Hanton, McKenna named to Commonwealth Heroine Class

The Massachusetts Commission on the Status of Women (MCSW) will be celebrating the annual Commonwealth Heroines on Wednesday, June 22 at the The Venezia Hotel, 20 Ericsson Street in Dorchester. Kim Hanton, Chief of Staff for Mayor Arrigo and Ward 1 Councilor Joanne McKenna both of Revere will be among the honorees. Opening remarks will be made by MCSW Chairwoman Denella Clark, followed by a special recognition of all 121 honorees.

“As the first Black woman to chair the Massachusetts Commission on the Status of Women, and also as a proud appointee of Governor Baker and Lieutenant Governor Polito, we are thrilled to recognize women from all across our great Commonwealth who sometimes are not seen for their amazing contributions. We are also pleased to be joined by our dedicated Lieutenant Governor who will deliver a keynote address. We are excited that this year’s event will be in person and look forward to celebrating our honorees,” commented Chairwoman Clark.

Our Commonwealth Heroines are women who have been chosen by their legislators for their extraordinary acts of service, making a big difference in their communities but not necessarily making the news. They perform unheralded acts daily that make our homes, neighborhoods, cities, and towns better places to live. Commonwealth Heroines use their time, talent, spirit, and enthusiasm to enrich the lives of others in their community. They are mentors, volunteers, and innovators who strive to protect and represent the interests of seniors, victims of violence, children, immigrants, and other vulnerable populations. They are the glue that keeps a community together.

Revere School Committee to plan larger meeting to discuss school safety and protocols in wake of Texas school shooting

By John Lynds

The Robb Elementary School shooting in Uvalde, Texas that killed 19 students and two teachers at the school is still very much on everyone’s mind, especially those who work daily at schools in Revere and across the country.

At the most recent Revere School Committee Safety & Security Subcommittee meeting, committee member Susan Gravallese said the School Committee is planning to host a meeting on a larger scale to address questions and concerns from staff, families, students and the city as a whole.

“I do want the community to know that we are planning, once we get dates available, to have another safety and security meeting on a larger scale,” said Gravallese. “This will include Captain O’Hara, who works very closely with Assistant Superintendent Gallucci and our school resource officers. We’ll also be inviting our chief of police and our chief of fire.”

Committee member Carol Tye applauded the idea and said the events in Uvalde have made her reassess some policies she’s supported in the past that she and the other committee members may want to reconsider.

“For example, I voted to have school on the day of elections, and after this (Uvalde) happened I’d be rethinking my position

Chief Callahan hopes to deploy more school resource officers

By Cary Shuman

School security has remained in the spotlight nationally following the May 25 shooting in the Uvalde (Texas) school district in which 19 students and two teachers were killed.

At Monday night’s Council Legislative Affairs hearing on the Revere budget, City Council President Gerry Visconti brought up the issue of school resource officers (SROs) in the Revere school district.

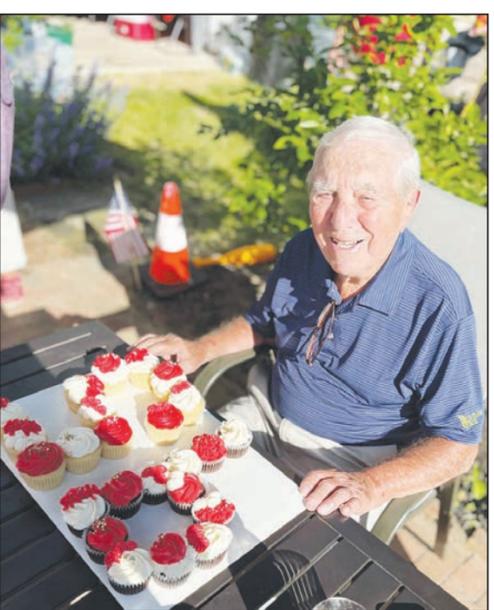

“What is your thought process of increasing that number with all the things that have been going on – do you think there’s a need for the city to really increase that SRO number by one or two officers in our school department?” Visconti asked Callahan followed the police chief’s impressive presentation for the Fiscal ’23 budget.

“On your SRO question – absolutely,” replied Callahan. “I would like to enhance that and put a couple more officers in the school department to serve with the schools. “As soon

WE URGE OUR LEGISLATORS TO SUPPORT LOBSTER FISHING BILL

Most of us are environmentalists to some extent.

We doubt there are few among us who do not find it heartbreaking that there was a record number of deaths of manatees this past year in Florida because excessive algae growth fueled by fertilizer runoff into the coastal Gulf waters is destroying the manatees' primary food source, sea grass. The manatees literally are starving because of a lack of food.

In our area of the country, the right whale long has been endangered. Only a few hundred of these beautiful animals exist. The greatest threat to their extinction are boat strikes and fishing and lobster gear in which they can become entangled.

Since 2015, state regulations have banned the use of lobstering equipment from Feb. 1 until at least April 30 off Cape Cod Bay and beyond, shutting down the local industry for the winter.

Right whales are common in Cape Cod Bay during late winter and early spring, especially during March and April. The ban was further extended until May 15 this year because of the presence of right whales in our area.

Needless to say, the state-mandated ban has taken a financial toll on those who earn their livelihood from lobstering. Some lobstermen say that their annual income has been cut in half since the ban went into effect in 2015.

However, State Senator Patrick O'Connor from Weymouth has filed a bill that he has attached to the upcoming state budget that would provide some degree of recompense to lobster fishermen for their lost revenue.

The total cost of the bill is miniscue -- $12 million out of a total state budget of almost $50 billion.

In our view, Senator O'Connor's bill is long-overdue. Saving a species such as the right whale is a public good that benefits all of us in some way and has a direct economic benefit for our tourism industry.

Yet the only ones being asked to pay the price for saving the whales are our lobster fishermen, for whom making ends meet always has been an iffy proposition, but which, thanks to climate change (which is driving lobsters further north to colder waters) and the state regulations, is becoming even more difficult.

The bottom line is that since the state's regulations are forcing our lobster fishing industry to "Save the Whales," then it is time for the state to put its money where its slogan is.

GUEST OP-ED

A father and a child can make a great family

Dr. Glenn Mollette

Father's Day is coming one more time and you still have a chance at having a great family.

Fathers like most all people have good days and bad days. They have great seasons of life and some that are more difficult. Few fathers will look back over their lives and say, "Every day I was a perfect dad." Some days were better than others.

We all feel bad about the seasons of our lives when we had to work too much. Working all the time depletes energy we would prefer to spend on our families. The problem is that like most fathers we want to keep a roof over our heads and food in the refrigerator. Making car payments, house payments, and all the basic things of life typically keep most dads and moms very busy.

Even in a home filled with love and patience the average dad lives a juggling life. He is pulled between work, kid's ball-games, meeting the needs of his wife and house-work. Add to this school meetings, homework, fishing, piano lessons, family events, all while trying to maintain and add to his career.

Most of us looking back can think of some endeavors or activities we wish we had let go in order to spend more time with our families. For some weird reason at the time they seemed all so important but now they feel like wasted time.

Throughout life the way we typically learn is the hard way. Education is always expensive. Our vision is 20/20 looking back. People tell us what we will regret and what we should do but we rarely believe them. When we get past the "fifty-five" mark of life we start to realize what the "old timers" told us was true. You know how it is because you probably tell your kids about what is right and wrong and what they will appreciate or regret. In most cases they don't pay much attention to you.

The only season of being a father that you have is this one. No future is guaranteed and yesterday is gone. You do have today. Have a loving and forgiving heart. Extend grace and a second, third or fourth chance. Try to spend time with those you love. You are probably finding out now that your grown children are too busy for you. They have lives of their own and you may not be a priority. It hurts some but they probably are being like you used to be. Don't lose sleep over this but be available and reach out as you are able.

Finally, you have to be more than the human ATM machine. You can't buy your children's affection for the rest of your life. Every parent wants to help their children but the best thing you can do for them is work with them to help them care for themselves. You can either teach them to fish or spend the rest of your life fishing for them and this ends up being a hard life for you and cripples them.

Today is another opportunity to be a good father. This is also a good day for you to reciprocate love and affection to your dad. A father and a child working together can make a great family.

LETTERS to the Editor

IN RESPONSE TO A LETTER IN JUNE 8 ISSUE

To the Editor,

Often violence in our society is caused by inequities perpetuated by, I'm sorry to say, many who read the Bible, but don't follow its tenets.

Social injustice can lead to anger, frustration, hopelessness, lack of purpose which in turn leads to violence.

In your letter I understand you are saying that if you believe in evolution then you believe your life is an accident and therefore you believe your life has no purpose which in turn leads to drug and alcohol abuse and mental instability. But if you believe in God your life would be purposeful and none of this would happen!

The very fact that those who think abortion is a fundamental right are radicals, yet those who think abortion is not a fundamental right and have taken part in violent, and insane protests are not radicals. What hypocrisy.

Sin has always plagued mankind, read your bible, or a history book. Sick societies are nothing new.

I agree we need to study the principles of God. Christians make up 31% of the world population leaving 69% of other faiths. My question is whose God?

If you have the absolutely right to think the way you do then you must let others who think differently have the right to do the same.

Ruling of Attorney General On Licensing Power Awaited

CITY FIRE LOSS STILL DECLINES—NEW LAWS ON OIL

The total fire loss for May, 1933 is indicative of what can be accomplished by our people if they but continue their concerted drive to reduce unwarranted fire losses. The results have been most encouraging and fire officials urge all our people to practice fire prevention in the home and in the shop.

The fire loss for May was $3,835 of which amount $2,585 was covered by insurance. This figure shows a reduction of $4,930 as compared with the loss for the corresponding month of 1932 and a reduction of $7,894 as compared with the average for the past five years.

Ward Three is low for the month with no fire loss during the entire period while other ward losses are as follows: Ward One, $45; Ward Two, $152; Ward Four, $3,154, and Ward Five, $484. Ward Four having the high record for three of the past five months.

During the month the department responded to 80 alarms as compared with 112 alarms for the month of May 1932.

Under new regulations promulgated by the State Department of Public Safety and now in force throughout the Commonwealth it is required that fuel oil burners of every description, be approved by the Department of Public Safety and that a tag of approval be attached to the burner. This is of the utmost importance to our citizens who propose to purchase oil burning equipment and Chief McCarrick takes this opportunity, through the public press, to notify Revere people to be sure that the stamp of approval is attached to the burner, otherwise a

Warner Asked For Ruling After Councilmen, Licensing Board Disagree

Local citizens, councilmen, license board members, and holders of victual and beer licenses await with anxiety the ruling of Attorney General Joseph A. Warner as to who has jurisdiction over the issuance of licenses in this city.

The matter was put up to the Attorney-general following conferences between members of the local license board and the committee on licenses and permits of the City Council. At the last get-together of the two groups, neither would make concessions, and it was agreed to let the decision rest with the State official.

JOSEPH B. WARNER Attorney-General

Councilman Thomas U. Kelley, chairman of the council's committee on licenses and permits in a statement last night reviewed the establishment of the licensing board in this city and stated that although there was a properly constituted licensing commission here it had no powers, as under the city charter no

CITIZENS ASSIST ELKS TO OBSERVE FLAG DAY, JUNE 14

A capacity crowd attended the Elks' Flag Day Services held at the Revere Lodge, B. P. O. E., Wednesday night, where a program of oratory and music proved pleasing.

As speaker of the event, Representative Thomas F. Carroll was featured, while Edward Homer, P. E. R. held the role of flag historian. The musical program was led by the Revere High School orchestra under the direction of Miss Helen N. O'Connor, supervisor of music.

Daniel C. McGrath, P. E. R., tenor, and well known in musical circles, supplied vocal entertainment and was very well received. A feature of the patriotic decorations was a huge floral bell designed by Tiernan the florist, a member of the lodge. Made of real flowers it was colored red, white and blue, with green ferns and stars forming the bar.

The Drum and Bugle Corps of the Revere Post, American Legion, marched to the Elks' home from Walnut street, with their colors and played an important part in the program.

Miscellaneous Shower

Friends of Miss Helen Battersby tendered her a miscellaneous shower at her home, 538 Beach street, Monday night. The hostesses were Muriel Shuman, Dorothy Simons and Fay Gerstman.

The prospective bridegroom is Samuel Pamis of 16 Highland avenue, Haverhill.

SUNDAY LICENSES MUST RECEIVE OK OF STATE POLICE

Authority given to mayors and selectmen to grant licenses to operators of amusements, including bowling alleys, shooting galleries, photographic studios and amusement rides at beaches and resorts on Sundays has been modified under the bill reported favorably Tuesday by the legislative committee on legal affairs.

The new bill amends the Sunday amusement liberalization act to the extent that all licenses must have the approval of the state commissioner of public safety, although the local licensing power issues the license.

At the local beach it would mean that all licenses granted by city officials for Sunday amusements must be scanned, the licensees investigated, and approval of the State officials must be given.

Daniel Needham, commissioner of public safety, petitioner for the amendment, told the committee that approval of licenses had been inadvertently left out of the law and that it would result in $25,000 loss yearly to the State in fees.

WETS PREVAIL BY SIX TO ONE VOTE IN SPECIAL POLL

Citizens Indicate Preference For Local License By Big Majority

Revere went overwhelmingly wet Tuesday at the special election, and although a very light voting list was evident at the polls, not one ward or precinct favored the dry cause above that of the wets, the sale of beer and wines carrying the city almost six to one, with 3119 voting "yes" and but 513 voting "no."

On the repeal question, ratification carried by more than 7 to 1 with Michael F. Shaw of this city receiving 3159 votes, highest of the day. A total of 403 votes was the highest number the drys could amass.

The official tabulation resulting from the Revere vote for delegates, as follows: Against Repeal—Hatch, 403; Leonard, 402; Newhall, 397.

For Repeal—Colson, 3083; Russell, 3075; Shaw, 3159. The votes will be verified by the City Council Monday night and then will be turned over to the State authorities.

Ward 3, Precinct 2, showed the heaviest wet vote, overshadowing the drys on an approximate scale of 100 to 4. In this district those espousing the wet platform cast 1064 votes while the best the drys could garner was 41. On the beer question, the drys drew but 12 votes in that precinct, while the wets cast 383 votes.

Council At Special Meeting Combats Finance Board Plea

Taking their first steps in opposition to the establishment of a State Finance Board in this city, the Revere City Council at a special meeting Tuesday night, which followed the regular Monday night meeting, ordered that a resolve be sent to Governor Joseph B. Ely entertaining any remedial measures which might be suggested by him for the economic betterment of the city.

The order, presented by Councilmen Kelley, Foley, Reinstein, Gallagher and Lund read as follows:

"Whereas: The Chief Executive of Revere and some citizens of Revere are urging the Governor of this Commonwealth to appoint a Finance Board for the City of Revere, and

"Whereas: Such a Board would require the expenditure of a large annual salary for each member of said Board, and

"Whereas: Such members of said Board would require a great deal of time and experience to become familiar with Revere social and economic difficulties,

"Therefore, Be It Resolved: That this City Council extend to His Excellency, the Governor, the sincere suggestion that His Excellency, the Governor inform this City Council regarding any action which he may deem essential to remedy any financial or economic difficulty in Revere which this City Council can remedy. Since this City Council has already reduced the annual municipal expenditures to the point where the Mayor considered it necessary to coerce this City Council by court action to authorize unnecessary appropriations,

"Be It Further Resolved: That His Excellency, the Governor is hereby petitioned to grant the City Council a conference with him, or if he deems it advisable, that he inform this City Council by any other means, of any action he may deem advisable for the City Council to follow in or-

MUNICIPAL, STATE INVESTIGATION IN PROGRESS HERE

Welfare Lists Being Checked; Criminal Action May Be Brought

With city and state investigators busily at work checking up on recipients of welfare in this city, the list of those receiving aid is gradually being pruned it was learned yesterday, with nearly a score of families being stricken from the rolls or on the verge of having their welfare allowance discontinued.

As the result of the investigations, a surprising number of apparently fraudulent claims are being uncovered, it is understood, and although the Acting Public Welfare head, Louis B. Gilkman refused to verify the fact it is learned from an authoritative source that criminal action may be brought against some who have been taking advantage of the welfare dole.

Commissioner Gilkman, when interviewed last night, verified the fact that state investigators were here assisting the local people in the check-up. He said that worthy cases will not be touched and need have no fear of the investigation but that cases where frauds are apparent may be dealt with severely.

The Acting Welfare head said that the investigation will continue for at least another week and that at its close he will be ready to make a statement as to the results obtained.

der that we may avoid the humiliating and burdensome experience of a State Finance Board."

Forwarding of the resolution to the State House following its passage by a majority vote, was forestalled by Councilman Michael Morelli who on Wednesday filed for reconsideration, expressing the opinion that the resolution, if sent, would help a Commission to come here. The matter automatically holds over to the next meeting.

Monday night's meeting did not conclude until 2:40 a. m. Tuesday morning and because of re-zoning orders which had to be authorized before the 15th, the special meeting was called for Tuesday night.

The Tumble Inn application for the re-zoning of their land at the corner of Beach street and Ocean avenue, held up on Monday on the objection of Councilman Gallagher, was passed, as was the re-zoning of property of Frederick J. Boyle at the junction of Park avenue and Washington avenue from a residential to an apartment and business lot.

The petition of Frank McGilvary, 40 Calumet street, for a taxi stand on Ocean avenue, was objected to on the second reading at Monday's meeting and was passed at the special meeting. Sarah M. Jordan, 1043 Winthrop avenue, Beachmont, was given a victualers license for the sale of legalized beer, with payment of a fee of $100.

The report of the standing committee on finance to whom was referred the request of the Mayor for an appropriation of $100 to start a commissary here that the said request be given leave to withdraw was accepted by the council with Councilmen Morelli, Doyle and Gilkman voting against it.

Report of the regular Monday night meeting follows:

Mayor, Dignitaries Present As Diplomas Are Presented To 342 Students

Nearly a thousand admiring relatives and friends thronged the Revere Theatre yesterday to witness the graduation exercises of Revere High School seniors and the awarding of four special awards. There were 342 pupils in the graduating class, and the exercises marked the closing class week event.

Seated in decorated seats were Mayor and Mrs. Andrew A. Casassa, and Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. Carl F. Lindstol, and other members of the city government.

Invocation by Rev. William Snow, pastor of the First Methodist Church, opened the graduation exercises and was followed by addresses offered by Janet E. Collins and Eileen T. O'Reilly, honor students of the class of '33.

Following the rendition of Psalm 150 by the Choral Club, with Grace T. Goss accompanist, Rev. John Nicol Mark gave the feature address entitled "Touchstones to Success." The speaker's remarks were made with a ready wit and inimitable style that captivated his audience from the first sentence. He told of the merits of self-sacrifice and how necessary it was to success, advising the graduates to cling always to the principles instilled in them during their school days, and to strive for success through grit and honorable methods.

Robert Siegel made the presentation of the class gift, with Alexander Moschella, president of the class of 1934 accepting for the school.

Five awards for excellence in scholarship were made to the following students: Adeline E. Christopher, Edith E. Foxon, Eileen Teresa O'Reilly, John D. Roderick, and Samuel S. Silbovitz.

NOTABLES ATTEND 37TH ANNIVERSARY OF REVERE K. OF C.

Revere Council, K. of C., celebrated the 37th anniversary of its existence Tuesday night at its rooms, with an array of sporting and political notables, supper, and entertainment, which was largely attended.

Among the notable who were present and who spoke were Tony Lazzeri, Yankee star infielder; Tom Whalen, Lynn English High coach; Frank Doucey, Charlestown, who acted as toastmaster; Lynn American Legion officials, Thomas F. Carroll and Augustine Airola, representatives for this district in the General Court, and Senator Frank D. Crowley.

The entertainment program featured the Millstream trio with songs, old and new, and Jimmy Riley, the Irish tenor, who is well-known for his fine work on the radio.

The committee in charge, appointed by Frances Collins, Grand Knight, included Jeremiah Twomey, as chairman; Bob Finlay, Michael Cassidy, George Collins, John Smith, Benjamin Kelleher, Louis La Freniere, and Thomas McCartney.

CARROLL AIDS IN ABOLISHMENT OF SERVICE CHARGE

A bill to prohibit all service charges by gas and electric companies was substituted yesterday by the Massachusetts House of Representatives for the Senate bill providing for an optional rate, without a service charge. The bill was then passed to be engrossed and sent to the Senate.

The substitute was offered by Representative Erickson of Worcester, and bore the endorsement, among others, of Representative Thomas F. Carroll of this city.

The bill, as passed, and fostered by the local representative, reads as follows:

An act to prohibit service charges, charges for use of meter and any and all additional charges by corporations furnishing gas or electricity.

Revere Resident Albert Nicholls participated in the Dancesport Academy of New England Showcase Ballroom Dance Performance held on April 10, of this year at Dance Studio in Burlington, Mass. With live audience, and along with other performances, Albert, with his Instructor Mrs. Saori DeSouza as his partner, performed the Rhythm Dance: the Bolero. The audience appreciated the performance and said ticket price paid well worth it. Albert enjoyed cheering for his other performers and also appreciates the dedication of his teacher/owner of the Dancesport Academy of New England of Brookline challenging him to make his best effort in his Ballroom Dancing.

Longtime RPS educator, Bunroth So, to retire after almost four decades

By Melissa Moore-Randall

On June 17, Bunroth So will begin his first of many future summer vacations as a retired teacher. The dad of three and grandfather of two has decided to retire after 37 years in the Revere Public School district including six years at the Beachmont School and 31 years at the Garfield Community Magnet and Middle School.

Bunroth is a Cambodian-American who immigrated from Cambodia in 1981. His journey to the United States is as amazing as his tenure with RPS. "I was so grateful to be able to immigrate thousands of miles from the war torn country. I am the first generation in my family to have attended schools and earned a high school diploma, bachelor degree, and M.Ed in the US."

Bunroth described himself as a hard working kid who attended both morning and afternoon sessions of school. Before, in between and after school, he would feed animals that his family raised including pigs, ducks, chickens, and dogs, as well as cater to the family's vegetation.

Bunroth came from a large family including three brothers and four sisters being the third child in the family which faced tragedy. "Unfortunately, my older brother was executed in 1976 by the Khmer Rouge due to his job with the Military Police. My youngest sister also died in 1977 due to severe illness and a lack of medication to help keep her healthy."

"My dad was the breadwinner of the family. He worked as a secretary of the Electric Company in Battambang Province for 27 years before the fall of the Khmer Republic into the hands of the Khmer Rouge. My mom stayed home taking care of the family, going to the market buying groceries and preparing 3 meals for the family. In addition, she would clean the house and hand wash my father's and younger siblings' clothes. My dad barely earned enough money to support our family during the civil war between the Khmer Republic, supported by the US government, and the Khmer Rouge, supported by the Communist Chinese government (1970 - 1975). But my dad managed to send all of us to school, although we dressed in ripped or patchy clothes. We, sometimes, would wear mismatched sandals just to keep our feet protected from walking on the bumpy gravel road to school."

Bunroth barely finished 9th grade when the Khmer Rouge took over the country on April 17, 1975. Like other Cambodian families, they were forced to leave the city to find new shelter in the rice fields 5 miles away from their home. "School and government buildings were modified and put into use as prisons and storages. During the three and a half years that the Khmer Rouge took control, my family and I were separated from one another into labor camps. Our days consisted of waking up at 5 am to work in the fields until 11:30 pm, stopping only for half hour lunch and dinner breaks."

He was reunited with his family in January 1979 when they were liberated from the Khmer Rouge by the Vietnamese Invasion. Once united, his family waited at the Thailand border in a refugee camp for about a year before they were selected in a lottery to resettle in America. Before they could travel to America, the family stayed in a holding center in the Philippines for 8 months where they received medical care and participated in orientations to prepare them for their new lives in the United States. They finally arrived in Massachusetts on July 21, 1981.

"My siblings and I were enrolled in school. I attended South Boston High School and graduated in 1984 at the age of 23. Normally I wouldn't have been able to attend high school due to my age, but because I had experienced 6 years of interrupted learning in Cambodia, I was allowed to enroll in public education."

Bunroth reflected on his career and his most rewarding experiences as an educator. "Over the years, I would say the most rewarding experience I have as a teacher is seeing students grow over the years and continue to challenge themselves. I've seen this even more so having taught the Stock Market elective where the students have to do extensive research before deciding on whether or not to buy or sell stock shares. And by far, the most memorable experience has been the fact that our students have earned the title of 5x Champions in the State-wide Middle School Stock Market Competition, earning Second place three times."

As an educator, he also faced challenges during his 37 year tenure. "Some of my biggest challenges as a teacher have been finding ways to transfer my teaching skills to remote learning. Figuring out the technical aspect of this was difficult, but I'm proud to say that I figured it out in the end. Following this, the next challenge was finding ways to keep students engaged in their learning after returning back to in person learning both last year and this school year – especially when students have come back from a year and a half of relying on technology and devices to engage with learning.”

As Bunroth’s career winds down he said he will not miss the routine of getting up early in the morning to beat the morning traffic. “I prefer to feel relaxed before my teaching day starts and nothing throws that off more than running late and dealing with traffic. I will miss seeing and greeting my colleagues and students with a smile.”

He also reflected on his colleagues as he prepares for his well-deserved retirement. “The entire GMS administrative staff and teachers I’ve worked with over the years are amazing people. But two colleagues I felt I have grown the closest to in my years as a teacher are Carla Buonopane and Candi Conley. These two have been extremely supportive to me. We have had each other’s backs through all the ups and downs we’ve experienced together in the last couple decades and I’ll miss them! Just a few more years, ladies!”

In return, many of So’s colleagues spoke highly of him and his almost four decades in the Revere Public School system.

Superintendent of Schools Dianne Kelly - “I’m so happy for Bunroth that he has reached this incredible milestone. I was able to work closely with Bunroth when I was in the math department and then when I was math director. He has been an incredible inspiration throughout my career in the Revere Public Schools - always willing to collaborate with colleagues, always challenging students to work hard, and always showing high expectations for everyone. We will definitely miss him and his infectious smile.”

Former Assistant Superintendent Ann Marie Costa - “Bunroth So has been an invaluable educator to the RPS community and a role model to the students he has taught during his distinguished 37.6 year career with the district. A lifelong learner, he always took advantage of professional development opportunities even earning his Master’s Degree from Lesley College in 2018. He has been dedicated to his students, whether it be in the classroom, advisor to the very successful Stock Market Club, establishing a Running Club at GMS, or other aspects of community involvement.”

Math Coach Candi Conley - “When I began my teaching career with the RPS in 1994, “Mr. So” helped me to not only survive the first year but he also helped me to thrive. As my unofficial mentor and bilingual co-teacher, Bunroth taught me about Cambodian culture and the difficult experiences that he and our students shared. He also taught me a lot about second language learners and gave me the tools I would need to reach and teach all of my students. I can’t thank him enough for that. I’ve never met a more patient, dedicated and empathetic teacher than Mr So. His shoes will be tough to fill.”

Garfield Middle School teacher Carla Buonopane - “I have had the pleasure of working with Mr. So for the past 28 years at the Garfield Middle School. We all know that people don’t go into teaching to make a lot of money. People become teachers to make a difference to the students that are in their class to teach them that they can accomplish their goals and become whoever they want to be. Mr. So did just that. Each year Mr. So would teach the Stock Market Elective. Students loved being in his class. Each year they entered the Stock Market Exchange Contest and won! Sometimes the hardest part about teaching is just getting kids interested in learning. Mr. So never had that problem. His Stock Market Elective, his teaching of math, and his relationship with many of the students made Mr. So a great teacher. I wish him well (and wish it were me that was retiring) as he begins this new chapter in his life. He will greatly be missed at Garfield Middle School.

So has no immediate plans after retiring. “At the moment, I do not have any retirement plans. But one thing I know for sure is that I will continue to keep myself active (running, walking, bicycling, and hiking) and spend a lot of time with my family – especially with my two grandchildren. Future plans will be to visit my homeland, Cambodia, and travel around the states. I am so grateful to be able to immigrate thousands of miles from the war torn country. I am the first generation in my family to have attended schools and earned a high school diploma, bachelor degree, and M.Ed in the US. My last thought I’d like to impart comes from Lance Armstrong ... if you ever get a second chance in life for something, you’ve got to go all the way.”

“With inflation and the price of gas soaring to all-time highs our economy is going to take a major hit. Congress needs to be proactive to keep our economy rolling. That’s why today I am announcing my tax relief plan,” said Caroline Colarusso.

Colarusso’s tax relief plan:

- Create a one time tax amnesty program for people who have fallen behind.
- Prohibit the IRS from monitoring transactions under $10,000
- Make the Trump tax cuts permanent
- Freeze all federal fees
- Suspend the gas tax for 6 months

“By implementing this five point plan, we can help the economy from slowing. We don’t need a recession,” said Colarusso. “This plan also help defang the IRS, which is the most feared government agency. The government should not be spying on us nor should it be going after people who fell behind due to all the COVID shutdowns,” said Colarusso. “As the next Congresswoman, I am going to be there to help people. I will be a proactive Congresswoman.”

Last week Colarusso announced a gas relief plan that includes:

- Reopen the Keystone pipelines along with the other pipelines that Biden shutdown.
- Pursue buying more oil from Canada.
- Reverse Biden’s stoppage of oil leases.
- Free some of the oil from reserves
- Suspend the gas tax until this crisis is over
- Stop investigating oil companies for price gouging.

Background on Colarusso

Colarusso is community volunteer, professional manager, and a dedicated public servant. Most importantly, she is a devoted mother, and wife. Caroline is a life long Massachusetts resident, she was born and raised in Boston’s North End. For nearly three decades, Colarusso has lived in Stoneham where she and her husband moved to raise their three sons, she has been very active within the community.

Colarusso has always given back to her community. She has served as a Learn to Skate Instructor, a Stoneham Youth Hockey coach and a member of the Stoneham Youth Hockey board of directors. When the Stoneham High School Girls Varsity Ice Hockey team at Stoneham High was experiencing low participation rates, Colarusso volunteered to assist with coaching and recruiting of girls so that the program would be sustainable. Today the girls hockey team is a vibrant organization.

Before being elected to the Board of Selectmen, Colarusso served on the Finance and Advisory Board for 5 years. She earned a reputation as a fiscal watchdog for the taxpayers. Professionally, Colarusso was a Senior Manager for the United States Postal Service where she was responsible for overseeing troubled operations with multi million dollar budgets. Colarusso was tasked with turning these offices from unprofitable over to break even, and then move them towards profitability. She managed staffs of over 100+ employees and 6-12 managers. Her work received several performance awards.

Like so many families, Colarusso has faced some difficult challenges. For more than a decade she cared for her mother who suffered from an aggressive form of Alzheimer’s. Caroline understands the hardships so many families facing caring for a sick family member. That’s why she works so hard to support our senior population. Colarusso has spoken to many groups about the challenges of caring for a parent.

Colarusso graduated Magna Cum Laude from Emmanuel College.

SPOTLIGHT

First, this is a reminder that RevereTV’s full coverage of the Pride Flag Raising Ceremony and Revere High School Class of 2022 Graduation are currently replaying on RTV. The Pride Flag Ceremony can be viewed on RTV GOV as it was a city event that took place at City Hall, commemorated by elected officials. RTV GOV is channel 9 on Comcast, or channels 13 and 613 on RCN. This year’s graduation ceremony is replaying on the Community Channel. This is channel 8 or 1072 on Comcast, and 3 and 614 on RCN. All events covered by RevereTV can be found on YouTube to watch at any time.

Keep an eye out for new event coverage and programming on RevereTV. You will soon see a new episode of “The Senior FYI” on the Community Channel. This is an informational show for Revere’s senior citizens featuring staff from the Rossetti-Cowan Senior Center. “The Senior FYI” always plays on Monday and Thursday at 1pm, and Fridays at 8am, but is also scheduled most mornings every day.

RevereTV has covered a few musical and theatrical performances by Revere Public School students this season. The latest performance was the Garfield School Music Show last week. Recordings from that performance will soon be playing at various times throughout the week on the Community Channel. You may also see replays of the Rumney Marsh Academy Synth Percussion Ensemble performance and RHD and Garfield Middle School Rock Ensemble performances. These replays are typically on weekday afternoons.

RevereTV is collaborating with Revere Parks and Recreation to serve as a venue for their “From Scratch Baking Series.” Jennifer Keefe, local baker and owner of From Scratch, a special order bakery, is leading participants through baking classes that will be aired on RevereTV for others to follow along. According to the Revere Rec’s Summer Flyer, participants will learn how to bake desserts such as brownies, Italian cookies, scones, and cupcakes. You can watch along as Jenn bakes in the RevereTV kitchen studio over the next few weeks on the RevereTV Community Channel. Cooking classes are held on Wednesdays over the next few weeks. Specific air times will be listed in the RTV Spotlight next week.

REVERE Through the Years

10 years ago June 13, 2012

Mayor Dan Rizzo said this week that his first stab at setting a city budget proposal was a rather tough one, given the limited funds coming into the city, but said he got through it without any layoffs or catastrophic actions. One of the major pieces of good news, financially speaking, is that the city will not have to dip into its Rainy Day Fund to balance the budget. Instead, they have identified about $1.1 million of unused money in old sub-accounts that will be applied to close any possible budget gaps.

Something that has never before been questioned is whether or not Revere is absolutely a host city if a casino is built at Suffolk Downs. After much discussion, that foundational question and resulting local controversy seems to have been settled. Revere is a host city. But in the last 24 hours, that designation appeared to be hanging in the balance triggered largely by an erroneous e-mail sent out last Friday by the new Massachusetts Gaming Commission (MGC) to former Revere City Councillor George Rotondo, an e-mail that uniformly announced that Revere was not a host community, but that Revere is a surrounding community. On Tuesday, in response to pointed questions about the law, the commission informed the Journal that the e-mail was an error by a staffer.

Suffolk Downs honored four "Community Winner's Circle" recipients for their positive contributions to their local communities at Saturday's Belmont Stakes Day before a crowd of 8,333. The track recognized the Salesian Boys & Girls Club of East Boston, the Revere Beautification Committee, the Viking Proud Foundation of Winthrop and HarborCOV of Chelsea.

The Amazing Spiderman, Brave, and Ice Age: Continental Drift are playing at the Revere Showcase Cinemas.

Thanks to recent state budget cuts, School Supt. Paul Dakin was forced to send 43 layoff notices to first, second, and third year teachers this week. The Revere schools receive 54 percent of their funding from the state.

Revere resident Nick Russo has opened a Mike's Donuts shop in the MGH-Revere building.

More than 250 members of the Maniscalco, Primo, Licata, and Maraniello families, all of whom can trace their roots to four Sicilian fishermen who immigrated to America, held a family reunion at Anthony's Restaurant in Malden recently.

Anthony Galluccio of Cambridge, who is running for the State Senate seat being vacated by Tom Birmingham, has opened a campaign headquarters in Revere.

Scooby Doo, The Bourne Identity, and Wind Talkers are playing at the Revere Showcase Cinemas.

Adele Toro, Chairperson of the Citizens Against Municipal Mismanagement, offered an alternative to the proposal to balance the school budget by laying off teachers, saying that the School Committee can eliminate sports, custodial and administrative posts, and its own salaries to save $1.45 million.

Local officials met with state officials at a summit on Beacon Hill, which was organized by State Rep. William G. Reinstein, to discuss ways for the city to overcome the looming $3.5 million deficit for the coming fiscal year.

U.S. Senator John Kerry spoke to Revere High students, telling them that they have the ability to shape national policy on issues such as the environment, health care, and fiscal responsibility.

Local businesses have voiced their opposition to the proposal for a rubbish fee that the city wants to impose on commercial establishments.

Revere resident Glenn LaCedra has announced his candidacy for Sheriff of Suffolk County.

Batman Returns, Patriot Games, and Sister Act are playing at the Revere Showcase Cinemas.

Three Revere High vocational teachers appeared before the City Council asking that the council restore funds to the school department budget to reinstate their positions, but council members said the matter lies with the School Committee. The trio then went to the School Committee, which approved a resolution asking that the City Council appropriate $66,348 for the teachers' salaries.

Charles Russo will represent the fifth grade of the Immaculate Conception School when he travels to Washington, D.C., to take part in the National Energy Awards Program for Energy Achievement. Russo's entry in a statewide competition earned him the trip.

Revere Police Detectives Michael Cutillo, Mickey Casoli, Robert Nunez, Dennis Diaz, Sgt. Roy Colannino, and Lieut. Carmen Maglione were among a group of plainclothes officers who arrested two men and seized $100,000 worth of marijuana in a raid at a local warehouse.

Christine Craig is the winner of the 1982 Revere Journal Superstar Award which is presented to the top scholar-athlete at Revere High. Christine, who will be attending Bowdoin College in the fall, was a three-sport GBL all star in field hockey, basketball, and softball.

Revere resident Charlie Henry provided the big hits for the Franklin (Conn.) Cardinals in a recent Fast Pitch softball tournament in Decatur, Ill., providing the margin of victory for the Cardinals, who are led by their legendary pitcher, Owen "The Fog" Wahlford.

Revere taxpayers are facing the prospect of a $25.00 tax increase. The cherry sheets from the state reveal that the net increase in local aid from the state will be a mere $159.64 over last year. The City Council recently passed a budget that is $1.7 million more than last year's budget. Taxpayers also will be paying for the $12 million bond that is being used to finance the construction of the new Revere High School.

Five local students were among those who received Revere High diplomas as a result of their participation in the Revere Drop-Out program, which focuses on both actual and potential dropouts.

Mayor William Reinstein this week unveiled his proposal for a $338,000 all-purpose gymnasium to be built alongside the current Youth Center on Beach St.

Many Revere residents who are not on welfare may be able to qualify for the food distribution program being administered by CAPIC.

Nine new police officers were sworn in Monday. They are: Vincent Lauria, Theodore Dawicki, John MacDonald, James Fletcher, Robert Sobolewski, Lorenzo Torregrossa, James Russo, Harold DeFreitas, and John Harkins.

The 411 members of the RHS Class of 1962 will receive their diplomas this morning at Paul Revere Stadium. Robert Bertocchi, Stuart Spitzer, and Wesley Covitz, the top three ranked students, will deliver speeches to their classmates. Congressman Torbert Macdonald, whose district will include Revere beginning this year, will deliver the baccalaureate address.

A Federal Aviation Agency report has recommended that Revere be considered as a site for a new airport to relieve air traffic congestion in the Boston area.

A report by the Athletic Committee to the School Committee recommends that other than the position of head football coach, all other coaching positions should be filled by teachers in the school system. The report also recommends that the Supt., RHS Principal, and Athletic Director review all coaching applications and submit recommendations to the School Committee.

Russell Gabriel will be installed as the President of the Revere PTA Council at the group's ninth annual installation exercises to be held at Caruso's Diplomat.

The Revere Firefighters Association's annual ball will be held in the Elks Hall Saturday night.

Freddie Cannon, the 22 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Picariello of 1 Fernwood Ave., has scored a national hit single with his new record, Palisades Park. Cannon is slated to appear soon at the Copacabana in New York City before embarking on a three-month tour of Europe. Cannon spent his high school years in Lynn where his family resided at that time. His sister, Mary Lou, is a senior at Revere High.

Kirk Douglas stars in Lonely Are the Brave at the Revere Drive In. Glenn Ford and Lee Remick star in Experiment in Terror at the Revere Theatre.

State Rep. William H.J. Rowan, an outstanding Democratic leader in the city for many years, has announced his candidacy for re-election. In the past Rowan has won both the Democratic and Republican nominations for the seat and thus has run unopposed in November, but a change in state law no longer allows a candidate to run on both tickets. Rowan has been forced to choose to run as a Democrat only.

An audience of friends and family members filled the Revere Theatre Thursday morning for traditional graduation exercises. Walter M. Burse, president of Suffolk University, was the guest speaker. He told the class, "Whatever you are, just be yourself." The three highest ranking members of the class, Peter Fanikos, Rosemarie LaCedra, and Ernestine Zolla, also spoke to their classmates. Mayor Frederick Reinstein presented the diplomas.

The city is in readiness to welcome the state convention of the Massachusetts Veterans of Foreign Wars, which will descend upon the city next weekend for the group's 32nd annual encampment. A huge parade, the largest ever to be held in Revere, will highlight the four days of activities.

City Councilors still are unsure of the best use of the old MTA car barn facility on Broadway, which is soon to be sold to the city by the MTA. Some favor the site as an extension of Paul Revere Park, others for a new recreation facility, others for a parking lot, and still others who favor selling it to a private party.

Dan Daley and Joanne Dru star in The Pride of St. Louis at the Revere Theatre. George Murphy and Virginia Gilmore star in Walk East on Beacon, a spy thriller that was filmed in Boston, at the Revere Drive In.

plish great things? America, birthed in Faith and Freedom, became a land of opportunity. Why else would so many flood our borders?

I recently read a periodical "Faith & Justice" by The Alliance Defending Freedom (ADF). It contained an article written by Dr. Kelvin J. Cochran who rose from poverty to become Fire Chief of Atlanta, a US Fire Administrator and now VP at ADF. He said: "CRT sentences the oppressed to eternal victimization. It leaves no room for grace and the transforming power of the gospel. But America's story from God's sovereign perspective is a story of redemption."

CRT teaches that ideals such as equal treatment under the law, honesty, hard work, bravery, innovation, individual responsibility and good character only serve to enable and sustain oppression. It divides people as oppressors and oppressed, judges people by race, fosters suspicion, isolation, hatred, and ultimate violence. And if questioned, labels that person a "racist". This ideology is a cancerous blight in our schools!

CRT must be replaced with teaching the New Testament Scripture that Dr. Cochran calls "the one another scriptures": love one another, be kind, give preference and forgive one another, encourage, build up and pray for one another. Along with reading, writing and arithmetic, this teaching would instill good character.

Evil exists. Sinful people do sinful things that harm. But evil is conquered by teaching goodness, NOT division and hatred!

THE REVERE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HOSTS NETWORKING NIGHT WITH CUT 21 ON HISTORIC REVERE BEACH

Last week the Revere Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with RCC member Cut 21 located on Revere Beach Boulevard hosted a networking event. This type of event brings local business owners and workers together, on common ground and gives them a chance to interact and build future relations in business and working neighbors. These networking events are chosen monthly and are free to chamber members, non-members can come for a fee. Allowing non-members in gives them a chance to see the benefit of becoming a Revere Chamber of Commerce member.

Sixth annual Moroccan Festival to be held in Revere

Moroccan American Connections in Revere (MACIR) will host the sixth annual Moroccan Festival on Saturday, June 25, from 1 to 8 p.m. at the Whelan Elementary School (107 Newhall St, Revere, MA).

The event will highlight the culture and history of the city's Moroccan community, currently estimated to be at least 10% of the city's population. The event is free and open to the public.

"The success of last year's event will allow us to attract bigger sponsors to make this year's event surpass the ones before. As a matter of fact, we will be raffling a free round-trip ticket to Morocco, and other surprises will be announced soon," Salwa Gardaf, the Moroccan Festival Director, said.

This celebration of Moroccan culture will feature Moroccan food, live music, henna tattoo art, and local Moroccan vendors. Special guests include Mayor Brian Arrigo, Revere city officials, and a number of Moroccan officials and celebrities.

A scene from last year's Moroccan Festival.

The best exhibitor at the festival will be named the 2021 Honorary Ambassador of Morocco to the City of Revere.

"It is true that MACIR runs the show, but this is a collective work of all city entities, including the Mayor's Office, the Rec Department, City Council, Police Department, Fire Department, Revere Public Schools, and DPW - without forgetting community leaders, who are truly committed to promoting diversity, inclusion and equity in the city of Revere and beyond," stated Mr. Rachid Moukhabir, MACIR's president.

The organizers also expressed their thanks to the Revere Mass Cultural Council for allocating $16,200 for this street celebration, as well as the festival's diamond sponsors: East Boston Neighborhood Health Center and the Moroccan National Airline, Royal Air Maroc.

MACIR: MACIR is a non-profit organization that inspires and empowers low income and moderate-income individuals and families through education, cultural events, leadership, and civic engagement initiatives. MACIR shifted all its efforts during the pandemic to workforce development to allow people to work remotely and increase their income. MACIR is currently training its 6th batch of IT Support. You can find more info about the organizer at www.macir.org.

MC names Hingston as girls varsity hockey coach

Malden Catholic (MC) announced today that Alexa Hingston has been hired as the Girls Varsity Hockey Coach. A native of Charlestown, Alexa has a successful history on the ice as a member of the Austin Prep hockey program and all-scholastic player at St. Anselm's College and hockey team captain during her junior and senior years. She began her coaching career as an assistant at Austin Prep when they won the MIAA State Championship in 2016 and has served as Head Coach at Division I Reading High School since 2017. Hingston has also been head coach with both the Islanders and Boston American's Hockey Clubs.

"Malden Catholic's Girls Hockey has done an outstanding job as a new athletics team and I am honored to have been selected to lead the players to the next level. I look forward to creating a culture of excellence and building a championship caliber program at MC," Coach Hingston stated.

"We are incredibly excited to have Alexa Hingston as the Head Coach of our Girls Hockey program at Malden Catholic," commented William Raycraft, MC Athletics Director. "We had an outstanding response to our posting and Alexa clearly stood out among an impressive pool of candidates given her playing and coaching experience at multiple levels and vision for the program's growth."

"Alexa's qualifications are well known throughout the hockey community and reach far beyond her ability to coach. Given her coaching abilities and knowledge, we are fortunate to have an individual of her caliber lead our ice hockey program," added John Thornburg, Malden Catholic President.

Since 1932, Malden Catholic High School has shaped emerging leaders in our community, claiming a Nobel Laureate, a Senator, two ambassadors and countless community and business heads among its alumni. Annually, graduates attend some of the nation's most renowned universities including Harvard, Dartmouth, Georgetown, Brown, Cornell, Tufts, Duke, Georgia Tech, Boston College, Northeastern, Boston University and Amherst College. Foundational to student success is Malden Catholic's codivisional model which offers the best of both worlds, single-gender academics during the day and integrated social and extracurricular opportunities after school. Malden Catholic is known in the community for its rigorous academics, SFX Scholars Program and award-winning STEM program (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) with electives such as Robotics and Engineering Design. Malden Catholic curriculum is designed to improve individual growth mindset, leadership principles, success outcomes along with integrating the Xaverian values of trust, humility, compassion, simplicity and zeal. <https://www.maldencatholic.org>.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER

Demaino's Restaurant was the place to celebrate the awarding of the John J. Gioioso Sr. Jazz Music Award Scholarship to Peter Legere, a high school senior who will be attending UMass Amherst this fall and studying music. Gioioso loved the big band sounds of jazz throughout his life. Although he never played an instrument, his passion for music was a major part of his life. His family wants to continue to keep his passion alive through students that want to study music. Peter Legere is the first recipient of the award for 2022. MVES commits to justice on World Elder Abuse Awareness Day

June 15 marks World Elder Abuse Awareness Day, a time to bring attention to this critical issue affecting older adults worldwide. Elder abuse can include physical, emotional, sexual, caregiver neglect, self-neglect, and financial exploitation. It impacts seniors from all walks of life.

The International Network for the Prevention of Elder Abuse and the World Health Organization at the United Nations (UN) launched the first World Elder Abuse Awareness Day (WEAAD) on June 15, 2006 in an effort to unite communities around the world in raising awareness about elder abuse. WEAAD serves as a call-to-action for our communities to raise awareness about abuse, neglect, and exploitation of elders, and reaffirm our country's commitment to the principle of justice for all.

Elder abuse is widespread. Every year an estimated 1 in 10 older Americans are victims of elder abuse, neglect, or exploitation. And that's only part of the picture: Experts believe that elder abuse is significantly under-reported, in part because so many of our communities lack the social supports that would make it easier for those who experience abuse to report it. Research suggests that as few as 1 in 14 cases of elder abuse come to the attention of authorities.

Mystic Valley Elder Services Protective Services Department plays a proactive role in addressing elder abuse by not only investigating cases but by proactively offering education and trainings in the 11 communities served. MVES has developed a strong rapport with mandated reporters of elder abuse such as police officers and hospitals. The agency also educates seniors themselves by offering seminars and resources. The goal is to build awareness while enabling seniors to remain safe and independent living in the community.

If you suspect elder abuse of a loved one or are being abused yourself, please call the state's Elder Abuse Hotline at 1-800-922-2275 or file online at <https://www.mass.gov/how-to/report-elder-abuse>

Vincella Badolato

Loving and devoted wife and mother

A Funeral Mass was celebrated on Monday, June 13 in St. Maria Goretti Church in Lynnfield for Vincella "Dolly" (DiLiegro) Badolato, 92, of Revere, who passed away on Tuesday, June 7 at home, surrounded by family following a long illness. Dolly was born in Somerville and raised in Revere where she met the love of her life, Gregory Badolato. They were married on September 3, 1949; a marriage that lasted nearly 70 years. She was a loving and devoted wife and mother. She loved her family unconditionally and cherished spending time with her 14 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Dolly loved to cook for her family and friends. Her cookies, pies and pizzas were legendary. Dolly was the true definition of a matriarch; she was the center of her family.

Dolly will always be remembered as being generous, kind and loving to all.

The devoted wife of the late Gregory Badolato, she was the loving mother of Frank G. Badolato and his companion, Jeanette Schneider of Florence, AZ., John M. Badolato, Sr. and his wife, Denise M. of Tewksbury, Denise A. Ferrara of Wakefield, Doreen M. Gordon and her husband, Matthew of Lynnfield and the late Deborah M. Badolato; the cherished and proud grandmother of Christopher Badolato, Melissa Civilik and her husband, Peter, Kristina Carroll, Diana Miner and her husband, Donald, Tiffany Stec and her husband, Ryan, Tiana Badolato, Ronald Ferrara, Jr., Risa Ferrara and her husband, Robert Brown, Denise Levey and her husband, Mitchell, Myla Gordon and her fiancé, D.J. Zinetti, Matthew Gordon and his wife, Sarah, Kyle Gordon and his wife, Whitney, and the late John M. Badolato, Jr. and the late Toni Ann DiNanno; the dear sister of Cosmo DiLiegro and his late wife, Jane, Martin DiLiegro and his wife, Betty and John T. DiLegro and his wife, Donna, all of Revere. She is also lovingly survived by many great-grandchildren, nieces, nephews, grandnieces, and grandnephews. Entombment was in Holy Cross Cemetery - Community Mausoleum, Malden. Remembrances may be made to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105-9959.

Salvatore Mellone

Of Revere, formerly of East Boston

Salvatore "Sam" Mellone of Revere, formerly of East Boston, passed away on Sunday, June 12.

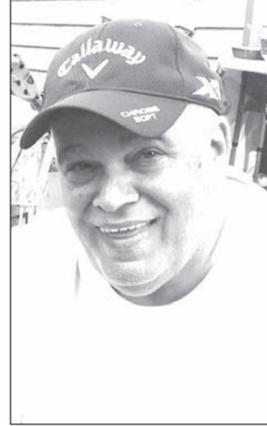

The beloved husband of Joanne (Cordwell) Mellone, he was the devoted father of Robin Vasquez and her husband, James and Maria Mellone-Macaluso and her husband John, all of Revere and the late Ricky Cordwell; dear brother of the late Vincent "Jimmy" Mellone, Michael Mellone and Concetta Scavo and loving grandfather to Nicholas, Mia and Mason Macaluso. He is also survived by many loving nieces and nephews.

Family and friends will honor Sam's life by gathering at the Ruggiero Family Memorial Home, 971 Saratoga Street, East Boston on Monday, June 20 from 4 to 8 p.m. and again Tuesday morning at 8:30 a.m. before leaving in procession to Sacred Heart Church, East Boston for a Funeral Mass celebrating Sam's life at 10 a.m. Services will conclude with Sam being laid to rest in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made in Sam's name to the National Pancreatic Cancer Foundation, NPCF, P.O. Box 1848, Longmont, CO 80502.

Anthony Carrillo

A most selfless, generous person to the people he loved most in life

Anthony J. Carrillo, of Melrose, formerly of East Boston, passed away on June 9. He was only 71 years of age.

Tony "Chan" loved gambling, golfing, casinos and managing his grandson's poker career. He was the most selfless, generous person to the people he loved most in his life and he went above and beyond to do anything for them. You would find him at Melrose Diner most mornings and at Grimsby's most evenings. He loved spending time at home watching Shark Tank and Chicago PD with his dog, Lexi sitting on his lap, who he adored. He was predeceased by his English Bulldog "Jordan" who was his constant companion and he fondly remembered and mentioned every day.

Tony was the loving father of Gina M. Cristallini and Christopher R. Carrillo, both of Melrose, devoted son of the late Salvatore and Clara (Amodeo) Carrillo, grandfather of Antonio and Michela Cristallini and Christopher Jr., Nicholas and Daniel Carrillo; great grandfather of Gio, Angello and Lorenzo; brother of Rudy Carrillo, Ronnie Carrillo, Robbie Carrillo, Kim Carrillo and the late Johnny Carrillo. He is also survived by many nieces, nephews and friends.

Visitation was held at the Gately Funeral Home, 79 W. Foster St. Melrose on Tuesday, June 14 from 4 to 8 p.m. Family and friends may gather at the funeral home today, Wednesday morning, June 15 from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. with a Mass of Christian Burial at St. Mary's Church, 9 Herbert St., Melrose, at 10 a.m.. on that. Perhaps we really do not want outsiders and children in school at the same time," said Tye. "Maybe it wouldn't be wise not to have school on that day. So I would like to hear from the experts about what they say we are doing right, what we can do better, and what it is we're not doing that we need to do."

Revere Public School Superintendent Dr. Dianne Kelly said school administrators do sit with the chief of police, the chief of fire and the School Resource Officers (SROs) and create comprehensive plans for each of our schools that get updated annually and those plans are shared with staff at the beginning of the school year.

"They're not something that we publish on our websites because we don't want people with nefarious ideas understanding what our safety protocols and plans are because it could actually create safety risks," said Kelly. "We don't always put all of the information out there but there is information that we do share and the school committee will recall that after the last time we had an incident like this, we did host a community meeting and the chief of police and the chief of the fire department came and spoke at the school committee meeting and we were able to relay enough information that I think gave families some sense of security without relying too much information and that was based on their expert knowledge."

Kelly said that decisions about any changes to the structures of security in the school department are decisions that should be made between the chiefs of police and fire and herself and any proposals the school committee has, would feed into those changes.

"But I do think that's the level where decision making about any changes should happen," said Kelly. "This is just so we can make sure that all perspectives are met when it comes to security. As the committee knows, especially those who have been here for a while. There is definitely some tension between creating spaces that might feel physically safe and secure because there are security people at every door or at one door or whatever the case may be. There are some districts that argue for metal detectors at all doors and there are other schools of thought that I openly ascribe to that focus on making sure that we are finding resources and support for kids who are demonstrating any kind of social or emotional disruption that requires they get support elsewhere outside of our schools."

Kelly said certainly there need to be adequate safety plans with RPS's three SROs who are in different parts of the city and are assigned to different buildings and can respond as needed.

However, these plans should be balanced with a student's ability to come to a building that feels open and friendly and welcoming and engaging.

"Without a doubt, there is work that we have to do in those areas," she said. "I'm not trying to pretend like there's nothing we can do to make ourselves better. I just want to caution against the knee jerk reaction that we sometimes get after these horrific events and people think that adding more security people is going to prevent this from happening in our schools. I believe that having staff who all love where they work and want to be part of that school community and culture and are vigilant about its safety plays a role in safety."

Kelly added that one of the issues in Uvalde was the fact that a teacher actually propped open a door while they went out to the parking lot to retrieve something that allowed easy entry for the shooter.

"We say time and time again that our building needs to be left secured and people who don't do that are creating a risk," said Kelly.

SRO Officer Joseph Singer reassured the committee that the response time witnessed in Uvalde would not occur in Revere.

"According to Revere Police procedures we do not wait," said Officer Singer. "My captain, my sergeant, my chief and my SWAT commander will back this up 100%. We go with what we have and God forbid something does happen in the school, an active shooter scenario, we are going with what we have. I'm sure there'll be many teachers and many people in this building that'll be right behind us."

Unheard Whispers

By Dianne C. Braley

Unheard Whispers is a collection of poetry about growing up in an alcoholic home. Addiction and dysfunction affect so many children. Part of the proceeds from this book will be going to the RFX Community Alliance, a Massachusetts-based organization that helps children and families affected by this horrific disease.

Author Bio:

A raw, gritty New Englander, Dianne C. Braley found love for the written word early on, reading and creating stories while trying to escape here, growing up in the turbulent world of alcoholism while living in the tough inner city. After putting her pencil down for a time, she became a registered nurse finding strength and calm in caring for those who couldn't care for themselves. Still, she never lost her drive to write and became published in various medical online and printed publications. Seeing a painting and remembering a visit to Martha's Vineyard as a girl and falling in love when her bare feet first stepped on the sand, she moved there for a time, caring for an ailing Pulitzer prize-winning novelist. He not only was her patient but soon became her friend and motivator. He and his books helped her realize she missed crafting stories, and she had come to fall. Currently, Dianne and her family, both human, furry, and feathered, are firmly planted in a small town north of Boston but not far enough away to lose her city edge.

Fire Chief Bright appears at Legislative Affairs meeting for Fiscal '23 budget discussions

By Cary Shuman

Fire Chief Christopher Bright appeared at the Council's Legislative Affairs Subcommittee meeting Monday nights a part of the Fiscal '23 budget discussions.

Bright wore a mask at the meeting, stating that he is recovering from a bout with COVID-19.

Bright began his presentation by announcing that two new fire engines are on order and expected to be in operation by the end of the summer.

"We really need them," said Bright, noting that a new fire command car has just been put into service.

The chief said his entire staff "has been incredible" in its successful grant-writing efforts with federal and state agencies. "We're anticipating the delivery of a high-water rescue vehicle by the winter time."

Bright noted that the RFD has hired eight new firefighters in the past year, six of whom were fully trained at the fire academy and on duty, and two who are currently attending the academy. There has been a grant submitted for 17 firefighters to man the new Point of Pines Fire Station.

The department will increase its overall personnel to 120 firefighters. "The city is growing out [in population] and we've been trying to anticipate that growth and up our personnel as necessary to plan for that," said Bright, who also intends to add a civilian mechanic to the department.

Bright also said he would like to ultimately replace the Engine 5 station on Freeman Street, which is more than 100 years old.

Council President Gerry Visconti asked about the new Point of Pines Fire Station that is expected to be completed in the coming 12 months.

"The plan for the Point of Pines Fire Station, when it originally opens, will be to run Engine 2 out of there, have a bay that has a capacity for a ladder truck – and there is a third bay for water rescue. We'll have our watercraft down there."

DPCD invests in Broadway Small Business District

The Revere Department of Planning and Community Development (DPCD) announced the first of many department initiatives that will be implemented in the Broadway Business District to stimulate economic growth and restore the City's downtown business district. Since 2020, DPCD has been expanding Broadway revitalization initiatives, including the Broadway Resignification Project, Restaurant Recovery Grant Program, and the Storefront and Signage Improvement Program (SSIP). Throughout the pandemic, small business grant programs were piloted and expanded by Mayor Arrigo to aid struggling business owners. Now, thanks to funding sources like CLFRF/ARPA, the City can invest more resources to expand these initiatives to benefit even more businesses and visitors to the City's downtown.

During 2021, DPCD worked with economic development planners at MAPC to complete a Local Rapid Recovery Plan, a grant-funded process that conducted surveys, field analysis, market studies, and focus groups of business owners and other stakeholders in order to assess the impact of the pandemic on small businesses along Broadway. After months of research and analysis from these stakeholders, MAPC and DPCD completed a report outlining actionable strategies that can be used to promote economic recovery along the Broadway corridor.

Building on the momentum of earlier programs, Mayor Arrigo has approved $420,000 of CLFRF/ARPA funding to launch new or expanded initiatives supporting business revitalization efforts on Broadway. These investments support priority recommendations outlined in the findings of the LRRP report.

The funding will be used to:

- Provide tailored, one on one small business technical assistance with an experienced business consultant related to financial management, marketing & merchandising, and expansion of business operations.

- Relaunch DPCD's Storefront and Signage Improvement Program (SSIP) with increased funding and design services for business and property owners looking to invest in upgrading their exterior storefront or signage. Storefront and Signage program information and current applications are now available at <https://www.revere.org/business-development/storefront-improvements>. (Note: Applications for Broadway Small Business Technical Assistance and Storefront and Signage Improvements Loans will be available to small business and or property owners of the Broadway corridor beginning on July 11, 2022.)

- Create a branding and wayfinding signage campaign for Broadway to enhance visibility, navigation, and the visual identity of the business district.

DPCD has also secured a $100,000 Community Planning Grant from the Mass Gaming Commission to conduct a market analysis of Broadway and advance other key LRRP recommendations. The grant-funded analysis will explore cross-marketing potential with other local and regional attractions, inform programming to stimulate economic recovery of the corridor, and strategies to highlight the district's unique history, recreational and special event venues, and amenities to increase foot traffic and consumer spending.

Other DPCD Broadway initiatives that will be announced in June include the completion of the Broadway Signalization Project and the kickoff of the Public EV Charging Station Program. Visit the Department of Planning and Community Development's webpage on www.revere.org to learn more about DPCD projects that include Broadway, Shirley Avenue, Squire Road, and Suffolk Downs. This work, coupled with the city's overall master plan, Next Stop Revere, will create the tools and policies necessary for the next generation of success in Revere.

as we start to build the manpower up, that's one of the first things we're going to visit."

Callahan said with the current school ending soon, it will give him time to develop a plan for the new school year that begins in August. There have been increased police patrols around the schools for the past few weeks.

"To assist the schools and put people's fears in check a little bit, we've had a lot of the day-shift patrol units at all the schools to give people a little bit of comfort," added Callahan. "So, we've been trying to keep a pro-active approach there. But I would definitely be interested, as well as the superintendent of schools (Dr. Dianne Kelly), in hiring some more school resource officers."

Reopening police substations

Councillor Dan Rizzo, chair of the Legislative Affairs Subcommittee, and Ward 2 Councillor Ira Novoselsky inquired about the closure of Revere Police substations on Pleasant Street and Shirley Avenue. Rizzo originally brought up the issue at the June 6 Council meeting.

"We're going to start opening up those substations," said Callahan. "We have a plan to try to get those up and running. I'm happy that you brought that up."

The effectiveness of the RPD drug unit

Rizzo also asked Chief Callahan about the effectiveness of the Revere Police drug unit. "I happen to think that there's a significant drug problem out there and I just want to know what we're doing as a community with the respect to our drug unit. Is it effective?"

"They have been involved in doing many different investigations," said Callahan. "They'll either do their own investigations or they'll work on investigations collaboratively with the DEA, the State Police out of the District Attorney's Office, and the State Police assigned to the Attorney General's Office."

"A little while back they had a significant arrest where they got several hundred grams of fentanyl," said Callahan. "We're flooded with it, like every other community, and it's awful. But they're out there working with the Criminal Investigations Division and they're pushing forward every day."

Rizzo praises RPD officers

During his presentation, Callahan illuminated on several of the department's accomplishments, including Revere's highly successful Police Activities League (PAL) that provides recreational opportunities for Revere youths. Callahan also said he hopes to increase positive interactions between police officers and youths through specifically designed programs in the coming fiscal year.

A new program in which residents can contact the police department through an anonymous tip line is also proving to be successful.

Callahan said there are currently 102 active police officers in the department. He said he would like to hire 15-20 new officers since some current officers are contemplating retirement from the department in 2023. Callahan also revealed that the Revere Police Auxiliary is no longer an active part of the department due to the new police reform law.

Rizzo, who said he called for walking patrols during his mayoral administration, praised the daily work of the Revere Police officers in his closing remarks.

"Tell the men and women they're doing a great job – we're proud of the work they do, and you all do, to protect the residents of the city," Rizzo said.

Driver's license bill becomes state law

The Massachusetts Senate last week overwhelmingly overrode Governor Charlie Baker's veto of the Work and Family Mobility Act by a vote of 32 to 8. Combined with the override performed in the House of Representatives yesterday, the vote now officially converts the act into state law, with an effective date of July 1, 2023.

The Senate vote in favor was unchanged from the chamber's historic passage of the bill on May 6, just as it was yesterday in the House of Representatives' vote of 119 to 36 (minus a vote from one seat that has since become vacant).

The following statement may be credited to the leaders of the organizations co-chairing the Driving Families Forward Coalition, Brazilian Worker Center Executive Director Lenita Reason and 32BJ SEIU Vice President Roxana Rivera:

"We are overjoyed today that Massachusetts has become the 17th state in the nation to allow all state residents apply for a driver's license, regardless of immigration status. The passage of the Work and Family Mobility Act finally realizes the efforts of thousands of immigrants, advocates and public servants over the span of two decades. It will make our roads safer for everyone, our communities more trusting and secure, our health practices more rational, and our economy more vibrant. Equally important, it will lift a terrible stigma and fear that upwards of a quarter million men, women and children in Massachusetts suffer whenever they have to travel.

"The overwhelming override of Governor Baker's veto testifies to the dedication of those who have fought for the bill, the breadth of the supporters who have joined this cause, and the steadfast leadership of many elected officials across the Commonwealth. In the State House, we thank House Speaker Ron Mariano and Senate President Karen Spilka, Joint Transportation Committee Chair William Strauss and his fellow co-chairs, and our longstanding champions, the co-sponsors of the Work and Family Mobility Act, Representatives Christine Barber and Tricia Farley-Bouvier and Senators Brendan Crighton and Adam Gomez, as well as those Senators and Representatives who have supported the new law. We also thank all those who fought for the bill in the Driving Families Forward coalition and beyond."

"We hope to name and honor many of those who did so much to win this campaign and gather at the State House in a People's Signing with many of the aforementioned leaders, in a ceremony soon to be announced. We hope many of our supporters will attend, and afterward we look forward to working in the Coalition to inform the community of progress in the law's implementation and of procedures as they are established."

The Work and Family Mobility Act moves all state residents toward greater road safety, improved security, better public health and a more vibrant economy, and promises a profound transformation in the lives of undocumented immigrants across the Commonwealth. The pursuit of these many goals brought together 32BJ and the Brazilian Worker Center in 2019 to create Driving Families Forward, a coalition of businesses, faith groups, labor unions, community organizations, health centers, and others.

NEWS FROM AROUND THE REGION

COUNCIL APPROVES OPERATING BUDGET

CHELSEA - The City Council approved a $212 million operating budget for the city that creates 13 new positions in the municipal government.

The budget funds city expenditures at $94,108,013 and School Department expenditures at $118,236,617, for a total budget of $212,344,630. The School Department budget increased by 8.97%, most of it paid from new Chapter 70 funding generated by the Student Opportunity Act. The City expenditures increased by 5.62%.

The council voted 9-0 to approve the budget as presented by City Manager Thomas Ambrosino.

"I have heard clearly from the council that there are certain departments for which the council would like me to consider even additional positions, including (inspectional services), the City Clerk, and DPW," said Ambrosino. "I have committed to the council that I will look carefully at these departments over the course of FY23 and will take appropriate steps to address the concerns raised by the council."

Ambrosino said the budget is fully supported by anticipated revenues in FY23.

"It is the first budget I've presented in my seven years that does not rely at all on the use of any reserves," said Ambrosino. "This budget is balanced and fully funded with anticipated FY23 revenues."

The full list of the new municipal positions includes a new floater position in the assessor's office, a technical project lead in the IT department, the full-time elections commissioner, four new full-time police officers, a new housing inspector in the inspectional services department, a junior business manager for the DPW, two water and sewer junior operators for the DPW, a Health and Human Services Director, and a part-time assistant in veteran's services.

District 7 Councilor Tainari Garcia presented a motion to reduce the budget by nearly $100,000 in the public works structures and grounds department, eliminating a new superintendent position in the DPW division. However, following the vote and brief recess, Garcia withdrew the motion and several others she had planned to make amending the budget.

Garcia raised concerns about the salary for the position in comparison to other public works salaries.

Ambrosino noted that while the position is new under the structures and grounds division, it is actually an existing position that was funded as the Capital Projects Manager in the FY 22 budget that had previously been vacant.

"The focus of that position was on external capital projects," said Ambrosino. "We didn't have a need for that, our need was for internal building capital projects. With ARPA (American Rescue Plan Act) money, we are funding a $3 million renovation of the E911 building, and we're about to design and start funding a probably $3 million renovation to this attic in City Hall."

Ambrosino also noted that there is currently a Chelsea resident in the union position, and that the union contract dictates the pay scale.

"I don't want to interfere with anyone's job, or obviously the work that is to be done," said Garcia. "There are a ton of projects, the city is growing and we definitely need this. I just didn't understand the morale of it and didn't understand the huge amount of money for this position when others in the DPW deserve as much."

Garcia said she also believed that beautifying and cleaning the parks and providing programs for the city's youth needs to be a top priority in the city.

The council voted 9-0 to approve the operating budget, with Council President Roy Avellaneda and District 4 Councilor Enio Lopez absent.

EXXON TO ABANDON OPERATIONS AT TANK FARM

EVERETT - Amid pressure from a Conservation Law Foundation (CLF) lawsuit, ExxonMobil has ceased operations at its Everett tank farm and is selling the site to a developer. CLF filed a lawsuit in 2016 arguing Exxon's site has been polluting surrounding waters for years. It is also woefully unprepared for climate risks and threatens to spill oil into nearby communities and the Mystic River in the event of severe weather.

"Exxon giving up on the Everett site is a major win," said CLF President Bradley Campbell. "But this sale will not allow the company to escape responsibility for its toxic legacy of contamination and the ongoing pollution that will continue while the sale is pending. Our case continues and we will not allow the company to skip town and leave the community at risk."

The Everett site contains contaminated soil and groundwater and it will continue to be a serious threat to the community and the environment until Exxon or the purchaser takes responsibility to fortify it, according to CLF. Redevelopment would only be appropriate if it is fully and properly prepared to withstand climate impacts and severe weather and a massive cleanup is undertaken to fix these serious issues.

Mayor Carlo DeMaria offered the following statement about the news developments concerning the site.

"Everett residents finally have the chance to realize the benefits of the types of economic development opportunities they deserve with the redevelopment of the ExxonMobil, 95-acre parcel and the Constellation Energy generating sites. I have always known the potential that Everett has to evolve from its industrial age commercial uses because we have the acreage that is no longer found in surrounding communities. What our residents deserve is for our federal and state leaders to use the generational federal funding dollars available to the Commonwealth to capitalize on these opportunities for smart, transit-oriented development opportunities supported by the expansion of the Silver Line, an infill station along the commuter rail line, expansion of bus rapid transit lanes, and the electrification of the commuter rail that will support Everett and the entire North Shore corridor. It's about time that everyone else sees Everett for the endless possibilities that we are able to offer to create higher-paying, cleaner, 21st century high-tech job opportunities with the right public infrastructure investments and private development vision."

CLF said it will continue to hold ExxonMobil accountable in court for its unlawful conduct and will be involved in the redevelopment process to make sure that community voices are heard.

ZUMIX GOES GREEN WITH SOLAR PANELS

EAST BOSTON - Less than a month after Mayor Michelle Wu announced a new pilot program to increase solar panel usage in East Boston, Zumix was inspired to 'Go Green'.

Madeleine Steczynski, co-founder and executive director of Zumix, said at the end of last month the popular music and performing arts nonprofit took the next step in its sustainable journey with the installation of a set of solar panels on the roof of Zumix's Firehouse—which received Gold LEED Certification after renovations were completed in 2009.

In early May the city launched the 'Solarize Eastie' pilot program aimed at increasing solar panel installation and on-site battery storage in the neighborhood. The program is designed to bring more renewable and affordable energy options to Eastie residents. The city partnered with GreenRoots and picked ACE Solar and Resonant Energy to lead the installation process for Solarize Eastie.

Steczynski said Zumix's panels and their installation were made possible by a grant from the Tern Foundation's Tern-SOLAR challenge grant program. The program, like Solarize Eastie, provides funding assistance for solar panel system installations to nonprofit organizations that engage creatively and strengthen the communities they serve.

The foundation offers grants to dynamic nonprofits that also consider future generations and the natural environment in their strategic priorities and sustainability planning. Two private donors, Peter Glick and Jared Bartok, also made significant contributions to the project.

"ZUMIX is excited to take the next step toward sustainability with our new solar panels," said Steczynski. "We hope our adoption of this green technology will help inspire our neighbors to follow suit, and to keep working together toward a better future for ourselves and our planet."

Steczynski said the panels, now operational, will capture and convert solar energy to help expand the amount of available renewable energy in Eastie.

Like the city's pilot program in the neighborhood, ZUMIX decided to partner with ACE Solar and Resonant Energy for the installation process. ACE Solar has been ranked as the top residential solar contractor in Massachusetts for five years in a row, and is among the top solar contractors in the country. Resonant Energy, based in Dorchester, specializes in bringing accessible solar options to communities with limited resources, affordable housing units, and nonprofit organizations throughout Massachusetts.

Zumix's Director of Finance and Administration, Chrissy Holt, said she hopes that Zumix's move to solar energy will inspire neighbors and residents to take advantage of the city's Solarize Eastie program.

"We're thrilled to be a part of Eastie going greener," said Holt. "We hope our solar panels will encourage neighbors to ask questions and possibly pursue their own solar projects, especially once they see how simple it can be."

For decades solar panels installed on homes have been a proven way to generate clean, renewable energy,, reduce energy costs, and increase energy resilience.

The Solarize Eastie program will offer a variety of payment support, including a 15 percent discount below the average cost of solar installation, up-front subsidies for income-eligible building owners, and no-cost options. The city will work with GreenRoots throughout the year to increase access to affordable and renewable energy for Eastie residents while helping them reduce their energy cost burden.

Eastie is already an Environmental Justice Community and hosts an international airport, three harbor tunnels, a major highway and is one of a handful of Boston neighborhoods that will be heavily impacted by climate change and sea level rise.

Bringing renewable energy to more homes and businesses in Eastie may mitigate some of the environmental impacts and burdens the neighborhood has faced for decades with a goal of reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

HALLORAN FAMILY RAISES FUNDS FOR NASHOBA LEARNING GROUP

LYNN - The Halloran family of Lynn raised more than $18,000 for the Nashoba Learning Group at the 13th Annual Comedy Night held June 1 at Giggles in Saugus.

Event hosts Paul Halloran and his wife, Julie Halloran, welcomed a large crowd to the event that featured a comedy show and an all-you-can-eat-pizza meal.

Legendary comedian Don Gavin returned as the headliner of the show. Also performing were comedians Tony V, Kelly MacFarland, David Russo, Carolyn Plummer, Christine Hurley, and Mark Riley.

Since the inception of the Comedy Night event in 2008, Paul and Julie Halloran have raised more than $130,000 for the Nashoba Learning Group. Their daughter, Martha, is a participant in the NLG adult program.

"Julie and I are sincerely grateful for all of our friends and family who have supported this event since its inception in 2008," said Paul Halloran. "We really appreciate Don Gavin, who has been the headliner every year, and Mike Clarke for helping to arrange the lineup this year. We are fortunate that Martha is in a terrific program, and we want to do everything we can to support Nashoba Learning Group."

WINTHROP VETERAN'S DIRECTOR STEPPING DOWN

WINTHROP - Roseann Trionfi-Mazzucchelli, who has served as veterans services director for the town of Winthrop for the past nine years, is stepping down to take a similar role in the towns of Melrose, Wakefield, and Saugus.

Trionfi-Mazzucchelli, who is a veteran of the U.S. Army, will begin in her new position as director of veterans' services for the three neighboring communities on July 5. Her office will be based at the Milano Family Senior Center in Melrose.

Trionfi-Mazzucchelli, 61, served 21 years in the U.S. Army. She was in the Army's Military Police officer for three years, serving in Germany. She was a special agent in the U.S. Army Criminal Investigations Command for 18 years.

"I am grateful for the opportunity to have served as Winthrop's veterans' services director," said Trionfi-Mazzucchelli. "I learned so much. It was my second favorite job, other than being a mom. I'm truly happy that I was able to serve all of Winthrop's military veterans and their families. It was my honor to serve. I have great pride in my hometown. I will forever be grateful to the veterans I served with, especially Rich Honan, with whom I planned the town's events. Also, the Winthrop American Legion Post 146 and all the other organizations that supported veterans' services."

Trionfi-Mazzucchelli also noted the support of the Winthrop Lodge of Elks, the Drop Zone Brewery, Winthrop Federal Credit Union and local businesses "who constantly donated to assist our veterans."

"And I want to thank the volunteers from my veterans' food bank, because without them, I could not have run the food bank," said Trionfi-Mazzucchelli.

The popular Winthrop resident also expressed "my eternal gratitude" to her husband, David, and their four children, Lauren, Joseph, Frank, and Paul, for their support of her work as veterans' services director.

TC President Letterie praises outgoing director

Town Council President Jim Letterie praised Trionfi-Mazzucchelli's commitment to helping Winthrop's veterans throughout her tenure.

"Roseann has been an incredible asset to the town," said Letterie. "She has helped many veterans over the years. We are very sorry to see her leave and wish her nothing but the best."

Police Chief Terence Delehanty, who just completed his second stint as interim town manager, also thanked Mazzucchelli for her service.

"We appreciated all of her efforts that she dedicated to Winthrop, and it was a pleasure to work with her," said Delehanty.

Whelan third-graders learn about the MWRA

By Melissa Moore-Randall

Third Graders at the A.C. Whelan School enjoyed a recent visit by the MWRA. The visit coincided with their Social Studies unit on Revere including Revere Beach. The students will also be visiting America's oldest public beach for their annual field trip this week. The 140 third graders learned about water treatment, water pollution, the water cycle, flushing, storm drains and the function of the Quabbin Reservoir.

The MWRA offers a School Education Program to educate students and teachers about water supply, water treatment, drinking water, and the state of the art wastewater treatment facility located at Deer Island in Winthrop.

Students were treated to a special reading of "Dwayne the Storm Drain" that explains how nature and humans affect the stormwater system. All students received a coloring book, a book mark and stickers.

The MWRA is a public authority that was established in 1984 to provide wholesale water and sewer services to 3.1 million people and more than 5,000 large industrial users in 61 metropolitan Boston Communities including Revere.

Students at the A.C. Whelan School enjoyed a recent visit by the MWRA. The students learned about water treatment, water pollution, the water cycle, flushing, storm drains and the function of the Quabbin Reservoir.

Area officials demand better mitigation for Sumner Tunnel Toll project

By John Lynds

Area residents got the first taste of what it is going to be like living with the scheduled weekend closures of the Sumner Tunnel for the next 36 weeks that will culminate in a full closure of the tunnel for four months next spring.

Gridlock on Saturday and Sunday in Eastie, Chelsea and Revere was horrendous as traffic heading into Boston was rerouted to the Ted Williams Tunnel and Tobin Bridge.

This week, Mayor Michelle Wu sent a letter to MassDOT administrators that was signed by Eastie's elected officials, as well as elected officials in Revere, demanding more meaningful mitigation as the project progresses like a free Blue Line for residents as well as continuing ferry service between Eastie and Boston.

"With thirty-six weekend closures and a continuous four-month closure next year, this project will have major impacts on the people who live and work in the neighborhoods that rely on the tunnel," wrote Wu in the letter. "The impact will not only be felt on the highways, but also on local streets near the Sumner and along alternative routes. Travel between East Boston and Downtown will be disrupted, and the resulting congestion is likely to impact emergency response and bus service. In addition to the transportation impacts, the nature of the construction work is likely to be disruptive to residents in East Boston and the North End who live near the tunnel."

While Wu said her Administration and her elected colleagues representing the neighborhood appreciate the mitigation measures MassDOT has already committed to—including greening and beautifying the tunnel portals, extending toll discounts for tunnel communities to the Tobin Bridge, and undertaking efforts to minimize noise, vibration, dust, and pests—more needs to be done.

"However, we believe that additional steps are needed to address the impacts of this project on our neighborhoods," wrote Wu. "Alongside toll discounts, MassDOT should direct project mitigation funds to the MBTA to provide free fares on the Blue Line whenever the tunnel is closed. This will encourage people to use alternate routes and will reduce the financial strain on residents. Fare gates should be opened along the entire line so that residents are not burdened with enrolling in a special pass program."

Wu also called for resuming the ferry service that successfully ran between Eastie and Boston during a two week closure of the Blue Line by the MBTA in May.

"This service, which was successfully piloted during the recent Blue Line disruptions, should be continued throughout the upcoming tunnel closures," she wrote. "We support the $1 million in funding secured by the Massachusetts Legislature to expand ferry service. Offering weekday and weekend ferry service prior to the full closure next summer will help people adjust their travel patterns to incorporate water transportation and can serve as a "dry run" for potential permanent service."

Wu also called for MassDOT to ensure adequate capacity on the Blue Line, Silver Line, and 116/117 bus.

"MassDOT and the MBTA should assess capacity of the Blue and Silver Lines to handle increased ridership and increased congestion along the Silver Line and 116/117 bus routes," wrote Wu. "A plan should be put in place to increase capacity if needed, especially during the full shutdown in 2023. Many residents of East Boston, Chelsea, and Revere rely on early morning service on the 116/117 bus to get to work, often by transferring to the subway at Haymarket at the start of service. These buses will be rerouted during the closure and the MBTA should make schedule adjustments to ensure that timely connections can still be made."

To further encourage MBTA ridership Wu called on MassDOT's parking lot near the Wood Island station to be opened for use by East Boston residents. In addition, MassDOT should look for other opportunities to secure parking near Blue Line stations.

Wu would also like to see MassDOT work with Massport to reduce airport car traffic.

With the Sumner Tunnel closed, traffic was at a standstill Saturday morning leading into the Ted Williams Tunnel. MassDOT kicked off its Sumner Tunnel restoration project last weekend and the tunnel will be closed every weekend for the next 36 weeks. Elected officials are now calling on MassDOT to provide more meaningful mitigation for residents impacted by the project.

and from Logan Airport will help manage congestion in the Ted Williams Tunnel," Wu wrote. "We would like to see more substantial collaboration with Massport, including outreach, traveler and employee incentives, and enhanced transit, including Logan Express service."

Aside from MassDOT officials at previous community meetings leading up to the start of the project that MassDOT is "working with" emergency agencies and "planning" for emergency situations no one in Eastie has seen a concrete plan. At a press availability with MassDOT officials last week there were calls for Eastie residents to be provided with a solidified plan of emergency vehicle routes, designated hospitals that will be used, and projected travel times for emergency vehicles to Downtown during rush hour when the tunnel is closed.

"We are gravely concerned about the impact of the tunnel closures on emergency response times, especially for those in need of urgent transportation to a hospital," wrote Wu. "To address these concerns, MassDOT should share a detailed plan for ambulance access across the harbor and the steps taken to ensure that precious minutes are not lost in a medical emergency."

Wu also called for MassDOT to fund an overnight shift for Eastie's second EMS unit, which currently operates 16 hours/day. This will support adequate coverage when transport time for patients increases due to tunnel closure and allow proactive positioning of EMS units. Wu added that MassDOT should also establish a real-time link between the Highway Operations Center and Boston EMS dispatch to provide alerts on severe congestion or incidents in the Ted Williams Tunnel when the Sumner Tunnel is closed.

Wu's letter was signed by State Representative's Adrian Madaro, Jessica Giannino of Revere, Jeff Turco of Winthrop, State Senator Lydia Edwards, Boston City Councilors Gabriela Coletta and Ed Flynn and Revere Mayor Brian Arrigo.
