whose mostly-junior squad will have many key starters returning in 2020. "We played with toughness throughout the game, as we did all season.

"We're already looking forward to next year," added Cadigan, whose team improved by 700 yards of total offense over its 2018 output.

"We expected a tough game from Winthrop and that's how they played us," said RHS head coach Lou Cicatelli. "The big turning point was our fumble recovery late in the third period.

"But the game belonged to Joe (Llanos)," Cicatelli added. "We made a few adjustments at the half, but the bottom line is that Joe was the difference. He's an amazing football player who turned in the kind of performance that I've never seen before. He rose to the occasion, as great players do.

"We'll miss Joe and our senior captains next year, but we have a great group of players returning," added Cicatelli. "This has been an amazing season, but we're confident that we can keep it going in 2020."

Diehard RHS football fans Rod Burrow and Lisa Rinaldi were on hand bright and early at Miller Field in Winthrop to cheer for the Patriots on Thanksgiving morning.

MCU employees spread Thanksgiving cheer

For the 8th consecutive year, Metro Credit Union (MCU) employees came together to create Thanksgiving baskets for those in need during the holidays. Departments collaborated to shop for, organize, decorate, and deliver 35 large baskets stocked with all the traditional staples of a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner, each accompanied by a $25 Market Basket gift card donated by Metro for the purchase of a turkey.

"The generosity of our employees is overwhelming. They embody the credit union philosophy of 'people helping people'. It's just one way that Metro helps families during the holidays and our employees look forward to it every year," said Charlene Bauer, Metro's Chief Development Officer, SVP Outreach and Advocacy.

This year, the benefitting nonprofit was People Helping People in Burlington, MA. PHP is an umbrella organization overseeing the Burlington Community Covenant for Basic Needs and the Holiday Program. The pantry is available to any Burlington resident who meets certain financial qualifications to be eligible for assistance. Clients are paired with a volunteer who brings them through the pantry and assists them in selecting food, with a certain number of items allowed per category. Currently, the pantry serves between 120 to 130 Burlington families per month, or around 350 people. While the majority of those served are adults, 35 percent are children and 11 percent are seniors.

"This is just amazing! I can't wait to see the families faces when they see these baskets. We're grateful for the generous donation and the creativity that went into them." said Jane McIninch, Pantry Coordinator for People Helping People.

Metro Credit Union is the largest state-chartered credit union in Massachusetts, with over $2 billion in assets. Metro provides a full range of financial products to more than 200,000 members in Essex, Middlesex, Suffolk, Norfolk, Plymouth, Barnstable, Bristol and Worcester counties in Massachusetts, and Rockingham and Hillsborough counties in New Hampshire, as well as to employees of over 1,200 companies through its Metro@work program

FUNDRAISER FOR CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

The monthly comedy night at Casa Lucia hosted by Matt Misci had a different meaning this past Friday evening, it was raising money for the Boston Children's Hospital program, Miles for Miracles.

The Misci family of Revere had a very big part in this evening, one of their own, Jace Perkins, son of Melissa (Misci) and Jamie Perkins was born, 25 weeks premature at 1 pound, 1 ounce five years ago. Thanks to the love and care at Boston Children's Hospital and a strong family bond to help along the way, Jace is a happy 5-year-old boy. Jace also has a very special friend, who travels the world raising money in his name, running marathons and collecting money for miles for Children's Hospital. This very special guy is Steve Iannacone of Norwood. Steve has already raised 115 thousand dollars running marathons, and is heading to Tokyo in March of 2020 for #13. Speaking to Steve, you can see the passion in his eyes and hear the excitement in his voice of his dedication to helping children get a chance to live through his efforts and the money for programs he brings in. If you care to help out in any way Miles for Miracles can be found on Facebook and Instagram, under Steve Iannacone, any amount is not too small, it goes a long way for a child.

The Misci family of Revere were all accounted for last Friday evening at the Casa Lucia, where loads of laughs brought in lots of money for the Boston Children's Hospital, Miles for Miracles Program.

In any other city this gang would be arrested, but they were the night's entertainment and brought their A game with them for a great cause. Comics, Matt Misci, Mike Misci, Corey Percival, Sam Ross, Joe Espi, Ralphie Joyal, Dave Russo, and Frank Santorelli. Not shown Paul Gilligan.

The proud grandparents of Jace, Joyce and Johnny Misci with Tara and Peter Gatti (center).

Carole and Aubrey Rocha ready to enjoy comedy night.

Jace with his mom and dad, Jamie and Melissa Perkins.
