KEEFE REQUESTS
24/7 RESIDENT PARKING ON
PORTION OF PARK AVENUE

The Revere City Council approved a request by Ward 4 Councilor Patrick Keefe to have the Traffic Commission look at instituting 24 hours-7 days a week resident parking in front of the homes located from 77 to 116 Park Avenue.

Keefe said that portion of Park Avenue is situated across from Harry Della Russo Stadium.

"The issues lie with the use of the stadium and people aren't using the parking area for the stadium," said Keefe. "They're parking in front of everyone's home and blocking all the driveways. So it's a small section that I would like to see if we could get added to the 24-hour cycle much like some of the business areas in our city."

When Councilor-at-Large Gerry Visconti requested that Mayor Brian Arrigo appear before the Ways and Means Sub-committee at its April 26 meeting to discuss the $30 million in funds that the city will receive via the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021, there seemed to be some negative connotations.

In fact, Councilor-at-Large Steven Morabito stated during the ensuing discussion that he was sure that Visconti had

Additional security presence being considered at Council meetings

By Cary Shuman

City Councilors Joanne McKenna and Richard Serino have requested a security presence during Council meetings when the meetings become open to public again at City Hall.

The Council has been meeting remotely during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Public Safety Sub-Committee, chaired by Councilor-at-Large Jessica Giannino, discussed the proposal Monday.

"I believe we should have some sort of security in the Chambers when the public is allowed to come back to our meetings," said McKenna, noting the rise in incidents nationally regarding the safety of the public.

Serino said, "these are different times for sure."

The Ward 6 councilor recalled an incident following a Council meeting last summer when "us councilors had to actually be escorted out of City Hall by the Revere Police Department because there were crowds that were very much in our faces after a contentious vote."

Serino said that the councilors deserve to feel safe and having security at meetings "is just the way that we have to go in this crazy world these days."

Ward 3 Councilor Arthur Guinasso said he is in his 32nd year on the Council and the incident to which Serino referred "was the first that I had ever witnessed and was part of something like that, where the police officers had to walk us out of the Chamber for our safety."

Guinasso suggested that a police officer be stationed at the entrance to the building during public meetings.

Revere Public Schools launches dashboard that tracks school COVID-19 positive cases

By John Lynds

In a co-authored letter by Mayor Brian Arrigo and Revere Public School (RPS) Superintendent Dr. Dianne Kelly that was sent home to parents last week, the city and RPS officials announced a new dashboard that gives families the number of COVID-19 positive cases within RPS schools.

The letter comes as RPS officials have been transitioning from a remote model to a hybrid learning model with more and more students attending in-person classes on a rotating schedule.

"All of our classrooms are following public health guidance provided by the Massachusetts Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, and informed by medical experts," reads the letter. "Our team of school nurses, supported by the Revere Board of Health and Department of Public Health, is working closely with students and their families who may have been exposed to COVID-19 to ensure that all recommended quarantine guidelines are followed and to prevent transmission within the school community."

Given the nature of this virus, Mayor Arrigo and Dr. Kelly said that positive cases of COVID-19 are an inevitability, but RPS can ensure an environment that significantly reduces the risk of transmission.

The new RPS COVID Dashboard identifies any positive cases by school and can be found here: <https://tinyurl.com/RPS-Covid19-Dashboard>.

For example for the week ending April 5 shows that there were positive COVID cases at the Whalen, Garfield, Lincoln and the Rumney Marsh Academy. There was only one positive case at each school and each positive case was identified as a student and not a teacher or staff member.

Some cities across the nation have adopted the so-called "two-case" rule

HYDRANT FLUSHING SCHEDULE POSTED

The Water Department will be flushing water mains throughout the City beginning April 12th through May 21. The purpose of flushing is to remove sediment build up in the mains and to verify the safe operation of hydrants and valves. Hydrant flushing may result in temporary discoloration of the water, caused by small particles that dislodge during the flushing as well, temporary reduction in pressure.

Discolored water will be temporary and is not harmful. However, the discolored water might stain your laundry, especially white materials.

Therefore, please avoid doing laundry during the noted flushing period.

Prior to washing clothes, including times after the hours stated in this notice, please check the cold water for possible discoloration. If water is discolored, let the cold water run for a few minutes until water becomes clear. If it does not clear at that time, try again later. Unfortunately, the City cannot fully guarantee the safety of doing laundry and/or the possibility of discoloration even during the evenings and other times of the day as the water system has been disturbed. Therefore, please check your water carefully prior to doing laundry and inspect the laundry before drying it.

Hydrant flushing will be performed between the hours of 8 A.M. and 8 P.M. Monday through Friday. The Water Department appreciates your patience as we work to improve the quality of the drinking water. If you would like additional information, please call the Water Department at 617-394-2327

DOWNING RAISES $227,712 IN 8 WEEKS

Former state senator, clean energy business leader, and gubernatorial candidate Ben Downing marked the end of the first quarter today by announcing that his campaign has raised $227,712 since he entered the race on February 8. The campaign highlighted over 1,100 individual donors, with 80% of all donations coming from Massachusetts and nearly three-quarters coming in under $100. Ben is not accepting any donations from lobbyists or corporate PACs.

"We're really excited by the number of people signing up to support our fight for a fairer, stronger Massachusetts," said Ben. "These early contributions help fortify our long-term campaign plan, allowing us to invest in the digital infrastructure, relational organizing strategies, and dynamic team that we need to win. We're excited to put this support to work in the coming months as we share policy plans, activate a volunteer network and continue to build a 351-community campaign."

As a state senator, Ben represented the largest district in the state, comprising 52 cities and towns. Over a decade in office he led legislative efforts to accelerate our clean energy development and respond to climate change, rebuild our urban and rural economies, reduce poverty and hunger, strengthen our state ethics laws, and expand protections for transgender individuals.

Since 2017 he has served in a leadership role at Nexamp, a leading renewable energy company in Massachusetts. In that role, he led efforts to improve accessibility within the green economy, expand to new markets outside of the northeast, and deploy cutting-edge energy storage solutions here at home. He served on the board of the Environmental League of Massachusetts and is a leading advocate for climate action in the Commonwealth.

Ben, 39, lives in East Boston with his wife, Michaela Morrill, and their two young sons Malcolm (3) and Eamon (11 months).

Pool testing pilot program to expand this week at RPS

By John Lynds

At a recent Revere Public School Committee Webinar, Bill Jacobson, the head of the state's "pool testing" program, went over the current COVID-19 pool testing pilot program at Revere schools that will become fully implemented this week.

The volunteer program is a first-in-the-nation pooled testing initiative in schools in Revere and across the Commonwealth. The test is performed at least once per week on an anterior nasal swab, and results are delivered within 24 hours.

Jacobson explained if a pooled test result is negative, then all individuals within that pool are presumed negative and may continue to remain in school; however, if a pooled test result is positive, then everyone in the pool is given an individual diagnostic test.

Once positive individuals are identified, they must follow CDC isolation guidance. Students, teachers, and staff that were close contacts of the positive individual must also quarantine according to current requirements.

"Pool testing involves five to 10 people who are not showing any signs of symptoms of COVID and are otherwise healthy," said Jacobson. "Each individual being tested performs a mega-shallow nasal swab test. A result of either positive or neg-

Reinstein speaks out against DCR's parking meters on Revere Beach

By Cary Shuman

Former state representative Kathi Reinstein is speaking out against the DCR's plan to have parking meters installed on Revere Beach Boulevard.

People walking or traveling the beach will notice a large traffic message board at Eliot Circle announcing that metered-parking on the Boulevard will begin on May 1.

As a lifelong Revere resident, Reinstein has a special affinity for the nation's first public beach. In fact, the Bandstand is named in honor of her father, the late William Reinstein, who served as Revere mayor and state representative and always looked out for the beach's best environmental and public safety interests.

"I know that the City Council has weighed in on this issue and I'm not faulting any elected official in Revere, period," said Reinstein. "I just think there has been no public input. This is something we've been fighting against for years and I think it's horrible that any Revere resident is going to have to pay for parking on the Beach."

Reinstein believes it may be too late for any action to stop the plan from going forward.

"They announced that they're doing it [installing the parking meter stations] this week," said Reinstein.

Reinstein said she would like to know if other beaches in urban areas such as Quincy have parking meters on their beach boulevards.

"I think this plan is a very big mistake on the DCR's part, at least without having public input," said Reinstein.

vor of this motion."

Council President Anthony Zambuto said he would support his fellow councilors' wishes for a security presence at meetings.

Stressing the importance of her colleagues feeling safe at all times during meetings, Giannino said, "The City of Revere should always be a safe place to work and be and we're included in that."

Giannino said the "security presence" could mean a current police officer or auxiliary police officer, a retired police officer or "other options" for being present at meetings.

The Public Safety Sub-Committee unanimously supported the measure.

positive individual, suggesting that there is extremely little evidence of in-school transmission of COVID-19 in the state.

"Massachusetts' robust and ambitious program offering COVID-19 surveillance testing to all schools, charter, and special education collaboratives led the nation," said Gov. Baker. "The science is clear that it is safe for kids to be in the classrooms, and this initiative has proved to serve as an invaluable tool for schools through-out the Commonwealth as they return to in-person learning."

However, Jacobson said it was important to mention that pool testing was just another 'layer' of protection in keeping the virus from spreading through the city.

"Testing is one of a number of different mitigations (against COVID)," said Jacobson. "So masks and face coverings, reducing group interactions, having kids stay home when they are sick are all part of the process. What testing does is provide the assurance that there will not be an outbreak. We will catch it before it spreads to other people. That, hopefully, makes the whole community of students, parents and educators feel confident in a return to in-person learning programs."

Cogliandro announces campaign for City Councilor of Ward 3

My name is Anthony Saverio Cogliandro and I am officially announcing my campaign for Ward 3 City Councilor in Revere.

I am a homeowner, a small business owner, a parent, and a life-long resident of Revere, and we deserve a government that represents all of us.

I am running to ensure the present and future residents of our community feel included, welcomed, and respected, by bridging the generational and cultural gaps that exist here today. For too long, many residents and business owners in our community have felt unrepresented. We need someone who will do more than listen. We need someone who will take action.

I am running because I know the challenges small businesses face. I am here to make the necessary reforms to give businesses a better chance at success. City government has made temporary reforms during COVID-19 to give small businesses more flexibility; we need to make these reforms permanent and lay the groundwork for a thriving business community.

The Cogliandro family has deep roots in Revere and has been a staple of this community for over 40 years.

My grandparents, Sam & Anna Cogliandro, bought their 2nd Revere home in Ward 3 back in 1959. Later in 1977, my grandfather, Sam The Tailor, opened up Northgate Tailoring. In 1980 my mother, Doreen, opened Revere Karate Academy, where I have worked for the last 26 years.

I have worked hard to continue my family's commitment and dedication to Revere. I've raised money for Revere veterans, worked to support food banks, and provided education to businesses throughout the pandemic as a Compliance Inspector for the City. What I'm most proud of is my work in continuing the tradition of martial arts education and teaching life skills to tens of thousands of students.

I've lived in this city for 38 years. I've seen many things change in our community over 38 years; some of the changes have been good, and others have caused challenges. As we navigate these changes, we need new faces and fresh ideas. We need a City Council that is truly in touch with its community - from long-time residents to new arrivals. I will represent everyone. That's why I'm running, and that's why I'm asking for your support.

I urge you to contact me to learn more about my campaign, ask questions, or get involved with my campaign. Visit <https://anthonyCogliandro.com> for more information.

March state revenue collections Total $3.061 billion

Staff Report

Massachusetts Department of Revenue (DOR) Commissioner Geoffrey Snyder announced that preliminary revenue collections for March totaled $3.061 billion, which is $402 million or 15.1 percent more than the actual collections in March 2020, and $648 million or 26.8 percent more than benchmark.

FY2021 year-to-date collections totaled approximately $22.588 billion, which is $1.524 billion or 7.2 percent more than collections in the same period of FY2020.

"March revenue included increases in withholding and non-withheld income taxes, corporate and business taxes, "all other tax", and sales and use taxes," said Commissioner Snyder. "Although C corporation returns are not due until April 15, some corporate return payments were received in March, resulting in an increase in that category relative to the benchmark and prior year collections. The increase in "all other tax" is primarily attributable to estate taxes, a category that tends to fluctuate. Income tax refunds are below benchmark due to the late start of the tax filing season and recent tax law changes, including the extensions of the state and federal individual income tax filing deadlines from April 15 to May 17. However, those tax refunds may catch up as the filing season progresses," said Commissioner Snyder.

The original benchmark for fiscal year 2021 was $28.390 billion. On Jan. 15, as part of the fiscal year 2022 Consensus Revenue process, the fiscal year 2021 benchmark was adjusted to $29.090 billion. The adjustment is reflected in DOR's revenue releases beginning in January.

Historically, March is a mid-size month for revenue collections, ranking sixth of the twelve months in eight of the last 10 years. Many corporate and business taxpayers are required to make estimated payments during the month. The tax-filing season is underway, and March is typically a significant month for refund payments (outflows), which reduce total net revenue.

Preliminary March Revenue Collections

- Income tax collections for March were $1.260 billion, $178 million or 16.5% above benchmark, and $173 million or 16.0% more than March 2020.

- Withholding tax collections for March totaled $1.482 billion, $91 million or 6.6% above benchmark, and $154 million or 11.6% more than March 2020.

- Income tax estimated payments totaled $25 million for March, $5 million or 22.1% more than benchmark, and $5 million or 22.6% more than March 2020.

- Income tax returns and bills totaled $152 million for March, $63 million or 71.4% more than benchmark, and $46 million or 43.0% more than March 2020.

- Meals tax collections, a sub-set of sales and use tax, totaled $66 million, $13 million or 23.9% above benchmark, but $2 million or 2.8% less than March 2020.

- Corporate and business tax collections for the month totaled $1.024 billion, $274 million or 36.5% above benchmark, and $147 million or 16.8% more than March 2020.

- Other tax collections for March totaled $215 million, $101 million or 87.8% above benchmark, and $42 million or 24.3% more than March 2020.

- Sales and use tax col-

'no ill intentions" with his motion.

And Morabito was right. Visconti, understanding like everyone else that $30 million is a lot of money to be added to the city's coffers, just wanted to know the mayor's plans for the spending of the funds. Other councilors inferred that the process should be "transparent" and all actions should be conducted in consultation with the Council.

They didn't have to wait long for Mayor Arrigo to respond to Visconti's request. Forget April 26.

Arrigo responded within minutes via Zoom at the meeting and the mayor was so transparent, so informative, and so forthcoming with the process, that there was stone silence from the Council – and no further questions were necessary.

"I certainly appreciate everyone's confidence in our ability to make sure that this process of receiving and then getting this money out to the public is done is done in a transparent way and a collaborative fashion," said Arrigo cordially.

The mayor explained that the City of Revere will be receiving $30 million from the federal government.

"There are four areas where we can send money – No. 1 is responding to the public health emergency that we're still faced with and the economic impact including assistance to households, small businesses, and aid to impacted industries such as tourism, travel, and hospitality," said Arrigo.

The mayor said a second area is related to premium pay (up to $13 per hour) to eligible employees who perform essential work, a formula to be determined by Arrigo himself.

The third area is replacing city revenues. "Any revenue reductions that we had due to the pandemic – this is a really important bucket because by replacing revenues, we can then free up dollars to other things," said Arrigo.

The mayor said the fourth area of fund distribution is centered "around investments in water, sewer, and broadband infrastructure."

Arrigo said the basic framework for the funds will focus on "three really core values" – leveraging the money that the city is receiving from the federal government with other potential funding sources such as state and federal grants; providing for all of Revere's residents that ensures a level of quality of life; and making sure that the city is investing for recovery and that the city is measuring how it is doing "in terms of the results and the recovery for our residents."

"We're going to make sure there is a significant investment in urgent health and economic needs," said Arrigo. "It's certainly going to be a priority to make sure we're making short-term investments with long-term benefits. That's where we want to be when we're spending these dollars and we want to get them out quickly."

Arrigo also informed the Council that the city has until 2024 to spend the funds and the $30 million will be allocated to the city in three-to-four installments.

"We're eagerly anticipating that money," concluded Arrigo, promising an ongoing conversation with the Council.

The mayor had made his point very well. It will be a transparent effort and a team effort and the Council will be included in the discussions.

cabulary," said McKenna during Monday's Council meeting. "They never said it once – that they were going to take down at least 50 trees along Winthrop Avenue, mature trees that are worth at least $7,000-$10,000 that have been in the ground for 50 years. They're going to remove it and give us one small tree to replace that tree."

"So I'm asking National Grid that they give us at least two trees in place of the mature trees," continued McKenna. "And because of the emissions and the jet fuel that come from the planes over Beachmont, people don't understand that these trees are vital for the health of our residents. Trees act as barriers. They take in carbon dioxide and give off oxygen."

McKenna said she was "livid" about National Grid's actions.

Ward 2 Councilor Ira Novoselsky said he agreed with McKenna on the matter.

"Here they are again, sticking it to us, even though it's DCR property – they're sticking to us, all we do is give and give and give them and they give us nothing," said Novoselsky.

Councilor-at-Large Jessica Giannino called the actions of National Grid "ridiculous."

"I was really angry – it's not something that you replace like a sidewalk. The trees have been a part of our community for years and they're going to take years to mature," said Giannino.

Ward 3 Councilor Arthur Guinasso said he applauded McKenna's motion.

"This is the exact reason why city councilors are in place – to protect our community against violations of our goodwill by utilities and any other businesses that operate within our community," said Guinasso. "This is an insult to all of us. This is very serious. I think we should get enforcement on this and we should certainly stop the project until we get our wishes."

The Council unanimously approved McKenna's motion that an agreement be executed between the City of Revere and National Grid for the replacement of the trees. An amendment proposed by Novoselsky relating to the diameter of the trees was approved.

GET THE VACCINE

For the vast majority of people, getting a COVID-19 vaccine as soon as they are eligible is a no-brainer.

COVID-19 not only has a high death rate for older persons and those with underlying health conditions, but it also has been shown to have serious after-effects for young, healthy people who experienced only mild symptoms when they contracted the disease.

The ramifications of the health consequences for the so-called COVID long-haulers promises to adversely impact the lives of millions of Americans, as well as burden our society and health care system, for years to come.

However, despite the obvious health risks posed by COVID-19, many of our fellow citizens say they will refuse to get the vaccine. No doubt many of those who tell a pollster that they will not get a vaccine are doing so just to be contrarian. In the end, they will get a vaccine.

But unquestionably there are segments of society on all sides of the political spectrum who are opposed to the idea of vaccinations.

In our view, vaccine-hesitancy in the face of a worldwide pandemic is both inexplicable and sad.

It is inexplicable because the benefits of vaccination are so clear. There is every reason to get it and absolutely no reason to oppose it.

But it also is sad because the vaccine-hesitancy movement shows that so many of our fellow Americans are susceptible these days to rumors, misinformation, and conspiracy theories to the detriment of their own health and that of their loved ones.

The COVID-19 vaccines are a modern scientific miracle. They represent the best avenue of protection for individuals, as well as the only chance for society to overcome the pandemic in order to return our economy to normal.

In addition, with early trials showing that the vaccines are 100 percent safe and effective for older children, a vaccination program for children will assure that our schools can reopen safely. In our view, a COVID-19 vaccine should be required for all children as a condition for returning to school, similar to the requirement that children be vaccinated against other diseases.

We urge all of our readers to get the vaccine as soon as they are eligible under state guidelines.

And to those who have some degree of vaccine-hesitancy for themselves or their children -- please stop listening to those wacky and ill-informed opinions on social media.

ROYAL FAMILY, COMMON PROBLEMS

On a certain level, it is easy to dismiss the recent interview of Prince Harry and Meghan Markle as frivolous and irrelevant to the lives of the rest of us. To most Americans, the concept of a royal family is a joke to begin with, an anachronism of history.

On the other hand, there were certain aspects of the interview that made the travails faced by Harry and Meghan all too real -- and extremely relevant to the 21st century.

The revelation that Meghan contemplated suicide, but received no mental health support among the royal family because it would make them "look bad," was shocking, but it is something to which ordinary families can relate.

Mental health problems still carry a stigma in society at-large. If nothing else, Meghan Markle's willingness to discuss her issues hopefully will serve as an inspiration both to those suffering from depression (among other mental health illnesses) and their families to seek help in the same way that we do for physical health issues before it is too late.

Then of course, there was the discussion of race, which demonstrated just how deeply embedded racism remains in every strata of society across the globe in 2021.

The concept of royalty may be a bunch of nonsense, but the issues of mental health and racism are not and we are grateful that Harry and Meghan were willing to share their personal and painful experiences to shed light on these matters that bear relevance to everybody, regardless of social status.

RAYS OF HOPE

GUEST OP-ED

Cardinal O'Malley's Easter message

By Archbishop Sean O'Malley

Easter is the center and core of Christian faith. Christian faith is Resurrection faith; the Risen Christ, having conquered sin and death, remains with us across the ages. When we celebrate "the Triduum" — the great feasts of Holy Thursday, Good Friday, the Easter Vigil and Easter Sunday — we recall and present again through words and worship the Passion, Death and Resurrection of the Lord.

The Lord's Easter gift to the Church and the world is the gift of hope. Because the Risen Christ remains with us personally and collectively, we never face the challenges of life alone. Christian hope teaches us that we are destined for eternal life, and hope also is meant to sustain us in the concrete realities we face each day. As we celebrate this Easter, no truth is more relevant than hope built on Christian faith.

The past year, lived in the shadow of the COVID-19 pandemic, has tried our sense of hope personally, socially, and as a country. The process of recovery and rebuilding our society will test us again in new ways. In some form, we have all been impacted by this silent and elusive but deadly virus. No community has been spared, and some communities have been devastated. Recovery will require a spirit of collaboration, cooperation and compassion. Easter tells us we will not be alone in this effort; the Risen Christ calls us to be very good neighbors to each other.

Throughout the past year, there have been multiple examples of what being a good neighbor means. We have seen health care workers risk their lives to save lives; we have seen front-line workers in stores, delivery agencies and police and fire departments show up every day, even at personal risk, so basic needs could be met and life could be sustained. These examples inspire hope in human terms; we will need this kind of generosity on an even wider scale in the days and months ahead.

Nationally and locally, the pandemic illustrated again that, even when broad structural issues like a pandemic affect us all, they impact some in catastrophic fashion. African American and Hispanic communities suffered dramatically greater losses — of life and welfare — than the general population. Often, these communities have been where many front-line workers live; they kept faithfully serving others even as they suffered disproportionately themselves. National recovery should reward this service appropriately in gratitude and in public policies focused on these communities.

Any assessment of how we have responded to the pandemic will need to address two realities. There have been countless acts of charity and compassion offered quietly and effectively each day to those in need. And, by contrast, there have been intensified expressions of racism in our public life;

historic patterns aimed at Asian Americans, African Americans, and immigrants. Children and youth perceived as different are often the object of bullying that can push young people into depression, risky behaviors or suicide. There will not be lasting healing and recovery unless we are committed as a society to expand the circle of compassion and charity manifested by many and resist, by word and deed, by law and policy, the forces in our society which refuse to acknowledge the dignity of every person. Easter offers hope: it also calls us to be signs of hope, not hatred, on the road to recovery. This Easter is time to make clear choices to renew our common life."

that closes school buildings for an initial 24 hours if cases from different classrooms at one school were reported and keeps them shut for 10 days if contact tracing can't find a link between the cases.

However, that rule has been criticized in different parts of the nation with NYC recently getting rid of the rule.

"On behalf of the entire Revere Public Schools team, we want to thank you for your continued partnership as we have successfully transitioned to a hybrid learning model over the past several weeks," the letter said. "We look forward to welcoming some of our Cohort B students for the first time (this week). It's been a long road to ensure our students, teachers and staff can return safely to their classrooms, and to see students learning in person over the past few weeks has been truly amazing. We are also encouraged by recent trials showing the vaccines to be safe and effective for students."

However, the Mayor and Superintendent added that after a period of several weeks of steady decline, positive cases of COVID-19 are again on the rise in Revere, mirroring trends statewide and around the country.

"We are urging you to continue to practice COVID safe behaviors to help keep our schools open," said the letter. "Wear a mask in public and anytime you are around people outside of your immediate household, limit gatherings and non-essential travel and practice social distancing. The end of this pandemic comes closer with each day as we work to vaccinate as many members of our community as possible. Please remain vigilant on behalf of our entire school community and help us ensure that all the progress we've made is not reversed."

Council approves construction of Chase Bank building at Northgate

By Cary Shuman

The City Council, acting on a favorable recommendation by its Zoning Sub-Committee, unanimously approved a non-residential structure – a Chase Bank building – to be constructed on a lot at Northgate Shopping Center, 339 Squire Road.

The Zoning Board of Appeals had granted its approval of the project at its March 25 meeting.

Attorney Emilio Favortito, representing the applicant who intends to build a Chase Bank near the McDonald's Restaurant at Northgate, met with the Council Subcommittee Monday.

Ward 6 Councilor Richard Serino, in whose ward the property exists, said he supported the project.

"I think it will be a welcomed addition in bringing more people to Northgate," said Serino.

Ward 3 Arthur Guinasso said he also welcomed the new project but suggested that this project be the last one considered for the increasingly busy Northgate Shopping Center.

"I think once this piece of property is developed, and it's not very large, but once this bank is put in place, I think enough of the space is being taken away for parking in that area," said Guinasso.

"This bank comes with a great reputation. Certainly we are looking forward to this kind of development in our city."

Danielle Allen exceeds Q1 fundraising goal and grows team

Special to the Journal

Danielle Allen's exploratory committee for Governor announced this week that they exceeded their fundraising goal by raising more than $200,000 in the first quarter of 2021. Josh Wolf from AL Media, Senior Advisors Stacey Monahan and Scott Feron from Liberty Square Group, and Allen Chen.

With over 50 percent of her donations coming from small dollar donors, Danielle Allen's first quarter raise puts her in a strong position in her exploration of whether she can mount a competitive grassroots campaign to fill Beacon Hill's corner office.

"I am humbled by the support for our exploration of whether this is the moment to knit our Commonwealth back together," said Danielle Allen. "This exploration is already showing a path toward the possibility of a grassroots movement."

ploratory committee. Joining Maren from Mission Control will be Jonathan Levy and Marissa McBride.

As MBTA, Transit agencies nationwide consider service cuts; Pressley, Markey re-introduce bold legislation to fully fund fare-free public transit

Staff report

Congresswoman Ayanna Pressley and Sen. Edward J. Markey re-introduced the Freedom to Move Act, that is bold legislation to support state and local efforts to establish public transportation as a public good through fare-free services.

The lawmakers' bill introduction comes as transit agencies across the country, including the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA), consider cuts to transit service—despite receiving over $1 billion in federal relief over the past year. Earlier this month, Congresswoman Pressley and Sen. Markey joined their colleagues in the Massachusetts congressional delegation in writing to MBTA General Manager Steve Poftak expressing concerns regarding the MBTA's announcement that it would cut services this month.

"Public transportation is an essential public good, but for too long, we have not funded it like one. Far too many in the Massachusetts, and across the country lack reliable, safe, and affordable transit service," Congresswoman Pressley said. "As our nation begins to turn a corner toward our ongoing recovery from this public health and economic crisis, it is critical that we center the connectivity of all communities. The Freedom to Move Act invests heavily in our public transit systems so that states and localities can offer safe, high-quality, and fare-free rides to all to ensure everyone in community can access jobs, food and essential services."

"Affordability and accessibility must define our public transit systems to ensure that they truly promote equity, economic growth, and community development," said Sen. Markey. "By supporting state and local efforts to implement fare-free public transit, we can provide low-income workers, families, seniors, and individuals with disabilities with improved access to jobs, education, medical care, and other critical services – all while simultaneously reducing traffic congestion and greenhouse gas emissions. I'm proud to reintroduce the Freedom to Move Act with Congresswoman Pressley and I look forward to fighting together for a just transit future."

Before the COVID-19 pandemic, workers and families were spending more time and money commuting to jobs, education and other critical services than ever before. Data shows that low-income families in particular bear the biggest financial burden—spending nearly 30 percent of their household income on transportation expenses. At the same time, increased traffic congestion is contributing to growing greenhouse gas emissions and pollution, exacerbating climate change and contributing to health disparities like asthma and lung cancer in communities already at the margins.

Increasing access to free, safe, reliable and accessible public transit systems will help improve community livability and mobility, increase connectivity to critical services—particularly for low-income workers and families, seniors and individuals with disabilities—and address many of our nation's most severe inequities.

The Freedom to Move Act would help to support state and local efforts to promote public transportation as a public good for all by:

- Supporting state and local efforts to implement fare-free public transportation systems. The bill establishes a $5 billion competitive grant program, known as Freedom to Move Grants to offset fare revenues for transit agencies.

- Investing in efforts to improve the safety and quality of public transportation service, particularly in low-income and historically underserved communities, including by:

- Covering operational costs, including the hiring and training of personnel, fuel costs, and maintenance.

- Investing in public health emergency response efforts, including personal protective equipment and administrative leave for operational personnel.

- Improving the safety and accessibility of bus stops, pedestrian and bike shelters.

- Redesigning bus routes to improve service, modernizing and improving the accessibility of signage; and

- Modernizing surface infrastructure such as painted bus lanes and signal priority systems to alleviate traffic congestion and improve multi-modal accessibility.

- Requiring grantees to utilize funds with a particular focus on addressing transit equity gaps. Grantees would be required to work in partnership with community advocates and stakeholders to report on how resources will be used to improve the reliability of transit service for low-income and historically underserved communities.

The Freedom to Move Act is endorsed by the Sunrise Movement, 350 MASS, A Better Cambridge, Action 4 Equity, Allston Brighton Health Collaborative, Alternatives for Community and Environment, Bikes Not Bombs, Boston Cyclist Union, Community Labor United, Green Newton, GreenRoots, The Health Foundation of Central Massachusetts, Inc, Institute for Transportation and Development Policy, LivableStreets Alliance, Massachusetts Bicycle Coalition, MASSPIRG, Massachusetts Sierra Club, Massachusetts Senior Action Council, Mattapan Food and Fitness Coalition, Riders Action Council, Transit Matters, WalkBoston.

"Public transit is often times the lifeline for many of our residents, especially those who live in Environmental Justice communities," said María Belén Power, Associate Executive Director, GreenRoots, Inc. "Many of our folks, the essential workers, have put their lives on the line during this pandemic, risking their lives and their families' by continuing to go to work and keep the economy afloat. We have a moral obligation to treat them with the respect and dignity they deserve. We need robust investment into our public transit agencies for operational and capital improvements, so every single rider has access to reliable, affordable and safe public transit service. We applaud Congresswoman Pressley and Senator Markey for being leaders in the fight for transit justice!"

Congresswoman Pressley and Senator Markey originally introduced the Freedom to Move Act in June 2020. In July 2020, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, which included a fare-free transit pilot program modeled on the lawmakers' Freedom to Move Act.

State Senator Anthony Petruccelli has submitted a compromise casino gaming bill in the Senate that calls for three resort-style casinos and one racino in Massachusetts that would immediately bring millions of dollars in revenue to the state through licensing fees, capital improvements, and taxes. Suffolk Downs is seen as a likely site for one of the hotel-casino complexes.

Former Library Director Bob Rice Jr. pleaded "not guilty" to 21 counts of larceny, embezzlement, and fraud during his arraignment yesterday in Boston's Suffolk Superior Court. However, it wasn't what he said during the 10-minute arraignment, but rather what he said afterward in the hallway to reporters, that is likely to spark a number of controversies. Speaking pretty much against the advice of his attorney, Stephen Tassini, Rice at first told reporters "No comment." However, in a strikingly similar way to which he did in an interview with a Lowell newspaper last year, he suddenly turned course and began talking, saying that he had been set up by other city officials and that he had a valid explanation for all of the charges against him that would prove his innocence.

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICES ON REVERE BEACH

The First Congregational Church of Revere, under the direction of Reverend Tim Bogertman held their annual sunrise services on Revere Beach on Easter Sunday. This annual event was postponed last year due to the pandemic, but this year after many parishioners had received their vaccines the services were allowed.

Despite a much smaller crowd of worshipers, the services were none the less moving and spiritual. There was a slight chill in the air, but the glory of the sun rising in a golden hue was a sight to behold. The addition of nature's soloist, a bird in the loft of the pavilion sang joyfully along with the hymns, adding to the services something that cannot be replicated anywhere.

While simple in structure, this solemn ceremony each year on Revere Beach brings a peace and joy to the soul, in this most holy of times, bringing Easter promises of an empty tomb, an open sky and a risen Savior.

Peter Sturgis welcomes all with a call to worship, 6am on Easter Sunday morning on Revere Beach and leads the opening prayer.

With a golden sunrise behind him, George Shalvey leads the group in Amazing Grace.

Pastor of the First Congregational Church in Revere, Reverend Tim Bogertman said the closing prayer and Benediction.

It was a beautiful morning under the pavilion at Revere Beach for the Annual Sunrise Easter Services.

The Coots family is a big part of the annual sunrise services on Revere Beach, Tom, Diane, Becky and Tori.

Nature's soloist joined the services and added a true feeling of a blessed morning to all.

Anna and Eli Holland were in attendance for the services Sunday morning.

RHS SPORTS ROUNDUP

RHS GIRLS ALMOST PULL OFF MAJOR UPSET

An underdog Revere High girls basketball team joined in the fun of March Madness with a pair of scintillating contests against favored rivals from Lynn Classical and Lynn English last week in tournament play for the first-ever Greater Boston League Cup.

The Patriots turned in a strong performance in the opening round of the tournament against Lynn Classical, a team that had defeated Revere earlier in the season.

For much of the contest, it appeared as though Classical would prevail once again. Revere fell behind early thanks to some hot shooting by the Rams to start the game, but the Patriots ratcheted-up the defensive pressure in the second half to pull out a hard-fought, 38-35 victory.

The Patriots trailed by nine points midway through the third quarter, but the Revere girls refused to concede and continued to play hard.

Lamees Al-Assad had an outstanding steal and coast-to-coast basket, plus the foul, for a three-point play to trim the margin to six points.

When Carolina Bettero, who led all scorers with 15 points, drained a trey from a few steps in front of half-court at the buzzer (foreshadowing the NCAA men's semifinals a few days later) to make it a three-point game heading into the fourth period, the momentum had swung in the Patriots' favor.

Skyla DeSimone, with the game tight down the stretch, then stepped up and took over offensively. Skyla scored the final six points for Revere, including a lay-up and foul with 30 seconds to play, to secure the lead for Revere for the first time in the game.

DeSimone was also instrumental on the defensive end, holding Lynn Classical's leading scorer without a basket the whole game, including a stop in the final seconds.

Alana Nelson played a major role in the win, as she hit some big threes in the final quarter to keep it close and rebounded well all game. Haley Belloise led the team in assists and played outstanding offensively.

The following night the Revere girls took on undefeated Lynn English, the top seed in the tourney and an opponent who had handled the Patriots easily in their regular-season encounter.

Once again Revere put up a tremendous battle, but came up just short in overtime, 41-37.

The contest was a nip-and-tuck affair throughout. Nelson gave Revere the lead with a three-pointer with two minutes to go in regulation, but the Bulldogs moved out to a two-point edge on a three-point play of their own.

DeSimone, who once again turned in a stellar performance with 17 points, then hit a big layup to send the contest into OT. Other key efforts for Revere came from Bettero and Lynzie Anderson, who were outstanding on the boards the whole game as they battled against a much-bigger Lynn English squad.

"I'm very proud of this team and the effort they showed," said RHS head coach Matt Willis of his squad.

RHS BOYS BATTLE AGAINST EVERETT

The Revere High Boys basketball team traveled to Everett last Wednesday to take on the Crimson Tide in the first round of the Greater Boston League Cup.

Revere (1-6) came in as the seventh seed while Everett (6-1) came in as the second seed.

The teams had met two weeks previously during the regular season and it was pretty much a one-sided game, with Everett in control at both ends of the floor and easily turning aside the Patriots, 73-34.

Although the Patriots knew they were facing an up-hill battle, they were coming off their first win the previous Friday on Senior Night against Malden, giving the team confidence that they were improving.

The first quarter started off well for Revere. The Patriots jumped out to an early 8-2 lead. Senior guard Jafar Barry (11

Should you buy or sell a home in 2021? Here's what to know

While the roll-out of the COVID-19 vaccine has left a lot of question marks about the future of the U.S. economy at-large, analysts expect the housing market to remain strong and stable in the coming year.

"Despite the uncertainties of the pandemic, the housing market performed well in the second half of 2020," says Sam Khaten, Freddie Mac's chief economist. "Low mortgage rates and the ability to work remotely continued to propel demand for housing, which is reflected in home sales reaching levels not seen in 15 years."

Whether you're a potential homebuyer, a current homeowner or considering selling, here are some of the biggest takeaways of Freddie Mac's Quarterly Forecast:

- Interest rates are likely to remain low. The average 30-year fixed-rate mortgage (FRM) hit a record low over a dozen times in 2020. The low interest rate environment is projected to continue through 2021, with the 30-year FRM expected to average below 3 percent. Low rates are good news for buyers looking to purchase a home, and homeowners looking to reduce their mortgage payment through refinancing.

- Home sales to remain high. The demand for housing is expected to remain strong in 2021, creating a favorable market for sellers. Last year, low mortgage rates and the ability to work remotely drove up home sales (the measure of the number of homes sold every month). This year, home sales are expected to ride that wave, averaging 6.5 million for the year.

- House prices to grow moderately. In the second half of 2020, the high volume of home sales and low supply of housing drove up house prices. In 2021, house price growth is expected to moderate for the full year.

- Refinances to start declining. Low mortgage rates spurred refinance activity in 2020, boosting mortgage originations (the process in which borrowers apply for a home loan) to historic highs. As mortgage rates rise modestly in 2021, refinance activity should start to slow. "While many homeowners took advantage of these low rates in last year, evidence suggests that many lower income homeowners still have the opportunity to strengthen their financial position by refinancing," says Khaten.

Many of the trends that shaped the market last year, especially historically low mortgage rates, will continue to drive housing activity in 2021. As you embark on your journey towards your home goals, be sure to have a firm understanding of today's market conditions.

Get more bang for your buck with these spring home improvements

The warmer weather means it's time to start thinking about home improvement projects. Whether you're getting your home in tip-top shape for your own enjoyment, or getting it ready to put on the market, not all home improvement projects are created equal when it comes to return on investment (ROI). Here are top areas on which to focus:

Interiors

The kitchen is the heart of the home and it's one of the best areas to renovate in terms of ROI, according to Remodeling magazine's annual Cost vs. Value Report, which puts the price tag of the average minor kitchen remodel at $22,507, with 80.5 percent of the cost recouped upon resale.

To give the kitchen an updated appearance, replace the flooring, countertops, sink and faucet.

A fresh coat of paint in a trendy shade, such as Living Coral, Pantone's Color of the Year, can add a vibrant pop of color to energize any kitchen. Not looking to go that bold?

Consider an accent wall, or stick to a classic palate of gray and white in terms of cabinets and countertops. White on white is also a popular new style for kitchens and bathrooms.

Other features home buyers are paying close attention to are laundry rooms and such energy-saving elements as Energy Star appliances and windows, according to the survey "What Home Buyers Want in 2019" by the National Association of Home Builders.

Curb Appeal

The popularity of outdoor projects remains strong and it's for a good reason. According to the Cost vs. Value Report, the biggest bang for your buck in 2019 will come from replacing a garage door. The report says the average price is $3,611, and 97.5 percent of it is recouped when the house is sold.

Other outdoor projects with high ROI include adding manufactured stone veneer to the exterior (94.9 percent), adding a wood deck (75.6 percent) and replacing siding (75.6 percent).

Looking for a simpler way to make an impact? Sprucing up the landscape by planting flowers or bushes or even just clearing the yard of debris will make a big statement.

No matter what updates you end up making, it's always a good idea to notify your insurance agent. "Certain upgrades may change the value of a house, so homeowners need to make sure they're properly covered," says Bob Buckel, vice president of product management, Erie Insurance. "There are a few things to look for. Ask your agent about guaranteed replacement cost policies that can cover the cost to rebuild a home in today's dollars following a covered loss."

Some upgrades may also make you eligible for discounts, Buckel adds, especially if they make the home more secure. "For example, Erie Insurance offers certain safety discounts such as for installing smoke alarms or an automatic sprinkler system."

Now you have a checklist of DIY projects to focus on this spring. But before you start, take a moment to assess which ones are worth your time and money.

NEWS FROM AROUND THE REGION

BAKER SENDS MILLIONS FOR CHELSEA AID

CHELSEA - After weeks of negotiating with local leaders in Chelsea and Everett after being shorted by the federal American Rescue Plan (ARP) and the federal delegation, Gov. Charlie Baker announced his Administration would dedicate a total of $100 million of additional federal funding to those two communities – and two others that were shorted.

The additional funding announcement brought Everett and Chelsea further up from the low levels of funding they did have under the Plan, but still far behind more affluent communities like Newton and Brookline and others.

"When this issue was first brought to our attention and when you look at the numbers generally, when you have what I would describe as relatively better-off financially communities getting $70, $80, and $90 million, and you have places like Chelsea and Everett..., which have been hit pretty hard by the pandemic and don't have the kinds of resources many of these other communities have, getting $6, $7 and $8 million – it was pretty clear there was a problem there," said Gov. Baker. "We began serious conversations with the local leaders in those communities to figure out how we might frame this to figure out how to solve it. Once we reached what I would describe as a general agreement to the problems they were trying to deal with as part of their own initiative, we then talked to the folks in the legislative leadership here to incorporate that into the planning we do here on how we do allocate federal resources that are part of the ARP."

to the situation seemed to indicate that Chelsea and Everett might be in line for about $28 million each in additional funding, while Methuen and Randolph would receive slightly less amounts.

For Everett, that would bring up their total funding (including county resources) to approximately $41.59 million. For Chelsea, that would bring their approximate Rescue Plan funding up to $39.61 million. That still trails more affluent communities who weren't hard hit with COVID-19 by a long shot. Under the original Plan – assuming no more federal dollars were awarded to them – Newton is funded at $65.29 million and Somerville at $79.06 million. However it would bring them on par with communities like Revere, which got $30.54 million.

"As a result of the way the bill was designed, Chelsea, Everett, Methuen and Randolph are due to receive significantly smaller levels of funding compared to other significantly hard-hit communities," continued the governor. "We believe it's critically important these communities get the resources they need to continue to recover from the devastating effects of the pandemic. We've been talking regularly with local leadership in these communities to develop a plan for the short-fall. As a result of those conversations and with the legislative leadership here, we're pleased to announce we'll direct $100 million in additional aid to these four communities."

Gov. Baker said they continue to speak with the U.S. Treasury Department for guidance on how these monies could be used, which are outside the Plan's direct allocation to cities and towns. The new plan for $100 million came after long and difficult talks with local leaders, particularly State Sen. Sal DiDomenico, Mayor Carlo DeMaria and Chelsea City Manager Tom Ambrosino. All worked behind the scenes with the federal delegation since around March 4 to try to remedy the problematic formula used in the Rescue Plan before it was voted on, but for whatever reason, the federal delegation wasn't successful in helping to remedy the problem at that time.

"After we had many meetings and conversations with our partners at all levels of government, I am grateful that Governor Baker has committed to helping Everett and Chelsea and will be sending much needed funding to our communities," said Sen. DiDomenico, who was instrumental in identifying the problem to state leaders and creating a new solution. "The original federal funding formula only exacerbated the inequities that our cities have already faced and I am relieved that there is a resolution to correct this problem. I was happy to work with Governor Baker, Mayor DeMaria, City Manager Ambrosino, my colleagues in the Federal delegation and at the State House to get the resources Chelsea and Everett deserve."

City Manager Tom Ambrosino said he was thrilled after weeks of wrangling to improve the situation.

"I'm thrilled with the decision and very grateful to the Baker Administration," he said.

Everett Mayor Carlo DeMaria said the allocation by the governor was very positive news, and he said he thanked the state for acting quickly and listening.

"The City of Everett was slated to receive $4.5 million, whereas the City of Newton was slated for $65 million," he said. "Disproportionate is an understatement. I would like to personally thank Governor Baker and his team for acknowledging and quickly responding to the inequitable funding of the Federal formula. I would also like to recognize the relentless advocacy of State Senator Sal DiDomenico who has stood by our side through this entire process. Everett deserves this funding and I'm proud to say that our persistence has paid off."

Baker estimated the state would be getting $7.9 billion in direct aid from the American Rescue Plan, and of that $3.4 billion would come to counties, cities and towns – part of the money that was allocated using a formula that left Everett and Chelsea short of equitable funding.

Baker said the additional $100 million still needed to be vetted through the Treasury Department at the federal level for the legality of the move and the potential uses. However, he said it is expected the additional monies could be used for anything related to COVID-19 responses, including economic assistance, replacing lost revenue, and water/sewer/broadband upgrades.

PEOPLE OF CHELSEA PROJECT EXPANDS BANNERS

CHELSEA - There will be a day when folks in the future look back at the work of Chelsea photographer Darlene DeVita and her 'People of Chelsea' project – particularly during the last year of the pandemic – and marvel at it.

But why wait for the future when her work is ready and available now?

DeVita has had banners on the fence of the Chelsea Public Library for many months, but now she has created new banners and expanded the project to Chelsea High School on Everett Avenue.

"The banners are there and they are to celebrate," she said. "I just finished putting up new and larger banners at Chelsea High School along Everett Avenue. It's still pandemic work, but these are new portraits. There are quite a few new ones and some old ones too. There's new Black Lives Matter images from last summer and the holidays at La Colaborativa and giving out food. There's joyful ones and people dancing. Who knew it would turn into this? Even without the pandemic, I've always been amazed by this community."

DeVita said it was one year ago this week after the pandemic set in that she ventured out with her camera to see what she could find. She had already been doing her 'People of Chelsea' project for some time, and wasn't sure what to do when COVID hit. The answer came quickly when she found people and organizations, families and neighbors, coping with the tragedy as – well – People of Chelsea.

That early work turned into a series of banners that were put up on the fence of the Chelsea Public Library. Those are still up for viewing, and now the ones at Chelsea High School are available too.

In addition, DeVita reported she has recently gotten a Heritage Grant from the Cultural Council to archive her work with the Friends of the Chelsea Library.

The portraits and text she has created will be preserved as part of that grant, and they will also go up on the Library fence for all to see sometime this fall. That work is a little different from the banners and features portraits of Chelsea residents and vi-

ISLAND END RIVER UNEARTHED IN A PARKING LOT

Deep into Everett's industrial landscape off of Market Street lies a typical, expansive asphalt parking lot, and now, a river runs through it. It's not often that a river is unearthed from what has been generations of industrial wasteland, but that's exactly what has happened this month as about 500 feet of the previously underground Island End River has been "daylighted" – freeing itself from a failing underground culvert and creating a brand new, environmentally friendly stream that will drastically improve flooding problems in the southern half of the city.

By Monday of this week, the stream had been opened up and was flowing freely through the area. The restored channel is 80 feet wide and about 15 feet deep.

"People seem to enjoy the work and want to see it and I feel like I'm doing so much," she said. "I meet people now and they have stories to tell and they want to tell their story to me... I still have a lot of Chelsea people to photograph."

SCHOOL BUDGET LOOKS AHEAD

EVERETT - Supt. Priya Tahiliani and her finance team announced a School Budget to the School Committee that was unlike any that Everett Public Schools (EPS) has seen – one that looked toward long-term investments in a proposed three-year plan.

This year's School Budget plan has a lot of elements at play – including federal CARES Act funding for schools, the first year of Student Opportunity Act (SOA) funding, and now a calculated long-term plan to return more money to students and school building leaders.

The overall School Budget ask is $129.395 million – but the ask is coming in a way never seen before in the School Department. Supt. Tahiliani said the Budget is a break from the past ways of formulating it, planning it and presenting it. In creating the Budget, all of the principals, school leaders, directors and teachers have been part of the crafting of it – so there are no presentations or "asks" from each school. Instead, that has all been rolled into the Budget presentation, which is more of a blueprint for overall strategy than a line-by-line negotiation for spending on things such as paper towels or lab equipment.

"It really is meant to reflect the scope of investment in our students and schools," said Tahiliani.

At Monday night's special School Committee meeting, Supt. Tahiliani and School CFO Anu Jayanth introduced a budget for the coming Fiscal Year 2022 that looks to invest federal COVID funds into social-emotional programs and academic recovery programs that will likely hit Everett students with gusto when they return to a traditional in-person learning environment.

It is estimated that EPS could receive around $5 to $10 million in COVID federal funds (Elementary and Secondary Education Emergency Resources funding), and much of that short-term funding will be directed to helping students recover in many different ways from the experiences of COVID.

However, beyond that, the Administrative team

Mobile health initiative at Mass General Brigham brings information, resources to community

Staff Report

Mass General Brigham has launched a mobile health initiative to leverage the knowledge of its world class providers and researchers to help answer people's questions and boost confidence in the COVID-19 vaccines.

"With the information about COVID-19, the vaccines, and public health measures changing day to day, it's understandable that people feel conflicted about how to keep up with the information and where they should go for trusted answers," says Tom Sequist, MD, MPH. Dr. Sequist is the Chief Patient Experience and Equity Officer at Mass General Brigham. "The lightning fast speed of social media can be invaluable to get a message out quickly, but can also enable the spread of inaccurate information."

Nearly 120 physicians, nurses, researchers, and other experts from across Mass General Brigham have come together to volunteer their expertise in a variety of ways. These "Community Messengers" are reaching people in the community—both in-person and digitally—by making informational videos in a variety of languages; hosting "live" social media sessions to answer patient questions; and offering their time at public speaking engagements or on other media like podcasts and radio.

The goal is to connect with communities hard hit by the pandemic—which are overwhelmingly communities of color with a historical mistrust of the health care industry. The Mass General Brigham community messengers are multi-lingual and multi-cultural, with many having shared life experience with the people in the communities we serve.

"When I'm with my patients I can answer their questions face to face," says Cheryl R. Clark MD, ScD, who recently volunteered as a community messenger at the Reggie Lewis Center. Dr. Clark is a Hospitalist and researcher in Brigham and Women's Hospital Division of General Medicine and Primary Care, and Director of Health Equity Research & Intervention in the Center for Community Health and Health Equity at Brigham.

Dr. Clark explains, "We're taking that trusted relationship and amplifying it to a larger scale to reach more people who have questions regarding the COVID-19 pandemic and vaccine."

Additionally, these community messengers have played a crucial role in our Community Care Van initiative. While there is a van dedicated solely to information sharing, many volunteers accompany vans handing out resources like food or care kits, or our mobile testing vans.

The vans will be located alongside other community resources such as food pantries.

While partnering with community organizations has helped reach more people, it hasn't opened every barrier to community access. One hurdle that medical staff have had to grapple with is the mistrust of the communities they are trying to reach.

"It's no surprise that people of color and those in marginalized communities want and need information that they can understand, in their language, from caregivers who look like them," says Joseph Betancourt, MD, MPH, Senior Vice President of Equity and Community Health at Massachusetts General Hospital.

He explains that the health care system has a difficult history that providers are working to counteract. The Tuskegee study and Henrietta Lacks are just two historical examples. And while this lack of confidence is real and well-earned, communities of color aren't the only ones who are hesitant about the vaccine.

"Many really want it, and we need to make sure vaccines are available to them in their communities, and easily accessible, as we answer their questions and gain their trust," he says.

The vans have been stationed in communities hardest hit by COVID such as Chelsea, Revere, Everett, Charlestown, Lynn, Roxbury and Dorchester, with other communities as needed. The hope is that these vans will become a valuable health care resource for local communities during the pandemic and beyond.

response safety liaison positions, and a new Social Emotional Team. The Integrated Supports features $3 million for summer programs, a new City Year Fellows program, a new Supplemental Services Manager, and a new Re-Engagement Manager. The Positive Relationship category – or Tailored Supports – includes $355,658 for Learning Access for families, the Tech Goes Home program, and a Family Engagement Manager.

Jayanth said some of that will lay a foundation using temporary COVID dollars for the more long-term three-year investment plan.

"This is a fundamental and strategic departure from the historic way of doing the School Budget," said Jayanth.

Mayor Carlo DeMaria gave positive reviews of the new approach, and said he looks forward to talking more about the details of the plan.

"I love it," he said. "We're all feeling it as parents. I especially like the three-year plan and not to have to take money mid-year and have to take money from Free Cash... It's good to have a complete budget."

School Committee Chair Frank Parker said he was glad to see a new approach to the School Budget in what would be Supt. Tahiliani's first real budget effort – given that last year she had only been in office a few months and COVID-19 had ravaged all normal budget cycles.

"We're going to budget every school," he said. "You'll see actually what the budget is for in every school – how much the Webster School has and what the Devens School has allocated. We've not had that granularity in the past and we'll see that now going forward."

School Committee-woman Dana Murray said she liked the idea as well.

"As a taxpayer and a parent with kids in the system, I support the idea that they took the time to plan ahead and no go year to year...I'm grateful to be part of a City and school system that is taking the long view and not trying to patch things up short-term."

School Committee-woman Samantha Lambert also applauded the new approach, but was especially happy to see that there was an effort to end opportunity gaps in the schools. As a long-time critic of different opportunities – such as field trips – in different schools, she said the Budget moved to end those inequities between schools with an active Parent Teacher Organization and those without such a structure.

"Just making the field trips equitable across schools and not putting it on PTOs – that's huge," she said.

The presentation on Monday was a macro view of the School Budget and the first venture into the waters of Budget season. It will now be presented to the City Administration to negotiate the spending and agree upon a final number.

Then it will come back to the School Committee for a deeper dive into the numbers and the programming investments, most of that being done in Lambert's Finance and Negotiations Committee. If approved by the School Committee, it would then go to the City Council for discussion and deliberation within their overall City Budget process in May or June.

OUTDOOR DINING APPLICATIONS WILL BEGIN

EVERETT - The Everett License Commission met on March 24 and approved a plan to start outdoor dining in a no-frills process this spring, and also approved a package store license for a drug store inside Encore Boston Harbor.

Chair Phil Antonelli offered up a vote to allow the Planning Department to take over outdoor dining applications at their meeting, and called for businesses to begin applying for the permits.

Last year's process eventually was moved to the Planning Department for an administrative process that didn't require License Commission review, and now that process will start anew. The outdoor dining option was a saving grace for many restaurants last summer and fall, and was popular with the public as well.

"We have opened up our outdoor dining program again," said Antonelli. "Any licensee that serves alcohol and wants to have a fenced-in or roped off area in front of their restaurant needs to apply now. The Planning Department will be handling that in conjunction with City Attorney Keith Slattery."

Antonelli said the Planning Department and Slattery will review applications for safety and completeness and adherence to regulations. Then, they will simply inform the Commission of the administrative approval. Any issues that arise afterward would potentially be reviewed by the Commission, though.

The program was approved 3-0 by the Commission.

- Encore Gets Package License

Encore Boston Harbor was approved in a 3-0 vote to get an All Alcohol Package Store license to allow it to sell alcohol seven days a week from the small drug store inside the resort.

The license was needed as the store could not be covered under any of the existing licenses administered by the Gaming Commission.

Commissioners at the February meeting did have concerns about the plan, which lacked key details like operating hours. They were also concerned about patrons purchasing single beers or single bottles and drinking them inside the resort and outside on the HarborWalk.

On March 24, Encore officials said they would be selling alcohol Monday through Saturday, 8 a.m. to 11 p.m., and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. They would use their existing security to enforce measures to prevent people from drinking the purchases alcohol in the resort or outside. Patrons could, though, drink the purchased alcohol if they were actively playing at a gaming station.

EDWARDS ON MOST IMPACTFUL LIST

EAST BOSTON - Get Konnected!, a local business networking organization, released its first ever list of Boston's Most Impactful Black Women, and District 1 City Councilor Lydia Edwards was on the list.

Get Konnected! CEO Colette Phillips said the honors included two subgroups, the 25 Most Impactful Black Women in Health Care and Sciences, as well as the 25 Most Impactful Black Women Pioneers.

Edwards joined a distinguished list of female Black leaders that included City Councilor Andrea Campbell, WBUR's Paris Alston, and Boston Public Schools Superintendent Brenda Cassellius.

"Black women rule right now," said Phillips. "These women have forged trails as powerful and impactful as early Boston activists from abolitionist Elizabeth Riley to civil-rights leader and icon Melnea Cass." It's part of the mission at Get Konnected! to showcase the contributions of people of color in the state, and the list is a logical next step to promote those achievements. To see the full list, take a look at the video below.

Edwards, who was elected as District 1's first African American woman to serve the district, which includes East Boston, Charlestown and the North End, said that she was honored by being included on the impressive list.

"Obviously, I am humbled because I assumed I would need to be a little bit more older and have some more victories under my belt," said Edwards. "I just felt very much congratulated that people feel like I'm doing a good job and that makes me feel wonderful."

Being part of a really impressive group of women, Edwards said that she was honored just to be nominated.

"To be in that group was really the honor because many of these women included busted down doors and barriers," said Edwards. "This list has a lot of incredible women who have done some incredible so I took the nomination as an incredible compliment and now being listed among them is amazing."

Edwards said the honor has inspired her to keep going, keep fighting, keep thinking and keep challenging.

"I hope I'm making a difference but sometimes you don't see that," said Edwards. "When you're in the middle of some many different things sometimes you don't know your true impact but I hope I'm making people's lives better."

Edwards's work on ensuring equitable development at Suffolk Downs, increasing community affordability through proposed development projects and her initiatives to overhaul the ZBA and address housing issues and displacement has made her a champion of her working-class constituents.

"I think those are the little victories sometimes but I don't forget that a lot of these decisions are permanent and impacting our community," said Edwards. "I'm hopeful people understand how hard I work to get to those decisions. I'm just so honored to represent my community and I'm so grateful, especially to East Boston residents who put me on the map and I hope to continue to make my entire District proud."

Edwards has spent her entire career as an advocate, activist, and as a voice on behalf of society's most vulnerable. She served as the deputy director within the Mayor's Office of Housing Stability where she was responsible for developing and delivering innovative solutions to fight displacement and brought together all stakeholders: landlords, management companies, housing authorities, and tenants.

Before becoming elected Edwards worked as a public interest attorney with Greater Boston Legal Services focusing on labor issues such as fighting for access to unemployment insurance, back wages, fair treatment for domestic workers, and combatting human trafficking. She served as the statewide campaign coordinator for the Massachusetts Coalition for Domestic Workers, which advocated for the passage of the Domestic Workers Bill of Rights.

In 2015, she was named Bostonian of the Year by the Boston Globe.

STALLED PROJECT HEADS TO AUCTION BLOCK

EAST BOSTON - The aging industrial building on the corner of Porter and Orleans Streets was supposed to be one of Paul Roiff's signature boutique hotels, complete with extended stay rooms for business travelers and a restaurant.

However, Roiff, known for high end hotels and restaurants throughout Boston, later sold the Boston Planning and Development Agency-approved project to the Patel family for $14.75 million.

The Patels, known for operating and managing several area hotels, planned to continue Roiff's original vision, but for four years the project has stalled and become a dilapidated, boarded-up eyesore in the community.

Now, after years of promising the community that they'd get working to bring the neighborhood's first "Loftel" to fruition the plans seem to be coming to an abrupt end.

It was revealed that Paul E. Saperstein Co., Inc Auctioneers and Appraisers have been brought in to auction off the property.

The auction of the property will take place on April 14 at 1 p.m.

According to the auction posting the terms of sale require a "$150,000 deposit by certified or bank cashier's check" that will be increased to "10 percent" of the highest bid within five business days of sale". The entire balance of the winning bid will be due within 30 days of the sale date.

The project's original construction loan has been allegedly called back by the lender.

Since 2016 residents living in the Gove Street area have compared the dilapidated building on the corner of Porter and Orleans Streets to something you would see in war torn regions rather than Eastie.

In 2019, the Patels told members of the Gove Street Citizens Association that progress had been made and were eager to begin construction.

The delays in construction were largely due to the telecommunication antennas on top of the building.

The Patels were forced to enter into lengthy negotiations with the telecommunication companies to move these antennas to another part of the roof. When dealing with the relocation of telecommunication antennas there is very complicated and legal choreography that has to occur before one can move forward. Because moving these antennas causes a disruption in service there were a whole host of issues that came with that. These antennas are part of an old telecommunication easement and could not be evicted from the building because the companies own the space that occupies the building's roof.

Another delay for the project was in relation to the Patels's Historic Renovation Tax Credit application. Applying and receiving tax credit funding that ensures that the redevelopment of the building is done in a way that respects the property's history and is incorporated into the hotel's design can sometimes be a long process.

BOWDEN MAKES IT TO ROCKIES

LYNN - Lynn's Ben Bowden is a Major League Baseball player now. He's made it to The Show.

Bowden will begin the 2021 MLB season on the Colorado Rockies' roster. The Rockies play the reigning World Series champion Los Angeles Dodgers in their opening series.

Ben's parents, Larry Bowden and Stephanie Bowden, were hoping to be at Coors Field in Denver for their son's debut with the Rockies, according to Derek Dana, who is Ben's uncle.

"Obviously we couldn't be any prouder – it was just an awesome day Tuesday," said Dana, speaking on behalf of the family. "Ben gives you a call. He's so excited and you're just so happy for him. He's worked so hard. To finally get the chance and to do it on an Opening Day roster, making the team - we all were very excited to hear that. It's just awesome."

RMV announces April 30 conclusion of opportunity to qualify for free REAL ID upgrade

Staff Report

The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles (RMV) is announcing that Friday, April 30, will be the last day to qualify for the Free REAL ID Upgrade Promotion. Customers may still qualify prior to April 30 by renewing their Standard Massachusetts driver's license or ID card online at Mass.Gov/RMV.

Customers who already qualified by renewing online since June 12, 2020, will be able to begin booking in-person upgrade appointments for their no cost REAL ID online starting Thursday, April 1, and will have ample time to take advantage of their free REAL ID upgrade. Those customers with a U.S. Passport are already in compliance with federal REAL ID requirements that begin on Oct. 1, and should not need a REAL ID for the purposes of boarding domestic flights or entering certain federal buildings at that time.

"The RMV appreciates the public's overwhelmingly positive response to this promotion and welcomes additional qualifying participation prior to April 30 for those who renew their license or ID online and defer their visit to a Service Center for a REAL ID to a later date," said Acting RMV Registrar Colleen Ogilvie. "While federal REAL ID travel requirements won't take effect until October 1, 2021, and customers with a valid U.S. Passport may never need a REAL ID, the RMV and our partners at AAA stand ready to accommodate and provide plenty of time for customers to take advantage of their free REAL ID upgrade."

Customers are eligible to renew online up to one year in advance of the expiration date printed on their license or ID, and up to two years after the expiration date. This means customers expiring now through April 30, 2022, can renew online for a standard license / ID prior to the conclusion of the promotion, and still take advantage of the free future upgrade.

Beginning Thursday, April 1, eligible customers who have already renewed their driver's license/ID online since June 12, 2020, will now be able to book in-person appointments to upgrade their credentials at no cost at an RMV Service Center or a AAA location (if members). Appointments can be scheduled by RMV customers at Mass.Gov/RMV or by AAA members at northeast.aaa.com.

Customers will not need a federally compliant

REAL ID for the purposes of boarding domestic flights or entering certain federal buildings prior to Oct. 1, 2021, especially if they already possess a valid U.S. Passport which is already a federally complaint REAL ID document. The fee for renewing a non-commercial standard or REAL ID license is $50, while the fee for upgrading to a standard or REAL ID card is $25. The typical $25 upgrade / amendment fee will be waived under the above qualifying circumstances.

The Free REAL ID Upgrade Promotion began by Executive Order on June 12, 2020, during the COVID-19 pandemic, offering customers the flexibility and time to renew their license / ID online and wait to get their REAL ID, which requires an in-person visit and document verification at a Service Center or AAA. This promotion supported the RMV's pandemic-related efforts to implement social distancing protocols, reduce in-person Service Center traffic, prioritize critical in-person transaction and appointment capacity and ultimately keep customers and staff safe.

Customers should take the following steps to determine their online renewal eligibility and qualify for this offer prior to the April 30, 2021, conclusion:

- Visit Mass.Gov/RMV, login to their "myRMV" account, and find out if they are permitted to renew online.

• Renew online – their new standard license or ID card will be sent via U.S. mail.

• The cost for renewing a driver's license is $50. The cost for renewing an ID card is $25. These costs are the same for both a Standard or REAL ID license or ID card. The cost for upgrading or amending a license or ID card outside of their renewal cycle is $25 – this fee will be waived for participating, eligible RMV customers upgrading to a REAL ID license/ID.

• Eligible customers who have renewed online will be able to make an appointment for a REAL ID at an RMV Service Center or AAA office (for members) beginning on Thursday, April 1, and have their $25 upgrade / amendment fee waived.

• Customers can visit Mass.Gov/ID to find detailed information on REAL ID including a helpful checklist that conveniently outlines the documentation needed to secure a REAL credential.

• Customers are encouraged to begin their transaction online by visiting Mass.Gov/RMV, clicking on "Online Service Center," selecting "Apply for a REAL ID," and then following the prompts to verify their identity and start their transaction. Customers will be prompted to answer a series of questions to complete a summary document, which should be presented along with required REAL ID documentation during their in-person visit. REAL

ID credentials are mailed to customers within seven–ten days of a visit to RMV Service Center and/or AAA location.

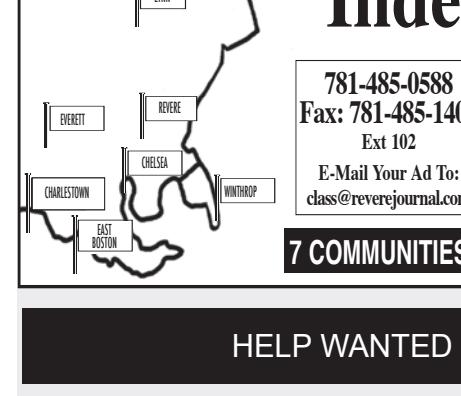

• Anyone who holds a valid U.S. passport or other federally compliant form of identification may never need an RMV-isued REAL ID.

• As a service to its members, AAA continues to issue REAL ID credentials and will be offering free REAL ID upgrades to eligible members. Members should make an appointment before visiting a AAA location.

Revere High School seniors Raffa, Cravotta receive ACE scholarships

By Cary Shuman

Two of Revere High's most outstanding students, seniors Julianna Raffa and Nicholas Cravotta, received scholarships as the result of their excellent achievements in the ACE Mentor Program of Greater Boston.

The well-known, after-school ACE program is run by award-winning design and construction professionals with the goal of encouraging high school students to pursue careers in the architecture, construction, and engineering industries.

Both Raffa and Cravotta attended the program for the past two years. While the 2019-20 program was held at the Wentworth Institute of Technology

Talented RHS student Nick Cravotta enjoyed exploring a new opportunity in ACE Program

By Cary Shuman

Nicholas Cravotta, a 17-year-old senior at Revere High School, is understandably very proud about his latest academic accomplishment.

Cravotta was the recipient of a $7,500 scholarship from the ACE Mentor Program of Greater Boston. He began in the program at the beginning of his junior year.

"My brother [Matthew Cravotta], who's great in science and math, previously attended the program," said Nicholas about his older sibling, who is now studying Electrical Engineering at the Wentworth Institute of Technology, where the ACE Program is held. "I wanted to explore different opportunities because I'm unsure of what career I want to pursue."

Cravotta chose structural engineering for his specialty in the ACE Program that convened virtually once a week. He worked closely with RHS classmate Julianna Raffa on his team's project.

"We learned about the how the structure of a building works – columns, beams, pillars, stuff like that," said Cravotta. "Our goal for this year was to create and design a house that had certain requirements it had to meet. We had to do a Zoom presentation to explain how we did it."

Cravotta said his ACE mentors, Kyle Karschner,

Revere High School senior Nicholas Cravotta, recipient of an ACE Mentor Program of Greater Boston scholarship, is pictured with brother Matthew Cravotta, uncle Freddie Battista, mother Tina Battista, and step-mother Patty Battista outside the family's home in Revere.

Tina Unwalla, and Casey Williams were fantastic in the program.

"They were great mentors," said Cravotta. "For any questions I had, they were able to instantly help me out. It was an excellent privilege to be in the program."

An honor roll student

Cravotta attended the Whelan Elementary School and Rumney Marsh Academy before Revere High School.

"Revere High is a great school," said Cravotta. "We have very nice teachers and very nice staff. Mr. [Khiry] Walker was my sophomore geometry teacher and he was just an excellent teacher."

He's happy to be walking the corridors of Revere High after a year of remote learning due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

"I went for my first day [Monday]," said Cravotta. "It was different, but I'm happy to be back. Everyone is wearing a mask, and it's very much enforced, too."

Nicholas is leaning toward UMass/Boston where he would study Business Management or Business Marketing.

Interestingly, Cravotta's mother, Christine Battista, is one of the greatest softball players in both the city of Chelsea and Pope John XXIII High School history.

"I know she's in the Hall of Fame," said Nicholas, while noting that his brother Matthew was exceptional in golf, baseball, and ice hockey. His oldest brother, Justin, will graduate in May from Salem State University.

"I love my whole family, especially my mother," said Cravotta.

"Nicholas is very hard-working, very focused and he really know what he wants to do," said Christine Battista. "When he wants to do something, he does it. He doesn't give up. He'll do really well."

Christine also thanked the Revere school system for her three sons' educational experience. "Academically the Revere schools are solid, top notch. The staff has been great. [Guidance counselor] Amy Chamberlin was really helpful to Nicholas."

in Boston, this academic year's program was completely virtual due to COVID-19 restrictions.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Diane Kelly congratulated the two Revere scholars on their impressive accomplishments.

"We are really happy for Julianna and Nick," said Dr. Kelly. "Both of them went above and beyond to earn these well-deserved scholarships which I'm sure will help them along their future paths. I'm sure they will both do great things and we hope they will return to Revere and help the next generation of learners along their paths."

This year, the ACE program was grateful to have continued support from their sponsors, all of whom contributed to a scholarship for a student.

The sponsored scholarship donors include Consigli Construction, Prellwitz Chilinski Associates, Simpson Gumpertz & Heger, Superior Plumbing, ARUP, PIDC Construction and D.A. Bosworth Company.

"In what has been such a challenging year for so many students and families, the exponential growth of the ACE program is nothing short of spectacular," said Casey Williams, president of the ACE Mentor Program of Greater Boston. "We are beyond thankful for all our donors, sponsors, and partners for supporting us throughout the pandemic.

This year, we were able to not only help more students on a financial level, but we have been able to connect with more students than ever before and teach them about these evolving industries."

After excelling in sports and academics at RHS, Julianna Raffa will attend Wentworth

By Cary Shuman

Julianna Raffa was a Greater Boston League All-Star player for the history-making 2019 Revere High School field hockey team that qualified for the State Tournament for the first time in 31 years.

An honor roll student and a member of the National Honor Society, Raffa recently received a $10,000 scholarship from the ACE Mentor Program of Greater Boston. ACE officials came to Revere to present the scholarship in person.

"I was introduced to this program by a friend and they gave me the information and it sounded really interesting, so I signed up at the beginning of my junior year," said Raffa. "It was really exciting to receive a scholarship."

The multi-talented 17-year-old, who is highly proficient in mathematics and the sciences, said she was drawn to the program by her interest in engineering.

"It [ACE] was a very helpful program where I learned a lot about engineering and communications skills," said Raffa. "I was in the structural engineering group so I learned about the math and science behind what makes a building stand up."

Raffa collaborated with classmate Nicholas Cravotta and other students to develop a floor plan to design for the beams and columns for a virtual house.

Raffa said she was grateful to her three mentors in the ACE program, Kyle Karschner Tina Unwalla, and Casey Williams.

"They helped navigate us through everything," lauded Raffa.

A season to remember

Julianna Raffa will graduate with seven varsity letters in field hockey and softball. She excelled in the 2019 RHS field hockey contingent's offensive attack, combining with GBL MVP Katie O'Donnell for a team that set a school record for victories. Raffa scored nine goals during that season for the Patriots.

"It was very amazing to be a part of that team," said Raffa.

Now a field hockey captain, Raffa has begun practices for her final season that has been delayed by the COVID-19 pandemic. She will begin her fourth varsity softball season in May.

Raffa said she's happy to be back in school after a year of remote learning.

"It was great to be back in school," said Raffa. "Remote learning was a little challenging, but it was okay once we got used to it."

Raffa credited Revere High teacher Erin Cronin, for being especially outstanding during her academic experience. Cronin was her teacher for Advanced Placement Calculus. Raffa also had AP classes in Physics/Mechanics, Physics/Electricity and Magnetism, and Psychology.

Raffa will attend the Wentworth Institute of Technology, Boston. She will study engineering, with a specialization in structural engineering.

"One of the reasons I chose Wentworth was because of the ACE Program," said Raffa. "I felt like it was a good fit, based on being there and learning there."

Raffa, who attended the Beachmont School and Rumney Marsh Academy, has a great role model in her brother, Dante, who is a student at the UMass/Amherst Isenberg School of Management.

"My brother has always been pretty good at math, too, so I liked following in his steps when we were kids and I liked to try and challenge him as well," said Raffa. "And my parents [Ovidio and Gina Raffa] always encouraged me to keep going with engineering. They've been very supportive."
